A new program offering 23 separate entertainment opportunities to all Des Moines area high school students begins this semester. Sponsored by the Arts Advisory Committee, Arts & Recreation Council of Greater Des Moines, the Arts Enrichment Program will make a wide range of cultural events available to 9-12 graders, either free or at a nominal fee, states John Wetherell, chairman.

Beginning February 15 with the Drama Workshop's "George Norris Memorial Workshop" students may order tickets through their school's coordinator. Open to freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors, a student may request a ticket for one event, or several, depending on their interest. Tickets are available on a first-come, first-serve basis.

The Voices of Soul are marking their eleventh year and have performed throughout the United States, spreading the gospel by singing spirituals and contemporary gospel music.

The Voices Of Soul was created on the University of Iowa campus to fill the void of gospel music and the absence of the roots of the black church.

Together with the Inner-Denominational Christian Connection, a min-afternoon church service held every Sunday at the Wesley House, The Voices Of Soul emerged as an outlet for the spirituality of the black students and community residents of Iowa City.

Director Raleigh C. Williams, combined the old hymns and the contemporary gospel sound, as well as Negro Spirituals, to create a moving syncretized gospel beat.

The public is invited to the performance.

Thoughts and Comments

By James B. Morris III

"BROWN V. THE J. H. BELL COMPANY AND J. F. LANE"

The last case in this series of pre-World War I civil rights cases involved a prominent black attorney, S. Joe Brown, and his wife Susie, who were refused service of coffee at a "Pure Food Show" to which the general public was invited and admission thereto charged.

The case ruling by the majority of the court and the opinions of justices who did not agree with the majority are indicative of the attitudes of white Iowans toward their black neighbors during the early part of the twentieth century. The opinions of a majority of the justices here are indicative of the racist and isolationist attitude held by most white Americans during the years immediately preceding World War I, and the differing interpretations of the the application, moral validity of, and the practical benefit to be expected from the Iowa Civil Rights Act a showcase of the attitudes which Black Iowans face to this day.

It also shows how easy it is for a court to use the language of and history behind a civil rights statute in a manner which totally subverts its purposes in order to reach what then may have been (and likely was) a socially, politically and economically popular decision.

Because the opinion is a long and carefully worded one, my discussion will extend over several weeks, with captioned explanatory language wherever possible. Another interesting point to remember here is that this case was argued for the plaintiff before the Iowa Supreme Court by two of the most prominent black attorneys in this state at the time: George H. Woodson, (formerly of Buxton, Iowa) and S. Joe Brown (husband of the plaintiff here).

This case was an action at law for damages as a result of a violation of the Iowa Civil Rights Act as amended. The plaintiff's petition, in summary, alleged:

"That she is a negro, or colored person, a citizen of good repute, and a resident of Des Moines. The defendant is either a copartnership or corporation doing business under the name and style of 'J.H. Bell Company' and engaged in selling coffee in the city of Des Moines. That about November 23, 1907, defendant F.J. Lane was in charge of a certain booth or counter of the J.H. Bell Company at or in a certain place of amusement or entertainment in the City of Des Moines, known as the 'Pure Food Show,' to which the public was invited and an admission fee charged.

"That at said booth or counter of the Bell Company defendant Lane was on said day engaged in serving hot coffee to those of the general public who were admitted to the said 'show', and that plaintiff, who was accompanied by her husband, secured a ticket and was admitted to the show and applied at defendants' booth or counter with certain white persons to be served with coffee. 'That at the said time defendant F.J. Lane by himself and agents served all the Caucasians or white persons who applied along with this plaintiff; but in a very rude and ungentlemanly manner said defendant failed and refused to serve her or her said husband, stating at the time, 'We are not serving colored people here', or words to that effect.

"That said refusal was made by defendant without any fault of the plaintiff, and without any reason applicable by law to all persons, and for the express reason on the part of the defendants that plaintiff was a negro, or colored person." Damages are asked on account of humiliation, discrimination, and chagrin in the sum of $1,000.00.

