Seek Candidates For DM Neighborhood Board Seats

Tuesday, November 4, as most everyone knows, is election day. It will be the fourth time this year that eligible voters in Des Moines will have had a chance to participate in at least one kind of election or another.

But on October 25, a little more than a week before the November 4 election, residents of the city's six Prime Service Areas (PSA'S) will have still another opportunity to "pull the lever." They'll be voting for the candidates they feel will best represent them on the city's Neighborhood Priority Boards (NPB'S).

In 1978 — the last time neighborhood elections were held — 124 candidates squared off in races for 88 seats and more than 3,100 people voted. City officials estimate that to be about 12% of those eligible to vote in the PSA'S, a turnout which compares favorably with other elections held city-wide.

This year, however, the stakes are even higher, since all 127 seats on the neighborhood boards are open, and the City's Neighborhood Development staff are betting the election will attract close to 200 candidates.

If the interest is high, one of the contributing factors is that the neighborhood boards can bring a little bit of City Hall close to the people.

"It's the largest

Tax For Tech To North Move Fails

Des Moines voters on Tuesday rejected a school tax levy which would finance the Tech High School to North High School move, but re-elected the school board incumbents who supported the levy.

Incumbent board members Nolden Gentry and Ray Palis defeated challenger Greg Nepsted but the tax levy of 67½ cents per $1000 of property value failed (unofficial vote total) 8,236 (no) to 6,535 (yes). This money was to be used to construct an addition to the North building to house heavy equipment now at Tech, and to finance remodeling at the old Irving Junior High School building for administration offices.

Gentry received 10,382 votes, Palis 9,534 votes and Nepstad 6,644 votes.

IEWS and REVIEWS

by Allen Ashby

I was glad to learn that Arthur Ash is the captain of the U.S. Davis Cup tennis team. Everybody who heard the news seems to think he will do a good job.

As I understand it, his main jobs are to get people to play for the team and arrange schedules so they can. It was a fitting climax to a fine career that saw him win just about every tennis honor he could get on and off the court, and you will not meet anybody who doesn't like him. So everybody wishes Arthur the very best.

But what gets one is the fact that writers can't wait to rush into print with the startling news that the man is the first black to get this job. He has been the first black in so many tennis categories that this should be just routine news.

But, you see, America is so race and color conscious that they can't let a line about anybody who happens to be black go without mentioning it, as if that was the reason he was picked.

I remember when Mark Morrow was trying to win the state high school tennis title and there was so much made of the first black to win the thing. Most likely this pressure caused him to stumble the first time he went for the crown, but the next year he was playing in front of a North High crowd, and that made all the difference.

I was asked by a reporter how I felt about Mark being the first black to win the title. I replied that it felt about like it would if he had been Jewish, Swedish or Irish. I didn't really give a damn about that angle because Mark happened to be the best tennis player in that meet on that week end and it wasn't because he was black.

But you can see it every time a black does something unusual. Every news story starts with that line, the first black to do whatever it is that he did. And just a lot of those people would really be hurt if anyone called them prejudiced.

Lots of them are and don't really know it. They don't call it prejudice. They merely think of us as different.

This is going to be the line that will always keep America from really uniting in the face of grave danger. You have to have been there to realize how hard we tried to fight World War II and the Korean war with two separate armies, one black and one white.

But we finally had to put that down for the duration, and then it was back to business as usual. I don't care how kindly a person feels about us, we are thought of as different, maybe not inferior, but different.

Why, just once can't we all be Americans or people. When the U.S. Davis cup team is introduced, do you suppose the announcer will say, "And here is the black captain, Arthur Ash!" "This is true in just about everything. You will always read about the first black, but never about the first person of any other group. Maybe some day we will.

It would have been news if the incumbents had not won in the school election. A few people thought there might be an attempt to gang up on Nolden Gentry as Willie Glanton was mugged, but they were forgetting Gentry's broad base of support.

I wonder if he would have that support if he ran for the council?

The defeat of the school tax levy didn't surprise me either. All through August I kept hearing people say they had to defeat that levy to prevent the move of Tech to North. You'd be surprised how many people didn't want that move.

Now, what will they do?

