requests for tickets should be directed to Harry G. Burrell, Sports Information Director, State Gymnasium, Iowa State University, Ames, Iowa. Tickets will be mailed if there is time, otherwise they may be picked up at the Ticket Office at the north end of the stadium, just north of the elevator. Writers planning to use direct Western Union wire will make own arrangements with the company. Press box tickets for Western Union operators are issued to the company on the basis of leased wire requests. Additional commercial facilities will be available for writers not desiring direct wire service.

PARKING—Parking permits issued upon YOUR request. Parking in special lot north of the stadium.

ELEVATOR—It will take you direct to the press deck only. It will be in operation from 8 a.m. until the last man leaves the press box after the game. It will be held at the "ready" just before the start of each half for coaches who are running the field phones from the press box. It will be yours exclusively until 1:10. For the next 15 minutes we will also service the Stadium Club deck.

RADIO BOOTHS—There are seven of them, six available to you on a first-come, first-served basis. The exception is that one booth will be reserved for the official station representing the visiting team.

CYCLONE SPORTS NETWORK—originated by Station WOI, Ames. Station WOI will provide the broadcast to any station requesting it at no fee charge. Your only cost will be the line charge. For complete details write Frank Snyder, Sports Director, WOI-AM-FM, Ames, Iowa 50010.

DRESSING ROOM LOCATIONS—Iowa State will meet the press at the dressing room at the south end of the east stadium. Visiting team quarters are at the north end of the east stadium.

PHONES—Iowa State furnishes three outside lines in the press box on a first-come, first-served basis.

SPOTTERS—A number of excellent spotters are available. PLEASE let me know early, however. It is risky to wait until you arrive in Ames, although we usually can help you that late in an emergency.

PRESS BOX SERVICES—We will provide programs, speed cards, prior to the game. At the half we will give abbreviated statistics. After the game we will have lineups by depth, complete team and individual statistics. If you want anything not normally provided in this material please let me know. We will also provide play-by-play sheets if you want them.

The press box public address will provide name of ball carrier, tackler, yard line. Statistics will be in a rack in the center of the press deck. Play-by-play will be there and will not be passed out during game. A sideline phone will help you get injury or disqualifying foul information. The call director will handle your radio requests for this information. Simply pick up the phone in your booth to talk to him.

TURKEY IS ALMOST READY

We will provide a pre-game lunch for you at the snack bar. The Iowa turkey Federation and the Iowa Dairy Industry-Commission have been providing hot turkey sandwiches and milk at the snack bar at half time. This has been one of the top press box attractions in the country, so don't miss it.

PHOTOGRAPHERS—Side line or press box tickets are issued by Harry Burrell.

GENERAL TICKET INFORMATION—Tickets for Iowa State games are $6. The season ticket price is $24.

COLORS—Cardinal and Gold.

NICKNAME—Cyclones. In summer and early fall of 1895 Iowa was visited by a great many cyclones. That fall an underdog Iowa State football team whipped Northwestern, 36-0. The head on the story in the Chicago Tribune was "Iowa Cyclone Devastates Evanston-town." From then on it has been Cyclones.

MASCOT—Cy the Cardinal. The 8-foot 6-inch bird combines Cy for Cyclone and Cardinal for one school color.

PRESS-RADIO RECEPTION—will be held each Friday night before home games. Sportswriters, sportscasters, coaches, team and university officials will be there. Site will be the Holiday Inn.

THE BIG EIGHT

Beyond any doubt the best all-around athletic conference in the nation, the Big Eight is made up of eight state universities—Iowa State, Kansas State, Oklahoma State, Colorado, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, and Oklahoma. Whatever is desired in both athletic and academic excellence can be found in the Big Eight. No conference has more national titles, either individual or team, than the Big Eight.

Originally a part of the Missouri Valley Conference, six of the schools left that group in 1928 to form what was then known as the Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Athletic Conference. The nickname Big Six was added by the sports writing fraternity. It became the Big Seven in 1948 with the addition of Colorado. The nickname was changed to Big Eight ten years later when old friend Oklahoma State rejoined the original Big Six group. In 1966 the conference officially became the Big Eight.

The Big Eight settles conference titles in football, cross country, basketball, swimming, wrestling, gymnastics, indoor and outdoor track, baseball, golf and tennis. In addition, the conference has a preseason basketball tournament that is the highlight of the Christmas holiday season in Kansas City, home of the Big Eight office.

W. Robert Parks

President, Iowa State University

Iowa State University is a broad-based university with an orientation around science and technology. In addition to its graduate and undergraduate work in the physical, biological and social sciences, Iowa State maintains strong programs in the liberal arts.

Approximately 100 major fields of study are offered in the colleges of Agriculture, Education, Engineering, Home Economics, Sciences and Humanities, Veterinary Medicine, and the Graduate College.

The university was chartered by the state legislature in 1858 as the State Agricultural College and Model Farm. When President Lincoln signed the Morrill Act in 1862 to establish the Land-Grant system of higher education, Iowa was the first state to accept its provisions, applying them to the college that would be established in Ames. Today more than 19,500 students from all 50 states and 80 foreign countries study on the 1,000-acre campus.

With a research budget of more than $30 million a year, Iowa State ranks 20th in research expenditures among the nation's universities. Largest of the research units is the Ames Laboratory of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission. The laboratory's work in the development of new metals from the rare earths is an outgrowth of research done at Iowa State during World War II to develop the method for producing pure uranium in quantities needed for the atomic energy program.

