Nebraska's Mighty Fortress of Football—Producer of Seven Big Six Champions—Are Headed for Another Great Season Under Biff Jones

By John Rohlf

It was a decade ago that the six more prominent universities of the old Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Athletic Association broke away from the smaller member schools to form the so-called "Big Six Conference."

Since then, nine awards have been made for gridiron excellence—and, seven of them have gone to Nebraska's athletically minded Cornhuskers. The latest triumph of Nebraska was its startling 14 to 9 win over mighty Minnesota.

Despite the winning tradition of Nebraska's mighty fortress of football, impregnable to Big Six rivals as they have been—there seems to be an ominous question mark which only the completion of the nine-game 1937 schedule in a post-Thanksgiving battle with Kansas State will solve.

Gone from that proud and powerful 1936 Cornhusker lineup is the stalwart backfield trio, All-American Slingin' Sam Francis, Wild Hoss Cardwell and Ronnie Douglas.

Both Nebraska and Iowa State have new skippers at the helm of their pigskinnery sloops. Biff Jones graduated from West Point a score of years ago—coached in succession at his alma mater, Louisiana State and Oklahoma—then he moved to Huskerdom when Dana Xenophon Bible went Texasward.

Jim Yeager played 3 years of stellar football in Kansas State's forward wall prior to his graduation in 1931, inaugurated his coaching career with a rosy 5-year period at football-conscious Fort Hays Kansas State Teachers College, built a strong line for Iowa State last year and then moved up to head coach when George Veenker relinquished the head coach duties to devote full time to the athletic directorship.

Line Coach Link Lyman has an all-veteran Nebraska line which promises to be the most powerful in Cornhusker history. Coach Yeager could put lettermen in every line position, but several sophomores and 1936 reserves promise to oust their more experienced teammates.

The starting Husker line will focus upon and around Charlie Brock, who last year was picked by the football intelligensia to be the outstanding sophomore center in the country. At the ends will be an "already-eight letterman," Elmer Dohrman, and veteran Jack Rickardson. Two dreadnaughts, Shirley and Doyle, anchor the tackle posts, and English and Mehring will flank Brock at the guards. Veterans, all of them!

The center of the Cyclone line is big and fast

WELCOME NEBRASKA

We take great pleasure in welcoming to Iowa State College and to State Field one of the very best football squads in the nation. Nebraska, your Cornhusker teams have never played second fiddle to any team in the nation—Big Six Conference supporters are proud of that fact.

You brought a lot of prestige to our conference last week when you humbled the proud Minnesota Gophers. Of course, it makes it just that much tougher for the rest of us Big Six schools to dethrone you as loop football Champs—a feat that the five schools combined have done only twice in the 9-year history of the conference.

We admire the loyalty that the inhabitants of your fair state show for the University of Nebraska. This loyalty must be deserved. We saw an article in the Chicago Daily News recently written by Francis J. Powers, and liked it so well that we will pass it on to our fans:

"When the fodder's in the shock, the thoughts of every Nebraskan turns to football. So far as football is concerned, Nebraskans recognize only one team, the state university Cornhuskers.

"The state university, located in this city of 85,000, is the focal point of every citizen of Nebraska's domain. It is quite a university, boasting some 11,000 students and ranking among the 10 largest state schools in the country. The Huskers annually play the best teams, including Pittsburgh and Minnesota and its players are home grown.

"More than 90 percent of Nebraska's players come from within the confines of the state; most of them from the small towns and wide spots in the road."

Iowa State thinks a lot of your new coach and athletic director, Major "Biff" Jones. We got acquainted with him when he was down at Oklahoma. He has a big pair of shoes to fill—Dana X Bible's—but it looks as if he is doing it, and very capably.

We've only beaten your football teams four times in 42 years—not once since 1919—but we're still trying. We've come close many times and possibly this might be our year.

AROUND THE BIG SIX

A week ago at this time we had the 1937 Big Six conference football race all nicely doped out. Then, along came those stunning upsets that littered that grid calendar of last Saturday. Today the Big Six battle is surrounded by an aura of mystery which may partially clear away after the afternoon's schedule is complete.

