Dear Bruce,

Sorry about the omissions. I thought I included the observers at the end of the weather, habitat, etc account. Will enclose another copy.

The IPS ponds are just south of Sioux City in Woodbury County. Sioux City would identify them well (IPS= Iowa Public Service, a power company).

Eagle nests--besides the four in NE Iowa, one was in Fremont Co. (SW Iowa) and the other in SE Iowa. We are trying to keep the sites somewhat of a secret, especially the SE Iowa one as it seems to be a young pair and they deserted their nest this year. Why not just say 4 in the usual NE Iowa sites and 2 in southern Iowa.

Hope this answers the questions. From the warblers Steve has been seen this month, it sure looks like it will be an early migration as I had suggested.

Sincerely,
