Cyclones and Hawkeyes Seek Redemption Through Victory

By Tom Kroeschell, Assistant Sports Information Director

Motivation is never a problem when Iowa State and Iowa annually renew their intrastate football rivalry. As if the game was not enough to stimulate the senses of both squads, each team is seeking to atone for disappointing losses last weekend, as the two schools meet for the 37th time, before a sellout crowd and state-wide television and radio audiences.

Iowa State was hampered by turnovers in a 30-20 loss to Minnesota last weekend in Ames. The Gophers outgained the Cyclones by a slim margin (366-336), but ISU lost three fumbles and suffered two interceptions that played a major factor in the contest's final outcome. There were several bright spots. Blaise Bryant rushed 29 times for 98 yards and two touchdowns. Quarterback Bret Oberg completed 18-of-25 passes for a career-high 231 yards. Former Ames and Iowa State quarterback John Glotfelty caught eight passes for 97 yards. Troy Moore snared four throws for 54 yards. All-Big Eight placekicker Jeff Shudak hit on field-goal attempts of 44- and 39-yards.

Iowa State's defense was led by junior linebacker Phil Navarro, who tallied 13 tackles. Navarro, who was moved back to linebacker from the defensive line in fall drills, had seven unassisted stops against Minnesota. Senior free safety Tim Baker tallied eight tackles, giving him a team-high 26 stops through ISU's first two games. Linebacker Melvin Coleman came off the bench to record seven tackles, including one sack.

Walk-on players have made tremendous contributions to the Iowa State football program under Jim Walden. Two defensive players in particular are making front-line efforts as walk-on competitors. Defensive tackle Travis Block and strong safety Jeff Bauer have earned starting spots this season. Block, a fisheries and wildlife biology major from Zwingle, has made 11 tackles, including two for losses and one sack. Bauer, a former Ankeny prep majoring in physical education, has made seven solo tackles in two contests.

Iowa's 44-6 loss last weekend to Oregon (now ranked 22th on the AP poll) left fans with more questions than answers. Perhaps today's game will shed more light on just where the Hawkeyes sit on the collegiate football spectrum. There were a few individual performances bright enough to poke through an otherwise dark day for the Hawkeyes. Quarterback Matt Rodgers came off the bench to throw for 167 yards in the game's final 16 minutes. The redshirt freshman hit on 12-of-20 passes, including a 46-yard completion to tight end Michael Titley. He scored Iowa's only touchdown on a six-yard bootleg in the fourth quarter.

Defensively, cornerback Merton Hanks was in on 11 tackles, including five solo stops. The junior also stopped an Oregon drive with an interception. Junior defensive lineman Jim Johnson had a solid day, making six solo tackles. Linebacker John Derby made eight tackles in his first collegiate start.

This season's game could come down, like last year's contest, to the final minutes. Iowa held off Iowa State in the final seconds of last season's confrontation in Iowa City for a 10-3 victory. A 26-yard touchdown pass from Chuck Hartlieb to Tony Stewart with 6:06 left in the third quarter broke a 3-3 deadlock. The Hawks carried that lead into the game's final two minutes. In their final possession, the Cyclones stunned the Kinnick Stadium crowd when Oberg hit Eddie Brown with a 58-yard pass that gave the Cyclones a first down at the Iowa 11-yard line with less than a minute remaining. An interception by Iowa's Tork Hook let the Hawkeyes escape with the win. The Cyclones outgained the Hawks, 354-343, in total offense. Oberg finished the afternoon with 12 completions in 29 attempts for 238 yards. Dennis Ross made eight receptions for 120 yards. Stewart paced the Iowa offense, with 32 carries for a career-high 194 yards.

Iowa State's first road opponent will be Tulane, as the two schools will face each other next Saturday night at the Superdome in New Orleans. Game time is set for 7 p.m. Iowa time. The Cyclones will then travel to Lawrence, Kans. for an Oct. 7 game that will be ISU's Big Eight opener. Game time is set for 1 p.m. Iowa time. Iowa State then returns home on Oct. 14 for a Homecoming showdown against sixth-rated Colorado. That game will start at 12:10 p.m. Iowa time.

Wide receiver John Glotfelty has made a successful position switch from quarterback under head coach Jim Walden.

Since the first students enrolled at Iowa State, the institution has been committed to academic excellence. Iowa State's reputation for scholarship is internationally known and Iowa State's students are respected nationwide as serious scholars.

Iowa State University was founded in 1868 under terms of the Land Grant College Act signed by President Abraham Lincoln during the Civil War. Since the beginning, Iowa State has been a co-educational "people's college". As years passed, the University developed a reputation as an outstanding broad-based institution with academic emphasis in the humanities and the arts, while maintaining its position in the scientific and technical fields. Recently, Iowa State has become known as a leading research center, renowned in the fields of engineering and agriculture.

One of the largest institutions governed by the State Board of Regents, Iowa State is a major Midwestern center of learning for more than 25,000 students, from all 50 states and 100 other nations. Iowa State attracts a diverse student body with a wide range of undergraduate and graduate programs, a student to teaching faculty ratio of 12 to 1 and an average class size of 29 students. More than 120 undergraduate programs of study are available from Iowa State's eight colleges: Agriculture, Business Administration, Design, Education, Engineering, Family and Consumer Sciences, Sciences and Humanities and Veterinary Medicine.

The picturesque campus is comfortably situated in a central campus "park" - a splendid combination of conventional and contemporary architecture. ISU's classrooms and buildings are a blend of the old and the new, nestled amid thousands of trees and acres of greenery. The ultra-modern south campus is dominated by the Iowa State Center, Cyclone Stadium-Jack Trice Field, and the College of Veterinary Medicine.

The Iowa State Center, which boasts one of the nation's finest facilities of its kind, consists of the C.Y. Stephens Auditorium, the J.W. Fisher Theater, the Scheman Continuing Education Center, and the James H. Hilton Coliseum. Concert facilities draw some of the top names in entertainment. Bruce Springsteen, Tina Turner, Bill Cosby and the Broadway hit "Cats" have been featured on campus.

One of the highlights of the year occurs in spring as the campus blooms with tulips and apple blossoms just in time for the Veishea celebration. "Veishea" is ISU's annual open house and the largest student-run festival in the nation, complete with parade, exhibits and thousands of alumni. The campus is also a breathtaking sight in the fall, when autumn colors and leaves make it a cardinal and gold show place.

Sports are a vital part of the life at Iowa State, as the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics offers 21 men's and women's sports and the extensive intramural program boasts one of the highest student participation rates in the country. A number of Cyclone intercollegiate teams have been nationally ranked in recent years and several have brought home national titles. Iowa State has also produced 24 Olympians, three of whom captured gold medals. While athletics remain in the spotlight, the academic side shares equal time.

The opportunities that Iowa State offers stretch beyond the lengths of academics and athletics. There are ample opportunities for students to participate in theater, music, dance and intramural sports, as well as numerous academic and campus organizations. The Greek system is strong, as are the residence halls. Both have been nationally recognized, along with the top-notch academic advising program.

