Group Forms to Woo Negro Voters to Republican Party

The newly - formed National Negro Republican Assembly met in Chicago last week in conjunction with the Republican National Committee and stressed that their objective is "to create a new atmosphere within the framework of the Republican Party to make it unmistakable clear that the Negro citizen is need, wanted and welcome.

The group, a federation of political leadership currently operating in 24 states and the District of Columbia, listed as other objectives:

To campaign and develop support in the "Negro Communities" for those Republican candidates whose record of performances are compatible and consistent with traditional Republican concepts.

Do Masses Make Trouble?

American Negroes may feel that what happens in faraway England has little or no significance for us. If this is so, American Negroes are wrong. England is having its own racial troubles. These troubles seem to be very much like those we deplore in Mississippi.

Some Englishmen are reacting very violently (almost in the pattern of the Ku Klux Klan) to the incursions of dark-skinned members of the Commonwealth into the mother country. When it became indubitably true that subjects of the King (or Queen) from the West Indies were flooding certain towns and cities in England, the law-makers (just like our own law-makers) went to work to devise legislation which would serve as a barrier to dark-skinned immigrants. This is the law which the Labor Government (now clinging to a narrow precipice of power) had promised to repeal.

Today, there must be some second thoughts about repeal. The Labor Government, once it achieved power, found itself confronted with the color problem in its worst form. The Labor Government asked Patrick Gordon Walker to assume the post as Foreign Secretary. Mr. Walker ran, on the Labor ticket, for a seat in the House of Commons, from Smethwick. He was roundly defeated by an opponent who exploited the race problem. It turned out that Labor, itself, had a jim-crow club in Smethwick, from which all Negroes were barred. Mr. Walker took the side of the Negro.

But if Mr. Walker is to serve in the cabinet, he must have a constituency to vote him into the House of Commons. Without such a constituency, Mr. Walker must submit his resignation. The Labor Government tried to give him a constituency by having him run for a post from the London suburb of Leyton. Here Mr. Walker bit the dust or fouled the fog again. He was beaten again because of the racial issue. Supporters of his opponent paraded the streets while shouting, "We want to keep England white." Labor won the seat from Leyton last year by a margin of 7,926. Walker lost by 205 votes.

Our South has been telling our North for decades that the South has the real Negro problem because there are so many Negroes in the South. The influx of Negroes has created a race problem in England. Numbers do, indeed, seem to make trouble.

Who Pays the Piper?

Impressive gains are being made in the area of civil rights, but who is paying the bills? Are you? Or, better still, are we? If year-end statements of the leaders of some of the civil rights organizations are correct, there are far too many Negroes looking for somebody else to pay the bills. Somebody else, it must be presumed, is helping to pay the bills, but Negroes are not doing what they should.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, according to a report published in the New York Times, not only slipped financially, but membership decreased in 1964. Income declined from $1,437,676 in 1963 to $1,116,566 in 1964—as against expenditures of $1,615,653. Membership dropped from 535,000 to 470,000, or approximately 12 per cent. Why did we let this happen?

The Congress of Racial Equality had a rough year, also. The income of the national office for the seven months ending Dec. 31 was $547,000, down from $605,000 in the same period of the year before. CORE is now battling a red figure of $157,000. This is in spite of the fact that contributors rose by 15,000, to 80,000. CORE is going to try to cut its $1,100,000 budget by $100,000, by reducing salaries, staff and paper work.

Another organization in trouble is the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee. According to its executive secretary, James Forman, the organization is "in desperate need of funds." It had a projected budget of $646,000 for 1964, but exceeded this by $100,000. Increased commitments, according to Mr. Forman, call for a 1965 budget of $1,153,000.

The NAACP Legal Defense Fund and the National Urban League seem to be the only organizations which can keep up with financial demands. The Urban League's 1964 income was $1,669,000, up $225,000 from 1963.

The above figures have a sickening significance when one considers that the day after the eighteen alleged killers of the civil rights workers in Mississippi were indicted, white Mississippians were reported to be rushing the formation of an organization to raise ONE MILLION DOLLARS for the defense of the indicted men. There is little doubt that, if a million dollars is needed, a million dollars will be raised.

Irksome Indeed

The loyal, patriotic citizens of the Republic of Panama have been given some food for deep thought and it can be presumed that they are not sure whether they should swallow it or not. All of a sudden, the administration in Washington serves notice that it has been musing over the prospect of building another canal in another Central American country, maybe Colombia. Washington also proposes to renegotiate the Treaty of 1903 with the Panamanian government.

What Washington is seemingly proposing should irk the people of Panama. Uncle Sam helped to set up Panama as an independent nation early in this century. At that time Colombia owned what is now Panama. Our government had been trying to work out a deal with the Colombian government involving the present site of the Panama Canal. But the Colombians were not easy to deal with.

