Fifth Annual Iowa Buxton Picnic To Draw Thousands To D. Moines

The Fifth Annual Iowa Buxton Picnic, a reunion of the descendants of Buxton, the old mining community which existed from the '80's through the '90's in Mahaska County, will be held at Union Park in Des Moines Sunday, August 31st. "Iowa's largest Negro affair", is to be preceded by a "get-acquainted" social Saturday, August 30th at the Des Moines Chocker Branch YMCA, 1330 Keo Way.

Delegations from at least 17 states and an attendance of 3,000 persons are expected in Des Moines, who has been host to five of these gigantic picnics, with Chicago, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, and other cities participating as sponsors.

Those on the program will include Henry Steel, who will be master of ceremonies and Henry Mease, who will be the speaker of the day.

The Iowa Buxton Clubs, whose guidance and planning makes each reunion a memorable event, have local clubs in many cities extending from either coast, formed exclusively by former residents of Buxton, Iowa.

Officers of the Waterloo branch are: Pres., Mrs. George Berdell; V. Pres., Mrs. Elmira Anderson; Sec., Mrs. Willie Smith; and Treas., Mrs. Rena Reasby Mallett.

Buxtonites of Waterloo who are expected to attend the reunion are: Mrs. Minnie London, Mrs. Valleta Fields, Mrs. J. D. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Roving Reporter Bashir Temple Plays Host At Three Day Confab

Question of the week: Do you feel that if we had Negro policemen it would help our community?

Mr. Theomore Ross, 305 Cottage street. "Yes, I think it would help. The young people are more familiar with the people and their different moods and types. It would be another mark of history for the community."

Mrs. Narvel Montgomery, 331 Bates street. "Yes, it would encourage our young people — give them some goal to work toward."

Mr. A. C. Allen, 1028 Beech street. "Yes, it would, but they should be on duty anywhere in Waterloo, not just in the colored areas."

Mr. Ulysses Price, 338 Adams street. "It would definitely be a lift to the morale of the community. There are enough Negro voters in the community to warrant representation on the police force."

Mrs. R. G. Potter, 821 Fowler street. "The presence of Negro policemen should help prevent minor disturbances from developing into major disasters."

Mr. Sammie Byrd, 421 Clay street. "Yes, I do. A Negro policeman would understand his people's problems due to the fact that he is of the Negro race. It would encourage the citizens to put forth every effort possible to prove that their people are capable of holding such a position and thereby eliminate much of the crime and corruption that penetrated throughout the community."

Mrs. Harvey Fullilove, 720 Sumner street. "Yes, they could contact the people and really have interest in them. A colored policeman would strive to clean up the crime and really put his heart and soul in his work. Colored policemen would definitely be beneficial to the community in every way."

YANKEES REFUSE STADIUM TO CHISOX AFTER SECOND LICKING

New York (CNS)—It may be only a minor incident — the refusal of the Yankees to let Paul Richards' hustling Chisox work out at the Stadium — but it certainly doesn't add any stature to the sagging Yankees, who are supposed to be too great to be petty.

The "incident" occurred after the second licking the Chicago White Sox handed the vaunted Yankees. Manager Paul Richards, as pilot of the visiting team, simply asked Casey Stengel for some time at the Stadium to workout. Surprisingly Stengel refused, saying: "Mr. Richards is not running the Yankees or the Stadium. We'll let him work out when we want to, not when he wants to. Our ground-keepers have to eat and sleep sometime."

To this Richards retorted: "It's pretty small when you're not allowed to have the field after a game. We've always gotten it everywhere else." And as he cabbed four of his men—Carrasquel, Stobbs, Johnson and the speedy Mino — to the more favorable Polo Grounds for special practice, he added: "The Yankees will always be welcome to have Comiskey Park any time they ask for it."

HARRY SIMPSON IN 116 GAMES

"THE FIRST NEGRO TO" — A DUBIOUS DISTINCTION
Academic tradition has it that when Harvard boasted of James and Royce and Munsterberg and Santayana, it had the ablest department of philosophy in the world. Four giants in philosophy!

When I was a student at Harvard all of my work came in Emerson Hall, the hall of philosophy. I observed on many occasions the little room where these four great philosophers met, but James and Royce in particular, would meet and discuss the subject of whether man runs because he is afraid or he is afraid because he runs.

James said he runs because he is afraid and Royce contended that he is afraid because he runs and so the debate went on for decades. Two schools of thought were developed, each with its devotees.

