

Long-billed Curlew

< 1879

Record Number: 93-DL

Classification: NA

IA

J. Krider

Krider 1879

REFERENCE

Krider, J. 1879. Forty Years Notes of a Field Ornithologist.
J. H. Weston Press, Philadelphia.

VOTE: 5 NA

NA, Too bad that Krider does not give details of a specific sighting. I believe him. How could he mistake a Long-billed Curlew? Finding a nest would not be difficult. They were common on the East Coast in his day. /thk

Krider, J. 1879. Forty Years Notes of a Field Ornithologist.
Philadelphia, J. H. Weston Press.

Numenius Longirostris.—Wils.

Long-billed Curlew.

Very abundant along the sea coast from New York to Georgia, and winters West to Iowa, where it breeds in May. Eggs four.