It was good luck for Uncle Sam when the Panamanians rebelled against the Colombian government. Uncle Sam, who wants everybody everywhere to be free—except in Mississippi—backed up the Panamanian insurgents with our Marines. When the fighting was all over, Panama was free and in a position to bargain with Uncle Sam for the stretch of land he needed for the canal. The Panamanians were beholden to the United States for their independence. We actually were god-fathers of the new republic.

It is conceivable that a treaty written under such circumstances would be one that Panama would not like sixty years later. That is what all the fuss has been about. The Panamanians want a new treaty.

Now Washington seems to be willing to write new treaty. But under a kind of duress. It will talk to Panama about such a treaty while going through the motion of making plans for a brand new canal. Maybe a new canal is necessary; but you could not convince the people of Panama that it is. Panama even now enjoys a substantial income from the Canal. It isn't as much as she would like to get, but it is better than nothing. And that is exactly what might be left if the United States picked out another spot, outside Panama, and built a new canal. Therefore, even if Panama had a chance to sit in while a new treaty is being negotiated (Panama was not represented when the old treaty was drawn up), its representatives would always be up against the fact that if a treaty were acceptable to the United States could not be written, Uncle Sam would pull out of Panama and build another canal through Colombia.

To Panama such a prospect must be irksome indeed.

But what about us? What about our civil rights? What about the masses who stage demonstrations in the streets? Who is behind them money-wise? Are most Negroes cheating and taking free rides to freedom? What does FREEDOM NOW mean, anyhow?

How could the NAACP lose 65,000 members in a year when the greatest war for freedom was being waged? How could it lose so many members even if no war were being waged? Here is an organization which, since 1910, has opened more doors for Negroes than all other organization put together (despite the valiant work of other organizations), yet faith in it and support for it must be measured by a decrease of 65,000 dues-paying members.

There is something about the financial plight of our civil rights organizations which ought to shame most of us.

Mr. Powell's Quick Draw

Congressman Adam Clayton Powell, who gets into the hair of many persons, has come up with a warning which does not help him to win friends and influence people. As chairman of the Education and Labor Committee, in the House of Representatives, he is in a position to help some and hurt others. There are some persons who would like to get rid of Mr. Powell and make him out to be a "bad boy" in New York. There are others who wish they could call him stupid. They can't.

The big objective of labor in this session of Congress is to amend the Taft-Hartley Law in such a way as to do away with the "right to work" laws in some twenty states. In his State of the Union message to Congress, President Johnson let it be known that he is aware of what labor wants. He may also help labor to get it. But the President reckoned without Mr. Powell.

Mr. Powell lets it be known that he is not going to budge one-sixteenth of an inch until leaders in labor do more about discrimination in some unions than has been done up to now. As chairman of the House Labor and Education Committee, Congressman Powell can do more blocking than Ernie Ladd of the San Diego Chargers. He has made known his intention to drag his feet on Taft-Hartley until the AFL-CIO takes significant action toward unions which discriminate.

Quick draws like this turn Congressman Powell into a "bad boy."

MY VIEW

Let the Negro Beware

By Benjamin E. Mays

To desegregate society is right and just. No self-respecting man would have it otherwise. To brand a man by segregating him is a great sin. To this end, Negroes have fought, bled and died for God-given right to walk the earth with dignity. After 100 years since Lincoln, the Negro is on the verge of becoming a first-class citizen.

And yet, the removal of segregation is not enough. Congress and the Supreme Court have done most of their part. The civil rights legislation of 1964 and the validation of the Public Accommodations Section of that act, by the Supreme Court, are magnificent achievements. But these are external measures and do not, of themselves, free the mind of inferiority. It is highly possible that millions of Negroes will go into a desegregated society steeped in the inferiority complex.

Some will be dazzled by the size of an operation and by the splendor of an enterprise. They will feel that because it is big and managed by whites it is per se better. Let me illustrate.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. is not better than all other insurance companies because it is perhaps the largest. Atlanta Life, Supreme Liberty, North Carolina Mutual, Great Lakes, Pilgrim and others are just as good and just as safe in the areas they cover. A bank with assets of $200,000,000 is no safer than one with assets of $25,000,000. Both have savings guaranteed up to $10,000. One may spend more money on the building, but the money is no safer. Harvard University is not necessarily better than Yale, Princeton, Columbia, or the University of Chicago because it has $750,000,000 in endowment. Teachers do not teach better because they have a larger salary. A professor at Chicago on a $20,000 salary is not necessarily a better teacher than one at Princeton on a $15,000 salary. A man drawing a $15,000 salary will teach no better when raised to $20,000. A man who cheats on the job on a $15,000 salary will cheat on a $20,000 salary.

A Negro church integrated with a white pastor is no better than a white church integrated with a Negro pastor.

