NCCJ President Supports Courts On Busing

NEW YORK—The President of the National Conference of Christians and Jews in a statement issued here has supported the federal courts' decisions pursuant to the problem of desegregation and busing.

Dr. David Hyatt declared that the violence and hostility exhibited to negate desegregation efforts in American cities "highlight once again the fact that racism is still rampant and remains a major problem for which all men and women of good will must face up to if we ever are to achieve national unity and intergroup understanding."

The NCCJ, he stressed, deplores such violence and racism.

The NCCJ President emphasized that the use of busing as a means to achieve desegregation was based on the failure of local communities to achieve equal educational opportunities for all children since the Brown v. Board of Education decision 21 years ago.

"There are better approaches to this problem, such as open, integrated neighborhood housing," said Dr. Hyatt. "But where racism has been strongly entrenched, chiefly through rigid segregated housing patterns, the courts have ruled that busing is an expeditious and viable way of achieving educational equality. I applaud the federal courts for their firm insistence that desegregation must take place."

"Quality education for all Americans is obviously the answer to our present dilemma," he continued.

Dr. Hyatt also emphasized the value of interracial and intercultural exchange, starting. "We must prepare our young people to live in a multi-cultural, pluralistic society. He added that it is important for people from different racial, religious and ethnic backgrounds to know and work with each other.

Dr. Hyatt said that the NCCJ founded in 1928 and a pioneer in human relations and intergroup education, deplored what he termed "racist obstructionism" of some, while "we applaud and support the efforts of those who have worked so valiantly and courageously to facilitate the changing patterns of school attendance assignments and to maintain order and respect for the law."

He called upon the American people to make an "all-out effort to achieve genuine educational opportunity for all," and also for a national commitment to the creation of open neighborhoods.

"Quality education is obviously the key to gaining parental support for any program to desegregate our schools," concluded Dr. Hyatt.

PRESIDENTIAL HOPEFULS TO BE HERE OCTOBER 26TH

Eight contenders for the 1976 Democratic Presidential nomination will visit Iowa on the same day this month in an attempt to woo Iowa Democrats at their annual Jefferson-Jackson Dinner to be held in Ames, Saturday evening, October 25th.

Featured on the program which begins at 6:30 that night will be U.S. Senator Birch Bayh of Indiana, former Georgia Governor Jimmy Carter, former Oklahoma Senator Fred Harris, U.S. Senator Henry Jackson of Washington, former North Carolina Governor Terry Sanford, Pennsylvania Governor Milton Shapp, 1972 Vice-Presidential nominee Sargent Shriver and U.S. Congressman Morris Udall of Arizona.

In announcing the fundraiser which will be held at ISU's Hilton Coliseum, State Democratic Chair Tom Whitney noted that the assembling of virtually all the Democratic candidates is "the only one of its kind in the nation". Certain to draw even greater national attention to the Iowa gathering will be the keynote speaker: U.S. Senator George McGovern, the party's 1972 nominee.

WIN Program Gets More Funds

The program that helps Iowa welfare recipients find jobs and become self-supporting has received $490,200 to continue operations through next June, the U.S. Labor Department announced today in Kansas City.

Richard G. Miskimins, who heads the Department's Manpower Administration in Iowa, Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska, said that the funds went to the Iowa Employment Security Commission which operates the Work Incentive (WIN) program.

Under WIN, employable welfare recipients register for basic education, skill training, job placement assistance and other supportive services to help them off the welfare roll and onto a payroll. In the last fiscal year, 1,980 WIN registrants in Iowa entered employment.

Registration dance slated

A young people's voter registration dance and rally will be from 9 to 11 p.m. Friday at Arthur's Athletic Lounge, 211 Linn St.

Admission to the rally and dance will be free for those with proof that they are registered to vote.

Mitchell welcomes 3 new African countries to UN

NEW YORK (NNPA) — Clarence M. Mitchell, NAACP Washington Bureau director, welcome three new African countries into the United Nations last week as U.S. representative to that body.

The new countries are: The Republic of Cape Verde, the Peoples Republic of Mozambique, and the Democratic Republic of Sao Tome and Principe.

Mitchell, who was recently appointed to the post by President Ford, said, "as a representative of the host country, it brings me great satisfaction to welcome three new members to the United Nations family. We are particularly pleased to welcome the delegation of the Republic of Cape Verde.

As many of you who are here know, the greatness of the United States of America is due in part to the fact that we have been blessed by fortune with contributions from many lands. Our culture has been enriched by almost all of you who are here through those who left your countries to come and become citizens of our nation.

Challenges government to put money in programs

WASHINGTON (NNPA) — Dr. Leon H. Sullivan, founder and chairman of Opportunities Industrialization Centers (OIC) told an audience of 3,000 here last week attending the commencement exercises of 1,101 graduates that the government should stop putting money in "shams" jobs and poverty perpetuating schemes.