Iowa State University is an institution founded on a commitment to academic challenge, achievement and excellence. Iowa State reaches beyond this by offering its students some of the most advanced athletic, cultural and social opportunities in the Midwest.

Recognition

Iowa State Head Coach

Jim Walden

Wearly three years ago, Iowa State University President Dr. Gordon Eaton and Athletic Director Max Urlick began a search for a new Cyclone football coach. The search was not only for a football coach, but for a new direction, a new personality and a new attitude for the Iowa State program. Eaton and Urlick found all of those ingredients in Jim Walden, and on December 16, 1986, the former Washington State mentor became Iowa State's 28th head football coach.

The personable native of Aberdeen, Mississippi arrived at ISU with "no magic formulas," just a promise to "come in here and do the best I can to work as hard as I know how." A glance at Walden's coaching record shows that his best has led to success at previous coaching stops.

His first ISU team finished 3-8-0 and demonstrated consistent improvement throughout the season. The Cyclone offense gained almost 4,000 yards and the ISU attack featured several trick plays.

His 1988 team improved to 5-6-0 and challenged for a winning season. The team finished fifth in the Big Eight Conference and took a 5-5-0 mark into the final game against Oklahoma State.

As the head coach at Washington State for nine years, Walden compiled a 44-52-4 record against tough Pacific-10 Conference competition. During that time, Walden guided the team to three winning seasons and four first-division finishes in the conference. He was one of only two WSU coaches to record more than one winning campaign, and only one other coach in Cougar history won more games or served longer as head coach than Walden.

Walden's Washington State teams became known for the upset victory. No opponent took a WSU team lightly, as the Cougars upset Pac-10 Conference powerhouses USC, UCLA and Washington during his years at the school. In fact,

Washington State had great success against intra-state rival Washington, knocking the Huskies off in three of Walden's last five years in Pullman, Wash.

Offense was another trademark of Walden-coached teams at WSU, and his exciting, wide-open option attack had the Cougar offense ranked at the top of the conference. Washington State won three team rushing titles in Walden's last five years, along with two consecutive total offense titles in 1984 and 1985. The Cougar defense also showed improvement under Walden, rising from the lower echelons of the league to as high as third in 1981.

The 51-year-old Walden was actually at Washington State for 10 years, first serving as an assistant to Warren Powers. When Powers left WSU following the 1977 season, Cougar officials tabbed Walden as his replacement and Walden began building the Washington State program. The culmination of a four-year plan came when Walden took the Cougars to the 1981 Holiday Bowl, WSU's first bowl appearance since the 1931 Rose Bowl. WSU finished the season with an 8-3-1 mark, needing only a win in the regular-season finale to go to the Rose Bowl. In 1983, the Cougars were also within one game, a mid-season loss to UCLA, of winning the Pac-10 title and earning the Rose Bowl berth.

His success did not go unnoticed by his peers. Walden earned Pac-10 Coach-of-the-Year honors in 1981 and 1983. In 1981, he was the UPI West Coast and AFCA/Kodak District IX Coach-of-the-Year. Following the 1981 season, he was asked to be an assistant coach for the West squad in the Japan Bowl and at the East-West Shrine game that year. He was the head coach of the victorious West squad in the 1985 East-West Shrine Game, and was an assistant at the 1986 Hula Bowl.

Walden also brought stability to the WSU program. One of the keys to his success at Washington State was continuity on his staff over the years. Prior to the start of the 1986 season, all of his assistant coaches had remained with him for at least five years, and several had been on the job since he became head coach at Washington State in 1978. When he accepted the job at Iowa State, Walden invited all nine of his assistant coaches to join him and seven of them did.

Despite spending 10 years in the Pac-10, Walden is familiar with Big Eight Conference football. He started his collegiate coaching career in 1969 at Nebraska under his former college coach, Bob Devaney. For the next four seasons, Walden was a defensive coach for the Cornhuskers. During those years Nebraska won two national championships.

From Nebraska, Walden moved to Miami (Fla.) in 1973 as an offensive backfield coach for Pete Elliott, and was later named defensive coordinator under Carl Selmer. Walden joined Warren Powers' Washington State staff as backfield coach for the 1977 season, and took over the head coaching job in 1978.

As a college quarterback at Wyoming, Walden guided the Cowboys to a pair of Skyline Conference titles. He was named both the conference and team Most Valuable Player in 1959, and played in the 1960 East-West Shrine Game. Following his college career, Walden signed with the British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League and played two seasons each with the Lions and Calgary. He coached Amory High School in his native Mississippi for five years before taking his first college job at Nebraska.

An excellent speaker, Walden is in demand for outside engagements. The NCAA has selected him twice as a guest speaker at its annual College Football Preview, in 1983 and 1985. Since coming to ISU, he's become a popular figure with both students and fans in appearances across the state. Since the day he was hired, Jim Walden has proven that he is the "right person" to bring a new direction, new attitude, and new personality to the Iowa State football program.

The Series: Iowa leads the series, 24-12. Iowa State's last series victory was a 19-7 win in Iowa City in 1982. In that game, the Cyclones rode the efforts of placekicker Alex Giffords and a fired up defense to capture their third straight win over the Hawkeyes. Iowa's only score gave the Hawks a 7-0 lead when Tony Wancket returned an intercepted first-quarter pass 26 yards for a touchdown. Giffords then went to work, kicking field goals of 26, 32, 25 and 24 yards. The Cyclones got an insurance tally when quarterback David Archer hit Frankie Leaks with a 46-yard touchdown pass. Iowa State's defense held Iowa to just five first downs and 102 yards of total offense. ISU linebacker Mark Carlson was in on 11 tackles, two of them for losses. He also recovered a fumble. The Cyclones' last win in Ames was a 23-12 decision in 1981. Iowa leads the series at Cyclone Stadium, 3-1.

For the Record: Quarterback Bill Musgrave completed 20 of 27 passes for 263 yards and three touchdowns to lead Oregon to a 44-6 win over Iowa last weekend in Iowa City. The Ducks jumped out to a 24-0 halftime lead. Oregon's defense held Iowa to 26 yards rushing in 28 attempts. The Hawkeyes committed seven turnovers in the game, their worst season-opening loss since 1909. Iowa quarterback Matt Rogers came off the bench to complete 12 of 20 passes for 167 yards. He also ran for a touchdown. Richard Bass had five carries for 21 yards for Iowa.

Offensively: Runningback Tony Stewart last season was Iowa's first sophomore 1,000-yard rusher, despite a knee injury that shortened his season. Runningback Mike Saunders rushed for 123 yards and three touchdowns last season against Minnesota in relief of Stewart. Senior Tom Poholsky was the starting quarterback last weekend against Oregon, completing eight of 19 passes for 70 yards and two interceptions. Stewart carried the ball just three times for seven yards. The Hawks generated 263 yards of total offense against Oregon, 237 of it through the air.

