Iowa State University

Campus Life

Since it opened in 1869 as Iowa's land-grant university, Iowa State University has worked to bring educational, economic, social and cultural progress to our state, nation and world.

Today, Iowa State is a broad-based university of international stature, whose more than 25,000 students come from all 50 states and more than 120 other nations, and include more National Merit Scholars than all but five other public universities in the nation. Students can choose from among more than 200 programs of study leading to baccalaureate degrees in the colleges of Agriculture, Business, Design, Education, Engineering, Family and Consumer Sciences and Liberal Arts and Sciences, including many ranked among the top 10 nationally.

The College of Veterinary Medicine offers the Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degree and graduate students can choose from among 200 fields of study leading to master's, doctor of philosophy and specialist degrees.

With more than 10,000 computer workstations, Iowa State has one of the most extensive campus computing systems in the nation and is one of Yahoo!Internet Life magazine's top 100 "Wired Universities." In addition, Iowa State is significantly expanding the number of opportunities students have to study and live abroad as part of their academic programs.

Students who come to Iowa State also discover a university community that is both supportive and filled with opportunities, so much so that Iowa State was one of 14 colleges and universities included in a recent national study of factors contributing to a high quality of student life.

The Greek system is nationally recognized, as is the residence hall system, which is organized into a series of individual-named, self-governing "houses," providing students with a more autonomous and personalized living setting. The lectures program has won national awards, and Iowa State offers nearly 500 clubs and organizations for students to pursue interests and develop leadership skills. An extensive intramural program boasts one of the highest participation rates in the nation, offering all popular sports and such unique activities as innertube water basketball, broomball and mud volleyball.

Student facilities are among the best at any university. The three-level, 220,000 square foot Lied Recreation Facility includes 20 basketball courts, nine racquetball courts, a 300-meter ground-level track, an elevated jogging track, and extensive weight and aerobics facilities. In 1997, Iowa State opened a new Student Health Center to provide improved and expanded medical and rehabilitation services, nutrition and wellness programs, and health education for its students. Construction is underway on a new indoor ice arena, a cooperative effort between the city of Ames and Iowa State University to support the rapid growth of recreational and competitive ice skating.

Iowa State's park-like central campus is recognized as one of the most beautiful in the nation. It includes nearly 125 major buildings and structures, from beautifully restored historic landmarks to striking examples of modern architecture; hundreds of interior and exterior art works, including the largest Grant Wood murals and the nation's largest public collection of Christian Petersen sculptures; and the recently renovated Lake LaVerne, with its resident trumpeter swans.

