

Zoological Laboratory,
University of Pa.
Philadelphia, Pa.
April 17, 1914.

Dear Miss Butler,

Your letter from Washington, dated April 3rd, duly arrived and we were very glad to know that we were the means of rendering your brief visit to Philadelphia more agreeable. We hope to see you here again.

If you carried out your plans, you have now been at home for nearly a week, and can, I hope, look back to your visit to Washington and across the Virginias with great pleasure.

To-day I sent you by parcel post the package of dragonfly papers which I promised you. It has been ready for some days, but I thought it well not to send it until after the expected date of your reaching home. I hope it comes into your hands safely.

Mrs. Calvert joins me in kind regards to your Mother and yourself.

Yours truly
Philip P. Calvert.