Defensively: The leader of the Iowa defense was supposed to be linebacker Brad Quast, who made 133 tackles last season. But the senior did not play against Oregon last weekend and his status is questionable this afternoon. Linebacker Melvin Foster had 10 tackles against Oregon, eight of them unassisted. Linebacker John Derby had eight tackles. Iowa allowed 435 yards of total offense against Oregon.

Kicking: Punter Sean Snyder punted seven times for a 33.9-yard average last weekend against Oregon. Placekicker Jeff Skillet was 11 of 24 on field-goal attempts last season. Teammate George Murphy was three of three. Punt returner Peter Marciano is the all-time leading returner in Iowa history. He has averaged 6.2 yards per return thus far in his career. Marciano averaged 16.8 yards on four kickoff returns last weekend. Mike Saunders averaged 17.4 yards on five returns against the Ducks.

The Coach: Iowa head coach Hayden Fry is the fifth winningest active college football coach with a 166-130-8 record early into his 28th season. He coached 11 years (49-66-1) at SMU, six years at North Texas State (40-23-3), and is 77-41-4 into his 11th Hawkeye season. Fry is 7-3 against Iowa State.

Distractions

We want to make football Saturday a totally enjoyable experience and want to encourage you to be respectful of those around you in the stadium. This attitude of cooperation can help to insure pleasant, enthusiastic game atmosphere. In the event you feel there is unreasonable distraction in your seating area, we ask you to take the following steps to help us control undesirable behavior:

-Note the seating section, row and seat number(s), and inform the usher in your section of the disturbance. The usher will observe the conduct and request it to stop, if appropriate.

-If the conduct continues, the usher will get assistance from a uniformed policeman to request improvement of behavior or to remove the fan(s) from the stadium.

-An additional occurrence is cause for removal from the stadium and could be grounds for relocation in next season's ticket assignment.

Gordon P. Eaton, Iowa State's 12th president, came to the position as an acclaimed and well established scholar, administrator and scientist. To this list should be added the further accolades of distinguished researcher, public speaker, author, editor and teacher. Since taking office on July 1, 1986, Eaton has provided leadership that has made an impact on every department and segment of the campus community as Iowa State University continues to improve its facilities, academic programs and student services.

Eaton was born March 9, 1929, in Dayton, Ohio. He received a B.A. in geology and mathematics "With High Honors and High Distinction" in 1951 from Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., a Master's in geology in 1953 and a Ph.D. in geology and geophysics in 1957 from the California Institute of Technology.

He served on the faculty of Wesleyan University from 1955 to 1959, and on the University of California, Riverside faculty from 1959 to 1963. He was on academic leave from the University of California from 1963 to 1965 to serve as project chief for the U.S. Geological Survey in Denver, Colo., for geological investigations of bentonite deposits and ground water resources. He returned to the University of California, Riverside, in 1965 as associate professor and chairperson of the department of geological sciences.

From 1967 to 1981 Eaton was with the U.S. Geological Survey, serving in a number of administrative and scientific positions, including: project chief for the Southwestern Geophysics Project, Regional Geophysics Branch, for the study of mineral and ground water resources in Arizona, New Mexico and Colorado; deputy chief of the Office of Geochemistry and Geophysics, Washington, D.C.; project chief for geothermal geophysics, Branch of Theoretical and Applied Geophysics; scientist-in-charge of the Hawaiian Volcano Observatory; and associate chief geologist, Geologic Division, at the national headquarters in Reston, Va.

In 1981 he was appointed dean of the College of Geosciences at Texas A & M, which includes the departments of geology, geophysics, oceanography, meteorology and geography. In 1983 he was named provost and vice president for academic affairs.

An established scholar and scientist in regional geology and geophysical synthesis and interpretation, Eaton is the author or co-author of publications on such subjects as the mineral resources in numerous regions of the Western United States; geophysical observations of Kilauea Volcano, Hawaii; regional gravity and tectonic patterns; ground water investigations and resources; volcanic ash deposits; petroleum potential of the U.S. Atlantic Coastal Plain and mining geophysics in the Soviet Union.

He has taught physical geology, mineralogy, structural geology, petrology and introductory geophysics, all at the undergraduate level, and exploration geophysics, fundamental geology and research courses at the graduate level.

Awards he has received include: Best Paper of the Colorado Scientific Society in 1975 and 1976, U.S. Government Senior Executive Performance

Award in 1980 and Wesleyan University Distinguished Alumnus Award in 1981. He was chairman of the Geophysics Division of the Geological Society of America during 1978-79 and has been an invited speaker to universities in seven states and Iceland, and to eight major geoscience association assemblies in this country and abroad. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa honor society, Sigma Xi research honor society, and is a member and fellow of the Geological Society of America. He is also a member of the American Council on Education, the American Association for Higher Education, American Geophysical Union, and the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

He has served as a representative to the U.S. National Committee for Rock Mechanics and the National Research Council, a member of the editorial board for the Geological Society of America's Decade of North American Geology, associate editor of the "Journal of Volcanology and Geothermal Resources" and co-editor of the Geological Society of America "Memoir 152." He was also a member of the Geophysics Study Committee for the Assembly of Mathematical and Physical Sciences for the National Research Council, Washington, D.C. He serves as a member of the American Council on Education, the Commission on International Education, the Board of Directors of the Borlaug International Heritage Project and the Board of Directors of Living History Farms, and is President of the Board of Directors of the Iowa 4-H Foundation.

Eaton and his wife Virginia have two grown children.

The Bells of Iowa State

Green hills for thy throne, and for crown a golden melody.
Singing in the hearts of all who bring thee love and loyalty;
Dear Alma Mater,
make our spirits great,
True, and valiant like the bells of Iowa State.

Fight Song

Oh we will Fight, Fight, Fight
for Iowa State
And may her colors ever fly.
Oh we will fight with might
for Iowa State
With the will to do or die!
Rah! Rah! Rah!
Loyal sons forever true,
And we will fight the battle through!
And when we hit that line,
We'll hit it hard,

ANNUAL GIVING

The Cyclone Club is the fund-raising organization for the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics, and is part of the ISU Achievement Foundation, the annual giving fund for the university.

When you make your investment in ISU's continuing athletic success, you become a member of the team in more than spirit. Your support becomes the lifeblood of the Cyclone athletic program.

Our effort in working to develop national championship teams is our thanks for your support. We strive to put together a program of which our athletes, coaches, alumni and friends can be genuinely proud.

Iowa State Develops Computer Technology With Durham Center

Since the official groundbreaking on June 10, 1986, Iowa State University has watched with anticipation as the concrete, steel and glass were formed and shaped into the Charles W. Durham and Margre Henningson Durham Center for Computation and Communication.

The $12 million Durham Center signifies yet another step for ISU as it leads the way in applying the latest computer technology to instruction and research, thereby strengthening its commitment to quality and efficiency in student learning and creating new knowledge. With this new center, ISU, birthplace of the electronic digital computer, is poised to exert its leadership in today's dynamic information society.