The defendants' answer to the petition was quite lengthy, but its most important portion of it, as specified by the majority of the Court, was as follows:

That the Des Moines Retail Grocers' Association was at the time in question engaged in conducting what was known as the "Pure Food Show". That in doing so, it leased to the defendant the J. H. Bell Company, a corporation, then and there represented by the defendant, F. J. Lane, to certain space in the building wherein said pure food show was conducted, which space was used and occupied by the defendant the J. H. Bell Company only for the purpose of exhibiting and advertising certain brands of coffee of which it was the vendor.

That the method employed in introducing said coffee was to donate samples prepared in liquid form, as for table use, to such persons attending said pure food show as from who, in the judgment of the defendant, business would be secured. That said Retail Grocers' Association advertised said pure food show and charged an admission fee thereto, and that all persons who presented tickets or paid the admission fee therein were admitted.

That the plaintiff was duly admitted to said pure food show by ticket. That when she presented herself at the booth of the defendant, F. J. Lane, then and there in charge of said booth, refused to serve her with a sample of said coffee, though he did offer to serve her if she would take a seat.

The plaintiff filed a demurrer (a challenge to the answer of the defendant to the effect that the facts therein pleaded did not constitute a legal defense). The trial judge, J.A. Howe, of the Polk County District Court, dismissed that motion, and from that ruling the plaintiff appealed. The question presented for determination by the Iowa Supreme Court was, in essence, whether or not the facts pleaded by the defendant in its answer, which had to be taken for the purpose of the case as true (not challenged by plaintiff), show a violation of the Iowa Civil Rights Act.

My discussion of it will begin next week.

A Female Focus On The Issues

Peggy Spates Johnson

February always seems a busy month in the midst of the winter doldrums and I'd like to comment on a number of happenings.

I hope everyone's aware that this is Black History week and month. I recall the pilification of ethnic/minority history courses that flooded school systems in the late 60's and early 70's — what ever happened to them? Just because some textbook editors painted a few previously all white faces in print brown, yellow and black and a few white liberals rewrote the sections on "Negro History" it seems we've let our guard down.

Black parents and teachers must teach their children their heritage, that black history "lost, stolen & strayed" and distorted by racist white historians, if local school systems do not mandate it. Also next week being Brotherhood week, always gave me a chuckle.

For one week a year, prejudice and discrimination is called to a temporary halt? I still commend though, the work of the National Conference of Christians & Jews for their annual "book readathon" held in the public schools.

Well ole' Ronnie's budget cuts will be out and official next week - recipients of Medicaid, some forms of social security, federal aid to some day care facilities and certain welfare beneficiaries better look for alternate sources or be prepared to starve. The elderly, the poor, and minorities seemingly will have to pay the price for not voting for Reagan.

With the 52 hostages back safe and sound, after all the hoopla, speeches and ticker tape parades have faded, I still am wondering what happened to all those black hostages the Ayatollah freed months back — where were they during the celebrations? Forgotten because of their race?

Speaking of blacks and the hostage situation, ABC's national commentator Max Robinson is hurling charges of racism against the network for erasing black reporters from covering the hostages' return and Reagan's inauguration; he's even threatened to resign. Robinson always struck me as a rather conservative, closed lip, very "agreeable" black — I'm surprised at his actions — but pleased.

Back to Reagan — $10,000,000 for an inauguration, when black babies are starving to death by the hundreds daily in the horn of Africa? Nancy is so busy buying Adolfo, I wondered has she bothered to notice the price of gasoline, for example, that the poor and middle class must purchase with their declining economic power, now that her husband has pulled deregulation off the monster oil companies? And you still believe prosperity is right around the corner?

People are continuing to argue over Ben Vereen's controversial black face turn at the inauguration and he's still explaining his reasoning behind it. It seems according to last week's Jet, the white folks weren't too pleased by his number either. I never did especially care for the man myself — talent or not.

