Campus Life

Since it opened in 1869, Iowa State University has been working for the state of Iowa. As Iowa's land-grant university, Iowa State has played an important role in the educational, economic, cultural and social development of the state and the nation.

Today, Iowa State is a broad-based university of international stature. With approximately 25,000 students from all 50 states and nearly 120 other nations, Iowa State is helping Iowa and the nation open doors to international exchange, trade and development.

Iowa State has been successful in attracting a diverse student body and has expanded the number of opportunities for students to travel and learn in other countries.

Students at Iowa State can choose from among more than 200 programs of study leading to baccalaureate degrees in the colleges of Agriculture, Business, Design, Education, Engineering, Family and Consumer Sciences and Liberal Arts and Sciences. The College of Veterinary Medicine offers the Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degree and graduate students can choose from among 200 fields of study leading to master's, doctor of philosophy and specialist degrees.

Students find a high quality of life when they become a part of the Iowa State University community. An award-winning lectures program, a comprehensive array of student support services and more than 400 student clubs and organizations were all reasons ISU was included in a recent national study of colleges and universities with a high quality of student life.

Both the Greek and residence hall systems at Iowa State are nationally recognized. About 2,700 students participate in fraternities and sororities, and ISU residence halls house more students than most colleges and universities. A unique "house" system, with each floor named and considered a separate entity, makes residence hall rooms seem like home.

Students who are part of the residence hall system participate in dormitory-wide and intramural events. An extensive intramural program boasts one of the highest participation rates in the country, offering such unique events as innertube water basketball, broomball and mud volleyball.

Nearby dining halls serve a wide variety of good and nutritious food, and even accept favorite recipes from home as part of a regular contest, with the winning entry becoming a part of the food service menu.

Students can exercise at the 220,000-square-foot Lied Recreation Athletic Facility. The ground floor of the three-level facility contains 20 recreational basketball courts, as well as nine racquetball courts.

The Iowa State Center, which boasts one of the nation's finest facilities of its kind, consists of C.Y. Stephens Auditorium, the J.W. Fisher Theater, the Scheman Continuing Education Building and the James H. Hilton Coliseum. Concert facilities draw some of the top names in entertainment.

The Iowa State campus is recognized as one of the most beautiful in the nation. The park-like setting of 1,800 acres has more than 180 major buildings, including some beautifully restored structures from the late-1800s and early 1900s, as well as striking examples of modern architecture.

"Iowa State University offers all the advantages of a major university along with the friendliness and warmth of a residential campus. Iowa State's students are exceptional academically, diverse racially and culturally, and active socially."

Game Day

Cyclones vs. Bears

Today's homecoming matchup between Iowa State and Baylor is an important momentum-building game for both programs.

Baylor enters the game with a 1-5 overall record while Iowa State is still searching for its first victory of the season.

The Cyclone offensive unit has been playing steady football all season. Junior quarterback Todd Bandhauer has connected for 1,460 yards and 12 touchdowns. The Lecanto, Fla., native has thrown for over 200 yards on four occasions. Iowa State leads the Big 12 Conference in passing offense, averaging 249.3 yards per game.

The receiving corps has played as well as advertised. Senior Tyrone Watley has recorded 29 receptions for 497 yards and four touchdowns. Senior Ed Williams has snagged 28 balls for 430 yards and four touchdowns. Tight end Andy Stensrud, a true freshman, has shown flashes of brilliance while catching three touchdown passes.

After missing extended playing time due to nagging injuries, sophomore tailback Darren Davis has chalked up two consecutive 100-yard rushing games. Through four games, Davis has rushed for 301 yards and one touchdown. Redshirt freshman James O'Neal has rushed for 198 yards.

Iowa State will face a different Baylor quarterback than it faced last season in Waco. Senior Jeff Watson is completing 58 percent of his passes and has been ranked as high as seventh in the league in total offense. Watson has thrown for 890 yards and four touchdowns.

The running back corps is led by Jerod Douglas, who won the AT&T Long Distance Award for his 80-yard touchdown run against Nebraska earlier this season. The senior tailback has gained 417 yards on 93 carries. Running backs Darrell Bush, a freshman, and Elijah Burkins, a sophomore, round out the Bear rushing attack. Bush has 151 yards on 17 attempts while Burkins has carried the ball 21 times for 86 yards.