The university's emphasis on specialized education within a liberal arts context reflects the philosophy of its president, W. Robert Parks, the first social scientist to head the university. In his studies for the B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees at Berea College, the University of Kentucky and the University of Wisconsin, President Parks majored in political science and minored in economics.

He served in a research and administrative capacity with the Bureau of Agricultural Economics in Washington, D.C., and was chairman of graduate training in the National Agricultural Extension Center for Advanced Study at the University of Wisconsin.

At Iowa State he was professor of government, dean of instruction and vice president for academic affairs before becoming president in 1965. He is a member of the board of directors of the National Center for Voluntary Action established by President Nixon and is chairman of the Vocational Rehabilitation and Education Advisory Committee for the Veterans Administration.

He's an enthusiastic sports fan, too. He's on hand for nearly every athletic event his schedule will permit. Iowa State had some great moments during the past year with a national championship in wrestling, a second-place finish in the national gymnastics meet, and a berth in baseball's College World Series. No one enjoyed those moments more than Iowa State's president did.

The regard students hold for President Parks is demonstrated by two actions. The 1969 graduating class, noting that the president's four years in office coincided with their years on the campus, made him an honorary member of the class. In 1970, the Government of the Student Body surprised him at halftime of a basketball game by presenting him the President's Award for his "outstanding contribution to the educational, social and cultural well-being of the students of Iowa State University."

CLAY STAPLETON

Director of Athletics

No more dedicated man has ever devoted his life to athletics than Clay Stapleton. As a student and player at Tennessee, as a coach at Wofford, Wyoming, Oregon State, and Iowa State, and now as director of athletics at Iowa State, his devotion to the field of sports and the improvement of his schools has been uppermost in his mind.

You had to be dedicated and loyal in order to play football for Tennessee, and those two qualities have dominated Stapleton's thinking ever since. He played guard for the Vols on both sides of his naval service during World War II. He had been a three-sport star at Fleming, Ky. He tells of a post-season game after one undefeated season there, facing an unbeaten team from Blytheville, Ark. His team lost that one by something like 50-0 and he took a pretty good thumping from a vocal enemy guard. More than 20 years later he hired a new head trainer from New Mexico State and then found out that his one-time opponent was Ray (Brick) Bickerstaff, now the assistant athletic director at Iowa State!

Stapleton majored in both history and physical education but never hesitated about coaching and went right to work for Phil Dickens at Wofford College. He not only coached football but was the head track coach and won three straight conference titles.

Stapleton went to Wyoming as Dickens' assistant, then to Oregon State when Tommy Prothro was called upon to rebuild the football fortunes of that school. The two combined to bring a pair of Rose Bowl trips for the Beavers.

A disciple of hard-nosed football, Stapleton's single wing style gave the Cyclones their most interesting 10 years of football. His 1959 team became storied as the "Dirty Thirty," a nickname hung on them because the whole squad, which numbered just 30, played an opening game on a muddy field. That tough little gang (the team averaged only 179.5) missed by a game of going to the Orange Bowl.

Currently the Cyclone director of athletics is a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association's Committee on Committees.

Selfless loyalty to a school he loves, a driving desire to give Iowa State nothing but the best, these are the characteristics that mark Clay Stapleton as a No. 1 leader for the Cyclone department of intercollegiate athletics.

C. R. (Brick) BICKERSTAFF

Assistant Director of Athletics

A hustling, hard-working man in every endeavor, Ray Bickerstaff has coached, trained, recruited. There had been little he had not done in connection with the field of sports when Clay Stapleton tabbed him as his assistant in 1966. That opened up still another field for the personable native of Tupelo, Miss. As in his other assignments, he has earned the "well-done" accolade.

Bickerstaff earned nine letters in football and track at Blytheville, Ark., high school. After short stints at Mississippi and Sunflower he returned to Arkansas and finished there in 1951 with three letters each in football and track. He was a Marine during World War II.

Bickerstaff earned the M.A. from Texas and the Ph.D. from Burton. He was coach and trainer at Arkansas State, and head trainer at New Mexico State. Stapleton brought him to Iowa State in 1961. A great trainer during a 14-year career in that field, he is now the action man for the director.

JAMES K. (Jim) OVERTURF

(Business Manager)

Jim Overturf has never really been very far away from Iowa State all his life, although he is a graduate of Colorado State College. He was born in Marshalltown, taught in Dumont and Ames, ran the Cyclone concessions before moving up to his present job in 1966.

At Marshalltown he was a letterman golfer and still manages to be an 80 shooter. He earned B.A. and M.A. degrees from Colorado State and also did graduate work at Northern Iowa and Minnesota. He taught one semester at Dumont, then came to Ames high in 1958, where he taught distributive education and served as athletic treasurer. He was president of the Iowa Distributive Education Teachers Association; vice-president of the national association of the same body, and vice-president of the Iowa Vocational Association.

HARRY G. BURRELL

(Sports Information Director)

Earned both B.A. and M.A. degrees from Iowa (journalism) to move into the SID field. Started at Northern Iowa, where he formed the first news bureau for the North Central Conference. Came to Iowa State in 1941. Naval gunnery officer in World War II. President of College Sports Information Directors of America. Member of the U.S. Olympic publicity committee; committee for Advancement of Intercollegiate Football; screening committee for Football Foundation Hall of Fame; COSIDA Hall of Fame; board of directors of Football Writers of America; board of directors of Basketball Writers of America. Also world's louisiest golfer, yet once served as president of the Iowa Golf Association!

MAURICE W. (Maury) SOULTS

Faculty Representative

Maury Soultis is a member of an honored group of men known as "faculty representatives." These men have to be the most unselfish people connected with sports, since each must be a full-time member of the university staff and not connected with the athletic department in any way. They represent their presidents in formulating the rules and regulations under which the conference operates.