Came Saturday, Oct. 2. The Mighty Minnesota Gophers, in the approved style, rolled over the Nebraska Huskers for a first quarter touchdown. But instead of another Gopher touchdown as most fans expected, next came seven points for the Huskers. The Gophers countered with a field goal, but the lead of the mighty men from Minneapolis was short lived. The Scarlet Big Six eleven scored again and won 14 to 9.

All doubts as to the strength of those 1937 successors to the seven previous Big Six championship Nebraska teams were wiped away with one stroke.

Meanwhile out in Boulder, Colo., Rocky Mountain football fans watched a not too highly respected University of Colorado eleven squeal the title-seeking Missouri Tigers. The Tigers, whom all of us expected to be stronger than the 1936 second place Missouri team, came out on the short end of a 14 to 6 count.

To top it off, Oklahoma made an about face and surprised the football forces of Rice Institute. A week earlier the Sooners had lost by a two touchdown margin to Tulsa of the Missouri Valley loop. Unleashing a brilliant passing attack the green Sooners scored a 6 to 0 victory over the Texans.

Kansas State's inexperienced eleven showed the lack of strength that Big Six fans expected it to. The Wildcats lost a 21 to 7 battle to little Boston College in the East.

New Faces of 1937

"New Faces of 1937"—Jim Yeager, last year's line coach, now handling the head coaching duties; LeRoy Timm, promoted from trainer to backfield coach and baseball mentor; Beryl S. Taylor, an Illinois alumni, succeeding Timm as trainer; Harry Schmidt recalled to the varsity squad as line coach; Clarence Gustine, 1936 Cyclone captain, brought back to coach the ends and assist with the freshman squad—Yes, changes in the Cyclone football coaching staff are the rule, not the exception this fall.

Optimistic, young Jim Yeager—at 28 the youngest head football coach in the Big Six conference—has taken over the reins at Iowa State. After the completion of the 1936 grid season, George Veenker, Cyclone athletic director who had also served as head grid mentor for six seasons, promoted Yeager, a 1931 Kansas State graduate, obtained from Fort Hays, at Hays, Kansas, as Cyclone line coach a year ago, to the top position on the grid staff.

Yeager won the Kansas State football "K" three times while playing every position in the line for the Wildcats under "Bo" McMillin. After his 1931 graduation the new Cyclone tutor went directly to the Teachers College in Hays, Kansas, where after serving a 4-year apprenticeship as assistant football coach, he was boosted to head coach in 1935. In this, his only season prior to this one as head mentor, his eleven won all but one of its ten games, one of the victories a 3 to 0 win over alma mater Kansas State. Yeager received his master's degree in physical education at the University of Iowa.

Pardon us for editorializing, but we feel that Yeager is admirably suited for his present position. He has the vision and optimism of his youth, yet his knowledge of football technique is remarkable. Faced with the task of molding a strong Big Six contender—which on off week ends must take on Northwestern, Marquette, Drake and State Teachers—Yeager's dynamic personality, his earnestness and his optimism are making an impression on his Cyclone charges. They are playing this game of football because they like it. Jim Yeager makes the game that way for them.

LeRoy Timm—Cap to the students—a football and baseball star in his undergraduate days at the University of Minnesota, joined the Cyclone coaching staff in 1934 as trainer. He assisted with the coaching of the backfield, however, prior to the current season when he was appointed coach of the varsity backfield, freshman basketball and varsity baseball to succeed Joe Truskowski, who accepted a position on the staff at Wayne University in Detroit, Mich.

The latest addition to the Cyclone staff is Beryl Taylor who succeeds Timm as trainer. Taylor, personable young chap, is a graduate of the University of Illinois at which school he also holds his master's degree. For the past 3 years he has been athletic director at Bolles Military Academy in Florida.

Harry Schmidt, a member of the Cyclone staff as intramural director and assistant to the director of athletics for the past 10 years, had not assisted with the varsity squad for several years up to this fall. Now that Veenker is able to devote more time to the administrative duties of the department, Schmidt has found time to coach the Cyclone forward wall.

The Thirty-Second Game

Colorful Cyclone-Cornhusker Grid Series Harks Back to 1896

The big game of the year for the Iowa State College football team—the annual Big Six battle with the University of Nebraska—will be played on State Field here in Ames this afternoon.

