Dear Paul:

I managed to get two draftsmen last week, and they are now at work. There is a good prospect that the drafting will be finished and prints made within a week or ten days. Meanwhile I am making a further revision of the m.s., and while it seems idle to set dates, I am fairly hopeful of getting it to you soon.

Perhaps the delay has not been a total loss. I gave the material at a seminar and got some very valuable reactions. I also had a chance to explain the inverse ratios to Rowan and Greene during a meeting at Minneapolis and got some good slants from them.

This note is just to keep you posted on what is going on.

With best regards,

Aldo