He commended the executive Caucus calls upon the President to exercise constructive leadership in the area of school busing and to focus attention on alternative methods of achieving quality education.

director, the Reverend Edward Hailes, for already having placed 900 of the graduates, and challenged the President and the Congress to "put the money in programs that work, programs that take people off the welfare rolls and put them on payrolls even in a time of rising unemployment.

"OIC is working," Dr. Sullivan said, "in 200 communities in 49 states and people are being placed on jobs every day. You can do it in spite of the employment crisis! It can be done! If you will master the skills and technical knowledge of the world of work.

44 Black African Countries Support World Peace Effort

WASHINGTON (NNPA) — "Forty-four Black African countries support the world peace movement," said Romesh Chandra, secretary-general of the World Peace Council and Nobel Peace Prize nominee for 1975, in an exclusive interview Tuesday by an NNPA representative.

"Africans support it strongly not only because they need to use their resources for economic development rather than arms, but also because the cause of peace is in keeping with their long tradition," he explained.

This same tradition among blacks in America, the 56-year-old continued, grows out of the black experience here. Throughout, blacks have struggled in a very real sense for peace, he added.

Secretary Chandra, a native of Punjab, is heading a Peace Council delegation which will confer with peace committees in more than a dozen communities across America, including Chicago, San Francisco, and New York. "We are receiving a tremendous amount of leadership from American groups," he said.

The tour will end in New York at the United Nations where the delegation will press for a UN Disarmament Conference. "We are working for detente, disarmament, and development," Secretary Chandra pointed out.

"Above all, we want an end of the arms race and a ban of all nuclear and other weapons of mass destruction," he said. Chandra, a Cambridge graduate and a former newspaper editor in India, has been secretary-general of the World Peace Council since 1966. It is headquartered in Helsinki, Finland.

In addition to Chandra, the members of the delegation are: James Lamond, member of the British House of Commons; Harald Edelstam, Swedish ambassador to Algeria; Dr. Carlton B. Goodlett, president of the National Newspaper Publishers Association (NNPA).

Mrs. Puravhi Mukherji, secretary-general of the Congress Party of India; Ralph Abernathy, president, Southern Christian Leadership Conference; Jacov Lomko, editor-in-chief of Moscow News; Ms. Karen Talbot, American secretary, World Peace Council; and Howard Parsons, a professor at the University of Bridgeport.

Pueblo Dish Updated With Tuna

Until the advent of the white man, the only meat in the Indian's diet came from game animals and fowl. But there was fish and seafood aplenty to provide high protein. Even tuna—such a basic food today—was a main dish staple in Peru, at the time of the Incas.

To the Indians, harvest time was very special and called for important "thanksgiving" celebration dishes. The enjoyment they derived from their wholesome dishes can be experienced in this colorful, authentic Pueblo recipe, Indian Harvest Bake. It has alternate layers of vegetables, western-type cheese and, to turn it into a main dish, canned tuna in vegetable oil. It's a zesty casserole with character for all to enjoy.

- | | |
|---|--|
| 2 cans (6½ ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil | 2 medium zucchini or summer squash, sliced |
| ½ cup chopped onion | 1 green pepper, cut into strips |
| 1 teaspoon chili powder | 1 package (10 ounces) frozen whole kernel corn, thawed |
| 1 teaspoon dried leaf oregano | 2 cups grated longhorn or mild Cheddar cheese |
| ½ teaspoon salt | |
| ¼ teaspoon cumin seed | |
| 2 tomatoes, sliced | |

Drain 1 tablespoon oil from tuna into a flameproof 2-quart casserole; add onion and cook until golden. Mix together chili powder, oregano, salt and cumin seed. Layer 1/3 of each vegetable, 1/3 of tuna and 2/3 cup cheese over onion in casserole, sprinkling each layer with a small amount of seasoning mixture. Repeat layers 2 more times. Cover and bake in 350°F. oven for 1½ hours. YIELD: 6 servings.

Party caucus timetables revealed

The Iowa Democratic and Republican parties have set timetables for their caucus to convention process which will be climaxed with the selection of their 1976 presidential candidates.

Both parties will hold precinct caucuses Jan. 19—the first such caucuses in the nation.

REPUBLICANS will hold their county conventions Feb. 26, while Democratic county conventions have been scheduled for March 6.

District caucuses will be held by Republicans in the six congressional districts on either April 2 or 3.

Democrats have scheduled their district conventions for April 10.

The state convention of the Democratic Party will be May 29 at Veterans Auditorium in Des Moines.

Republicans will hold two state conventions—on June 18 and 19 to select delegates to their national convention, and on July 17, which will be their regular statutory convention.

THE TWO Republican conventions also will be at Veterans Auditorium.

