White Miss. Ed Says South Ignores Brotherhood Concept

West Harwich, Mass. (ANP) — "The South is a land of church-goers who pay little attention to the Christian concepts of the brotherhood of man," according to a Mississippi newspaper editor speaking last week to the fifth annual conference of the New England Weekly Press Assn.

The speaker was Hodding Carter, editor of the Delta Democrat-Times, Greenville, Miss.

He said "Southerners are easy mannered and yet the most violently behaved people in the U. S. He said they are the most patriotic, yet the most defiant of national authority.

"They have used dishonorable means to control their own destiny," he said, adding that Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Virginia and Arkansas have "no intent to allow integration."

Carter, who won a Pulitzer prize for articles on the integration problem, said "you have only to read your newspaper to realize the deterioration of racial relations that has taken place since the Supreme Court ruling two years ago."

He said the South should be proud of the way the governors of Texas, Tennessee and Kentucky called upon law enforcement agencies to quell racial outbreaks in their states.

Carter, who said he was speaking as a newspaperman interested in the South's problems rather than a southerner, suggested "voluntary resettlement" of Negroes through the nation as a step toward solving the integration problem.

"Nine out of ten Negroes live in the South," he said. "If the Negro population were split up more evenly we could talk integration on more sober terms.

Payne Memorial A.M.E. Church To Honor Pastor, Rev. Stinson

REV. GEO. T. STINSON

The Payne Memorial A.M.E. Church will observe a special "Appreciation Week" for their pastor, Rev. George T. Stinson, Jr.

Beginning Wednesday, Oct. 17, the program will continue through Sunday, Oct. 21. Schedule of the week's program is as follows:

Wednesday, Oct. 16 — Choir Fest with the Acapella, Senior, Harmony, and Youth Choir of Payne Memorial participating.

Thursday, Oct. 18 — Rev. Samuel Davis, Pastor of Antioch Baptist Church, and his choirs will be present.

Friday, Oct. 19 — Rev. L. J. Jordan, Pastor of Union Baptist Church, and his choirs will appear.

Sunday, Oct. 21 — Rev. Lovell Johnson, Pastor of Bethel A. M.E. Church of Des Moines, and his choir will participate.

Rev. Stinson, a graduate of Wilberforce University and the Payne Theological Seminary, came to Waterloo from Kalamazoo, Mich., where he had ministered for two years. During that time he completed a $22,000 building and renovation on his church.

Rev. Stinson was reappointed to Payne Memorial recently after having served four years here. The membership has grown from 250 to over 500. He has promoted a program which has raised $40,000 on a new church which will be constructed in the near future.

Rev. Stinson, who has shown splendid leadership to the community in church and civic affairs, is treasurer of the Northwestern Annual Conference president of the Association of Churches in Waterloo, trustee of Wilberforce University in Ohio, and past president of the Social Service Council in Waterloo.

Rev. and Mrs. Stinson have two children — a daughter, Gwen Dolyn, who is a sophomore at Wilberforce; a son George III, who is in the Air Force; and eight children at home.

ing, what they're ready to do, and if there is going to be a meeting, we get there first," Jenkins said.

As for his own force, he said training courses for years have laid down the rule that his 500 uniformed men and 100 detectives are expected to enforce the law — whether it's the current state school segregation law or the anti-riot law forbidding violence.

Says Atlanta Can Integrate Peaceably

Chicago (ANP) — the police chief of Atlanta, Ga., said last week at the International Association of Police Chiefs in the Conrad Hilton hotel here, that he believes his town could integrate schools without outbursts like those in Kentucky and Tennessee.

Chief Herbert T. Jenkins, 49, based his opinion on the training in his department, the outlook of the Atlantans, and the difference between big towns and small towns in the South.

However, he hasn't had to cope with school integration and doesn't expect to soon.

"My policemen are prepared to keep the peace; if they don't — whatever the conditions — they have failed to do their job," Jenkins said.

The southern chief who hired eight Negro policemen in 1948, and now has 25, explained confidently why Atlantans would not reproduce the violent anti-integration demonstrations that occurred in Sturgis and Clinton.

"The people in a big city like Atlanta are better informed than people in small towns; they know what's coming so it's easier to accept it.

"We integrated the city golf courses last fall and went smoothly."

He said he knows what is on the minds of Atlantans on race issues because "I keep in touch with both sides, Negro and white."

"I know what they're think-

Over the Back Fence

With Bob

While leaning against the back fence the other day, with no one to talk to — the folks next door having gone out of town — I began wondering about those good old days we hear so much about, you know, those good old days when men were men, and women were ladies; when a man could say "How do you do" to a woman and not get his head knocked off; and when every man wasn't considered a potential sucker, and every woman, a possible date. I really believe those people were more genuinely happy then, than we are now, although we have more to be happy with than they had. We have cars now that practically drive themselves, and can knock a pedestrian down without the slightest jar to the riders. We have T.V. now, and can see movies while sitting at home. We can recline within the restful embrace of our easy chairs and watch baseball games, football, boxing, and so on and so forth. Pretty soon we'll have visual telephones, and can see "so and so" when he answers the phone and says that he's not home. We have these and many other conveniences that they didn't have in the "good old days." But are we happier? We are not. Everybody is so busy trying to beat the other fellows, no one has any time to be happy.