ISU's Computation Center and Telecommunications Office are housed in the Durham Center. Additional space for the Department of Electrical Engineering and Computer Engineering also has been provided.

With three times the space of its old location, the Computation Center will continue to be the electronic nerve center for campus-wide computer systems. It represents one of the most carefully planned and visionary facilities of its type in the country. This expanded center will serve as a powerful tool for instruction and research, as well as a central storage place for information accessible to students, faculty and staff.

Already, the Durham Center has made it possible to double the size of the university's high performance scientific computing system, an impossibility under the confines of the Computation Center's previous location. This is the first of many such steps the university will take as the Durham Center opens new doors of opportunities.

The Durham Center's striking design was provided by the engineering and architectural firm of Henningson Durham & Richardson, Inc. (HDR). HDR was owned and operated for years by one of the building's namesakes, Charles (Chuck) Durham, and founded by H.H. Henningson, a 1907 graduate of Iowa State and the father of the building's other namesake, Margre Henningson Durham. Chuck and Margre Durham, both 1939 ISU graduates, provided the impetus for this new center with their $3,000,000 donation, the largest gift ever made to Iowa State.

The north half of the building is a pyramidal structure; the south half is rectangular. These two structures are united by a spacious walk-through atrium and topped by a cross-shaped copper cupola.

Placing the Durham Center adjacent to the Parks Library and major engineering and mathematical departments creates an academic complex of distinction and utility. Architecturally, the Durham Center provides an effective and attractive link between historic Marston Hall and the modern new wing of the Parks Library.

The new Durham Center lays the foundation for greatly expanded academic computing resources at Iowa State, reinforcing the university's motto of "Science with Practice."

The Charles W. Durham and Margre Henningson Durham Center for Computation and Communication.

At Iowa State University, the word "student" comes first in the term "student-athlete" for a very good reason: being a student must come first to keep the privilege of competing in intercollegiate athletics. Almost 485 student-athletes in 21 team sports budget their time and energy to practice, travel, and compete while enrolled as full-time students. The Athletic Academic Services staff, which includes director Steve McDonnell and counselors Marty McFadden, Kathy Lyons and Ed Banach, helps ISU student-athletes become the most successful students they can be, through an individualized blend of the programs.

New Student-Athlete Orientation

An orientation session is held each semester to welcome all new student-athletes to ISU. The athletic academic counselors provide information about university procedures such as registration, fee payment, and residence hall living. They also explain eligibility requirements, academic support services, and athletic department rules. The counselors help the new student-athletes become familiar with the campus layout and generally assist in their transition to college life at ISU.

Student-Athlete Handbook

ISU student-athletes are given a practical handbook full of up-to-date information about NCAA, Big Eight, and university regulations, plus a list of commonly used local phone numbers. The calendar portion of the handbook can be used for reminders of important dates and for time management purposes.

Study Tables

Regularly scheduled study tables are sponsored for all ISU athletic teams, giving student-athletes a consistent time and place for studying and for meeting with tutors. In addition, the athletic academic counselors instruct student-athletes in study skills and time management techniques.

Tutoring Services

Tutors are available for ISU student-athletes to learn more rapidly, to prepare more thoroughly for classes and tests, and to develop more effective study habits. As a result, student-athletes generally experience reduced test anxiety and improved grades.

The Write Place

This service provides tutoring help when student-athletes write papers for any course at ISU. The staff works individually with student-athletes on whatever skills they need to improve, including punctuation, spelling, expression, formatting, and proofreading. The student-athletes become independent writers as they learn writing skills that will transfer to on-the-job situations and improve their course grades.

Educational Programs

The staff of the Athletic Academic Services unit presents instructional programs on study skills, time management, and stress management to groups of student-athletes, especially in study table settings.

Career Exploration

Student-athletes need preparation for their lives after college. The athletic academic counselors, in conjunction with on-campus resource people, help student-athletes identify their interests and aptitudes, explore college degree programs and related careers, and learn how to write resumes and application letters.

Monitoring of Academic Progress

The main duty of the athletic academic counselors is to identify problems early in each semester and assist in resolving them. They maintain frequent contact with the academic advisers in each college to stay informed about student-athletes' academic status and satisfactory progress within their degree programs. The counselors also send out academic progress report forms to instructors so that they can check the student-athletes' class standings, be alerted to possible tutoring needs, and encourage improved performance.

Intervention/Referral

The athletic academic counselors work with the Student Counseling Service and the Dean of Students Office in diagnosing and resolving the problems faced by student-athletes. Such problems might be personal (coping with a parent's illness, for example) or academic (dealing with a learning disability in the college classroom).

Advocacy

The staff of Athletic Academic Services acts on behalf of student-athletes in negotiating the university system. Student-athletes can receive help in dealing with instructors and administrators to achieve better working relationships within the classroom and the university.

Athletic Academic Recognition Dinner

Those student-athletes who have performed well in the classroom are recognized at a special banquet held in their honor every spring. Invited are those who have achieved a grade point average of at least a 3.00 within the previous two semesters, as are those who have significantly improved their academic performances. Also in attendance are university administrators, faculty members, and athletic department personnel.

Graduation Reception

Each spring, the athletic department sponsors a celebration of graduation for student-athletes, their families, and their friends in the company of department members.

1990 Cyclone FOOTBALL CAMP

June 24-28

Dear Parents and Future Campers:

We are excited about continuing the Cyclone Instructional Football Camp. Each camper will work with one of ISU's assistant coaches, who will help him improve his skills. The camp is committed to a planned program of football developments; blocking, tackling, passing, catching, kicking and other specialties.

We believe that each camper will learn a great deal of football and yet at the same time have an enjoyable experience.

Our age limit is 8 to 18 (high school graduates excluded). The Cyclone Football Camp is divided into groups of age and ability so each camper can compete at his level.

Sincerely,

Jim Walden

Jim Walden, Head Football Coach

Men's Basketball Team Enters Rigorous Season Laden with Talent

An paper, the 1989-90 Iowa State men's basketball team could be Johnny Orr's best at Iowa State. More than half of the team's rebounding and scoring return, along with three of the six players who could be considered as starters during last year's 17-12 campaign.

Leading the way is junior Victor Alexander, the 6-9 center who developed into the league's most dominant big man by the end of the 1989 season. Alexander averaged 19.9 points per game as a sophomore, and was named a first-team all-Big Eight selection by the Associated Press. An honorable mention All-America choice of The Sporting News, he was also named the team's MVP, Outstanding Offensive Player and Outstanding Rebounder. This past summer, the Detroit, Mich., native played for the U.S. team at the World University Games, which was highlighted by a 16-point effort against Poland.

For the first time in years, Orr has more than one big man to control the boards. Junior Phil Kunz, a transfer from Illinois in 1988, is eligible this season, providing ISU with another husky 6-9 player with scoring ability. Kirk Baker (6-8) was the 1987-88 Division II National Junior College Player of the Year at Lansing Community College in Michigan. At ISU, he is expected to give the Cyclones more rebounding and shot-blocking firepower.