The Democratic national convention will be in New York City, starting July 11, while the Republican national convention will open Aug. 16 in Kansas City, Mo.

In announcing the timetables, both the Democratic and Republican state chairmen emphasized they are designed to insure full participation by party members.

Republican State Chairman Tom Stoner said the schedule should "allow all Republicans to become involved in the political process."

Democratic State Chairman Tom Whitney pointed out Iowa is "one of the few states in the union—if not the only—which elects every delegate and convention committee member from the grass-roots precinct level."

Drug council seeking doctor

Officials of the Black Hawk County Drug Council were to meet Thursday with an unnamed physician in hopes of hiring him as the agency's medical director.

Drug council director Patrick Vanzo, at a meeting Wednesday night, said the doctor had given strong indications that he would sign an agreement with the agency.

If he does, the agency would move a major step forward in its efforts to meet a set of stringent state licensing requirements by January 1.

UNDER A new Iowa law, that is the date all drug abuse prevention programs in the state must be licensed by the Iowa Drug Abuse Authority.

Those that do not meet the requirements will be forced to close their doors. Vanzo has contended that the hiring of a medical director is the chief obstacle standing in the way of his agency's obtaining its license.

The medical director, among other things, would give physical exams to all clients and recommend treatment for those with physical ailments.

VANZO SAID the agency must still hire a psychological director, however. That director would be in charge of giving psychological tests to clients.

Vanzo expressed confidence the drug council would meet its Jan. 1 deadline with a lot of work.

"It's a very complicated and vigorous process," Vanzo said.

IN OTHER business Wednesday night, the drug council board of directors:

—Announced Nov. 15 has been set as the date for the agency's open house at its administrative offices at 120 Independence Ave.

—Moved to seek $2,700 from the United Way. The money would be used for training staff personnel.

—Made several changes in the agency's by-laws, including one section on board member attendance at meeting. Under the change, board members will be dropped from the board after missing three consecutive meetings. Previously, board members could have been dropped for missing four meetings, but not necessarily consecutive, in a calendar year.

Speller in top job at Olive Harvey

Eugene T. Speller, 47, has taken up his duties as president of Olive-Harvey College, one of the City Colleges of Chicago, 10001 South Woodlawn.

His appointment to the presidency was announced by Chancellor Oscar E. Shabat and approved by the Board of Trustees of the City Colleges last month.

Speller, who replaced Dr. Charles C. Kidd, Sr., now a vice president at Chicago State University, was chief administrator of the Ridgeview Campus of Austin Community College in Austin, Texas, and dean of Student Development for the college prior to his Olive-Harvey appointment.

Olive-Harvey College, with a student enrollment of 5,000, is located in the heart of the industrial complex and Calumet Ford District of Chicago's Southeast Side. The College offers a distinctive cluster of industrial and engineering technology programs, in addition to liberal arts and sciences. It also offers health programs such as nursing and orthotics and prosthetics.

Speller was born in Charleston, Missouri, January 25, 1928, and earned his Bachelor of Science degree in Engineering in 1955 from Michigan State University. He did further study as a Fellow in the National Program for Educational Leadership at Ohio State University from 1971 through August, 1973. He earned two Master of Arts degrees, one in Social Science in 1966 and one in Education in 1967, both from Michigan State University.

He will be awarded his Ph.D. in Educational Administration this month by the Union Graduate School of the Union for Experimenting Colleges and Universities, Yellow Springs, Ohio.

His doctoral dissertation, "Humanistic Educational Development," is a study of the problems involved in developing a system of participative management in a community college, with emphasis on communications.

Until 1971, when he entered Ohio State University, Speller was an engineer, serving as group applications engineer for Sundstrand Hydro-Transmission, LaSalle, Illinois, and as a project design engineer for both Ford Motor Company, Dearborn, Michigan, and the John Deere Tractor Works, Waterloo, Iowa. He served as an officer in the United States Army from 1956 through 1958.

He has been active in a number of professional societies, including the American Association of School Administrators, American Personnel Guidance Association, and the Society of Automotive Engineers.

East High improvement group to meet

East High School's Ad Hoc Committee on improving programs in the school will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the East student center.

The parents, teachers, and administrators in the group will discuss possibility of reviving the school's remedial reading program.

Also up for discussion are evaluation systems for teachers and administrators, and seven recommendations made by the Waterloo Board of Education for improving the operation of the school.

Officers elected earlier this month are chairman Rev. Edgar Zelle; vice chairman Mrs. DeLores Wells; and secretary Frances Mills.

Any parent, teacher, or student may become a member of the committee and attend the meetings.

Miss Berdell says women hike awareness of council

In a presentation for a Black Hawk County Women's Political Caucus meeting, Councilman Mary Berdell spoke of increased awareness of city council business that is evident because of the presence of women on the council.