A HUNTING WE WILL GO

Last month, a fellow wanted me to go hunting with him. So I went home, bathed, shaved, cologned, put on my best suit, and waited for him to pick me up, when he saw me, his eyes were as big as saucers.

"Boy," he asked, "where are you going?"

"I'm going with you," I replied, "Remember?"

"Uh uh," he said, "you can't go squirrel hunting with me, dressed up like that."

"Squirrel hunting?" I exclaimed, "I thought you said 'girl hunting.'"

SO THERE

It has been said that it's the woman, who pays and pays and pays. Yes, but, its usually with some of the money she's swindled out of some poor sucker like you and me.

O PROMISE ME

Promsie, promises, promises. They can get you into a lot of trouble. Many a girl has had to run all the way home at night, and many a man has had to duck around a corner, through alleys, and across fields, because of promises. Take my advice, children, don't make them, and you won't have to break them. Do you follow me, little girl?

A STORY FROM LIFE

He was a well known play-boy and ladies man. He had a special charm for women. They couldn't resist him. He never kept a girl friend for any length of time. He often said that if you kept a woman long, she'd grow stale. It was his motto to "use them, misue them and then lose them. "Many a good honest woman had fallen in love with him, and had slaved for him, only to have her heart broken. "Women are my racket," he boasted, "I know how to handle them." Then one day he met a little chippy girl with an icebag for a heart, and a juke box for a brain. And she took him for all he had. Now he doesn't say very much anymore.

REVERSE ENGLISH

He told her she was no good, he was through with her, and to get out, and all the time he was afraid she'd take him at his word, and get out.

THEY HAD EVERYTHING

A fellow was telling a girl, "Honey, you really missed it. We had a real party last night. We had everything. We had four fifths of whiskey, five fifths of gin and three cases of beer. We had everything. Yes sir, folks, that's what he called everything. And after a shindig like that, its a wonder he didn't have everything — the heebie — jeebies, delirium tremenes, hysteria, tuberculosis, and double pneumonia.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO YOU

There was a birthday party the other night that was really "on the ball." The guests were fighting with bottles, chairs and everything else in sight. In fact, everyone had an all around good time.

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

It doesn't take much to make a woman independent these days. And when a woman gets independent, boys she really is independent.

IT'S ALL IN THE WHIPPING

A very eminent philosopher once said that women are very much like cake mixtures. The more you beat them, the better the results.

JUST A TIMELY HINT

Say fellow, why don't you marry the girl, You've got her, yourself, and everybody else worried to death.

HE LOVED NOT WISELY BUT TOO WELL

A friend of ours hasn't been seen around his usual spots lately. It seems that three or four of his "one and only's" got together and found that he'd been giving them all the same line of baloney. Now they're all looking for him.

WHAT'S YOUR EXCUSE,

Have you registered to vote yet? Well then, why don't you? A FISH STORY

If you bait your hook right you can catch any kind of fish.

A BOLT FROM THE BLUE

Lightning has struck folks, and it positively tore up things, And, friends, when I say tore up, I really mean tore up.

A WORD AT PARTING

And now, people, let us talk less about the young folks, and let us do more for them.

TILL WE MEET AGAIN

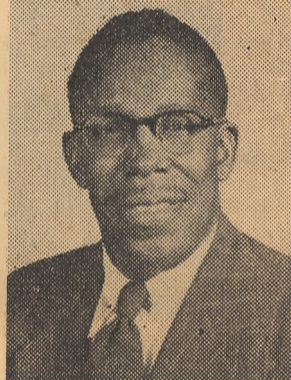

Auf Weederseh'n, my dears, And may the Lord bless and keep you. Don't forget to say your prayers tonight, and while you're praying, remember to say a little prayer for me.

Sermon of The Week

By Rev. R. C. Cottman, Pastor
Text: THE NECESSITY OF THE NEW BIRTH

The basic text for consideration of transforming spiritual experience is St. John's Gospel 3:5. There our Savior presents three important facts pertaining to the new birth, which make clear the implication of the divine accomplishments by which we are made Saints.

The necessity of the new birth for admittance into the kingdom of God. The nature of the new birth, the communication of the life of God to the Soul of man. The means of the new birth by which the great transaction is accomplished and relationship to GOD is effected. Our Lord declared the necessity of Spiritual re-generation to be universal, except a man be born again he can not see the kingdom of God, the word man is translated from the original Greek word Tis and literally means any one. The need and necessity or regeneration are as far reaching as sin and sin is as universal as the race. The necessity of the new birth is created by the natural capacity of man to see or enter in to the kingdom of God. St. John The natural man is not only at enmity against God but his mind is darkened by the devil so that he can not perceive, apprehend or comprehend spiritual truth. Therefore man needs the spirits renewing the mind. Nicodemus was a good man and did not need reformation he was not however a godly man and therefore did need regeneration, Mary Magdalene and the dying thief, were bad and needed both reformation and regeneration. There are some people will have to be saved from their goodness others from their badness before they will ever be saved by grace. Nicodemus answered and said unto him how can these things be? St. John 3:9, a man may know all about the winds he may know all about the stars and his life be as a meteor whose earthy end is quicened in eternal night, Jesus said these things were hid from, the wise and prudent Matt. 11:25, we do not know how the influence of the sun showers on the soil and seed produces the roots, leaf, flowers and fruit, but we know it does. We are not able to explain how the same soil secretes the sour of the lemon and influence, but it does. The life of man can not obey understand or please God, it matters not how scholarly, cultured refine or moral he may think himself to be, the man to whom a man of intellectual brilliance cultural refinement and moral attainments, yet he was spiritually incapacitated.