Junior Mark Baugh looks to be a starter once again at forward, after being named the team's Most Improved Player a year ago. With a 13.3 ppg average, Baugh was the squad's second-leading scorer, while holding the top spot in steals with 41. In January, he hit 11-of-11 shots vs. Western Illinois, establishing a new ISU and Hilton Coliseum record for field goal percentage in a game.

Last year's hard-luck story starred Paul Doerrfeld, who returns healthy for his junior season. After earning a starting position and recording his most productive game ever in an 88-58 win at Creighton, he was sidelined with an apendectomy for five weeks. Doerrfeld, a 6-7 part-time starter in 1987-88, earned his spot back but was again sidelined three games later with a knee injury that forced him to take an injury redshirt. A solid defender and rebounder, he was a member of the Big Eight Select Team that toured Australia during the summer. Doerrfeld played in all nine contests, averaging 7.4 ppg and 2.2 rpg.

At point guard, the Cyclones welcome back two-year starter Terry Woods. The Waterloo native led ISU in assists for the second consecutive year in 1989, recording 158. At the Phenix NCAA Ball Tournament in Tokyo, he scored 13 points with four assists vs. Bradley to take MVP honors. With 391 career assists, he enters his senior year third on the ISU all-time assist chart behind Jeff Horvacek (665) and Gary Thompkins (600).

The Cyclone "long ball" attack will be strengthened by sophomore walk-on Brian Pearson. The Palmer native played in 19 games during the 1988-89 season, scoring a career-high 13 points against Oklahoma last January. From three-point range the 6-2 guard hit a solid 11-of-27. In July, Pearson was a member of an Iowa AAU 19-and-under unit that toured the Soviet Union.

Iowa State's biggest test could come in replacing forward Marc Urquhart and guard Mike Born. Urquhart started 17 games in '89, and was named the team's Outstanding Defensive Player. Against Illinois-Chicago last January, he posted the first triple-double ever recorded by an ISU player (10 points, 12 rebounds and 10 assists) since assists started being kept in the early 1970's. Born broke or tied five school records last season, and was selected captain of UPI's all-Big Eight Conference Surprise Team. The West Des Moines native established a new single-season free-throw shooting percentage mark, sinking 87-of-99 from the line for an average of .879. He also broke his own school record for three-point goals in a season with 39. In addition, he set a career three-point goal record with 75. Born hit his 21st consecutive free throw in the second half against Missouri last February to break the old record of 20 set by Ron Harris during the 1984-85 season. He rounded out his collegiate career by tying the school record for three-point goals scored in a game with five vs. Oklahoma State.

In addition to their changes in personnel, the Cyclones will find an even tougher challenge in this year's schedule. Along with the always-competitive Big Eight Conference, ISU will face Big Ten powerhouses Indiana and Iowa, along with last year's national champion Michigan.

The Cyclones open up the 1989-90 season on Nov. 11 with an exhibition game against the Australian National team. Tip-off is set for 7 p.m. in Hilton Coliseum.

Last year's team MVP, center Victor Alexander was an honorable mention All-America choice of The Sporting News.

The Cyclone Marching Band takes the field this afternoon honoring a box office "cult classic", THE BLUES BROTHERS. Dan Aykroyd, John Belushi and the keyboarding of Ray Charles come to life through this ensemble featuring I CAN'T TURN YOU LOOSE, GIMME SOME LOVIN, PETER GUNN and SHAKE A TAIL FEATHER.

The 280-piece Cyclone Marching Band performs at all home football games as one of the most upbeat and showy college marching bands in existence. In addition to the pre-game and half-time features, the Marching Band plays spirited melodies for alumni functions, pep-rallies and other special Cyclone events. This year, members of the group will be guests of the University of Missouri Nov. 11, and will appear at C.Y. Stephens auditorium for the annual Band Extravaganza later this semester.

New Era Holds Promise, High Aspirations for Women's Basketball

By Denise Seomin, Assistant Sports Information Director

Tradition.
It garners respect, acceptance and recognition.

It demands talent, intelligence and dedication. For the 1989-90 women's basketball team, a new decade could see those demands being met, establishing the foundation for unprecedented and unlimited success.

"There is a renewed enthusiasm among our players this year; a real sense of pride and determination," said head coach Pam Wettig. "We came so close to our goals during the 1988-89 season, and that has definitely had a positive effect on the team's outlook. We know our potential. Now it's time to put it to full use."

The Cyclones are coming off a 15-13 season, their first winning record in the last three years. With a 6-8 mark and fifth-place finish in the Big Eight Conference, ISU was not to be taken for granted, creating a new obstacle for league opponents.

That obstacle will remain on the court this season, as the Cyclones return both their leading scorer and rebounder to challenge for conference honors.

Senior Vanessa Ward enters her final campaign as Iowa State's top offensive threat, and has the potential to be among the Big Eight's best. In her first full-time role as a starter in '89, Ward led the team in scoring with an average of 12.1 points per game. Named twice to all-tournament teams, she set a career high with 25 points vs. Yale, scoring in double figures 20 times.

"Vanessa is a very influential part of this team," Wettig said. "Her leadership qualities will be crucial in determining the impact we will have throughout the season."

Joining Ward is two-year starter Shelly Coyle. The Spring Green, Wis. native came on strong during the latter part of the season, posting double figures in both scoring and rebounding in four of the last seven games. Coyle wrapped up the year averaging 5.8 rebounds per game to lead the squad. But among conference foes she was at her best, holding the top spot in rebounding (6.9 avg.) and scoring (11.6 avg.).

Iowa State's supporting cast should also attract attention, with two of the remaining seven letter-winners strengthened by starting experience.

Lynne Lorenzen started 15 games as a sophomore last season, averaging 6.6 points per contest. Strong inside the lane, Lorenzen's greatest contribution came from the free-throw line, where she shot a solid 60 percent (24-of-40). Leslie Maple stepped in quickly to provide some needed speed at the guard position a year ago, joining the starting five on eight occasions. As a freshman, she posted 30 assists and 25 steals.

Several upperclassmen will get the first true test of their collegiate careers as they look to move into starting positions. Laurie Decker, Kirsten Beach and Sanquetta Davis served as the Cyclones' top reserves in 1989, but will find their roles expanded in the coming year.

Decker led the team with 17 three-point goals last season, and will be counted on for a more diversified offensive output. Beach enjoyed her most productive season as a sophomore, showing definite leadership potential in 19 appearances. Davis was the defensive spark plug for the Cyclones, whose physical, no-nonsense style of play gave ISU the edge off the boards. This year, however, Wettig hopes to take advantage of her offensive abilities as well.

Rounding out the returnees are Mardi Pfannebecker and Nichelle Jenkins. Although both have seen limited playing time, each has made major contributions off the court, with the capability to put their hard-earned skills into full-time roles.