The instance in question shows how intellectual resourcefulness can indefinitely prolong debate on any question. The point made here is that the writer has a little grand-niece in Detroit, with whom he is forever debating whether the little niece is a little Negro girl or just a little girl.

She contends that she is just another girl, while the writer contends that she is a little Negro girl. Although she contends that she is just another little girl—wishful thinking at its very best—the writer contends that inasmuch as nine-tenths of her associations are with Negroes she is to all intents and purposes a little Negro girl.

Of course there are casual associations with her schoolmates who are white. But on the whole, her social life is bounded by the color question. If she gets over at all, Negroes will have to put her over.

It is quite easy to understand why Negroes incline themselves to make themselves believe that they are just plain American citizens, no more and no less; but it does not work out so easily in their daily intercourse. At every turn we are met with the vagaries of the color question, with which we must deal on a racial basis.

It is the northern Negro who often strives hardest to make himself believe that he is just another American citizen. He holds to his belief even when he must come down south to find decent employment; but once in the south he takes Jim-crowism in stride and accepts in practice-segregation. This is unfortunate but true!

The point of this release hinges about the notion so often expressed when Negroes claim to be the first Negro to achieve certain distinctions. There is today a well-defined cult which could easily be called the "First Negro To" cult. Our newspapers are cluttered with "First Negro To" news.

Things the white man has been doing for hundreds of years are news when the first Negro to accomplish them gets a hearing. So often the Negro's claim to distinction resides, not so much in the achievement in question, but in the fact that he is the first Negro to achieve it.

The School Nurse

It will not be long now before the apple of your eye will be bringing home to you that little blue card again. Most of you will simply throw it in the waste basket and wonder if "they" don't have anything else to do at school. The school nurse is constantly on the alert for anything that is preventing the child from becoming a properly adjusted citizen in the school community, in meeting the other children on an equal basis in school play, in learning and developing to the best of his ability.

How much is the health and comfort of your child worth to you? If he does not eat properly, if his stomach aches, if his tooth aches, he a very miserable little creature. If your tooth aches, you feel bad all over.

Halitosis (Foul Breath)

The healthy mouth should be free from any odor. Offensive breath in various forms occurs as a temporary or permanent disturbance. Such conditions should receive more careful attention from the dentist than they generally do, because halitosis is a stigma causing the one affected many social disadvantages, as well as a sign post that something is wrong and should be taken care of. There are many causes and in succeeding weeks one will be discussed.

Odors arising from Purely Dental Conditions

About ninety per cent of all cases originate from prolonged stagnation and bacterial fermentation of food debris about the teeth. A sickly foul odor is produced from carbohydrates, from odorous fatty acid compounds, from highly offensive hydrogen sulfide such as comes from eggs, etc.

Artificial bridges, dentures, orthodontic appliances or other prosthetic fixtures are quickly covered with sticky mucoid deposits which undergo fermentation. Some may be familiar with the "false teeth smell." All of this may be avoided if care is given to cleaning these appliances daily.

Caries (cavities) untreated or under crowns or inlays, with or without infection of the pulp or discharges from fistulae often cause bad breath, especially as such mouths are generally neglected.

Neglect of the teeth of the young can cause many permanent defects which cannot be corrected in adults. If any of you have had the experience do not subject your children to the same treatment. Take care of their health and make them happy.

Negroes Hearts Stronger States African Doctor

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — (ANP) — Believers in white supremacy have come in for a good deal of ribbing lately in South Africa's English-language press.

A lecturer in anthropology at Witwatersand University here, Dr. M. D. W. Jeffreys, came out in public that the Negro has a better heart than the white man and that he is nearer the true human type.

The anthropologist was quoted as saying that a number of Negro hearts have a large extra branch from the left coronary artery. "In other words," he went on, "the Negro heart has a better blood supply. The European heart is a mammalian one, whereas the Negro's an advance, an improvement."

Dr. Jeffreys pointed out that all mankind sprang from a common dark ancestor, perhaps in east-central Africa. But he added that while the white man's bones are comparable in texture and structure to those of mammals, the Negro has bones that are stronger and lighter and a skull that is thinner and stronger.

He theorized that the relative infrequency of coronary thrombosis among Negroes might be attributed to the "improved heart."

In this instance Dr. Jeffreys did not go unanswered. Another doctor asserted that the real reason why so many more white men die of coronary thrombosis is that the white think harder and eat more.

The implication of all this is that the Negro in the long run will be better able to stand the stress and strain of modern civilization than the white man.

Reynolds Re-elected President; Waterloo Gets Four Offices

Speaking to a group of more than a hundred delegates and friends, Rev. J. H. Reynolds in his annual address declared that conditions of the world will get no better until we surrender to the captain of our salvation for divine guidance.