Today's is the thirty-second renewal of the colorful Cyclone-Cornhusker grid series that harks back to 1896. A more ancient football rivalry would be indeed ancient.

Thirty-one times in the last 41 years have the Huskers and Cyclones fought it out on the grid-iron. Twenty-six times Nebraska's flaming scarlet has flown from the victory pedestal. Four times Iowa State's fighting forces turned the tide. One game ended in a tie.

Not since 1919 have the Cyclones whipped the Cornhuskers. That mighty Iowa State eleven of 17 years ago blanked their Husker rivals, 3 to 0. Bill Davis dropkicked a 35-yard field goal late in the first half to give Iowa State its last Cornhusker victory.

Earlier Cyclone wins over Nebraska were scored in 1897, 1899 and 1906.

The long series started at Lincoln in 1896 and the Scarlet won, 12-4, in a game which featured Thorpe's kicking and Wiggin's two touchdowns. Iowa State came back in 1897 to even the count with a 10 to 0 victory. The games of '98 and '99 served to keep the scales balanced as Nebraska won 23 to 10 in the former year and Iowa State triumphed just before the turn of the century, 33 to 0—the only crushing victory ever administered by the Cyclones to the Huskers.

Nebraska took revenge in 1900 by trouncing the Cyclones, 30 to 0, before a crowd so small that the management threatened to take the next game to Omaha. The Huskers won 17 to 0 in the mud in 1901. The series was broken until 1905 when Nebraska won 21-0 in the rain. McElhinney, Iowa State end, was the hero as the Cyclones won 14 to 2 in 1906.

Followed a 13-year period in which Iowa State was unable to score a victory. In 1907 the Scarlet barely edged ahead, 10 to 9. The Cyclones led this scrap until late in the last half when John Weller of Nebraska booted a 55-yard kick from placement squarely between the uprights for the winning margin. This kick, made in the face of a howling gale, has been referred to by many writers as the most phenomenal in history. Cooke ran 50 yards for the touchdown which gave Nebraska a 23 to 17 victory at Dietz Park in Omaha the following year. Burge booted two placekicks to enable Iowa State to gain a 6-6 tie in 1911.

The Cyclones scored nine points in the first quarter but were defeated 18 to 9 at Ames in 1913; and Dick Halligan was the hero when the Huskers scored twice in the last period to beat Iowa State 20 to 7 in 1914.

Field goals figured in the games from 1916 to 1921. Corey's placekick gave Nebraska a 3-0 victory in 1916, while Bill Davis' dropkick gave Iowa State its last win. The Huskers won 35-3 at Ames in 1921 but Lingenfelter's 35-yard placekick was the only score made on Nebraska by a Valley team that season.

It was a light but fighting Cyclone eleven that won Iowa State's last victory in 1919, blanking their bulkier opponents. The Iowa State boys outplayed the Huskers throughout the first half but failed to reach their objective until near the close of the second quarter. Despairing of reaching the goal line by lugging the ball, Bill Davis of Iowa State dropped back and sent a dropkick directly over the cross bar.

Not to be denied their well-earned victory the Cyclones fought like demons the last half and staved off several scoring threats by the Huskers. The Cyclone record in that momentous 1919 season was five victories, two defeats and a tie. Among the winners of the Ames "A" that season were Jack Currie, left half; Marshall Boyd, quarterback; Art Hinderman, full back; Bill Davis, right half; John Webb and Adam Neal, ends; Gilbert Denfield and Leland Zink, tackles; Dick Barker and Harry Young, guards, and Lawrence Hadley, center.

Over the 17-year period following this glorious Cyclone victory, Nebraska has completely dominated things. The Cornhuskers have won each of the last 14 games with the Cyclones. Many of these games have been close, but victory over Nebraska has been only something that Iowa State men have dreamed about.

Today's Two-Mile Team Race

Two evenly matched teams of distance runners representing Iowa State and Nebraska will race over a distance of 2 miles on the cinder track on State Field at 1:45 this afternoon.

The Cyclone and Cornhusker harriers will be inaugurating their fall track seasons this afternoon. What was formerly the cross country is now carried on in the Big Six conference as the 2-mile team race.