"Balance will be a real strength of this team," Wettig said. "We have the maturity, and a good mixture of leadership styles. This is a very goal-oriented, high achieving team. Our expectations are more clearly defined than ever before."

Assisting in the Cyclones' efforts are four newcomers who could take on key roles as the season progresses.

Leading the way is sophomore Tynnetta Rasheed, who sat out last season due to the NCAA's Proposition 48 ruling. The Savannah, Ga., native averaged 23.6 points per game in 1988, and was selected for both all-state and all-region honors. Kim Van Deest, Cledella Evans and Shanda Fitzgerald make up this year's freshman class, which possesses the speed and agility necessary to bring variety to the ISU game plan.

"The Cyclones will be exciting to watch," Wettig said. "We have a team that really plays hard and with great intensity. Our efforts will make us a fun team to see."

Norm Andersen

Runningbacks

Andersen joined Jim Walden's staff in March of 1987 after nine seasons as an assistant coach at UCLA. For five seasons (1982-86), the former Bruin wide receiver coached and developed some of the nation's top runningbacks at his alma mater, including Gaston Green and Eric Ball. At Iowa State, Andersen guided runningback Joe Henderson to the third spot on the Cyclone career rushing chart.

A three-year starter at UCLA (1973-75), Andersen ranked 10th in career receiving with 61 catches for 1,051 yards. He led the Bruins in receiving as a sophomore and a junior, catching 19 passes in 1973 and 27 the following year. An all-Pacific-8 first-team selection in 1974, he was chosen in the 11th round of the 1976 NFL draft by the Chicago Bears.

He is married to the former Heidi Julich.

Tim Bald

Program Coordinator

Tim Bald is in his fourth season as Iowa State's program coordinator, organizing the recruiting and administrative responsibilities in the Cyclone football program.

The Freeport, Ill., native came to the Cyclones from the Washington Redskins of the National Football League. He served as the Redskins' administrative intern in charge of player personnel. From 1981-83, Bald was an assistant coach at Aquin Central Catholic in Freeport.

A 1980 graduate of Loras College, Bald earned a bachelor's degree in business administration. He received his master's degree in physical education with an emphasis in sports management from Western Illinois University in 1985.

Bald is single.

Craig Boller

Defensive Ends

The 1989 season is Craig Boller's third as an assistant coach at Iowa State. The Belmont native is no stranger to Ames, however, where he lettered three times as an ISU defensive tackle under Clay Stapleton and Johnny Majors (1967-69).

Boller came to Iowa State in January of 1987 after serving seven years as the defensive line coach at Oregon State. He was an assistant coach at Memphis State for two seasons (1978-79) after working one year as a part-time assistant coach at Tennessee.

Boller spent three seasons (1974-76) building the William Penn (Iowa) College football program, leading it to the Iowa Conference title in his final season at the helm. He began his coaching career as an assistant at Knoxville High School from 1971-73.

He is the father of two daughters, Valerie (21) and Kimberly (18).

Jimmy Burrow

Defensive Backs

Jimmy Burrow came to Iowa State in January of 1987 with head coach Jim Walden, after five seasons at Washington State. He served as the Cougars' tight end coach in 1982, but spent his last four years at WSU coaching the secondary.

Burrow's association with Walden dates back to his high school days in Amory, Miss. Walden was Burrow's coach in ninth and 10th grade football and baseball. Following his prep career, Burrow attended the University of Mississippi for one season, and then transferred to Nebraska, where he was reunited with Walden. As a Cornhusker, Burrow earned second-team all-Big Eight honors his senior season. He was a member of the 1972 Orange Bowl, 1973 Cotton Bowl, 1974 Sugar Bowl and 1975 Fiesta Bowl teams.

An eighth-round pick in the 1976 NFL draft, Burrow played nine games with the Green Bay Packers, and went on to play five years in the Canadian Football League.

He earned his bachelor's degree in education from Nebraska, and his master's in education administration from Washington State.

Jimmy and his wife, Carol, are parents of two children, Jamie (10) and Danny (8).

Dave Elliott

Wide Receivers

The 1989 season marks Dave Elliott's 15th campaign as an assistant coach, and his 11th season as an assistant to Jim Walden. At Washington State, Elliott tutored the inside linebackers from 1979-86. All-Big Eight wide receiver Dennis Ross was among Elliott's pupils during the coach's first two seasons in Ames.

The Champaign, Ill., native worked with the defensive backs at Miami (Fla.) in 1975. A year later, he coached the linebackers at Michigan. During the 1977-78 seasons, he served as defensive backfield coach at Toledo before joining Walden's staff at Washington State.

Elliott was a three-time letterwinner at defensive back for the Michigan Wolverines. He played in the 1972 Rose Bowl and 1975 Hula Bowl, and was invited to play in the 1975 American Bowl.

Dave and his wife, Peggy, are the parents of two daughters, Catherine Lynn (7) and Christina (5).

Jon Fabris

Outside Linebackers

Jon Fabris, who coached the tight ends under Jim Walden at Washington State (1983-86), will again coach the Cyclone linebackers and kickoff team, as he has done since his arrival at Iowa State in 1987.

A native of Starkville, Miss., Fabris first joined Walden's WSU staff in 1982, when he assisted with the defensive backfield, coached the offensive scout team and scouted the opposition's kicking game.

Fabris coached the junior varsity defensive backfield and defensive scout team at Georgia Tech in 1980, before working for an oil company in 1981. He earned four varsity letters playing all four positions in the defensive backfield at Mississippi (1976-79), including three years as a starter. He ranked third in Southeastern Conference punt returns in 1977 and graduated fifth in career punt returns at Ole Miss. He received his bachelor's degree in social studies in 1980.

Fabris is single.

Lindsay Hughes

Tight Ends

Cyclone tight end coach Lindsay Hughes marks his 22nd season in the collegiate coaching ranks this year, and his 12th under head coach Jim Walden. He tutored the outside linebackers at Washington State.

Hughes started his coaching career as the freshman coach at San Jose State in 1967. A year later, he served as a graduate assistant in charge of the offensive scout team and assisted with linebackers at Florida State. In 1969, he worked with the Seminoles' secondary. He then moved to San Diego State, where he was an assistant coach in charge of linebackers from 1970-71. After a stint as an assistant coach at Los Amigos (Calif.) High, he spent three seasons (1975-77) at Cerritos College as an assistant coach, where again he was in charge of the linebackers.

A center for two years at San Jose State, Hughes earned a bachelor's degree in physical education, and in 1971 was awarded his master's degree from San Diego State.

As a sophomore at El Camino (Calif.) Junior College, Hughes earned All-America honors in 1964.

Lindsay and his wife, Bonnie, have one daughter, Nicole (19).

Steve Morton

Offensive Line

Steve Morton's third year at Iowa State is his 15th in collegiate coaching and his 12th under head coach Jim Walden. The Chehalis, Wash., native coaches the offensive line — the same position he held at Washington State for five seasons.