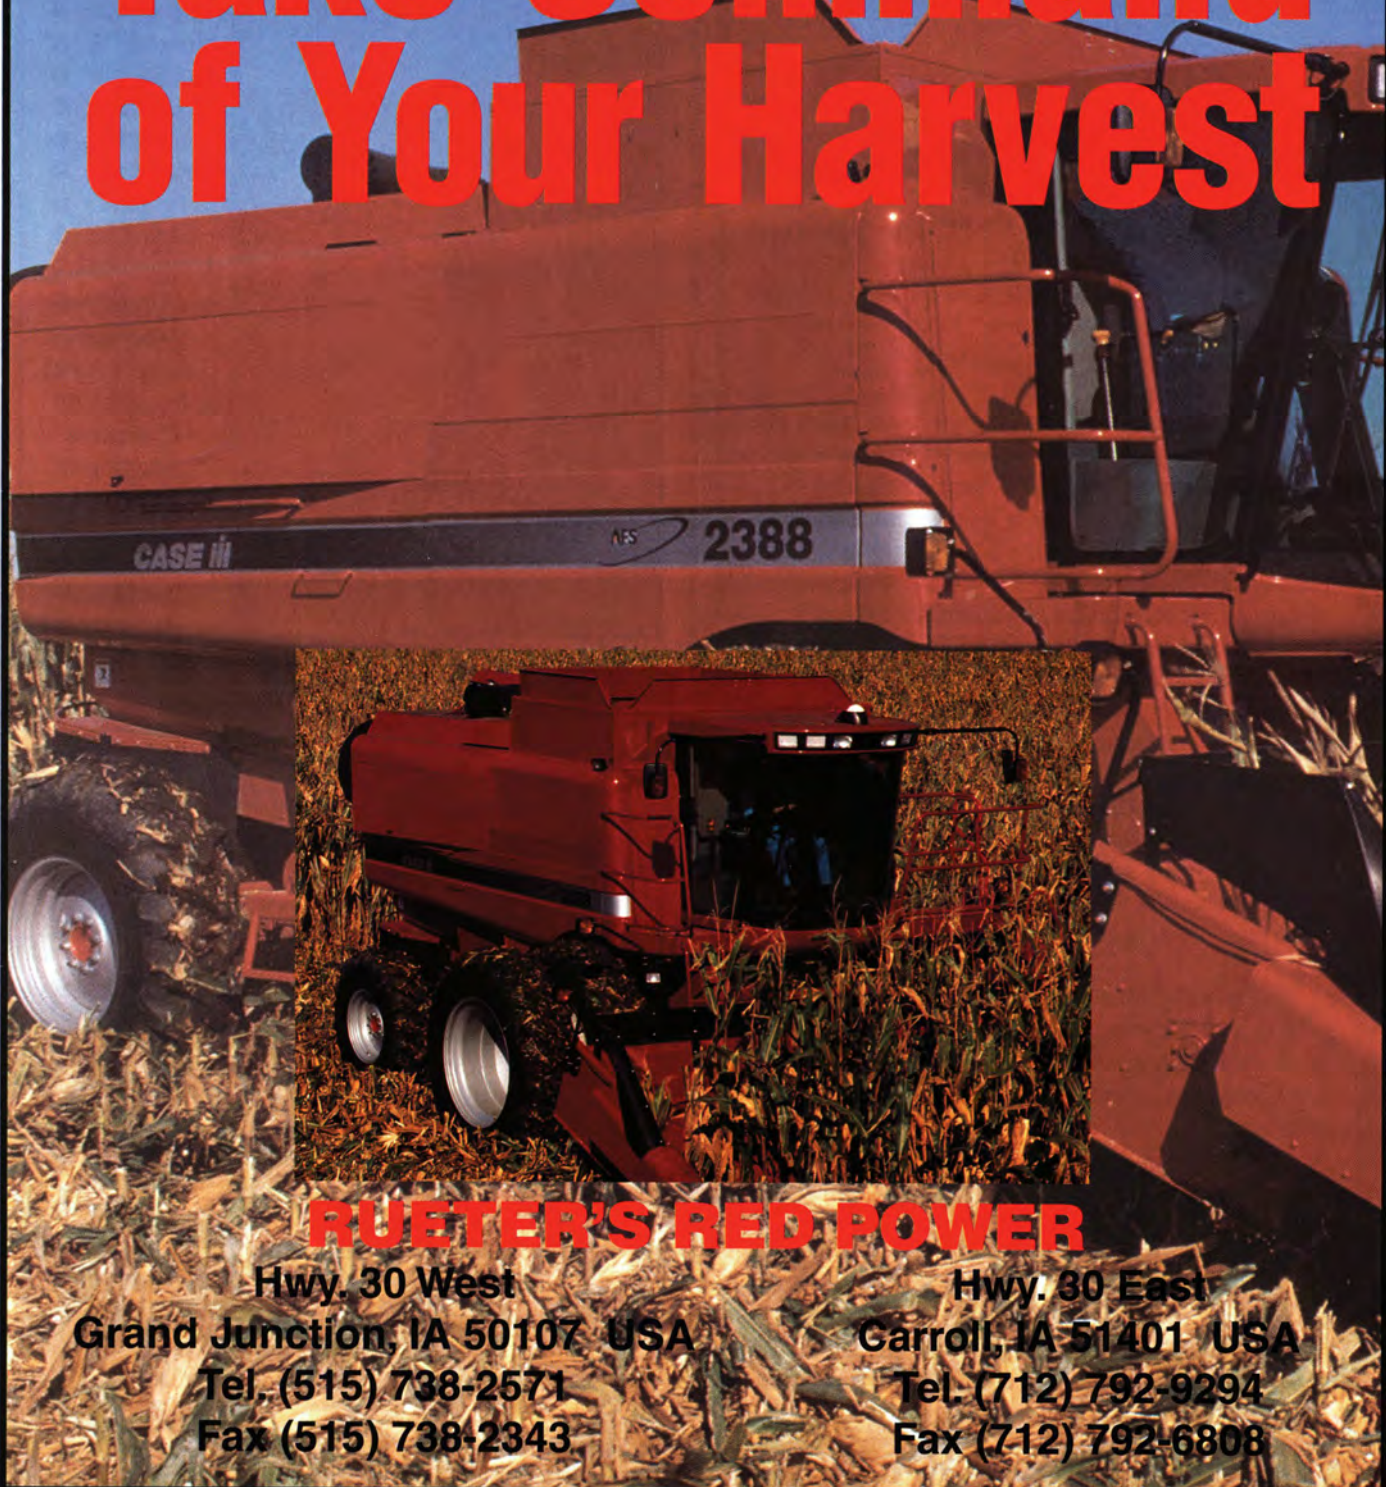

Iowa State's South Campus, where much of the university's recent expansion has occurred, includes the College of Veterinary Medicine, Jack Trice Stadium, the Reiman Gardens, the ISU Research Park, and the Iowa State Center, a four-building entertainment and continuing education complex that attracts some of the top names in popular and classical music, national theater productions, and international art exhibitions.

"Iowa State University offers all the advantages of a major university along with the friendliness and warmth of a residential campus. Iowa State's students are exceptional academically, diverse racially and culturally, and active socially."

Today's Matchup

Cyclones vs. Jayhawks

Today's face-off between Kansas and Iowa State marks the final game for both schools. ISU could claim its first Big 12 Conference victory this afternoon, while a KU win would match last season's overall 5-6 record.

The Cyclones fell at Colorado last Saturday, 37-8. Kansas is coming off its 10th consecutive non-conference home victory Nov. 7 against North Texas, 24-14.

The Jayhawks have won the last seven meetings against the Cyclones, which marks the longest winning streak of either team in the series. ISU's last win over KU came in 1989 when cornerback Marcus Robertson forced a turnover and saved a touchdown as the Cyclones used a second-quarter comeback.

The contest marks the last time 13 Iowa State seniors, including quarterback Todd Bandhauer, will suit up for the cardinal and gold. Bandhauer's 93 passing yards last week gives him 5,068 career passing yards, ranking him second on the all-time ISU list. He joins all-time leader Alex Espinoza as the only Iowa State passers to exceed 5,000 career aerial yards.

The Crystal River, Fla., native is the Cyclones' all-time leader with 39 career touchdown passes. Bandhauer's 2,040 passing yards this season makes him the first quarterback in ISU history to throw for more than 2,000 yards in a pair of seasons. He had 2,514 yards passing last season, the No. 2 all-time ISU single-season high. Bandhauer has 2,021 yards of total offense this season and joins former Cyclone Troy Davis as the only two players in ISU history to exceed 2,000 yards of total offense in a single season.