Each competing team is entitled to five entrants in the race, running eight laps on the quarter mile cinder track. All ten runners score the same number of points as their finishing place—first scores ten points; second, nine; third, eight, etc. The team scoring the highest number of points is the winner of the meet.

Four of the best 2-milers in the Big Six conference last year are competing in today's race between Huskers and Cyclones. Wilson Andrews, stocky little Nebraska senior, was co-champion in the indoor and outdoor Big Six mile run last season. John Brownlee, his teammate, was second in the loop 2-mile run in the outdoor meet last spring.

The Cyclone stars are Capt. Ken Fulk, third place winner in the indoor Big Six meet last winter, and Jake Stimson, sixth place Big Six

2-miler last spring. Although Fulk has bettered 10 minutes consistently over the 2-mile route during the past 2 years, Stimson has been beating him consistently this fall.

Other entries for Coach Henry Shulte of Nebraska are Alfred Kuper and Paul Owen, track lettermen, and sophomore Fred Koch. Coach George Brettnall will pick his other three entries from veterans Harris Stafford, Roger Bailey and Elton Wells, and sophomore Ralph Grange.

Nebraska Upsets Minnesota; Northwestern Overpowers Cyclones

The Nation's Press Comments on Last Week's Games of Today's Opponents

AIR YIELDS GLORY (Kansas City Star)

The budding football season burst into full bloom before 35,000 popeyed patrons here this afternoon in a game so amazing that the 14 to 9 victory of Nebraska over Minnesota will hold its own through the season as one of the major upsets.

UPSET ROCKS GRID WORLD (Chares Dunkley, Associated Press)

Minnesota's dream of marching to its fourth successive mythical national gridiron championship exploded in an upset Saturday that rocked the gridiron world.

In sunbaked Memorial Stadium, before a sell-out crowd of 36,000 frenzied spectators, Nebraska conquered the mighty Gophers, hitherto defeated only once in 3 years, 14 to 9.

The result left the spectators, sweltering in mid-summer heat, stunned and bewildered as they watched Minnesota ground into defeat, after losing only one in its 33-game gridiron parade that started in 1932. The only blot on Minnesota's record was Northwestern's triumph in the mud and rain last year.

Minnesota made more first downs, gained more yards, attempted and completed more passes, and yet was able to score only nine points, chiefly because the Huskers played an astonishing defensive game with a line of seven veterans charging and blocking brilliantly.

HUSKERS UPSET GOPHERS (Chicago Sunday Times)

Minnesota's grid avalanche rolled out of the north and was melted into dying embers by a smoking band of Cornhuskers here today.

Nebraska smeared the Gophers, 14-9, recording the nation's first major football upset of the new season.

Unleashing an aerial bombardment in the final moments for the winning touchdown, the Huskers rose to the occasion and crushed through twice to take advantage of scoring opportunities, although they were outplayed in every department of football.

HUSKERS TAKE THRILLER (Francis J. Powers, Chicago Daily News)

In one of the most tremendous upsets football has known in several seasons, University of Nebraska defeated the highly touted Minnesota Gophers 14 to 9 before 37,000 people here today.

HUSKER LINE REPELS GOPHER RAIDS (Sec Taylor, Des Moines Register)

Nebraska opened the 1937 football season here Saturday with an upset that shook the football firmament from coast to coast.

It scored two touchdowns, one through Minnesota's highly touted line, to attain a well-earned 14 to 9 victory over the Gophers—the first Cornhusker triumph over a Minnesota eleven in six games since 1913. A contest in 1913 was a 6 to 6 tie, however.

THE KING TRIPS (Wilfrid Smith, Chicago Tribune)

Minnesota's Golden Gophers, cumbersome and lethargic in their running attack and helpless in the air after a first touchdown parade, stumbled to defeat today before a fighting Nebraska eleven.

Thirty-six thousand jammed Memorial stadium. No Nebraska eleven in recent years had whipped the mighty men from the north. And these thousands had no premonition that today's result would be different from the pattern of other contests.

NORTHWESTERN CRUSHES IOWA STATE (Gordon Gammack, Des Moines Register)

Flashing a world of power which more than offset an impotent passing attack and a heavy wave of penalties, Northwestern's Wildcats crushed Iowa State, 33 to 0, here Saturday before a crowd of 35,000.