Thoughts and Comments

By James B. Morris III

There are several things deserving of attention in view of attempts recently to organize the black community of Des Moines to face and react to issues and problems currently confronting it. There are a number of issues which relate to the image of black people and their character as presented by some members of the local media which must be dealt with within an essentially private nature which must be addressed within that framework, but there are also a number of issues based upon the social and legal attitudes of local governmental units and their divisions.

All of these and other issues must be addressed within the framework of local state, and federal rules, regulations and practices, however, and it is that broad and general category which must be addressed before progress in essentially private areas or cases is possible. Unless the legal framework and the attitudes of those who lead or regulate them can be changed, nothing can ever succeed.

Initially the focus must be local, because that is both the most immediately crucial and most sensitive to community pressures. But success on the local level, once positively accomplished, will allow a broadening of the effort not only to face similar issues in other areas which face other blacks or other minorities but also to broaden the base of area in which the organization is both interested and effective.

In essence, one must look first to the government, especially on the local level, and attempt to force or persuade the leadership to change their attitudes about or hostility towards the black community before problems existing in the private sector become at all remediable. As this leadership is either elected or appointed or hired by them, then the community must act to hold them accountable to the people who put them there.

Unless the black community in Des Moines can, within the framework of a single organization reflective of all of its diverse segments, force or require such accountability from these elected representatives, we might as well call it quits and go back to picking cotton for a living.

Although I am suggesting that immediate and concrete action be taken by such an organization (which is currently organizing), I am not suggesting that we necessarily use tactics which are civilly or criminally disobedient. I am, however, looking to that sort of behavior which is truly demonstrative to the majority leadership in this town that we stand united in purpose and resolute in intent to face the issues.

In doing so, we must thoroughly plan and research our methods. As the past is shown, people or organizations who criticize the majority leadership without having the facts, figures or documents to back up their accusations do little more than amuse them, and serve to discredit not only the accusers, but also the groups or attitudes they represent.

Whatever course of action is chosen here, it must be not only concrete and resolute, but thought out and comprehensively planned well enough not only to influence this majority leadership, but also to demonstrate to the rest of the majority community that we no longer will accept the idea that the "crumbs" that we are occasionally thrown to be reflective of social progress or beneficial to the minority community.

If that sort of unity and determination is shown to and reflected in the attitudes of local governmental leadership, our disagreements with members and organizations in the private sector cannot help but be successful.

Getting Ahead

Robert V. Morris

Well, another black administrator has resigned from the City of Iowa City. Mel Jones, the last remaining black professional employed by the city, has quit his job largely due to racist practices by the local government.

Last time I was in Des Moines, a friend asked me; "What is going on in Iowa City? It seems like racism is running wild in that city, especially in the city government."

In answering the question I must first say that, "yes", institutionalized racism is running wild in Iowa City and yes, the city government is the main repository of the condition.

How can a city government become so insensitive to minorities that racism can overshadow its entire function, especially in a city with a reputation for progressiveness?

The hierarchical structure, or chain-of-command, is largely responsible for this condition. And at the top of the hierarchy sits the City Council. There is no doubt that the make-up and direction of the City Council is the major determinant to the city's minority relations, and public relations on the whole.

The Iowa City City Council is composed of an ultra conservative or right-wing majority which over the last year has indicated an extremely anti-minority, and especially anti-black attitude towards the city's black community.

The only favorable ruling the City Council has made over this period of time is a suspension in the Woodfields disco case, which they made in fear of mass violence in the city, not out of responsibility to the black community.

In fact, the City Council has so turned their collective backs on the city's black community that we, at the local NAACP, have been forced to go to the federal level for relief from racial discrimination in city government.

Now the city government is all-white, and there are no signs of any desire by them to change that condition. Currently, all black professional personnel have either quit or have been fired. The City Council has denied the existence of any racial discrimination in city government and the City Manager, who is the main advocate of these anti-minority policies and practices, has received support from his City Council. What can blacks do to gain justice in the face of this growing anti-black trend?

Black Iowa Citizens and black Iowans have three choices: (1) Keep quiet and take it and don't disturb the status-quo, (which for the most part is what has been going on in Iowa for the past several years); (2) Launch an all-out, system-oriented attack using federal & state law to force local governments not to discriminate, which usually takes much time, and is often an inadequate remedy. Also, this should be combined with high-pressure politics, such as pickets, boycotts, press statements and lobbying, as well as coalition politics; (3) Mass violence or the threat thereof (this is not to condone violence, but to repudiate it is non-pragmatic.)

