

While counting birds at our feeder
on December 22, 1996- I saw a Crow, sized raptor with pointed wings & a narrow tail. It was back lighted but a dark band toward the end of the tail showed clearly.
Breast appeared as a buffy color, back slaty-grey.
I identified it as a peregrine falcon.

It was flying across the back of the lot 50 feet from the house - a little below
tree level.