All of this means that much of their spare time and even a great part of their official time is devoted to helping make the Big Eight a better conference. Soultis has been a positive factor in leading the conference for more than a dozen years.

Soultis was a three-sport star at Clarion, Iowa, high school and a track letterman at Iowa State, where he captained the team as a senior in 1930. He has been a member of the Iowa State staff in many capacities since that time, and is now assistant director of the Extension Service of the College of Agriculture.

JOHNNY MAJORS

(Head Football Coach)

Once labeled "like another coach on the field" when he played for Tennessee, Johnny Majors is bringing that same intelligence and leadership to the job of giving Iowa State excellent football teams.

A great player as an All-America choice at tailback in 1956, Majors did everything at Tennessee—as a single wing tailback had to do. He ran and passed for more than a thousand yards his last two years of competition, was the nation's third-ranked punter as a senior, averaging better than 43 yards a kick.

He cocaptained the 1956 team that was 10-0 for its regular season. He was voted back of the year by the United Press in 1956 and was runnerup in the Heisman Trophy voting. He was All-Southwest conference in 1955 and 1956 and named the most valuable player in the league both years. He earned 3 football, 2 track letters at Tennessee.

As a high school star he played three years for his father at Huntland, Tenn. He led Tennessee preps in scoring all three seasons, during which time the team won 30 of 31 games. His dad is now the coach at the University of the South.

The coaching career started right at Tennessee, where he worked as a freshman coach for two years before going to Mississippi State. He coached the defensive secondary there. At Arkansas he coached the defensive secondary for three years and the offensive backs one year.

His football teams have shown signs of his own daring and imagination during his first two seasons. Majors feels that this 1970 team will start showing the results of increasingly more successful recruiting and familiarity with the Majors style of coaching.

Interestingly enough, for a man raised in the traditional conservatism of Tennessee football, Majors is a great gambler. There is no way of telling what one of his teams will do in the tight spot, except that it will be both daring and exciting—that's the Johnny Majors style of football.

JOE AVEZZANO

(Offensive Line)

Joe Avezzano is another gridder who stands as an example of brains and brawn combined exceedingly well. A high school honor society member and president of the student body, he still found time to earn 12 letters in football, basketball and baseball at Miami Jackson high. He was all-city in all sports, and all-state in baseball. He later earned all-state honors in football at Florida State as a guard and center. He played for Boston and Pittsburgh in both pro leagues before heading to Massillon, Ohio, as line coach in 1967. He was a graduate assistant at Florida State in 1968, in charge of offense for the freshmen and working as the offensive line coach. Avezzano got his B.A. degree from Florida State in 1965 in criminology, and has continued that same major in his graduate studies. He had graduate work at Akron as well as at Florida State.

KING BLOCK

(Offensive Backs)

One of the finest prep gridgers in Idaho history, Block earned 11 letters in football, basketball, baseball and track. At the University of Idaho his fullbacking earned him three letters. He later was awarded his M.A. in education from Idaho (1954).

His coaching career started at Grangeville high and included duty at Idaho, Arkansas State (both as assistant and head coach), Nebraska, and Washington State before he joined forces with Johnny Majors at Iowa State.

Block actually has one other sport, too—he still takes part in some rodeo work. The Blocks live on a "ranch" outside of Ames so King can have some of his horses around him.

JIM DYAR

(Defensive Line Coach)

In Dyar's resume when he joined the Iowa State staff as a graduate assistant, he made this statement: "I also recruited for Houston and was fairly successful in my first year." Johnny Majors will make a change of two words in that for him now—substitute Iowa State for Houston and VERY for fairly and add "amen!" Dyar is the man Majors assigned to recruit Jerry Moses, the most sought-after player in Iowa prep history, an assignment he carried to success late in May.

Dyar was a three-year starter for his native Enterprise, Ala., high school team and a member of the best defensive team at the University of Houston. He played for the Atlanta Falcons taxi squad at Huntsville, Ala., one year and was named the most valuable offensive player in that league. He had one year as graduate assistant at both Houston and Iowa State before joining the varsity staff last winter.

RAY GREENE

(Scout Squad Coach)

Ray Greene heads the scouting department for Johnny Majors and directs the play of the Cyclones who emulate the upcoming enemy each week. Greene brings a most varied background to his work at Iowa State, a background that includes outstanding college work in debate, speech, drama, and radio as well as sports. With majors in speech and physical education he still found time to earn the outstanding sophomore football award, all-Ohio, all-conference football honors and serve as defensive captain at the University of Akron. He taught and coached following his 1962 graduation at Kenmore high, Akron; Dan McCarty high, Fort Pierce, Fla., and served as recreation supervisor in Akron for five years. Has his M.A. degree from the University of Miami. Coached football, tennis and track in high school in addition to serving on staff at Akron and Miami. Was a football, basketball and track letterman at Akron south high school.

GEORGE HAFFNER

(Quarterbacks)

George Haffner has a busy fall coming up, since he handles the Cyclone quarterbacks. With only one experienced signal caller to work with, he will have little time to relax. Relaxing, however, has never been a part of Haffner's makeup. He played football, basketball, and baseball at Chicago's Mt. Carmell high. He followed that by earning a pair of letters as a Notre Dame quarterback; then went into the service and played football and basketball for Fort Hood. He played his final year of college ball at McNeese State in Louisiana, where he earned his degree. He was a member of the Baltimore Colts taxi squad in 1965 and activated for the final game when both Unitas and Cuozo were injured. Played in the Continental league in 1966 until injured. Graduate assistant at McNeese, and then assistant at Lake Charles, La., high two years before coming to Iowa State.