Miss Berdell also listed a number of reasons she is running as an independent rather than a member of a ticket for election in the Fourth Ward.

When differences occur, a council member should be free to give expression to those differences without compromise, she said.

SHE ALSO CITED differences in philosophy between herself and other council members in the areas of affirmative action and equal employment opportunities, as well as the treatment of city personnel who had been hired to do a specific job.

Miss Berdell also stressed need for aggressive recruiting women at the state level. She was recently appointed of women to serve in city employment and on city commissions and boards.

More women should be put into responsible positions in policy making groups, she said.

MISS BERDELL said, "There needs to be more meaningful representation in this area." She lauded the Commission on the Status of Women as being instrumental pointed to the state crime commission.

Rev. Keys returned to Payne AME

At the close of the 93rd annual session of the Chicago Annual Conference, Rev. J. R. Keys was returned to the pulpit of Payne AME Church for 1975-76.

Basil Wynter was designated as lay reader and Mrs. Bertha Keys was named Northwest Area Chairperson.

Morning worship time for the Waterloo church has been changed to 10:45 a.m. beginning Sunday and the evening worship service, to be called "The Revival Hour," will begin at 6 p.m.

Rev. J. R. Keys

Rev. Keys has announced that the evangelistic institute for implementing the church's outreach program will be Nov. 6 and 7 and will be conducted by Rev. Lovell Johnson. Rev. Johnson is pastor of St. Mark AME Church in Milwaukee, Wis., and is the director of evangelism of the Fourth Episcopal District of the AME Church.

The Stewards' Board will host a "welcome feast" Sunday following the morning worship honoring Rev. Keys and his family.

THE NEW WORKING WOMAN

To work or not to work.

That is the question being weighed by an increasing number of women looking for part time or full time jobs.

Regardless of the reasons, the question of whether or not to work is often based on what is available and what the job seeker could best be qualified for.

According to Tupperware Home Parties, whose products are sold nationally by thousands of part time and full time independent dealers, there are five critical items for consideration.

First, don't overlook your work in the home when determining what hours can be devoted to work outside of it. The most important trait you can bring to a job is organization. It will prove its value both on the job and away from it.

Second, the job should coincide with your personal interests and talents. Even part time work should be challenging, rewarding and filled with opportunities for advancement.

Third, carefully weigh the expected income benefits to be gained from part time or full time work. Don't overlook the costs of working, for child care, transportation and laundry expenses. There are favorable income tax considerations for you in this area.

Fourth, set realistic financial goals, then set out to achieve them. Many housewives find their work more challenging and fulfilling when it is directed to something specific. Often it is more beneficial if the goal is extraordinary, such as a special vacation.

Fifth, fully discuss your job interests with your family. If there is agreement on what you are working for, a job can help pull a family together not apart.

Melvina Scott Speaks To Neighborhood Group

Melvina Scott Candidate for 3rd Ward City Council spoke Thursday evening to a neighborhood group and outlined her concerns:

First, I am concerned about the lack of decent, safe, and sanitary housing for low income families AND the elderly. Both groups need housing. I believe the City has the responsibility to provide this housing. Even so often it appears. That a solution to the housing problem is being considered or is within...only to create false hope.

Secondly, I am concerned about the financing of city government. Priorities for spending are directly related to income and sources of income. I will oppose any new property taxes. I believe the burden must be placed on those who use Waterloo but don't contribute to its support.

We need to find a way to strike a balance in spending's for people problems and housing, police protection, streets and sewers, all of which are important and necessary. VOTE NOVEMBER 4. SCOTT FOR 3RD WARD CITY COUNCIL

Board of Supervisors
Black Hawk County

"With the "New Federalism", it is evident that the county as a unit of government is more important than ever in Iowa as the vehicle for the funding of and delivery of services to the people of that county, particularly in the area of human services."

DEMOCRAT

Paid for by Campaign Committee to Elect Martha Nash, Ruth Holt, Treasurer.

We need to be aware of the county-funded programs and how effective and efficient they are in carrying out the activities for which they exist. Yet, we must never lose sight of the fact that their very reason for being is to provide services to people — the elderly, the handicapped, the mentally retarded, etc.

There must be effective use of the funds and resources available to the county through long-range planning that sets over-all goals and priorities, determines consistent objectives and utilizes implementation strategies that are realistic and feasible. It is important that we stay ever mindful of the cost of government services and strive to keep them as efficient as possible.

BLACK HAWK COUNTY NEEDS SUPERVISORS

WHO:

- will make the most effective use of local and federal dollars.
- provide accountability for the county's programs, resources and funds.
- provide strong, positive leadership.
- are willing to listen to people.

The Board of Supervisors should be as broadly based as possible in its make-up. Although Black Hawk County's Supervisors are chosen on an "at-large" basis, it is important that all segments of the county's population are represented.