Our leaders of government from the National capitol down to the state and local communities will never find the medium of peace until they receive it from the Prince of peace.

Sin declared Rev. Reynolds was never more rampant than in this machine age. He admonished the group quoting from the apostles "to lay aside every weight that doth so easily beset us. Let us run with patience the race that is set before us, looking to Jesus, the Author and finisher of our faith. Hebrew 12:1.

Rev Reynolds stated that the Mission is the heart of the church and evangelism is the heart of missions. To much emphasis cannot be placed on these two. High praise was given to this state and others who supported the National Baptist Bath House, located in Hot Springs, Arkansas.

The President reported on his attendance at the National Baptist Convention held in Oklahoma City in 1951 — National Baptist Board meeting in January in Hot Spring — Mid-Western Bible Institute in Des Moines — Sunday School and B.T.U. Congress in Milwaukee.

Rev. Reynolds told the group about the two students the 5 State convention is supporting, they are Miss Etta Bell Teal who is attending the National Baptist Training Institute in Nashville, Tenn. and Mr. R. Millsap of St. Paul, Minn. who is studying for the ministry in South Dakota. (Sioux Falls).

Several new officers were added at this convention, they are:

JOE LOUIS PREDICTS

WALCOTT WIN

New York (CNS)—Though he hasn't been too successful with his predictions of late, Joe Louis has let loose another starter—that Joe Walcott will retain his heavyweight championship against Rocky Marciano on September 23rd. "Old Pappy is too smart and tricky," Joe explained. "He'll run Marciano crazy moving in and out and don't forget he got a mean right hand lick. It's quick and it'll pulverize you."

Though mindful of Rocky's power, which incidentally kayoed him not too long ago, Joe still doesn't rate Marciano too highly in the heavyweight picture. "Rocky may become heavyweight champ some day, but not this year. Walcott has too much savvy for him. Besides I don't think Marciano is the best heavyweight around. Personally, I think Ezzard Charles is. And the best heavyweight prospect, I'd say, is Clarence Henry out in Los Angeles."

He was especially pleased over the grand slam he hit at Fenway Park and told his teammates: "I got my eye on the ball. They can't fool me."

Sermon of The Week

SUBJECT: An Unruly Tongue
TEXT: But the tongue can no man tame: it is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison. James 3:8 A.D. 60

EVIL SPEAKING

Part of the christian life has to do with the tongue, and looking at it in its social aspect, the greatest part. The ways in which the sin forbidden in the text may be committed are legion, and time would fail us in any attempt to give them even the barest enumeration.

The first and most absolute form in which we can speak evil of a brother is by uttering against him a willfully false accusation. One could have wished, for the sake of the honour of our race, that such a deliberate sin had been impossible, but unfortunately it is so common and inveterate that a special law against it was uttered on Sinai, and written on this stony Architect will have it taken down and replaced by a stone of truth.

Another form of evil speaking is that of exaggerating faults that are real. While there has been an immense sacrifice of truth, there has been, on the part of the thoughtless romancers, an entire oblivion of the Golden Law, "DO UNTO OTHERS AS YE WOULD THAT THEY SHOULD DO UNTO YOU."

Another way in which men speak evil one of another is by the unnecessary repetition of real faults. He that is without fault, let him cast a stone at a faulty man. Of all species of conversation, there is none which is less profitable than that which consists of a morbid dissection of other men's characters.

Another manner in which men speak evil of each other is by a sort of mock sorrow. Under the hypocritical guise of pity and abhorrence of sin. They indulge in the mischievous yet too common propensity to publish the failings of some erring brother.

Another manner in which men speak evil of each other is by misrepresenting language, motive, or circumstance. The extent to which this special form of evil-speaking goes on is such that it may well create great distrust in any story we hear. Things may sometimes be worse than the rumor, but in the majority of cases I am persuaded they are not half so bad. We are not to speak evil of each other because we are brethren, and because to speak evil of our brothers is to speak evil of the law which commands us to love our brothers. Let us jealously guard each other's reputations, each looking to it that his reputation shall be worth guarding.

Rev. Percy Burt

tablet by the finger of God. And of all sinners in the world, the liar is the greatest and the most hopeless. While every sin is bad enough, and needs the special mercy of Heaven for its forgiveness and the special help of Heaven for its cure and abandonment. Lying sent us deeper into the heart and to taint it more thoroughly than any other. And there is this terrible peculiarity about it, that while it is a sin in itself, it is also a shield for every other sin. Lying often takes the form of evil-speaking; and then you have a double evil, an evil compounded of malice and falsehood. Every stone of falsehood we put into the walls of the temple of truth will crumble; its color will strike through whatever paint we may put upon it; and the great

IMPERIAL DEPUTY OF THE DESERT

Frank Garrison, Sr.