KEITH KEPHART

Graduate Assistant

Kephart will head the group of student coaches who will work with the Iowa State varsity staff during the 1970 season. He has been working with Majors and his fellow coaches since the former Tennessee star came to Iowa State. Teaming with Jim Dyar, Kephart has been one of the most tireless recruiters for the Cyclones.

He graduated from West Branch community high school in 1962 after an outstanding career that included a total of 14 letters. He earned three letters each in football and basketball, four each in track and baseball and was one of the state's outstanding hurdlers as a senior.

He competed in both football and track at the University of Dubuque, graduating in 1966. He earned four letters in football and a pair in track. He coached football and track at Crystal Lake, Ill., for a year after graduation then joined forces with Iowa State while working on his advanced degree.

JOE MADDEN

(Defensive Secondary)

Joe Madden was not only a friend of Johnny Majors when the two were on the Mississippi State staff, he was an exceedingly smart director of defensive secondary play. Majors had not forgotten that when he called Madden from Wake Forest to join him at Iowa State. It was another good Majors move.

Joe was a nine-letter football, boxing, and baseball graduate of St. John's high school in Washington, D.C. He went to Maryland on a boxing scholarship. His coaching career (following his 1957 graduation) included Gonzaga high, Washington, D.C.; Father Lopez high, Daytona Beach, Fla.; Mississippi State; Morehead State; and Wake Forest. He was awarded his M.A. in education administration at Mississippi State in 1963.

JACKIE SHERRILL

(Defensive Coach)

One of the best all-around athletes ever to play at Biloxi, Miss., Jackie Sherrill was a do-everything guy. He played fullback and linebacker in football, center and forward in basketball and was both a sprinter and a weight man in track. He was All-American in football.

He captained the 1966 Alabama team that won the national title and beat Nebraska in the Orange Bowl. He played fullback, linebacker and tight end for the Crimson Tide.

In 1966 he coached the Alabama frosh defense, and assisted with the varsity linebackers. The next year he went to Arkansas as freshman defense coach and to work with the varsity defensive secondary.

A smart, determined young man, Sherrill brings an intensity to his coaching that demands only top performances from his players. Works primarily with the defensive ends and linebackers.

GORDON SMITH

(Offensive Coach)

Iowa State fans have good reason to remember rugged Gordon Smith. He played tight end for the Missouri Tigers in the early 1960's so the Cyclone fans know he ought to be able to direct the receivers exceptionally well. He heads the offense now for Johnny Majors and turns his individual attention to the receivers.

A native of Phoenix, Ariz., Smith was a freshman at Arizona State the last year Dan Devine coached there. He followed Devine to Missouri and played on the 1960 and 1961 Orange Bowl teams. Smith played tight end for the Minnesota Vikings for five years. In the spring of 1963 he served as a graduate assistant at Missouri and took up coaching as a career in 1968 at Arkansas. He coached the ends and receivers and also worked with the offensive line at Arkansas. He followed Majors to Iowa State in 1968. Coached the 1969 College All-Star receivers.

ARCH STEEL

(Academic Counselor)

Arch Steel, most veteran of the Cyclone football staff will be starting his seventeenth season when opening day comes around in September. During that time he has aided four head coaches—Vince DiFrancesca, Jim Myers, Clay Stapleton, and now Johnny Majors.

Born in Scotland, Arch came to River Rouge, Mich., as a youngster and was a football and basketball star there. He was a three-sport regular in football, basketball and baseball at Bowling Green University, graduating in 1940. He was awarded the M.A. degree in administration from the University of Michigan in 1947. Started his coaching career at Lincoln Park, Mich. Served five years in the Navy's Gene Tunney physical fitness program, then returned to Lincoln Park. Was backfield coach at Eastern Michigan; and head football coach and athletic director at Corcoran, Cal., high school before coming to Iowa State in 1954. He was the Michigan high school coach of the year in 1948. Works with Cyclone backs.

FRANK RANDALL

(Head Trainer)

Frank Randall has twice followed Ray Bickerstaff into head trainer posts. Frank was an outstanding senior trainer when Brick left New Mexico State for Iowa State and was named to succeed his mentor. Now he follows Brick once more.

Randall was a football and baseball letterman at Carlsbad, N.M., high and then earned four baseball letters and served as baseball captain at New Mexico State. He has both B.A. and M.A. degrees from New Mexico State. Also attended both Eastern and Western New Mexico universities. Head trainer at New Mexico State, New Mexico Military Institute, and University of Idaho. Had Army artillery stint in 1953-55 before attending college.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL

Control of the conduct of the Iowa State intercollegiate athletic program is vested in the Athletic Council, a board to be made up of faculty (9), alumni (4) and student (3) members.

The makeup of the council includes the following men:

Faculty - Bob Fellingner, chairman; Harold Cowles, Hal Davey, Keith Hussey, Dean Newton, Don Voelker, William LaGrange, John Mahlstede. Maurice Soult, as faculty representative, is also a member.

Alumni - Norm Dunlap, Ames; Bob Dillon, Des Moines; Russ Anthony, Cedar Rapids; Ray Hagie, Clarion.

Students - Jim Simpson (I Club representative); John Vogel (Government of the Student Body representative). One more GSB member is to be appointed.

In addition Sam McDowell, treasurer, and Director of Athletics Clay Stapleton are ex-officio members of the council.