Living in a neighborhood where the neighbors are all white doesn't make one better than a Negro living in a neighborhood where all are Negroes.

White colleges are now opening their doors to Negroes. Negroes should not go there just because they were formerly all white. They should be sure that they go because, all things considered, they can get a better all-around education. I sit on the board of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. I know that there are some white colleges so far behind some Negro colleges that it isn't funny. I also know that there are many white institutions in the United States that are not accredited by any one of the six regional accrediting agencies.

The food isn't better in downtown Atlanta restaurants than that I get at Paschal's and Frazier's on the West Side in Atlanta.

Our job is to strive to become more efficient wherever we labor, and let service and efficiency be the criteria of our choices. Herein lies freedom.

Opportunity: THE NEGRO BABY

(From President Kennedy's Message to the United States Congress on Feb. 28, 1963)

"The Negro baby born in America today — regardless of the section or state in which he is born — has about one-half as much chance of completing high school as a white baby born in the same place on the same day — one-third as much chance of completing college — one-third as much chance of becoming a professional man — twice as much chance of becoming unemployed — about one-seventh as much chance of earning $10,000 per year — a life expectancy which is seven years less — and the prospects of reaching only half as much."

Trim crusts from thinly sliced bread and spread with peanut butter or cheese. Toast, cut into 1-inch squares and serve with tomato or chicken soup.
For black bean soup add a swirl of soured cream and a dusting of nutmeg.
For plain lettuce wedges, nothing tastes better than French dressing converted to Chiffonade Dressing with the addition of chopped, hard-cooked egg, green pepper and pimiento.
Blanket cooked green beans with mushroom soup and shredded American cheese, heat and serve at once.
Slice canned corned beef hash into thick slices, top with slices of onion, cover with tomato or barbecue sauce and bread crumbs. Bake until heated through.

Airline Will Talk Jobs To 50,000 Girls

CHICAGO, Ill. — United Air Lines will require 1,520 new stewardesses next year. However, due to the continuing high standards for the stewardess profession, the company will interview more than 50,000 young women system-wide in 1963 to obtain the 1,520 girls accepted for training. Personnel recruiters in the Great Lakes region expect to interview up to 6,000 young women and to hire about 170. With the intensive recruiting next year, the stewardess corps will be increased from 2,300 to 2,700.

Successful applicants attend United's stewardess training center in Chicago for 5½ weeks before assignment to one of 11 cities, including Pittsburgh, from New York to San Francisco and from Seattle to Miami.

Applicants must be single, at least 20 years old but not yet 27; 5 feet, 2 inches to 5 feet, 9 inches height, with a weight of 140 pounds or less in proportion to height.

Malcolm Insane, Says Brother and Elijah

A scathing double barreled attack has been levelled at Malcolm X by Elijah Muhammad, leader of the controversial religious sect, and Brother Philbert X, Malcolm's own brother.

In a thinly veiled blast at his onetime chief aide whom he tossed out of the Muslims early last year, Mr. Muhammad, writing in the current edition of Muhammad Speaks, the cult's newspaper, scored "hypocrites" and said that Allah (the God of the Muslims) destroyed them according to their Holy book, the Koran, which he spelled as "Qur-an."

While never once mentioning Mr. X name, the Hon. Mr. Muhammad left no doubt who his lengthy article was aimed at.

Recently he and his son, Akbar Muhammad, who flew in from Cairo, Egypt, violently disagreed over Akbar's firm refusal to do his father's bidding and label Malcolm as a "hypocrite." Their confrontation has reportedly led to a break between father and son, according to an exclusive interview the latter had with the Courier.

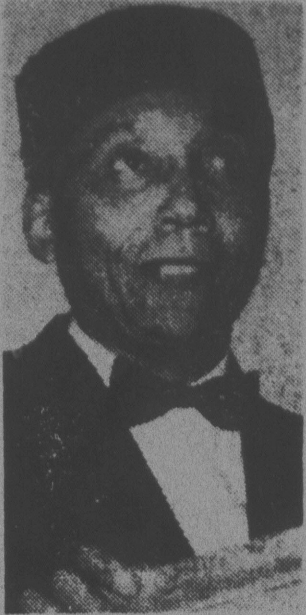

Referring to his ex-chief lieutenant as the "chief hypocrite," Mr. Muhammad wrote that he (Malcolm) and his followers resorted to arming themselves with .30 caliber weapons to him his onetime employer. Because God was with him, he said, no harm has come to the Muslims.

Denouncing Malcolm as "insane for leadership," Mr. Muhammad wrote that he has disagreed himself for that office. He promised to continue his bitter blast at hypocrites in the next edition of their newspaper.

In a separate story, Philbert X, minister of Muhammad's Mosque of Islam in Lansing, Mich., said he saw his brother pursuing a dangerous course which "parallels that of the precedents set by Judas, Benedict Arnold, Brutus and others who betrayed the fiduciary relationship between them and their leaders."