Morton directed the Cougar tight ends from 1978-81. He started his collegiate coaching career at WSU in 1975 as an offensive line assistant. He was a defensive line assistant in 1976 and junior varsity and assistant offensive line coach in 1977.

In 1972 and 1973, Morton played at Grays Harbor (Wash.) Junior College, receiving the Outstanding Offensive Lineman Award, while earning All-NWJC honors. He played guard and center at Washington State in 1973-74 before graduating with a bachelor's in physical education.

Steve and his wife, Karen, are the parents of two children, Beau (13) and Bethany (9).

Robin Ross

Defensive Coordinator/Defensive Tackles

Robin Ross is in his fourth season under Jim Walden. Prior to joining the Cyclone staff, he served as the defensive line coach at Washington State for the 1986 season.

Ross moved to Washington State after a two-year stint at Cincinnati. In 1984, he coached the defensive line and was strength and conditioning coordinator for the Bearcats. A year later, he served as the defensive coordinator and defensive line coach. From 1979-83, Ross coached the defensive line and was the recruiting coordinator at Long Beach State. He started with the 49ers as an assistant offensive line and tight end coach, a position he held during the 1977 and 1978 seasons.

A two-year starter (1974-75) at Washington State, Ross earned second-team all-conference honors and was an honorable mention All-America offensive tackle. He graduated with a bachelor's degree in education in 1977.

Ross was a first-team all-conference selection at offensive tackle in his second season at Rio Hondo (Calif.) College in 1973. He claimed second-team honors as a freshman.

A 10th-round choice of the San Francisco 49er's, Ross signed as a free agent with the Seattle Seahawks and played the 1976 exhibition season.

Ross is married to the former Jean Kwid.

Mel Sanders

Middle Linebackers

The 1989 season marks Mel Sanders' third at Iowa State, and his second coaching the middle linebackers. The Los Angeles native joined head coach Jim Walden's staff at Washington State in 1981, but he has been associated with Walden as a player and coach for the past 13 seasons.

After earning a bachelor's degree in fine arts, Sanders' first coaching assignment was assisting with the Cougars' outside linebackers in 1981. The following year, he tutored the WSU defensive line. Sanders assumed administrative and offensive line coaching duties in 1983 and continued the same duties in his first season at Iowa State. He co-coordinated the Freshman Athletic Scholastic Training (FAST) program at WSU and has been a key figure in the academic assistance programs at Iowa State.

A four-year starter at outside linebacker at Washington State, Sanders earned second-team freshman All-America honors from Football News in 1976. His career total of 241 tackles distinguished him as the sixth-leading tackler in WSU history.

Sanders is single.

One of the most integral aspects of any intercollegiate athletic program is a sound strength and conditioning program. Iowa State recognizes this area as a crucial ingredient to the overall success of all 21 men's and women's intercollegiate sports offered at the university. Under the supervision of seventh-year strength and conditioning director Tom Wilson and his assistant Steve Ballenger, Iowa State's student-athletes have made tremendous strides.

The overall goal of Iowa State's program is to keep athletes healthy and prepared for competition by reducing their susceptibility to injury. This is accomplished by a computer-analyzed combination of a strict strength and conditioning program, a good diet, and sufficient rest.

"Iowa State offers its athletes proven strength and conditioning programs," said Wilson, who previously served four years in the nationally acclaimed program at the University of Nebraska. "ISU has excellent facilities designed to enhance the athletes' performances and help them realize their maximum potential. We work with everyone from the 'blue-chip' athlete to the unknown walk-on—our program is intended to help everyone. And utilizing such a strictly supervised program not only produces great physical results, but also increases the athletes' confidence when they become stronger, faster, and more disciplined than their opponents."

Iowa State's strength and conditioning program is conducted throughout the calendar year. During the summer and winter months, athletes go through conditioning and strength training four times per week. The four aerobic workouts consist of concentrating on speed drills and plyometrics two days per week, with the other two spent on conditioning and agility drills. Strength training is also very rigid, with the athlete working a minimum of 1½ hours per workout, and alternating three body parts per day.

During the fall season and spring workouts, maintaining strength and the level of conditioning obtained during the winter and summer months is the primary objective. The goal is for athletes to be as strong for the season finale as they were for the season opener. This is accomplished by following a four-day per week workout schedule, with each player lifting and stretching for approximately 20-30 minutes per day.

Prior to the implementation of a strength and conditioning program, every player is evaluated in six areas. Each athlete is tested on upper and lower body strength, flexibility, agility, power, speed (40-yard dash and 10-yard splits), and cardiovascular endurance. The testing results are then entered into the program's computer and analyzed to illustrate strengths and weaknesses. Each athlete meets individually with the strength and conditioning director to evaluate the results and establish appropriate goals.

"Our program is set up to meet the needs of the individual athlete according to the testing evaluation and the athlete's goal," said Wilson. "We also take into consideration the needs and demands of the sport. All training done is very sport specific."

The program implemented by strength and conditioning coordinator Tom Wilson has enabled Cyclone players to make tremendous gains.

Without a doubt, the most beautiful and convenient football facility in the Big Eight Conference is the 50,000-seat Cyclone Stadium-Jack Trice Field. Located on a 30-acre tract, the stadium is part of the ISU Center on the southeast corner of the Ames campus.

In December of 1983, the Iowa State University football facility was officially named. The name of the stadium itself is Cyclone Stadium, with the field now named for and dedicated to Jack Trice, Iowa State's first black athlete, who died from injuries he received in his first major college football game in October 1923.

The stadium offers an unobstructed view of the playing field, as well as remarkably easy access from all parts of the state. The ISU Center includes the stadium, James H. Hilton Coliseum, C. Y. Stephens Auditorium, J. W. Fisher Theater, the Carl Scheman Continuing Education Building, with lighted parking for 4,000 vehicles.

The stadium was completed in less than two years, from the ground breaking on October 26, 1973, to the first game, a victory over Air Force on September 20, 1975.

In late 1973 and early '74, heavy earth-moving equipment shaped the embankments. A huge, moveable form shaped the lower decks with thousands of cubic yards of concrete.

Originally, the stadium had a capacity of 42,500, all on the sidelines. In 1976, end-zone bleachers were constructed to bring the capacity to more than 48,000. Standing room tickets, sold for each game, bring the capacity to more than 50,000.

The record crowd was 54,101 for the 1987 Iowa State-Iowa game.

The press box is located between the upper and lower decks. There is seating for 123 sports reporters and eight broadcast teams, as well as a cafeteria serving area and two photographic dark rooms. The press box is structured so that the media representatives can enter using ramps from either end of the stadium, eliminating the need for an elevator. There is an enclosed camera deck atop the west stands.

Opposite the press box on the east side is a modern club section with theater seats. Included in the club section is a lounge, as well as rest room facilities.

The stadium contains 16,000 tons of reinforced concrete, 1,000 tons of structural steel, and has a four-inch-thick asphalt base under a new All-Pro Turf playing field. The All-Pro Turf, replaced in the summer of 1985, stretches from the edge of the stands on each side and 20 yards beyond each end zone. This allows for maximum practice space.