Watson's favorite targets, Morris Anderson and Derrius Thompson, each rank in the top 10 in the Big 12 Conference in receptions per game. The junior wide receivers are averaging three catches per contest.

Senior linebacker Michael Cooper leads the Cyclone defense with 58 tackles, including 37 solo stops. Redshirt freshman Dustin Avey, an Ames native, has recorded 41 tackles in five games. Junior linebacker Chin Achebe has 38 tackles, including five for loss, and has sacked the opposition's quarterback twice. Redshirt freshman James Reed has chalked up 33 tackles and three sacks. Senior Preston Rhamy has 38 tackles and sophomore Dave Brcka has 32.

Junior free safety Nikia Codie leads the Bears with 71 tackles, including 42 solo stops. Joining him in the secondary are sophomore defensive backs Robert Neal and Rodney Smith and senior cornerback Matt Anderson.

The linebackers are led by 6-3, 224-pound Clarence Cruse. The junior anchors a unit that includes freshman Kris Micheaux and sophomore Jason Jackson.

Cyclone placekicker Jamie Kohl has connected on 5-of-6 field goal attempts, and is 3-of-3 between 40 and 49 yards away. Freshman punter Carl Gomez is averaging 43.3 yards per punt. The Miami, Fla., native booted a 75-yarder earlier this season.

Junior placekicker Matt Bryant is 3-of-5 in the field goal department for the Bears. Bryant's longest field goal was from 42 yards. Baylor punter Kyle Atteberry has kicked a 68-yarder and is averaging 42.5 yards per punt.

Senior linebacker Michael Cooper enters today's game as the Cyclones' leading tackler. The Omaha, Neb., native has recorded 58 tackles, including 37 solo stops.

Dr. Martin C. Jischke

Iowa State President

"(We) have a president who communicates publicly, who communicates internally with faculty and staff that intercollegiate athletics is an important part of the mission of Iowa State University. Dr. Jischke has been supportive of every single move we have made. He has been a leader in the formation of the Big 12 Conference. You have to have your leader back you up and that is why it is so important to have him here."

-Gene Smith,
Iowa State
Athletic Director

Now in his seventh year as President of Iowa State University, Dr. Martin Jischke is leading Iowa State on a bold and ambitious quest to become the nation's best land-grant university. Under his leadership, Iowa State has made significant progress in improving its undergraduate programs; in expanding its research programs, particularly in agriculture, engineering, science and technology; and in meeting the needs of the people through outreach, continuing education, technology transfer and economic development programs.

Iowa State continues to break new ground in fulfilling its land-grant mission to the people of Iowa and in redefining the land-grant mission for the 21st century. For example:

- In 1993, Iowa State was designated a "Research I" university by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, the top designation for a research and graduate education university in the nation.

- Established in 1995, the Hixson Opportunity Awards Program, funded entirely by private gifts, has made it possible for 100 Iowa young people each year to attend Iowa State. These are young people who otherwise would not be able to attend any college or university because of financial or personal difficulty.

- In 1996, Iowa State's freshman class included a record 154 National Merit Scholars, more than all but three other public universities in the nation.

In addition, Iowa State continues to set new records in enrollments of minority and international students, external funding for research and education programs, income from intellectual property, and private fund-raising. Since 1984, Iowa State has received 15 R&D 100 Awards for the most significant technology applications in the nation each year, more than all but one other university in the nation. In launching its five-year (1995-2000) $300-million "Campaign Destiny: To Become the Best," Iowa State announced a gift of $34 million, the largest ever to education in Iowa and the 12th-largest gift ever to a public university in the United States. That gift propelled Iowa State to its first $100 million year in fund raising.

Jischke, 54, came to ISU from the University of Missouri, Rolla, where he had served as chancellor for five years. He spent 17 years as a faculty member and administrator at the University of Oklahoma, serving as director of the School of Aerospace, Mechanical and Nuclear Engineering; Dean of the College of Engineering; and, in 1985, interim president.

A native of Chicago, Jischke earned the B.S. in physics, with honors, in 1963 from the Illinois Institute of Technology, an M.S. in 1964 and his Ph.D. in 1968 in aeronautics and astronautics from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is trained as a fluid dynamicist and has expertise in heat transfer, fluid mechanics, aerodynamics, and problems related to high-speed aircraft and spacecraft. He is the author or co-author of 31 archival journal publications and 21 major technical reports, and is co-editor of a book.