OASIS OF WATERLOO, DESERT OF IOWA

6th day of the month July which corresponds to

Hegira 137, 1952

I received the appointment as Imperial Deputy of the Desert of Iowa on Oct. 15, 1951, this is my first attempt to have a Gala-Day Celebration for the Desert. This is some of the Imperial Council's program, of which Dr. Raymond E. Jackson is head. Our order is the A.E.A. Order N. of the M.S. of N. & S. & J., Inc.

Here are a few details of this order: The Order of the Mystic Shrine was founded as a vigilance committee, whose main objects were to dispense justice, to protect the weak and oppressed, punish criminals, who through the tardiness of the Courts of the East, were likely to escape their just desserts, and to promote religious tolerance among all classes. By this means a band of determined men, actuated solely by civic and patriotic motives, was welded together for the purpose of protecting human rights. In the performance of their work they acted without fear or favor. Some of these orders, that we have today, have done great work and are still doing the same. They probably would not be in existence if it were not for the Noble of the Mystic Shrine putting up their great fight.

In 1914 the State of Georgia, Florida, Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas brought suit against the Shrine and after 15 years of litigation at a cost of over $70,000 (with the high cost of things today, imagine what 15 years of court litigation would cost now), the Supreme Court of the United States, Chief Justice Taft and associate Justice Van Devanter wrote the decision that gave Shriners the right to perform their sacred work. They were led by a great noble, Imperial Potentate, Caesar R. Blake. Today we have a man of similar character and courage, none other than Dr. Raymond E. Jackson.

We are spending large amounts on education each year, large donations to hospitals for T.B. and cancer research. Each members must pay a certain amount for these charities. Locally we help educational programs, help the needy and donate other gifts. Now I am calling on all Daughters and Nobles to do their best in helping put this program over, by selling ads and tickets to business people. There will be a picnic, banquet and ball — and all members are asked to do their part. Always plan on paying the one who helps you out by patronizing them. When you do patronize these persons, let them know you are a member of Bashir or Zeid Temples.

CAMPAIGN ISSUES IN THE FASHION PLATFORM

Fashion this fall seems to have picked up the election year flavor, and women will get a chance to vote for their choice in silhouette, texture, beauty and ayeal. There will be the middy versus the high waistline, the bell silhouette versus the tubular; the tent versus the toga; the crisp versus the fluid look. But regardless of the choice on detail, certain basic campaign issues are paramount in any fashion platform.

The women who keeps wel informed on such vital issues will recognize immediately the merit of the following fashion platform.

BECOMINGNESS: First and foremost in any campaign to get a favorable fashion vote is becomingness, for it a costume does nothing for the wearer, then there is no excuse for wearing it except the very elementary one of protecting the body. So notwithstanding what the fashion designers come forth with this fall (once in a while they do release a monstrosity, you know) the smart gal is going to adjust in the general direction of the prevailing mode, but will stand closely by those line that do most for her.

BUDGET: Another major consideration is budget. Gone are the days (happy farewell) when one has to be on speaking terms with "Brewster's Millions. to be well dressed. Of course the smaller the clothing allowance the more selectives one has to be, but thanks to the American system of mass production, smart clothes can be bought at nominal prices.

SIMPLICITY: In no area is the need for restraint more pronounced than in the matter of being smartly attired. Many an otherwise handsome outfit has been utterly ruined by the addition of just one item too many. This isn't to say one must never use decorative touches. It is essential to lear to distinguish between simplicity and a paucity of ideas. However, if one has to err, 'tis better to do so on the simple side, for overdressing is the most effective barometer of poor taste yet devised.

COLOR: Even if you don't go so far as to subscribe to the belief that beautiful color can compensate for poor lines in a costume, no one can deny the wonder appeal of the magic color. It is easy to feel safe with the dignity of black and navy, and the subtlety of neutral grays and beiges, but it takes a lot of courage to break forth in flaming orange. However, often there is nothing like a gay colored dress to lift one's mood on a blue or grey day.

The time tested experiment of draping a large swatch of cloth around the neck and shoulders is a wonderful way to tell whether or not a particular color is right for you. A word of caution: sometimes the lipstick has to be changed in order to wear a color well. This is especially true if the color it in the red or orange family.