Junior tailback Darren Davis enters ISU's final game with a chance to become just the ninth back in Cyclone history to register 1,000 yards in a season. He needs only 18 yards to reach the plateau for the second-straight season. Davis also has 3,216 career all-purpose yards, ranking him fourth on the all-time list.

Wide receiver Damien Groce had five receptions last week to give him 44 catches this season. He ranks ninth on the all-time ISU list ahead of Jim Doran (1950). Ed Williams (1995) and Steve Lester (1989) are tied for eighth place with 46 receptions.

ISU's offensive line has given up far fewer sacks than just one year ago. Last season, the Cyclones allowed opponents to sack Bandhauer 46 times. This season, the ISU front has allowed only seven hits on "Bandy."

Cyclone junior transfer Jeff Waters has collected 86 tackles this season, including 51 solo stops. Senior Chin Achebe is right behind Waters with 85 total stops, including 43 unassisted tackles. James Reed and Jesse Beckom have 80 and 73 tackles, respectively. Reed has registered 53 solo stops, while Beckom has chalked up 55.

ISU senior placekicker Jamie Kohl has hit 6-of-12 field goals, including two beyond 40 yards. The Waukesha, Wis., native's longest boot this season is 48 yards.

Senior defensive lineman Chin Achebe ranks second on the team with 85 total tackles. The native of Steubenville, Ohio, chalked up a tackle-for-loss of 22 yards last week at Colorado.

Cyclone punter Carl Gomez is averaging 39.9 yards on 53 punts. The sophomore launched a 72-yarder earlier this season.

Sophomore KU quarterback Jay Alexander moved into a starting role after an injury to junior Zac Wegner during the Kansas State game. Alexander has played in only four games this season, but saw extensive action off the bench against Colorado and Kansas State. He is one of six sophomores scheduled to start on offense today.

Jayhawk sophomore David Winbush enters the final 1998 contest with a chance to become just the 11th back in KU history to record a 1,000-yard single season. He needs 124 yards to reach the mark.