He pictured Malcolm as the victim of a "mental illness" which beset many Americans even his own mother, Philbert added. His brother, he added, "now resorts to falsely charging Muhammad's family and the officials of our headquarters with seeking his ouster."

"Unnecessary loss of blood and life" can only result for those who follow the reckless efforts of his blood kin, he asserted. He also hurled the term "hypocrite" at his brother for deviating from Mr. Muhammad.

U.S.C.C. Members Asked To Comply With Civil Rights Act

A. L. Foster, executive director of the Cosmopolitan Chamber of Commerce has received a letter from Walter F. Carey, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce assuring him that the national body has already taken steps to provide help to its members in complying with the Civil Rights Act. Replying to a previous letter from Foster, Carey wrote (12-30-64): "I am pleased to have this opportunity to mention some of the activities that the Chamber has undertaken to help its members comply with the Civil Rights Act."

Continuing Carey wrote: "Soon after the Civil Rights Act was signed into law by President Johnson, the National Chamber prepared the enclosed Guide for its members, explaining the public accommodations and employment sections of this law. In recent months, the Chamber has also conducted conferences in several cities, mostly southern, for the purpose of helping its members comply with the law's requirements.

"In addition to these activities, the National Chamber is always available to answer any questions that our members may have about the Civil Rights Act.

"These are just some of the programs in which the Chamber has engaged. Others are being planned to continue to help and encourage our members to comply with the Civil Rights Act."

"It is encouraging to have this, the most powerful business organization in the world, compliance giving guidance to chambers of Commerce throughout the nation on matters of civil rights and urging them to comply," Foster told reporters Monday. "The Chamber's publication 'Guide to Civil Rights Act', described as an analysis of Title II, I, VII and XI, consists of 14 pages and covers every phase of the Act.

"As an introduction the booklet discusses Legislative Development, explaining the steps taken by Congress to pass H. R. 7152, the Civil Rights Act of 1964 which was signed into law by President Johnson July 2, 1964.

"The booklet then takes up Titles II, VI, VII and XI and explains each, the first as injunctive relief against discrimination in places of public accommodation, the second, nondiscrimination in Federally Assisted programs, the third, equal employment opportunities including coverage of Title VII, action by the Attorney General, impact of Title VII on state laws, record keeping, notice posting and rules and regulations."

When the Civil Rights Act was being debated in the Congress, it was predicted that business organizations would oppose its passage. The Chamber of Commerce both advocated legislation which would improve the lot of all citizens and, as shown above, threw the weight of the membership behind compliance with the Act.

God and Country

"Indeed, I tremble for my country when I reflect that God is just."
—Thomas Jefferson

Thomas Jefferson, like many other great men who helped establish a nation devoted to freedom in all its concepts, expected great things for the new country. Yet, he was not unaware of the weakness of human nature. He knew that the real strength of any nation must lie in the moral fiber of its inhabitants.

Today the United States is the richest nation in the world, a world leader, a world power, looked upon with some measure of awe, if not respect, by men of diverse tongues.

Let us reflect upon these words of Jefferson and ask ourselves if our national moral standards have kept pace with our military might and progress. Let us remember that God is just. God isn't concerned with what we have—only with what we are.

Powell Blasts War on Poverty

WASHINGTON--(UPI)--Congressman Adam Clayton Powell took advantage of the holiday lull to air his opinion on education, the war on poverty, Negroes in government, and the seating of the Mississippi Congressional delegation.

The controversial New Yorker told newsmen that the administration's anti-poverty program has been "seriously weakened" by a lack of adequate planning at the local level. He charged that there are not enough poor people (with an income of less than $3,000 yearly) on anti-poverty committees throughout the country, despite the fact that the law requires their inclusion.

"I have criss-crossed the country," he said, and the program is not moving anywhere except in New York City. Cleveland is bickering and Chicago is floundering around," Washington, he added, is involved in an inter-agency war of press interviews instead of a battle against poverty.

Powell said that he was not impressed by a White House announcement earlier that the percentage of Negroes in middle and upper grade government jobs increased again this year.

He cited his own figures to show that the number of Negroes in six selected Federal areas presented "a very sorry state of affairs." He provided this breakdown: 2 Negroes among the top 50 executives in the Peace Corps' Washington office; no Negroes among the top eight policy-making positions in the Office of Economic Opportunity; no Negroes among the top 50 executives in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare; eight Negroes among the 166 leading positions at HHFA (Housing and Home Finance Agency, headed by Robert Weaver);

Rep. Powell also suggested that since education has "now come of age," and its multi-billion dollar business, the u.s. commissioner of Education should be a cabinet officer. He told the news conference that he believes the new Congress will pass a Federal aid to education bill, providing money for elementary and secondary schools, and allowing the states to decide how the money will be spent.