Bert Williams and Bill 'Bojangles' Robinson did things they didn't want to do because they wanted to work in show business and TO EAT; they were also very talented men. But don't think they would put up with the injustices of the 20's today — they were also proud men. I think Mr. Vereen could have saluted those two black talents in another way than he did.

I received a form letter from Edward Kennedy organization today asking for funds to pay off his campaign debts. I suppose I'll send his people something because, quiet as it kept, he was the only white candidate voicing the positions near and dear to the hearts of the poor, elderly and people of color.

I'm just sorry to see his marriage dissolve. With Mrs. Kennedy coming into her own now and stronger psychologically I thought she could handle any future tensions or problems. I doubt if Teddy will ever get to the white house now — unfortunately.

So what is with Artis Reis and the Iowa Civil Rights Commission? Even though Ray has sanctioned and condoned her actions, I still get negative vibes concerning her motives and her intentions. Let's keep our eyes open and watch this woman — she doesn't seem to have our best interests at heart.

I wish to commend the Register & Tribunes editorial staff last month for condemning a retrial for the Kings. Remember in the South in the 60's whenever a Kluxer was tried for murdering a black person or white sympathizer, hung juries abounded — and they were never retried and we all know they were guilty as hell. Well I feel, given the evidence, the Kings are innocent and if they are retried, it will be a travesty of justice and a waste of our tax dollars.

TEACHER INSERVICE. STUDENT VACATION

Each school building staff will meet their own buildings to study and discuss topics they have selected for emphasis. Among the topics being studied at several buildings are writing, discipline, stress and multi-cultural/nonsexist programming.

I don't know how many of you remember Bernadette Devlin — the Irish Catholics answer to our Angela Davis, but she was nearly murdered weeks back when protestant extremists fired 5 bullets into her in front of her children in her home in Ulster.

The Irish Catholics and the IRA are still struggling for basic civil rights the English do not seem to want to give them: just as the English did not want to give up their colonial holdings around the world. I wish Miss Devlin a speedy recovery.

My fears about Charles Grassley, his intelligence, speaking abilities, character and political views were confirmed when he spoke at an assembly at my school last month. Even the 7th and 8th graders I teach were dismayed at Grassley's lack of power on the podium and his half baked and ultra conservative views.

When Jay Manley and Amy Bryant asked him about bussing making Dr. Kings birthday a national holiday, Grassley wavered and talked lamely about making January 15th a national day of commemoration — big deal — and about prohibiting discrimination in the sale of housing and upgrading educational standards for all. Wouldn't we all like those things to come to pass? Easier said than done — right? Lame brain politicians like Grassley know that all too well.

Last, did you see in last week's Tribune, that three black youths were found guilty of murdering whites during the riots in Liberty City last May? Throughout the trial they swore their innocence and I believed them — a case of scapegoating in my opinion. Why were they condemned so quickly when the four police who murdered and confessed to the beating death of Arthur McDuffie which lead to the riots, are free and prospering? This is why blacks scoff at the American system of justice!

Opinion

Edna Griffin

Thursday, February 5th, President Reagan appeared on TV screens all over America, well-groomed, TV smile in place, to prepare us for his 'no nonsense' budget cutting speech February 18th. Big government waste was the main theme.

How wasteful? The president took a 1960 dollar out of his pocket, held it in the air as he laid on the table a quarter, a dime, and a penny so the viewers could understand the worth of a 1960 dollar in 1981. A really big deal! People have known that for more than a year.

What we needed to hear was where the remaining 84 cents went. We needed to hear why the ceiling was taken off oil before his February 18th speech explaining his proposals for controlling inflation and recession.

The press is already leaking proposed budget cuts now circulating among Congresspersons. President Reagan is beginning to realize there is a difference between campaign promises and delivering results. The campaign pledge to put a ceiling on the national debt has proved to be impossible.

His promise to lift restrictions on oil prices has sent prices to consumers soaring. Here are some other propositions to further tighten consumer belts.

● Budget Director David Stockman proposes a reduction of social services $13 billion by 1981. This will include a cut of $600 million in Social Security disability benefits.

