Dear Jim,

Thanks for setting me straight on the status of the nesting Bald Eagles in NE Iowa. I probably should have investigated the situation more thoroughly before writing the corrigenda but I assumed that Fred knew what he was writing about. At least I have the correct information in case anybody wants to know.

I also wanted to pass along my complements on your job of preparing the summer season reports. They are thoroughly prepared and on time which makes my task a little easier.

Our winter has been rather dull after early December. Most of our finches went farther south and its been too mild to produce noteworthy gull concentrations. I can't complain too much since the fall migration was one of the most interesting in a decade.

Sincerely,

Bruce Peterjohn