The sad fact is that many of the "prestigious" blacks and black organizations are in the practice of number one. Many blacks remain silent, due to fear of losing their jobs, or getting white folks mad at them. Equally bad is the black person who sits around and criticizes, but does nothing himself—these attitudes are equally defeatist.

Choice number two is what is currently being practiced by the NAACP in Iowa City, and there is no doubt that our intense activities have sent many liberal whites and conservative or "status-quo" blacks running for cover.

I am however, happy to say that, in general, we are enjoying considerable success.

Similar situations to that happening in Iowa City city government are occurring in Waterloo, Cedar Rapids, and Des Moines. If civil rights organizations don't get going in their respective communities with firm, unrestricted political and legal pressure, white racist America will increase systematic discrimination and we'll wake up one morning only to find ourselves back in 1950, with discrimination running wild against all of us regardless of social class.

KEEPING THE DREAM ALIVE

By Don McEvoy

THE PATHOLOGY OF THE WHITE GHETTO

Last week I wrote about the numerical resurgence of the Ku Klux Klan in the past two or three years and indicated my belief that it is more of an annoyance and embarrassment than it is a threat. Stay alert, but don't panic, was the message.

This time I'd like to pursue the Klan phenomenon a step further and in a different light.

Will Campbell of Tennessee, theologian, civil rights activist, peace advocate, sophisticated philosopher and ethicist, dirt farmer and down-home spinner of yarns made this comment recently: "When you say the word Klan you haven't said anything. It is not an organization. It's the pathology of the white ghetto."

I suspect Will is right, as he is on almost everything.

Who are these people who have associated themselves with the KKK? What are the factors which have led them to make this kind of unfortunate commitment?

The leaders may be skillful demagogues who know all the tricks of manipulating the fears of others and appealing to those dark passions which lay hidden inside all of us. I suspect many are in it solely for personal gain.

Doubtlessly there are other Klansmen who are embittered xenophobes, beyond the limits of potential for return to living in harmony with their fellows. Maybe not hopelessly beyond the pale, but certainly immune to any easy reclamation.

But the great majority are simply very frightened common people who are scared to death that the social revolution of the past two decades has simply passed them by. Their self-images are so fragile and their grasp on life so tenuous that they feel the need to strike out in anger. If they can only believe that someone else is "lower" than themselves they can create an illusion of personal elevation. That is the pathology of the white ghetto to which Campbell is referring.

What can we do about it? Progressive and humane people tend in almost every other situation to say, "Let's deal with root causes instead of just reacting to symptoms." We decry simplistic solutions to the problems of crime and call for social programs which respond to the lack of educational and employment opportunities. We eschew punishment as the purpose of prisons and demand rehabilitative services. But when it comes to the pathology of the Klan we only want to denounce and pass resolutions viewing with alarm. I think it is time we started trying to deal with root causes, treat the social sickness, and see if we can remove the reasons why some find this refuge from their isolation so irresistible.

(Don McEvoy is Senior Vice President of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. The opinions expressed are his own.)

Well, chief, we didn't actually see him doing anything. But he's Black and he was walking real fast."

Black Iowa City Administrator Resigns

IOWA CITY, IA — Budget Administrator Melvin Jones is resigning his post with the city of Iowa City for what he said was Iowa City's failure to promote ethnic minorities and to adopt an effective affirmative action program.

As the last remaining black city administrator, Jones leaves an all-white professional city government which now has no black employees above the basic level of clerical worker. Jones will be taking a job with the Congressional Oversight Committee in Washington D.C., an offer which spurred his resignation.

Jones said City Manager Neil Berlin and other city administrators have failed to promote minorities to higher positions when promotions were warranted, and that Berlin has failed to adopt policies to aid the city's affirmative action efforts.

"I don't think the city's interested in promoting ethnic minorities," Jones said.

Berlin recently named an affirmative action task force to review the city's supposed affirmative action "program" which the Iowa City NAACP criticized as not being a program, but rather an inoperative policy statement. Jones, a member of the task force, said it was going nowhere. "There is no real program to begin with."