Fullilove Music School
 Noting Anniversary

The Fullilove School of Music and Dance located at 620½ Lafayette Street will observe their 28th Anniversary the week of Oct. 15th through Oct. 20th. An open house is planned which will give parents and friends an opportunity to visit music and dance classes and become better acquainted with the teaching staff.

The studio which has become an institution in the lives of the children in our community throughout the years is the result of a desire of the owners, Mr and Mrs Harvey Fullilove to have a hobby, to dispell their sparetime. Mr Fullilove attended the Knapp School of Music and the Bellson School of Music at St. Paul, Minnesota and finished his study with a certificate of all fretted instruments. Mrs Fullilove, who had previously studied instruments and piano took a brush up course at the Bellson School of Music and Chicago University Extension in Chicago.

In 1928, friends and neighbors who learned of the Fulliloves' musical ability urged that they teach music and thus the living room of the Fulliloves become their first studio. In the years that followed enthusiasm for the knowledge of fretted music spread and the student enrollment grew. The Fulliloves organized string orchestras which took part on radio and various programs throughout the city. Mrs Fullilove also served as instructor at the Campbell Detgen and Shank Music Stores along with her home studio work.

The Fulliloves decided to open a studio down town in 1942 when it reached their attention that other studios in Waterloo would not accept students of all races in music classes. Mrs Fullilove stated at that time the policy of their studio. "Our school will know no race, creed, or color." In 1943, another dream of the Fulliloves was realized. They added to their curriculum a physical education course of tap, acrobatic, ballet, and ballroom dancing. Frances Hackett Brown, a student of the studio, enrolled in Variety College of Fine Arts in Chicago, graduated and returned to become the first instructor of the new course. Richard Laylin and Betty Hackett have now joined the dance instruction staff.

Age is no factor at the Fulliloves' School. The youngest student is 2½ years old and oldest is 77 years of age. In an interview with Mrs Fullilove she stated, "Through the years we have struggled to keep our studio free of all undemocratic principles. Our goal is to produce leaders who will step into the world carrying with them not only their musical training, but also the great lesson taught thru merely attending our studio and working shoulder to shoulder with people of others races."

EAST HIGH WINS AT DES MOINES

The East High Trojans won a very important football game from East of Des Moines. With this victory, the Waterloo East team went into first place in the Big Six Conference race.

East Des Moines had won 17 games in a row before Friday night's encounter. It was more remarkable because it was played on the East Des Moines home field.

To mention just a few of the outstanding players: Alex Walker did a fine job on defense; as usual, Duggy and Jim Hoosman were outstanding ball carriers. Paul Perkins also did a good job at his end position.

The score — East of Waterloo 19
East of Des Moines 14

Scores of Tan Stars In '56 College Lineups

Chicago (ANP) — Another major college football season is at hand and that means that eyes will be focused again on the performances of tan athletes as they contribute to the weekend thrills.

In the pre-season forecasts brownskin personnel figured among the players advertised as this year's student. Notably in this group were Jim Parker, Ohio State; Jim Brown, Syracuse, and Clarence Peaks, Michigan State. Not far behind were Harry Jefferson and Bob Mitchell, Illinois; Bo Robertson, Cornell; Lamar Lundy, Purdue; Jerry Drew, California, and C. R. Roberts, Southern California.

Big Ten schools continue to spawn tan talent abundantly. Ohio State, conference champions for two straight years, had the back of the year in 1955. This season, the Buckeyes may well have the lineman of the year in the 250-pound Parker, who has never been knocked off his feet in college competition. A terrific charger and deadly downfield blocker on offense, Parker is peerless in college football as a linebacker.

He will be only one of three tan regulars (there may be four) on the Bucks' first string this year. Lee Brown, one of 11 children will occupy one of the end positions. Jim Roseboro is expected to come into his own this season in the right half-back slot. The fourth starter might be Aurelis Thomas, who would be Parker's running mate at guard. Leroy Carr, Don Clark and Phil Robinson, half-backs, are others on the team.

Michigan State, one of the teams favored to unseat Ohio State this season, has in Peaks one of its greatest all-around players in the Spartan history. He combines such skills as powerful running, good passing, strong punting, excellent blocking and tackling and smart thinking to justify his claim as a potential All-American.

"I wouldn't trade him for a y back in the country," says his coach, Duffy Daugherty. "He's our best football player."
