FIELD TRIPS SCHEDULED APRIL 4 and 18

Field trips, open to Audubon members and the public, will leave Ames on Sunday morning April 4 and 18 at 7:00. All who wish to participate should meet in the north end of Arlan's parking lot by 7:00. The trip April 4 will visit Little Wall Lake and Anderson Lake near Jewell. The trip April 18 will be either to this area or Hendrickson's Marsh. The waterfowl migration has had a slow start this year due to cold weather and ice on the lakes but recent warm weather and waterfowl movement insures our seeing several species of ducks and geese in addition to sparrows, blackbirds, and other early migrants. Bring your binocs, field guides, and a friend. If you need a ride call 232-4869. Details will be available later on a trip to the Red Rock Res. early in May.

AUDUBON MEETING APRIL 13

Tuesday night, April 13, an Audubon meeting will be held in the Ames Public Library auditorium and will feature a review of birding fundamentals and techniques and a quiz by Jim Rod and John Faaborg. Also on the program, scheduled to get underway at 7:30, will be slides and 16mm movies shot by Jim and John in Nebraska the weekend of March 20-21 during the sandhill crane migrations. Several species of waterfowl were also photographed. This will be a good brush-up for the spring migration which will be in full force soon. Bring your field guide to the meeting and someone else who would like to start birding.

Any ticket money from the last film should be sent to our treasurer, Mrs. ~~ANY~~ Lois Carr, 619-8th. St.