Jones' resignation comes at a time when the city of Iowa City is soon to be investigated by the Office of Federal Revenue Sharing (U.S. Treasury Department) for violations of anti-discrimination and revenue sharing regulations. Jones, who handles the city's allocation of federal revenue sharing funds, said that when the city was informed it would be investigated, the task of speaking to the press and public about the pending investigation was given to Assistant City Attorney Linda Woito. "I can do the legwork, but apparently can't make the administrative decisions," he said.

When asked about the upcoming investigation, Jones said: "I think the city is in trouble."

Other recent departures from the city government have either been minorities or human rights-related, which suggest an anti-minority pattern.

Human Rights Specialist Sophie

Zukrowski resigned in August, saying she was overworked and that the city had failed to support the Human Rights Department, and Patricia Brown, who was fired by Berlin in April for "failing to follow orders." Brown has since filed suit in federal court citing racial and sexual discrimination.

The pending Federal Revenue investigation was prompted by complaints from several citizens and the local NAACP.

Soul... Food and Thought

Aldeen Davis

Reunion is a pleasant sounding word holding promises for pleasant memories. Reunion — to reunite, a bringing together, to be whole, as one. Reunions are all of this and more, reunion is Going Home!

This happy experience was mine recently when I journeyed home for our 45th class reunion. But it was more than just a reunion with classmates, it was a reunion with old friends and memories.

The Drake Library (named for Centerville's pioneer and Iowa's Gov. Drake) As I climbed the familiar steps to recall the many pleasant hours spent there with the late Lillian Hayes keeping the "quiet" and to see Dorothy Owens, present director, who was our high school Phys. Ed. teacher in '35, the building seemed smaller and her high ceiling walls not quite so hallowed.

I smiled at the bandstand in the court yard as I recalled how young girls and young boys met there for the weekly concerts, sharing a bag of popcorn from the stand I noticed was still there.

The Ioweigan! It's nice to know that not only is the familiar daily paper still there but that Bob Beck is still at the helm and that Edwne Fenton is still writing. But as I thumbed thru the pages I missed Charlie De Puy and "Around the Town".

As I showed my Missouri born friend around the largest square in the United States, I was thrilled to see familiar names and familiar faces. — Owl Drug, Allens News Shop, Don Ellis, Gunar Olson, Joe Lewis, the Blue Bird Cafe, Miladys Dress Shop and down on the Levee my heart warmed at the sign "Saddle Rock Cafe", the old C.B. & Q. depot where as children we watched many circus's unload — the old bridge that took one across the tracks where many cultures resided — Italian, Swedish, Croation and Black.

Thank God my home town hasn't given up all the old to make room for the new! This gives one the feeling of solidarity and a contingency that makes coming home all that it should be.

I don't want to infer or give the impression that going home was all joy and gladness because time has taken her toll; like the Post Office a long standing landmark at Main and Maple, it stands empty now; the St. Joseph's hospital no longer opens her doors at the cry of sirens or brings a potential doctor, lawyer, merchant, chief into the world. The old Garfield school where I struggled through my A B C's and "times".

A wave of nostalgia swept over me as I saw the condition of my childhood home on West Garfield, I envisioned the lovely lawn and garden the beautiful maples I so loved as a girl. As I paused to look at the weed patch that was once a hub - bub of activity called the Pure Ice Company.

I remembered the pride I felt the day my science class had a field trip to the plant and my father, a long time employee, was our tour guide; taking us from a tank of water through the various stages until it became a 100 pound cake of ice. I could almost hear the noise of the chain pulleys and see the men "pulling" the huge frozen cakes for storage.

Many changes have taken place but happily Second Baptist church (the church my grandfather, P.W. Jones, helped organize and later served as her pastor many years) with her steadfast and faithful few still stands on the hill. There was such peace and tranquility as I listened to the singing and sermon. My mind's eye carried me back many years, to many people long gone but whose work and faithfulness is now the strength and bulwark of today's worshippers — Fannie Morris, The Ridding's and Ewing's Alice Hicks etc.

The banquet at the country club held for the 1935-34-36 classes of Centerville High was tasty well prepared etc., but the Sunday dinner served us in the home of Matt and Bernice's was "Soul".

Yes it was fun to go back to reminisce — class mates are a bit fatter, balder and older, they came from far and near, to share memories with the faculty Loren Ewing who coached the girls state champion basketball team, J.L. Harter Principal, etc., we came we saw and it was good. But the reunion I had quietly with Gladys and Schuyler Jones my parents in Oakland Cemetery was perhaps the most meaningful and satisfying of all. Many memories raced through my mind and as I stood there I wondered about earlier reunions some ending heartbreakingly at a lonely cemetery in 1863-4 and 5.