He has served research fellowships with NASA and the Donald W. Douglas Laboratory and has received research grants from the National Science Foundation, the U.S. Air Force, NASA, the National Institutes of Health, National Severe Storms Laboratory and the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. During 1975-76, he served as White House Fellow and Special Assistant to the Secretary of Transportation.

Jischke was the first president of the Council of the Big 12 Conference Chief Executive Officers. He is a member of the board of the directors and 1997-98 chair of the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, a member of the Kellogg Commission on the Future of State and Land-Grant Universities, and a member of the board of directors of the American Council on Education. Jischke is a fellow of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics and the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and, in 1993, he received the Centennial Medallion from the American Society of Engineering Education.

1997 CYCLONE FOOTBALL

Gene Smith

Athletic Director

Promising to make Iowa State "one of the premier athletic programs in the nation," Gene Smith began his tenure as Iowa State's 12th athletic director on July 1, 1993.

In his fifth year in Ames, Smith has already made good on that commitment. The past president of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) has left an indelible mark at Iowa State, engineering unprecedented financial and competitive performance that has prepared the Cyclone athletic department for entry into the Big 12 Conference and the 21st century.

Through his first four years at Iowa State, Smith has:

- Led a successful $12 million drive to finance construction of a new 60,000-square-foot, state-of-the-art athletic office and training facility, the largest capital fund-raising campaign ever undertaken by the Iowa State Athletic Department. An all-natural grass surface, costing over $3 million, was in place for the Cyclones' 1996 season opener against Wyoming.

- Conceptualized the $6.1 million three-story press tower at Jack Trice Stadium with skybox suites, which was completed in August. Funding for the press tower came from "Campaign Destiny: To Become the Best," a $300 million university-wide capital campaign that includes the construction of new football practice fields.

- Overseen a successful $900,000 project to construct new offices and meeting rooms at Hilton Coliseum for the ISU men's and women's basketball programs. Further capital improvement included the construction of a soccer field, new press boxes for baseball and softball, and a new cross country course.

- Increased academic student support that resulted in a higher 1997 six-year graduation rate for student-athletes than the general ISU student population. More than 175 student-athletes earned recognition on the 1996-97 Big 12 academic honor roll. Iowa State's graduation rate was the highest in the Big 12 Conference for the second year in a row.

- Laid the foundation for a broad-based athletic program into the next century through a $5 million scholarship fund drive as part of the ISU Foundation's $26 million Presidential Scholarship Campaign.

- Hired the energetic Dan McCarney to take over the Iowa State football program, producing the largest attendance increase in the Big 12 Conference. Student season-ticket sales doubled. All-American running back Troy Davis was a Heisman Trophy finalist in McCarney's first season and the runner-up in 1997.

- Sparked a competitive environment that produced ISU NCAA Tournament team appearances in men's and women's basketball, volleyball, men's and women's cross country and men's and women's golf. The 1997 men's indoor track and wrestling teams finished third and fourth nationally, respectively. The 1997 men's golf squad placed third in the Big 12 Championship, earning a NCAA Regional berth.

The Notre Dame graduate was named president of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA). A member of the NCAA Executive Committee, he was named to the NCAA's Management Council in May of 1996.

Prior to his arrival in Ames, Smith served as athletic director at Eastern Michigan for seven years. Smith joined the EMU staff in 1983 as assistant athletic director for non-revenue sports. He was named interim executive athletic director in 1985 and was elevated to the position permanently on June 25, 1986.

A native of Cleveland, Ohio, Smith earned eight letters in football, basketball and track while attending Chandel High School and was the "Most Valuable Player" on the football squad as a senior. Smith, who was born Dec. 18, 1955, has three daughters: Nicole (18), Lindsey (14) and Summer (13). He was married to Sheila Strike Smith in September 1996. He serves on the board of the Ames Youth and Shelter Services, the Iowa Games and Norwest Bank.

"The planning and hard work to which we've dedicated ourselves is making a big difference. We want to have winning programs. We do it with integrity, with fiscal integrity and with a great deal of fire and desire."

Head Coach

Dan McCarney

"We will bring back respect, we're going to bring back winning, we're going to bring back fun, we are going to turn Jack Trice Stadium into one of the most exciting places to play in college football."