● Elimination of $700 million in student assistance under Social Security.

● A $671 million cut in Aid To Dependent Children.

● Elimination of 350,000 public service jobs.

● A slashing of Medicaid benefits by $1 billion.

● $2.6 billion but in food stamps through lowering benefits and tightening eligibility rules - a form of "government regulation" evidently, Pres. Reagan favors.

School lunch and child nutrition programs would be slashed $990 million, and child welfare, low income energy assistance, and social service grant, would be combined. Budget Director Stockman seems quite 'carried away' with numbers.

The final outrage is the request of Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger for an additional $30 billion for the Pentagon over the next two years. This represents an additional 13 percent in military spending, pushing the total to well over $215 billion! Services are to be cut across the board with two exceptions - the Pentagon and the military-industrial complex. This represents a disaster area for the American people in all walks of life.

The listed cuts represent the intentions of the new administration. The question is, is it possible to curb these drastic proposals? Their severity, in my opinion, will create coalitions of those directly affected.

Congresspersons who vote for anyone of these budget cuts will find re-election difficult if they fail to represent the needs of their constituents. There are industrialists outside the armaments manufacturers who are frustrated by boycotts such as that against trade with Cuba. These business people may be expected to become a part of resistance to restraint of trade.

There is a body of economists who do not believe the Reagan administration will be able to stop inflation or the recession short of war. The crude, undiplomatic language of the state department and the White House are cause for concern.

Ratification of SALT II now depends upon renewed efforts of the American Peace movement to make clear there is no solution for American problems in war. Not even a little one. It is clear that this last quarter of the twentieth century will be stormy and full of pain and anxiety. I believe we'll make it.

TRU BIBLE BAPTIST CHURCH

Last Sunday the message was brought to us by our own Pastor Wiggins.

After a spiritual rendition by the choir, featuring Br. Murray and Sis. Geneva Hughes as soloist.

Pastor Wiggins delivered a dynamic message, "Who Runs Your House." He said, "Your house is the temple of God, it does not belong to you, it is just a place where you live until God is ready for you, don't let your body rule your house."

For Ye are bought with a price; therefore, glorify God in your body, And in your spirit,

For Ye are bought with a price; therefore, glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's. — I Cor. 6:20

The spirit was high in song and message, which was followed by baptismal service.

The Ladies Usher board met last Tues. 7 pm at Sis Thressa Edwards home.

The Missionary Ladies are planning a valentine party for Sis. Annie Williams on Sat. afternoon Feb. 14th at the West Care Nursing Center.

Rev. Lewis E. Grady, Jr., Pastor

"He prayeth best who loveth best

All things both great and small;

For the dear God who loveth us,
He made and loveth all."

S.T. Coleridge

Last Sunday, the Richard Allen Chorus performed admirably. Soloist Charles Simmons sang "Hush, Hush! Somebody's Calling My Name." And, Marian Carter sang "He Looked Beyond My Faults and Saw My Needs." Both solos caused one to be retrospective.

One became more retrospective as he listened to Rev. Grady's sermon, "The Therapy of God". The one noticeable aspect of God's therapy, as opposed to medical and hospital care, is that it is free. Jesus is God's Chief Surgeon and Medical Doctor. His therapy is guaranteed to overcome forces of evil, heal our wounds, sicknesses, relationships with others — particularly in marriages.

Next Sunday, come and hear Rev. Grady talk about "The Impossible Bridge." Our Church Conference will be immediately after the morning services. At 4:00 p.m., there will be Recognitions to Catherine Williams by various Community Organizations. The NAACP ACT - SO YOUTH GROUP'S BAKE SALE will also be February 15.

ZEID'S CORNER

Daughter Ruth Humphrey, who was in the hospital, is now home and recuperating. Noble Williams Weathers, Jr. would appreciate your prayers, cards and concern. He is at Meth. Hosp. Noble Wilbur Hunt is home after a stay in the hospital.