CYCLONE SPORTS NETWORK

Dale Williams and Frank Snyder will once more be the broadcast team for the CycloneSports network which is originated by Stations WOI-AM and WOI-FM. The two stations are the official sports voice of the Iowa State teams. Snyder, the sports director of the two radio stations as well as WOI-TV, is in his ninth year with the network. Williams has been broadcasting Iowa State sports since 1943. Snyder handles the business details of the Cyclone Sports network. The play-by-play of Iowa State football and basketball games is provided at no charge to any Iowa radio station. Contact Snyder for details and permission to join the network.

BIG EIGHT CONFERENCE OFFICE

Wayne Duke, Commissioner, Hotel Muehlebach, Kansas City, Mo. (Area code 816, HArrison 1-3444; HArrison 1-3445; GRand 1-1400, ext. 299).

Mickey Holmes, Administrative Assistant. Same numbers as for commissioner.

John Waldorf, Marshall, Mo., is supervisor of officials.

WHAT ABOUT 1970?

Well, there is this about 1970 as far as the Cyclones are concerned: it is going to be a most interesting and exciting year, one in which Coach Johnny Majors will blend mature experience with enthusiastic youth.

In his first season as the head man at Iowa State, the Cyclones had that enthusiastic exuberance and created a lot of excitement and turned in some mighty interesting football. Last year those same young men underwent some growing pains but still caused lots of excitement for their fans.

Now the young men who got knocked around for a couple of years while learning the game under the former Tennessee All-America star, would like to do a bit of teaching themselves.

"We will have more experience, more depth, and more size than we have had since coming to Iowa State," is one way Majors will point up the 1970 season. "We started as many as 16 sophomores most games in 1968. This fall 12 of those men will be starters again. A couple more are now backup men and could be right back in as starters if their competition falters."

Despite having 28 lettermen on hand, Majors will still have several newcomers in the lineups—although among those "newcomers" will be some lettermen. When the word newcomers is used it might as well mean newcomers to the starting group. For instance, Ray Harm is a letterman who got a few starts last year as a tackle but now is ready to start at guard. Steve Jacobsen played a lot at three defensive spots last year but looks like the right linebacker this year.

In midsummer it would appear that six lettermen will start on offense, 10 on defense.

Actually there are really eight offensive lettermen starting, but two of them will be on defense. Obert Tisdale, the 1969 quarterback, has moved over to the monster spot on defense. Jeff Allen, a wing back for two years, is now the leader as the defensive right half-back. He will continue to be the top kickoff return man for the Cyclones. Both men made the shifts in spring drills and have greatly strengthened the defense for the Cyclones.

The only non-lettered defensive starter, as of midsummer, is scheduled to be Harold Bassett, 217-pound Ellsworth junior college transfer. He gives indications of being a big asset to the Cyclones at the right tackle spot.

Tackle seems to be the target of the newcomers. Joe Marconi and Geary Murdock, on the basis of spring drills, moved out a pair of two-year veterans on offense. Neither Tom Barnes nor Tim Jeffries are out of the running, but both must play the best they have in three years to get back in front of the two sophomores.

Dave Pittman, a sophomore pivot from Struthers, Ohio, moved very quietly into the No. 1 spot on the frosh team last fall. He moved just as smoothly on the varsity staff to take command at a spot that had no lettermen returning.

George Amundson, the sophomore weight man from Aberdeen, S.D.; Dean Carlson, a hard-throwing transfer from Rochester junior college; and Mike Fontanini, the backup man for Tisdale last fall, are the leaders in that order for the quarterback spot. Amundson has the edge with good running ability, good leadership, and good throwing.

Dave McCurry, a state high school hurdle champion, is the leader at the flanker spot. He has good speed, good hands, and can maneuver after getting the ball.

The man who will be the target both of the Cyclone passers and the enemy defense, though, will be Otto Stowe. The brilliant senior from Springfield, Ill., needs just 24 catches this year to become the record holder with 97 Iowa State catches. Majors rates him the equal of any receiver in the country. If the Cyclone passers come through, Stowe could be in the running for national catching honors, despite the fact that he will be double and triple-teamed all season.

Tom Lorenz and McCurry will join with Stowe on the starting unit as the receiving gang—a good one for any team.

Majors felt that the pass blocking was greatly improved in the spring and that the offensive line worked the best it had in three years. If his judgment is correct, then the Cyclones will have a better running attack, too. Mike Palmer and Jock Johnson will take care of running back duties with help from Dennis McDonald, Willie Harris, Brian Cannon, and, hopefully, Bob Dwyer. Dwyer was an outstanding frosh two years ago who missed last year with an Achilles tendon injury. If Dwyer is ready to play this fall—and he says he is—then the Cyclones will have another good running back.

Ray Harm and either Jerry Berna or Bob Belluz will fill the guard spots for the first line unit.

The defensive veterans will be Chuck Wilkinson and Andy Waller, ends; John Griglione, tackle; cocaptain Mark Withrow, Keith Schroeder, and Steve Jacobsen, linbackers; Ralph Baracz and Allen, halfbacks; Tisdale at monster; and cocaptain Tony Washington, safety.

The defense has a lot of new faces, even though it is mostly a veteran group. Majors was pleased with the progress made by the defense, since Mike Kirar, Steve Powers, Jerry Fiat, Tom Elliott, and Larry Holton are missing from the 1969 unit.

The kicking game is still the big question mark. Lack of consistency on all phases of kicking in the spring caused Majors plenty of worry. In his final workout Baracz gave his best exhibition of the drills and may be the punting answer. Reggie Shoemaker, a transfer from Jones junior college in Mississippi could wind up doing all the kicking, but the staff has not yet seen him in action.