- Dan McCarney, Nov. 23, 1994

Iowa State head coach Dan McCarney has made good on that pledge in his first two seasons as the architect chosen to rebuild the Cyclone football program. His contagious intensity created new enthusiasm among Iowa State fans and players. McCarney's first two seasons at Iowa State are among the most memorable in school history. Before coming to Ames, the former defensive coordinator at Wisconsin played a major role in two of the most dramatic football turnarounds in Big Ten Conference history. In his two years as Iowa State's head coach, his Cyclones put themselves on the national football map by:

- Breaking a slew of offensive school records as 1996 Heisman Trophy runner-up Troy Davis received unprecedented national attention. He was the first player to rush for more than 2,000 yards in more than one season. Davis led the nation in rushing and total yards both seasons. Iowa State averaged a school-record five yards per rush both years.

- Fueling a record attendance surge as fans across Iowa jumped on the Cyclone bandwagon. Student season ticket sales have more than doubled over the same period. Four games were sellouts (43,000) last season.

In addition, last season:

- Iowa State recorded back-to-back wins for the first time in seven years.
- The 1996 season included wins over Missouri and NCAA Division 1-AA semifinalist Northern Iowa. Iowa State suffered a narrow defeat against a 10-2 Wyoming team (41-38 in overtime). The Cyclones had the ball, attempting to secure the go-ahead score late in the fourth quarter at seventh-rated Colorado, before falling 49-42.

McCarney's staff has brought a trio of Big 12-caliber recruiting classes to Ames as Iowa State prepares for its second fall as a member of the Big 12 Conference -- the nation's premier collegiate football league. Since McCarney's arrival, the Cyclones have moved into their new home, the Richard O. Jacobson Athletic Building -- adjacent to Jack Trice Stadium. An all-natural grass field was laid before last season. Jack Trice Stadium features a new press box and individual luxury suites this fall, underscoring the Iowa State administration's commitment to McCarney's vision for making the ISU program a blueprint for success.

Anyone who has watched McCarney's rise in the coaching ranks would not be surprised by the effort of his national caliber coaching staff. A native of Iowa City, McCarney was instrumental in rebuilding efforts that produced Big Ten titles and Rose Bowl berths at both Iowa and Wisconsin, two schools that regularly finished near the bottom of the league before his arrival.

McCarney, 44, coached at Iowa for 13 seasons (1977-89), including a decade at Iowa, before becoming the defensive coordinator at Wisconsin.

A 1975 graduate of Iowa, McCarney coached the Hawkeyes in eight consecutive bowl games, including the 1982 and 1985 Rose Bowls. A three-year letterman in the offensive line for Iowa (1972-74), he was the captain of the 1974 Hawkeye squad.

"Dan is respected by his players and his coaching peers, and he was highly recommended by everyone I talked to. Our success underscores our conviction that he was the perfect man for the job."

Faculty and Staff Guest Program

Some Iowa State professors are learning what it takes to be a Cyclone football player.

The Faculty and Staff Guest Program allows ISU faculty and staff to experience "a day in the life of a student-athlete."

The two-year-old program is coordinated through student-athlete services and is intended to educate faculty and staff at ISU about the unique needs of student-athletes — especially the time demands both academically and athletically.

"The purpose is to show faculty and staff what a typical day is for our student-athletes so they leave with more information, understanding and respect for the demands on student-athletes," said Steve McDonnell, assistant athletic director for student-athlete services.

Through the guest program, faculty and staff are invited to watch practice sessions, eat at a team training table, meet with the coaches and attend a game.

Junior wide receiver Mike Brantley of Long Island, N.Y., said the program "helps a lot."

"The teachers gain insight on the position we are in," said Brantley. "They understand our schedules more and know how hard it is to go to class and practice everyday on top of having games."

According to Ed Banach, student-athlete counselor, the program is geared toward faculty and staff who are new to campus or work with student-athletes.

John Eighmey, journalism and mass communications department chair, participated in the program and said it is "tremendously impressive."

"I was really quite taken with how well managed the entire operation is and the quality of the people involved — the students and all of the staff," said Eighmey. "It was tremendously impressive to see the entire Jacobson Building turned into a study hall at night. You really see the dedication to academic achievement."