Northwestern had its heroes, Flashy Don Heap . . . Bernie Jefferson, Negro star . . . Bob Swisher, Heap's understudy . . . But there wasn't a classier player on the field than Everett Kischer, the 150-pound Iowa State quarterback. In Saturday's game he was Iowa State, and the roaring ovation the crowd gave him when he trotted off the field a moment before the final gun was convincing proof of that.

Intercepting four Northwestern passes, he bottled up the Wildcat air attack almost single handed. His own passing, while rushed constantly by opposition forwards, was accurate and flashy, and most of his kicks were godd, well placed boots.

(Chicago Daily News)

Iowa State centered their threats in the all-round and really brilliant ability of Everett Kischer, a rugged, fast-moving quarterback.

(Chicago Tribune)

Iowa State could make little progress on running plays, but had a constant threat in the passing of Everett Kischer, 150-pound junior quarterback. Kischer, who did the passing, kicking and most of the running, completed four passes, several of which started Cyclone drives.

and can dish out punishment in a manner ala-mode to any Big Six rival. The ends are veterans of two campaigns, Rushmore and Dishinger. Guards Ed Bock and Captain Dee are probably as formidable as any pair in the conference. (Chicagoans raved about them last week.) And Tackles Paul Morin and Howard Buck, sophomore huskies, and Clyde Shugart, junior, shifted from halfback, can hold their own with the best. John Anderson, two letter man, and sophomore Jack West are sharing the center post.

Now for a bit of backfield resume . . . Around Johnny Howell, the only 1936 regular again in the fold, the "Biffer" plans to use Jack Dodd and Harris Andrews, reserve lettermen, at the halves, and junior Bill Callasan at the fullback spot—a speedy quartet which may go places behind the experienced line.

Backfield coach "Cap" Timm has Everett Kischer, a triple-threat man and the best passer in the Valley who has added punting to his repertoire—at quarterback; Al Waite, a hard driving, vicious tackling two letterman, and Chuck Heileman, a rangy, 195-pound converted end who is one of the most effective pass-receivers in this section; and "Bronco" Reupke, a junior letterman who backs the line—averaged 5 yards per try against Nebraska last year—at full. Little Bill Lechtenberg and Hank Wilder are pushing him hard.

On this, the thirty-third gridiron meeting of the Cornhuskers and Cyclones, the matching of two powerful lines and two new backfield combinations leave only the prediction . . . the score before the referee toots the opening whistle will be 9-0. May the better team win.

IOWA STATE RELIES ON SEAL-O-SAN

IOWA STATE and more than 3500 other schools now have Seal-O-San finished gymnasium floors. For Seal-O-San is the one floor finish that can take the punishment inflicted by all gym activities and come through unharmed.

Especially for basketball is a Seal-O-San floor ideal. Because Seal-O-San makes any wood floor 100% non-slippery. By preventing skids and falls, it assures faster floor play, speedier dribbling, and more confident shooting.

But there are many other advantages of Seal-O-San. It provides a beautiful floor, yet it costs much less than other types of finish, because it is applied without skilled labor. It seals the floor against dirt and moisture, thus eliminating costly scrubbing. And it is easy and economical to maintain.

Seal-O-San offers the correct solution to the gymnasium floor problem. Coaches and school officials are invited to write for complete information.

HERBERT MARSHALL* TELLS HOW THE THROAT-STRAIN OF ACTING CALLS FOR A LIGHT SMOKE

"In a recent scene," says Herbert Marshall, "I talk two minutes on the telephone. This scene took half a day to 'shoot'—four hours of painstaking voice shading. But even after scenes like this, I find that Luckies are always gentle on my throat. It's only common sense for an actor—or anyone else, for that matter—to want a light smoke."

The reason that Mr. Marshall—and you—find Luckies a light smoke is that the "Toasting" process takes out certain throat irritants found in all tobacco—even the finest.

And Luckies do use the finest tobacco. Sworn records show that among independent tobacco experts—auctioneers, buyers, warehousemen, etc.—Lucky Strike has twice as many exclusive smokers as have all other cigarettes combined.

In the impartial, honest judgment of those who spend their lives buying, selling and handling tobacco... who know tobacco best... it's Luckies—2 to 1.