Some people held in bondage dreamed of the day when freedom would come others, with grit and guts made that dream a reality. The auction block was often the spur that sent the Negro on a break for freedom. Many had heard of Canada from returning veterans of the war of 1812 and realized that freedom was just across the Ohio River.

Because of his desire for freedom an elaborate network of secret contacts between free Negroes and white sympathizers was set up. Mystified slave holders speculated that their slaves must be escaping via "underground railroad". In 1862 Pres. Lincoln issued a preliminary Emancipation Proclamation granting freedom to all slaves held by masters supporting the confederacy.

Jan 1st 1863 saw the signing of a final Emancipation Proclamation. Freedom was beautiful but it was heart rending, because now came the search for loved ones, made harder by the fact that some chose to use their master's name or that of a hero — Lincoln, Douglas, Tubman, etc.

Mothers had been sold from children, husbands from wives, brothers from sisters. In the first flush of freedom men and women trudged dusty roads searching, looking and asking the same sad question, "Has anyone here seen Sarah"; "Do you know a man named Sam?" a constant looking and hoping for a glorious reunion — reuniting.

Many times the story goes that men married only to discover later that they had married a cousin or a sister. But if by chance, or some miracle, a man was reunited with his loved ones can you visualize what a glorious reunion that must of been?

Most large functions, banquets etc have a social hour if a good punch recipe is what you would like for your next gathering try this:

 "The Power of Love" was the theme of Rev.

Grady's sermon, last Sunday. It was taken from the scripture lesson of St. Luke, 15:11-32 about the "Prodigal Son." This kind of love can offer forgiveness; turn the other cheek; heal the physical illnesses of hate; make fresh the faith that has become stale (famine); find a brother or sister that has been lost, — a brother or sister that has failed to matriculate into adult life; to accept death; and, to have faith and walk uprightly. This power of love is yours for the asking.

Brother Steve Wade joined St. Paul to give full togetherness with his, Yolaine, in their worship of God.

On September 14, Rev. Grady will be the guest speaker for Women's Day at St. John's A.M.E. Church, Omaha, Nebr. Rev. Wilbert Coleman will fill our pulpit in Rev. Grady's absence. Rev. Coleman was ordained an Elder at the Annual Conference.

NEW FRIENDSHIP CHURCH OF GOD IN CHRIST

New Friendship COGIC is yet praising God from whom all blessings flow. We are yet reporting victory over sin and shame. Satan is busy, but God has him under control. On Sunday morning, our Pastor Daye did bring to us the bread of life concerning Moses and children of Israel and their discouragement and how God did chasen them and revived them and then blessed their souls.

We are yet like these children, but we need to be patient and wait upon the Lord. On Sunday afternoon, an appreciation service was held for Mother E. Alexander, who is returning to New York to live.

Bishop A. B. Carter Pastor

"I MUST SEE JESUS!" were the words that rang throughout the sanctuary Sunday morning. And I must see him for myself!.....Not the way Mama sees him, not the way that Papa sees him, but I must see him for myself...said Bishop Carter.

There was a little short fellow who wanted to see Jesus. No doubt it was a long and dusty road he had to tread, maybe the dust came up between his toes and his legs grew tired, but he didn't mind for he made up his mind that he wanted to see Jesus, and he wanted to see him for himself.

How many of you really want to see him and see him for yourselves? Everyone raised his hand. Then come with me to see him. Make up your mind that whatever it takes "I would see him for myself. I AM NOT IN THIS CHURCH BECAUSE YOU LOVE ME, I am not here because I was forced in here, but because GOD birthed me in here he continued. You must get a depth in GOD, if you want to go back with him when he comes, again.

If you don't want to be lied on, If you don't want to be hated of All men, if you don't want your so-called friends to turn their backs on you then remember.....No Cross, You don't get no crown.....If you do not want to be persecuted for righteousness, sake, you don't want to go back with him when he comes...