Wally Niebauer, associate professor in journalism and mass communications, was very impressed with the overall program and called it "a real eye opener."

"People on campus who think these athletes are getting a free education have no idea," said Niebauer. "They indeed earn their education and there's nothing free about it."

Currently, the program features only football. The office of student-athlete services intends to expand the program to include volleyball, women's basketball and wrestling in the future.

Faculty and staff interested in participating in the program should call Banach at 294-6761, e-mail him at ebanach@iastate.edu or mail him at 202 Beyer Hall, Ames, Iowa 50011.

Exciting things are happening at Iowa State!

On the football field!

Quarterback Todd Bandhauer is one of 15 Cyclone football players who major in engineering. The College of Engineering is proud to support the Iowa State Cyclones! Excellence in the classroom and on the field go hand-in-hand to create the exciting world in which we learn, work, and play. A competitive team with a winning attitude brings success on the field, in the classroom, and in the workplace.

In the marching band!

One out of three marching band members is an Iowa State engineering student, indicating once again that the talents and energy of engineering students are second to none. And they have a good time working together to improve our lives through technology or through music!

In engineering!

On September 20, Iowa Staters celebrate the groundbreaking of Stanley and Helen Howe Hall, Phase 1 of the Engineering Teaching and Research Complex. 158,000 net square feet in two buildings devoted to creating engineering learning excellence. High-tech classrooms...labs for emerging technology research...multimedia auditoriums and lecture halls...telecommunications links for expanded outreach and distance learning...conference centers... All made possible through the generous support of engineering alumni and friends, industrial partners, and the State of Iowa. The ETRC will enable Iowa State students to be the best educated and the most employable and productive engineers in the workplace...and indeed the world.

Creating engineering learning excellence

The Big 12

The Big 12 Conference - Second to None

The formation of the Big 12 represents an undertaking by school chief executive officers to combine resources to achieve even higher levels of performance heading into the 21st century.

National Exposure -

The Big 12 Conference has one of the most comprehensive regional and national TV contracts in America. On any given Saturday, three Big 12 games are being shown to national audiences.

- ABC and Fox Sports Network combine to produce nearly 40 football games annually in syndicated regional, national and prime time windows. In all, the packages with ABC, Fox Sports Network and ESPN guarantee the Big 12 the finest intercollegiate coverage through the year 2000 (2003 with ABC for football television).

Competition -

- Seven Big 12 schools were in The Associated Press top 25 poll at least once throughout the 1996 campaign.
- Big 12 schools had a composite 1996 bowl record of 4-2, outscoring opponents cumulatively 292-170.
- Big 12 teams have accounted for more than 30 NCAA team championships and 15 wire service football titles, while its student-athletes have claimed more than 750 NCAA crowns entering the 1997-98 academic year.
- The Big 12 was the only conference with two teams participating in major Bowl Alliance games (Fiesta, Orange and Sugar). The Big 12 also has five other bowl agreements with the Southwestern Bell Cotton Bowl Classic, Plymouth Holiday Bowl, Builders Square Alamo Bowl, Jeep Eagle Aloha Bowl and Copper Bowl.

Broad-based Commitment to Excellence -

- On the basketball court, the Big 12 is a national powerhouse. In its inaugural season, the Big 12 sent champion Kansas and four other teams to the men's tournament, while women's champion Colorado and five other teams qualified for the women's championship.
- In all, the Big 12 is home to more than 1,500 student-athletes on 209 teams in the 21 men's and women's Big 12-sponsored sports. Men's programs regulated by the league include baseball, basketball, cross country, football, golf, indoor track and field, outdoor track and field, swimming, tennis and wrestling. Big 12 sponsored women's programs include basketball, cross country, golf, gymnastics, indoor track and field, outdoor track and field, soccer, softball, swimming, tennis and volleyball.
- The Big 12 adopted Special Olympics as its primary philanthropy.
- The Big 12 is developing the Life Skills Program and Academic Services, which seeks to enhance the "total person" concept both on and off the field. Programs such as the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee, Special Olympics and the NCAA's heralded YES program of clinics and stay-in-school messages to youngsters are just a few of the life skills areas promoted by the Big 12. Student-athletes play an active role in community endeavors such as hospital visits, youth school programs, enhance/eligibility information and anti-violence campaigns, all promoted through public service announcements aired during Big 12 contests.