So, it comes down again to sending an ambitious, eager bunch of Cyclones into action against the best teams in the best conference in the nation. Iowa State will cause waves in every game. Some of those waves are going to upset the hopes of some mighty good teams. The only real promise Majors can make is this—the 1970 Cyclone team will be competitive, it will be aggressive, and it will be interesting.

That is pretty well what the game of football is about, isn't it?

CYCLONES TO WATCH

JEFF ALLEN

Jeff Allen was a fine defense man in high school and junior college but played nothing but offense for the first two years at Iowa State. Last spring the Cyclones needed some defensive halfback help and Jeff turned out to be the answer. He looked good enough in the spring to be tabbed as a top defensive prospect this coming fall. He'll still be a kickoff returner, possibly even a punt returner. He already ranks as the top Cyclone in kickoff returns with still one year to go. He holds the Big Eight one-season record for kickoff return yardage at 599 yards. Jeff is the son of Mrs. Evelyn Allen Williams, 444 East 40th, Chicago. Jeff graduated from Wendell Phillips high in 1967 with 4 letters each in football, track, basketball, and baseball. Football captain. Long list of prep honors including being twice all-state, most valuable, leading rusher, second best scorer in city and many others. Coached by Carl Bonner. Major is Physical Education. Senior with 2 football letters. 6-0, 192. Born Aug. 27, 1948, in Chicago. Played one year at Iowa Central at Fort Dodge. Home news outlets: Sun-Times, American, Tribune, WGN, WGRT, WVON, WLS, WGN-TV.

OTTO STOWE

Johnny Majors is quick to admit that Otto Stowe may well be the best pass catcher in the nation. There are few superlatives Majors has not used in talking about this fine all-round athlete. He needs just 24 catches to pass Eppie Barney as the top receiver in Iowa State history. He needs 482 yards to pass

Jim Doran's career yardage record. Otto does more than just catch the ball, he does a great halfback job of advancing it after he gets it. In fact he was used as a halfback five times last fall for a 6.6 average. Stowe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Stowe, 1508 South 14th, Springfield, Mo. Dad is a city employee. Otto graduated from Fetteshans high in 1967 with 5 letters—2 football, 2 basketball, 1 track. Captained the football and basketball teams. All-state performer. Was coached by John McCoy. Named Springfield athlete of the year. Dad was a Golden Glove champion and an all-state end himself back in 1939-40. Senior with 2 football letters. 6-2, 185. Born Feb. 25, 1949, in Chicago. Major is physical education. Home news outlets: State Journal-Register, WMAV, WCUS, WTAX, WICS-TV.

CYCLONES TO WATCH

OBERT TISDALE

You won't see much of the Obert Tisdale pictured above this fall, since he will be playing the monster man on defense for the Cyclones. Early in spring drills Tisdale asked for a chance to help the Cyclones by moving from quarterback to defense. When a man has read defenses as long as Tisdale has, he has a head start when he gets on defense. It took about two days for him to adjust to the point that now the Iowa State coaches figure he and Tony Washington are going to be the finest monster-safety combination around. He may go a long way toward replacing Tom Elliott as a pass defense man and run-back artist. Obert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Van Arsdale, 526 Iowa, Waterloo. Dad works at Rath Packing. Obert graduated from Waterloo East in 1967 with 2 letters each in football, basketball, and baseball. Captain in football and basketball and all-state in both. Coached by Howard Vernon. Major is sociology. Senior with pair of football letters. 6-2, 193. Born Jan. 25, 1949 in Armory, Miss. Home news outlets are Courier, KWWL, KXEL.

ANDY WALLER

The Andy Waller story is one of the ones so typical of the young man who simply wants to play, regardless of where. Andy was a fine tailback in high school back in Poynette, Wis. He couldn't make it as a ball carrier at Iowa State, but he was too good an athlete to forget. Johnny Majors tried him as an offensive end, a defensive end, and most every place he could think of, but nothing seemed to work just right. Then in September of his sophomore year he tossed Andy into a scrimmage as a tackle. "What a coaching job I did!" is Johnny's way of kidding himself about discovering a terrific lineman. Andy now plays the end in a four-man front that loves to harass opposing backs. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Waller, Poynette, Wis. His dad is a carpenter. Andy graduated from high school with 10 letters (3 football, 1 track, 2 basketball, 4 baseball). Captained all but the track team. All-state under the coaching of Walt Schoenherr. Senior with 2 football letters. 6-2, 220. Born June 24, 1949, in Madison, Wis. Major is urban planning. Home news outlets: Press, WIBU.

TONY WASHINGTON

All-conference in 1969, Tony Washington could make it even bigger for 1970. He has some mighty fine credentials and is ranked by Johnny Majors as one of the best safety men he has ever been around. Washington, cocaptain of the 1970 Cyclones, is a senior from Dearborn, Mich. The son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Washington, (dad is a railroad foreman) 1647 North Denwood, Dearborn, Tony graduated from Dearborn high in 1967 with 8 letters (2 football, 3 track, 1 baseball, 2 basketball). Captained all but the baseball team. Was coached by Hal Muldowney. Senior with 2 football letters. 6-1, 178. Born July 7, 1949, in Columbus, Ohio. Home news outlets: Press, Guide, KWNR, WXYZ-TV, WWJ-TV, WKBO-TV. Major is industrial administration. Tony has run 11 punts back for 149 yards and one score.

CYCLONES TO WATCH

MARK WITHROW

The most enthusiastic football player you will ever see. When good things happen on defense, you'll know it by the bounce and cheer leading from cocaptain Mark Withrow. There's not much question but that this Edina, Minn., senior has to rank with the best of the linebackers in Cyclone history.