Amen Amen! came forth from the audience as Bishop Carter continued to admonish and instruct the saints in righteousness. If this whole Brotherhood turned their back on me, and left me alone to die, If my whole congregation walked out on me I would STILL STAND FIRM ON THE WORD OF GOD AND PREACH THE WORD IN SEASON AND OUT OF SEASON!

Too many of you are in the valley of decision Saints! he said. What do you do when the lights are turned off at your home? when the telephone is turned off? when the rent is due and the landlord threatens to throw you out do you still rejoice? do you still call on the name of the Lord? Remember your SOUL is going to stand before God one day and by YOUR OWN WORDS YOU WILL BE JUSTIFIED, OR BY THEM YOU WILL BE CONDEMNED. Today is the day of Salvation, harden not your hearts.

God is using our Pastor and he needs your prayers.....He not only has the burden of the saints here in the United States upon him, but those churches that are satellites of Heavenly Temple in Lagos Nigeria, Africa.....He needs our prayer and our support, so continue to join us in prayer for the work of Kingdom building...For the work of Christ...Brightly beams our Father's mercy from his light house evermore. but to US. He gives the keeping of his LIGHTS along the shore.

So (trim your feeble lamps my sisters and brothers.) There may be some poor seaman Tempest tossed, trying hard to make the harbour, in the darkness may be lost. Let your lower light keep burning, send its gleam across the wave, some faint, and struggling seaman you may rescue, you may save.....

He ended the great message with the song SEARCH ME Lord, Search Me Lord.....Just turn the light from Heaven on my soul, and if you find anything that shouldn't be, take it out and strengthen me, I want to be right, I want to be saved, and I want to be whole.....

We thank God for our lovely visitors from Flint Michigan Sunday, who graced our audience and sang with us the praises of God.....It is to GOD be the Glory...for the things he has done.

Pray for Heavenly Temple Church as we March on to Zion, that Beautiful City of God. Truly we are on the move, we are still thanking God for all of our NEW saints, and for the Elder Earnest White and Sister Johnnie White and their lovely family, Our great Male Choir, and the beautiful young people.

Labor Day Zeid Temple Charity Golf Tournament

Labor Day weekend marked the establishment of another proud occasion for socialization in Des Moines: the first annual Zeid Temple Charity Golf Tournament. The tournament was held at Toad Valley Golf Course and included golfers from Des Moines and surrounding states. Since it was the first tournament and "mother nature" chose not to cooperate (it rained most of the two days), the tournament was a rousing success. Some 49 golfers participated overall.

Dan Anderson from Minneapolis won the Championship for the flights with a three round 137; 2nd was Jim Mosley, also from Minneapolis, with a 142, while Larry Wilson followed with a 144 (Minneapolis again). Only prestige Des Moines gained was brought by Moses Wood who shot a 147 to take 4th place and Orbie Boggs who shot a 153. Matt Campbell tried to save face for Des Moines by tying Wood at 147.

We had a total of 50 golfers for the first tournament and they came from: Minneapolis (21), St Paul (2), Cedar Rapids (3), Waterloo (1), Mason City (2), W Des Moines (1) and Des Moines (20). All participants received prizes with the top finishers receiving trophies.

Our thanks to Ted Carr, Chairman for working so hard to present this first Tournament and the proceeds will be donated to a noteworthy Charity on behalf of Zeid Temple, Prince Hall Shriners. Everyone had fun and we look forward to a bigger and better Shrine Charity Golf Tournament next year.

Nobles keep in mind that Zeid Temple meets the 2nd Friday evening each month at 8 pm, 1409 Forest Ave. However, this month, a special entourage will carry the Temple meeting to Davenport on SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 20th. Contact Potentate, Arthur McCune Sr for details or call Chief Rabban Herc Payton, at 286-6900

"Quality You Can Taste"

Support Opposition To E. University Widening Plan

More than 100 residents and members of the Fairground Community Council met with City Councilmembers: Archie Brooks, George Flagg, Clarke Priebe, and Tim Urban, Monday September 8, 1980, to seek the Councilmembers support in opposing the Iowa State Fair Master Plan and the DOT's proposed widening of E. University.

The DOT proposed plan includes widening E. University approximately 24' and constructing a raised median from Hubbell Ave. to E. 33rd St. Ct. with protected left - turn lanes at Hubbell Ave., E. 25th St. E. 27th St., E. 30th St., and E. 33rd St. The estimated cost of the project is $4.6 million to be financed through State Road Use Funds and Federal Highway Trust Funds.