There are fully electronic scoreboards at each end of the stadium, while the north end area features the ISU Victory Bell, and a statue of Cy the Cardinal.

The Ralph A. Olsen Building is adjacent to the north end of the stadium. The Olsen Building, named in honor of the prominent Ellsworth farmer and alumnus, houses the athletic administration facilities.

Included in the Olsen Building are locker rooms, team meeting rooms, football coaching offices and staff rooms, the sports medicine clinic, Cyclone Club offices, athletic ticket offices and maintenance facilities.

The total cost of the stadium was $7.6 million. It was paid for through contributions of alumni, friends and businesses to the Iowa State Foundation, as well as through athletic receipts. More than 15,000 contributors have participated in ISU Foundation projects.

Bruce Reimers, a starting member on the offensive line of the AFC champion Cincinnati Bengals, is one of several former Iowa State Cyclones making major contributions to their teams in the National Football League. Reimers, a six-year veteran, was a key in the successful Cincinnati running attack that helped propel the Bengals to a Super Bowl berth last season.

The long list of Iowa State players who went on to professional careers starts with Lew Reeve, who played one season with the Chicago Tigers in 1920. Over the years, ex-Cyclones Matt Blair, Jim Doran and Dan Johnson, among others, have made their marks on the National Football League. In all, 60 former Iowa State football players have played one or more seasons in the professional league, including runningback Joe Henderson, a 10th-round selection of the New Orleans Saints in 1989.

Thibodeaux: A Leader On and Off the Field

By Beth Haag, Sports Information Graduate Assistant

In a day when the negative aspects of collegiate and professional sports garner a great deal of attention, one Iowa State football player has done his part to illustrate a positive portrait of an athlete.

Fullback Paul Thibodeaux plays an influential role, not only on the football team, but among the student body. The 5-11 senior was elected by his teammates as one of four Cyclone co-captains. In addition, the Chicago, Ill., native was also elected as Government of the Student Body (GSB) president. Although both roles have a strenuous time commitment, Thibodeaux relishes the opportunity to work with a variety of individuals in pursuit of a common goal.

"I enjoy putting forth my ideas, setting an example and just dealing with people," Thibodeaux said. "When you are in a leadership position, it brings more people to you, and you to more people, as far as communicating and dealing with people."

As a leader on the gridiron, Thibodeaux realizes he is a role model and must constantly display a positive outlook among his teammates.

"Your actions and the way you try to conduct yourself on the field are being watched by other people," Thibodeaux said. "When you're elected as a captain, and they see you not working as hard as you can, then they might feel that they don't have to work either. It's up to me to keep a positive mental attitude from day-to-day."

In addition to leading his teammates, Thibodeaux has the responsibility of guiding the ISU student body. Although some people have questioned his commitment due to his rigid time constraints, Thibodeaux feels it is his job to budget time for the president's duties. However, he admits he has to set priorities.

"The main reason I came to Iowa State was to play Division I football and get an education," Thibodeaux said. "I set these two priorities above anything else. While I'm fortunate to have the GSB office, and I have fun doing it, I wouldn't let either football or academics slip in order to have the best student government in the country."

Although he idolizes the work ethic of former Chicago Bears runningback Walter Payton and Dr. Martin Luther King, Thibodeaux said his mother was his anchor in developing his determination for success.

"My mother, Alma, dedicated her life to making sure that her four children were raised properly, and making sure that we had things to do to keep us off the street," Thibodeaux said.

A majority of Thibodeaux's childhood was devoted to athletics, with football and baseball receiving primary attention. The St. Rita High prep rushed for 1,230 yards and scored 17 touchdowns his senior season, and received 1984 Chicago Catholic League Player-of-the-Year honors.

Over the five years at Iowa State, number 31 has made some explosive plays — last year's 67-yard touchdown run against Nebraska; and a 73-yard touchdown run against Kansas in 1987 with a career-high 81 yards in that game. As a freshman, he was ISU's top kick returner with a team-high 10 kickoff receptions for 164 yards.

The co-captain hopes the 1989 Cyclones can improve on last year's 5-6 record, and ultimately reach a bowl game. And getting there begins with positive thinking.

"This year we have a bunch of guys that want to win and won't settle for anything less," Thibodeaux said. "We have been producing with the players we have available. We try to deal with the situation that is within our control, and try to maintain a good football team working towards a winning season."

One key to a successful Cyclone football team is establishing a solid running game, and Thibodeaux is pleased to be flanked by Blaise Bryant.

"When I do the best I can to block for Blaise, I know that he will hit the hole hard and fast," Thibodeaux said. "With Blaise back there along with the other runningbacks, we can establish a running game, and consequently, that helps improve our passing game."

During his collegiate career, the three-time letterwinner has seen his share of transitions, including two different head coaches and five runningback coaches. However, the biggest change he has seen is in himself.

"I've learned to prepare myself for competitive situations and learned how to make it in life," Thibodeaux said. "So many things we do in football are very strenuous and physical, and only the strong survive. I've learned how to persevere and make it. What you have to do to prepare yourself for the game also prepares yourself for life. Football helps you to accept disappointment and relish the good times."

Co-captain Paul Thibodeaux has his hands full this year, serving as both the Cyclones' starting fullback and as student body president.

Men's Athletic Trainer Frank Randall, his assistant Steve Stricker, and Women's Athletic Trainer Alice McLaine direct Iowa State's sports medicine programs. The men's and women's athletic training staffs work closely with each of Iowa State's teams and, along with the team physicians, apply the most recent techniques in the field of sports medicine.

The training staffs are headquartered in four locations on the ISU campus—the Olsen Building, James H. Hilton Coliseum, Beyer Hall, and the new Physical Education Building. The staff also works closely with the team physician, Dr. Alan Philippi, and orthopedic surgeons at McFarland Clinic.

The athletic training room, equipment room, and weight room comprise the conditioning component of the athletic program. In the training room, athletic trainers deal with the prevention, treatment, and rehabilitation of athletic injuries. Each trainer must have working knowledge of the other two areas, however, to properly care for athletes.

Prevention includes taping and padding different areas of the body. Each football player gets both ankles taped prior to every workout and game. All players except wide receivers and defensive backs also are equipped with lightweight protective knee braces for each practice and game. Randall played an integral part in the development of the knee brace, which is now being marketed nationwide.

Treatment of athletic injuries is another valuable aspect of the sports medicine program. Treatment methods can be as simple as applying a bag of ice to the injured area, or as complex as utilizing electrical muscle stimulation. Each injured athlete receives at least three treatments per day during the season. Most of the treatment units are portable and give the athletes the advantage of treatment at home or on the road.

Rehabilitation is necessary following an injury or surgery. Along with receiving treatment, the athlete is tested with various flexibility and strength exercises. All athletes are supervised by a member of the training staff from the first day of rehabilitation until it is completed.