Mark is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Withrow, 5248 Meadow Ridge, Edina. Father is in the advertising arts. Mark graduated from Edina high in 1967 with 3 letters each in football and track; he captained both teams. Led his team to the state title as a senior. Coached by Steve Canakes. Senior with 2 football letters. 6-1, 205. Born July 29, 1948, in Ladysmith, Wis. Major is architecture. Home news outlets: Star, Tribune, Edina Courier, WCCO-TV, KRSI.

BARBECUE ON PICTURE DAY

The Cyclones will pose for pictures on Aug. 26 under the formula set up by the NCAA. Oddly enough, while the Cyclones have started before most other Big Eight teams in the past, this means that Iowa State will have the latest start this year. Craig and Monte Lutz, whose dad was a great tailback for the Cyclones nearly 20 years ago, have each donated a hog for the barbecue. Carriage House of Ames will prepare the meat.

Picture day will start at 9:00 a.m., Aug. 26. Photographers, sports writers and sportscasters will have free run of the field that day for pictures and interviews.

At 12:30, with Craig, Monte and Dad Gary looking on and the Iowa Pork Queens helping out, the barbecue will be served to the players and the men who have been working with them on the pictures and interviews.

UNIVERSITY OF NEW MEXICO
(Albuquerque, N.M. - Founded 1892)

Head coach—Rudy Feldman (UCLA, 1954)

Career record—4-16. 1969 record—4-6

1969 conference record—1-5 (5th)

Conference—Western Athletic Conference

Nickname—Lobos, Wolfpack

Colors—Cherry and silver

Offense—Wishbone Y.    Defense—4-3

Home field—University Stadium (30,000)

Enrollment for 1969—15,750

Lettermen—returning, 18 offense, 16 defense;
lost, 5 offense, 2 defense

Director of athletics—Pete McDavid (New Mexico, 1938)

Sports information director—Eddie Groth (New Mexico Highlands, 1957)

SID phones—office, 505-277-2026; home, 505-299-2520

OUTLOOK

Nothing but optimism shows around the Wolfpack, and with good reason. Only three starters graduated, and for the first time in years there are two men for every position. In addition to the wealth of experienced material, Feldman will get a lot of help from 32 sophomores. Rocky Long at quarterback is something special—the first New Mexico sophomore ever to be named the most valuable player. Led the Lobos in passing, punt and kickoff returns and was second in rushing. Sam Scarber was the leading ground gainer at fullback but had to move to halfback to make way for Rocky Rhynes, the best of the newcomers. The best Lobo back—Nate McCall—will not be on the campus for the first time until fall and must fight Fred Henry for a starting spot. Defense stars include 276-pound Rocky Wallace, linebacker Huston Ross, and Jay Morrison, who set a school record of 9 interceptions last year.

OUTLOOK

Jerry Wampfler brings a new system from Notre Dame with hopes of giving the Rams a new lease on football life. The Rams lost only two offensive and two defensive starters, but Wampfler figures he will likely go right up to the opening game with New Mexico State before coming up with his starting elevens.

The big man for the Rams will be Lawrence (The Clutch) McCutcheon. The Clutch broke all CSU rushing records as a sophomore and set a WAC rushing record for sophomores, despite missing the final two games with a broken wrist. Two and a half minutes less time in three games and the Rams would have been a 7-3 club, losing to BYU in the last 20 seconds; to UTEP in the final 13 seconds, and to New Mexico State with 2 minutes on the clock.

The Rams are hoping for a better break from Father Time in 1970.

Sports information director—Ron Fessenden (Utah, 1961)

SID phones—office, 801-322-8171; home, 801-278-8843

OUTLOOK

Much better on offense, probably not as good on defense—this is the capsule on Utah for 1970. Bill Meek lost only four men from the top 22 offensive players and returns the entire starting line. Most of the Ute losses were on defense. They'll be bigger defensively but much greener. Offensively the leaders will be all-conference Dale Nosworthy, tight end; and halfbacks Billy Hunter and Fred Graves. Offensive key will be Gordon (Scooter) Longmire at quarterback. On defense the top man will be Norm Thompson, who set an NCAA record of 263 yards of interception returns for three scores. End Joe Petricca will anchor the rebuilt defensive line. Look for lots of scoring from the Utes, and maybe from foes too, but the Redskins ought to be a great team.

OUTLOOK

There are seven offensive starters and eight defensive first line players back from the team which won the Liberty Bowl last season. There are some big losses, but Colorado figures to be big, strong, fairly deep and must be called seasoned with 40 lettermen returning. Offensive veterans who are expected to lead the offense will be quarterback Jim Bratten, center Don Popplewell, and big, tough fullback Ward Walsh. A tailback to replace Bob Anderson (he set 17 Colorado records) is the biggest replacement job. Bill Brundige is gone from the defense, but the strength there is great enough that he may be a "forgotten" man in a hurry. The Buffs will be very good if a few of the new men come through for them.

OUTLOOK

Rosy! Or purple for the true Wildcat fan! Vince Gibson says his Wildcats have a chance to play for the Big Eight title, and he isn't going to get a lot of argument about that statement, either. Seventeen of 22 starters are back, 37 lettermen are on hand—and then there is Lynn Dickey. What few Big Eight passing records (2, as a matter of fact) belong to any one else will go to Dickey long before the 1970 season is over.

Depth, size, speed, experience, ability—these are the qualities—in abundance—the Wildcats have to make their run for the 1970 Big Eight title. This is true no matter whether the Cats are on offense or defense.