Businessowners and residents told Councilmembers that the proposed plan would displace 13 businesses, 7 residences and the Savation Army Thrift Store. The construction of a raised median would have tremendous negative impacts on the survival of remaining businesses and would result in truck and automobile traffic diverting onto neighborhood streets presently used for residential traffic alone. Right - of - way acquisition is scheduled to begin in 1984 with construction commencing in 1985.

The Iowa State Fair Board Master Plan includes complete redevelopment of the Iowa State Fairgrounds at its present site with construction of new facilities including an amphitheater, renovation of existing buildings, site development, and contingent upon legislative approval, the development of horse - racing facilities and pari - mutual betting.

The estimated cost of the redevelopment exceeds $30 million to be financed through State appropriations and private financing. Land acquisition is scheduled to begin in 1981, with a projected completion date of 1986.

Residents told Councilmembers the proposed Master Plan would displace over 70 homeowners in order to construct additional parking facilities. 48 homes are included in the area West of the Fairgrounds, the Walnut Street Property, and 23 homes are included in the area North of the Fairgrounds, the Sims Property, to be acquired if the Legislature authorizes pari - mutual betting.

Residents also told Councilmembers that the inclusion of pari - mutual betting within the midst of the Fairground neighborhood would have far - reaching negative impacts not considered by the Fair Board. Notably, residents discussed the experience of the neighborhood surrounding Ak - Sar - Ben in Omaha, Nebraska.

The development of service industries following the construction of horse - racing facilities displaced most homeowners. Residents fear that similar development will occur in the Fairground area if horse - racing is allowed at the Iowa State Fairgrounds.

After discussing the probable negative impacts of both redevelopment plans, Councilmembers agreed to support residents requests to:

1) develop an alternative to the proposed DOT widening of E. University, and seek another public hearing on this plan before final designs are completed,

2) oppose the acquisition of homes surrounding the Iowa State Fairgrounds,

3) support development of the Fairgrounds at its existing site, with renovation of existing buildings, with no expansion, and

4) support residents efforts to seek neighborhood representation on the Iowa State Fair Board.

Councilmembers will introduce these recommendations in the form of resolutions to the entire Council at the Monday, September 15, 1980 City Council Meeting.

Residents will also attend the Iowa State Fair Board Meeting on Wednesday, September 17, 1980, at 1:30 p.m., at the Family Theaters Building, to oppose the proposed Master Plan and seek Board Members support.

BLACK-OWNED FIRMS URGED TO DO BUSINESS WITH U.S. GOVERNMENT

Less than three percent of Black-owned businesses take advantage of a special opportunity to supply products and services to the Federal Government, according to the U.S. Small Business Administration (SAB).

Approximately $30.4 billion in Federal contracts were awarded to small businesses during the 1979 Fiscal Year, but firms not listed on the SAB's computerized data base known as the Procurement Automated Source System (PASS) are missing out on one way to be eligible for Federal contracts.

The capabilities of small firms that join PASS are registered and made available nationwide by computer to the many Federal procurement officers who consult the listing for prospective small business suppliers.

The SBA administers the PASS system as part of its mission to strengthen small business, and the Agency urges Black-owned businesses to join the system. A new, simplified procedure will soon be used to make it easier for small businesses to sign up.

A. Vernon Weaver, SBA Administrator said, "we are continually refining the system to make it possible for companies who want government business to have access to over 300 major purchasing activities of the Federal Government."

Not every small business is a likely supplier to the Federal Government, and a small business joining the Pass system has no guarantee that it will receive a Federal contract or subcontract. Yet there are many Black-owned firms that would benefit from joining the PASS system, election on the local level," says Woodland Willkie Board member Herman Lewis. "Just looking at the number of open seats makes the neighborhood election a considerable effort." "But it's an important election," Lewis says, "because the neighborhood boards give the average citizen something to say about the things in his community that affect him. And the neighborhood representatives are maybe the closest of any of their constituency. If they don't live next door, they're at least only a couple of blocks away."

Lewis is also chair of the Central Advisory Board Citizen Participation Committee, which has spent a good deal of time over the past several months working out the neighborhood election policy.