Development of consistency is Gibson's No. 1 objective. When he gets that, then he feels Purple Power Prevails!

OUTLOOK

KANSAS WILL BE BACK!

That means trouble for 11 foes this fall. Pepper Rodgers watched his club drop from first to last in one season and did not like it at all. That slogan dominated spring drills and is certain to be on the mind of every Jayhawk when September rolls around. There will be more experience and one of the best crops of sophomores in years at Lawrence. There will be more throwing, yet John Riggins, the 230-pound running back will again dominate the Kansas attack. Dan Heck appears to be the quarterback answer Rodgers has been seeking.

OUTLOOK

Finding capable replacements for graduated quality performers Steve Owens, tailback; Steve Zabel, tight end; Ken Mendenhall, center-tackle; Jim Files, linebacker; and Bill Elfstrom, offensive guard; is Coach Chuck Fairbanks' No. 1 worry for 1970.

Fairbanks is also concerned about shoring up a leaky pass defense which allowed an average of 179 yards per game and 14 touchdowns to Sooner opponents last fall. Fairbanks hopes a combination of beefier linemen up front and speedier defenders in the secondary will lessen the degree of vulnerability to the pass next fall.

Offensively, the Sooners have switched to the pro-set attack with veer-T options. Quarterback Jack Mildren will run the offense with a stable fill of speedy backs but no power runner like Owens. The offensive line, where graduation claimed four regulars, will be young and inexperienced.

OUTLOOK

Nebraska must fill some key spots vacated by outstanding players on the 1969 Big Eight co-title club. The Cornhuskers, however, expect to compete once more for the conference championship. Defense has been a Nebraska feature in recent years, and the Huskers will be sound in that department again. Still, the Cornhusker strong point in 1970 will be offense. With two outstanding quarterbacks, Jerry Tagge and Van Brownson; two brilliant I backs in Jeff Kinney and Joe Orduna; and a big, mobile line and fine receivers—there seems to be no way but to label the 1970 Nebraska team as dangerous.

OUTLOOK

Mizzou will go into the 1970 season equipped with one of the Big Eight's top running backs and a solid first string defensive line, but also with an unproven quarterback.

Returning from the championship team are three great ones—Joe Moore, the nation's No. 3 rusher with 1,312 yards; and fleet receivers Mel Gray and John Henly.

Finding a passer who can work with this tandem will be Dan Devine's chief chore going into September drills. The two leading candidates, Mike Farmer and Chuck Roper, each missed about half of the spring work with injuries. Roper, possibly the better passer, had an operation in May for a shoulder separation.

Tackle Rocky Wallace should spearhead a tough defense which needs only to jell in the secondary to be sound. Lorenzo Brinkley inherits Jon Staggers job as the kick-return threat.

OUTLOOK

Oklahoma State, starting its second year under athletic director-head coach Floyd Gass, lost several important starters off last year's 5-5 team—but don't take current Cowboy assets lightly. Oklahoma State brings back one of the most talented receiving teams in the conference with split end Hermann Eben, who broke or tied five OSU receiving records last year, leading the way. Others are flanker Dick Graham and tight end Tom Dearing, who combined for 41 receptions last year.

Best of the running backs are flashy sophomore James Williams and returning starters Bobby Cole and Wayne Hallmark.

Defensively the Cowboys will be thin on quantity up front but will return two stalwarts in linebackers Steve Farris and Joe Crews. John Gates is back at safety, where he grabbed eight interceptions last year.

If everything works together, the Cowboys should be tough in 1970.

OUTLOOK

The Aztecs probably won't be as pass-happy as they were in 1969, when they had NCAA record-holder Dennis Shaw at the quarterback spot. Look for San Diego State to do more running, as Don Coryell brought in two excellent backs in Marv Owens and Larry Mitchell. Along with veterans George Brown and Lindsey James, this gives Coryell his best running attack in several seasons.

Don't discount the passing game, though. Shaw's backup man, Brian Sipe, returns along with All-American candidate Tom Reynolds and Tim Delaney and Ken Burrow. Reynolds and Delaney found a niche in the NCAA records with 18 touchdown catches for the year and six in one game.

San Diego will be operating behind a solid wall of veterans on both offense and defense.

BIG EIGHT SKYWRITERS' TOUR

The sports writers and sportscasters who cover Big Eight football will make their annual flying tour an 8-day trip this year, getting underway from Kansas City, Aug. 26.

Iowa State will host the 40-man party Sept. 1. The Skywriters will fly in from Nebraska that morning to arrive in Ames about noon. They will have player interviews from 2 p.m. until 3:30, then watch practice. They will be guests of the athletic department at a dinner that night and will have a press conference with Johnny Majors and his staff following the dinner.

Departure for the final stop at Missouri will be at 8 a.m., Sept. 2.

GAME TROPHIES

The Telephone Award

When the field phones were tested prior to the Iowa State-Missouri game of 1959 it was found that both teams could hear each other. The problem was solved by game time, but not without considerable worry on the part of the coaches. The Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. of Ames had a trophy made and presented it to Iowa State to be awarded each year to the team winning the game. An odd sidelight to the whole affair was that the same thing happened to Missouri later in the year in a game played at Columbia.

Craig and Monte Lutz posed with Jane Olson and Martha McNutt, Iowa Pork Queens, just before the hungry horde went to work in the barbecue at the 1969 picture day.

Turkey sandwiches, courtesy of the Iowa Turkey Federation, are enjoyed in the ISU Press Box by bowl representatives, sports broadcasters, and professional scouts from all over the United States.