The city's Neighborhood Priority Boards are the front line of Des Moines' citizen participation structure which was expanded from the first citizen board (Model City) to six boards in 1971 when Des Moines became one of 20 cities in the nation picked to participate in the Federal Planned Variations Program. Since then, the planned variations effort, like many federal programs, has put on a new face and adopted different priorities, and in 1975 several programs were consolidated under the current Community Development Program. Through all this, the neighborhood boards have remained constant, providing input on the city's housing and physical services projects and the social services programs funded jointly with county and other federal dollars.

A listing of the programs on which the city solicits the board's advice would include the Prime Service Area community centers, supplemental housing rehab efforts, revitalization areas, special transportation (paratransit), park improvements in the PSA's, congregate meals, chore services to the elderly, and day care, as well as the home insulation project operated with Community Services Administration and Department of Energy funds. "We feel our impact is considerable" Lewis says. We don't always agree with the council and they don't always agree with us. But that's one of the reasons you have citizen boards in the first place."

Lewis emphasizes that time is running short, though, for residents who want to be candidates. The City Council approved the election policy on September 2, and nomination petitions must be filed with the City Clerk by Thursday, September 25.

The city's neighborhood Development Office is also stressing the importance of the time factor. As one staff member said, "After September 25th, we'll devote a lot of effort to getting people out to vote. Right now though, the watchword isn't "vote." It's "run" for office.

Nomination petitions can be picked up at the City Clerk's office, any of the neighborhood site offices and the central office. Residents who want to be candidates must be 16 or 17 years old for a youth position, 18 years old or older for an adult position. They must also live in, own property or be engaged in a business in the area they seek to represent. Candidates for precinct seats must file a petition with the names of 10 precinct residents. Candidates for at large seats must file a petition with 25 names of residents of the prime service area.

For further information call the city's Office of Neighborhood Development at 283-4080.

LOOK ON SPORTS

Here we are in the midst of the time of the year when all the sports seem to be merging. The potential pennant winners are slugging it out in baseball, that is all but Kansas City. They have their part of the thing wrapped up.

In football the college season got off with games that I thought I had figured out. Alabama got off to the usual winning start. I have always thought that the Tide picked their opposition, but this year they have some heavyweights on the list.

Notre Dame figured to Purdue, but they didn't know it and upended the Boilermakers. You can blame that on injuries, but they are part of the game too. Drake had to try really hard to lose to Indiana State, but finally got the job done, and we thought they might have a pretty fair year. Maybe they will.

Iowa and Iowa State come on later. Iowa at Indiana. It would be nice if the Hawks could pay back the Hoosiers for that tough one they lost last year. Iowa State has been picked to end anywhere from last to fourth, so you guess it.

Coach keeps saying that the Hawks are ready for a big year, but do their opponents know that? They won't be able to sneak up on opponents as they did last year, so everybody will take the field against them ready for a tough game. Where will they finish in the Big Ten? Anywhere from last to second. National champs this year?

The experts keep trying to hang the mantle on Ohio State. The Buckeyes lost the Rose Bowl game by an eyelash, and should have plenty of incentive to turn that around. And some of the black schools got the exposure they wanted, but not the kind they wanted.

Here at home the Metro schools except Dowling would just as soon start their season all over again. They all got the pants beat off but Dowling who walloped Heelan. You might say that Heelan has nothing or Dowling has a buzz saw.

All the rest of the Metro teams got pasted but good. Just wait until they square off against each other. The Metro champs? Looks like Dowling for the umpteenth time, but maybe some team will come along late and make it tough for the Maroons.

Don't know how to call any of the teams until I have seen them, and then I may have problems. So I will keep my trap shut for at least another week.

And while all this is going on, Muhammad Ali and Larry Holmes are getting to cut up a ten or fifteen million pie, no matter who wins. And you can see it here for a twenty dollar bill on the big screen. The last time I saw a heavyweight fight on the big screen it was so bad that I started to ask for my money back, but I got in free.

EVERYBODY OPENED THE FOOTBALL SEASON.

If you saw the U.S. Open tennis meet, you maybe noticed about three blacks in the women's division. One carried Virginia Wade to three sets and one carried Martina Navratilova the limit.

Maybe some one might break through yet, but there are so many fifteen and sixteen ear olds laying that a player needs tons of ability and also tons of luck, such as catching a good layer on an off day to get noticed. Maybe one of them might get that break.