A trio of freshmen, Harrison Hill, Byron Gasaway and Henri Childs, along with sophomore Termaine Fulton, have combined for 62 receptions for 962 yards and six touchdowns for the Jayhawks. Hill leads the team with 23 receptions for 306 yards. Fulton is second with 21 catches.

The KU offensive line is giving up fewer sacks than it did last season. The Jayhawk front has yielded just 21 sacks for 131 yards in losses. Last season, opponents notched 32 sacks for 271 yards.

For the second consecutive season and only the fifth time since 1965, a safety is the leading tackler on the Jayhawk defensive unit. Senior strong safety Michael Allen has 102 total tackles. Allen led the Big 12 Conference in total tackles prior to last weekend's games.

KU placekicker Joe Garcia has connected on 10-of-14 field goal attempts this season. He ranks first on the team in scoring with 55 points.

Dr. Martin C. Jischke

Iowa State President

"(We) have a president who communicates publicly, who communicates internally with faculty and staff that intercollegiate athletics is an important part of the mission of Iowa State University. Dr. Jischke has been supportive of every single move we have made. He has been a leader in the formation of the Big 12 Conference. You have to have your leader back you up and that is why it is so important to have him here."

-Gene Smith,
Iowa State
Athletic Director

Now in his eighth year as President of Iowa State University, Dr. Martin Jischke is leading Iowa State on a bold and ambitious quest to become the nation's best land-grant university. Under his leadership, Iowa State has made significant progress in improving its undergraduate programs; in expanding its research programs, particularly in agriculture, engineering, science and technology; and in meeting the needs of the people through outreach, continuing education, technology transfer and economic development programs.

Iowa State continues to break new ground in fulfilling its land-grant mission to the people of Iowa and in redefining the land-grant mission for the 21st century. For example:

- In 1993, Iowa State was designated a "Research I" university by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, the top designation for a research and graduate education university in the nation.

- Established in 1995, the Hixson Opportunity Awards Program, funded entirely by private gifts, has made it possible for 100 Iowa young people each year to attend Iowa State. These are young people who otherwise would not be able to attend any college or university because of financial or personal difficulty.

- In 1997, Iowa State's freshman class included 110 National Merit Scholars, more than all but five other public universities in the nation.

Iowa State also continues to set new records in other areas. In 1996-97, sponsored funding totaled $90 million, and thanks to the five-year, $300 million "Campaign Destiny: To Become the Best," contributions from Iowa State's alumni and friends topped $100 million for the first time ever. Also in 1996-97, Iowa State researchers received three R&D 100 Awards, presented annually to the top 100 technology applications in the nation. That was more than any other university in the nation that year, and brings Iowa State's total of these awards to 18, which is more than all but one other university in the nation. In 1996, Iowa State ranked third among all universities in the nation in licenses and options on its intellectual property and fifth in the number of patents issued.

Jischke, 55, came to ISU from the University of Missouri, Rolla, where he had served as chancellor for five years. He spent 17 years as a faculty member and administrator at the University of Oklahoma, serving as director of the School of Aerospace, Mechanical and Nuclear Engineering; Dean of the College of Engineering; and, in 1985, interim president.

A native of Chicago, Jischke earned the B.S. in physics, with honors, in 1963 from the Illinois Institute of Technology, an M.S. in 1964 and his Ph.D. in 1968 in aeronautics and astronautics from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is trained as a fluid dynamicist and has expertise in heat transfer, fluid mechanics, aerodynamics, and problems related to high-speed aircraft and spacecraft.

He has served research fellowships with NASA and the Donald W. Douglas Laboratory and has received research grants from the National Science Foundation, the U.S. Air Force, NASA, the National Institutes of Health, National Severe Storms Laboratory and the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. During 1975-76, he served as White House Fellow and Special Assistant to the Secretary of Transportation.

Jischke is the current chair of the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, the nation's oldest higher education association, and he is one of 24 university presidents serving on the Kellogg Commission on the future of State and Land-Grant Universities. In addition, he is a member of the board of directors of the American Council on Education and the National Merit Scholarship Corp., and a fellow of the American Institute of Astronautics and Aeronautics and the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He was the first president of the Council of Big 12 Conference Chief Executive Officers, and in 1993, he received the Centennial Medallion from the American Society of Engineering Education.

Gene Smith

Athletic Director

Promising to make Iowa State "one of the premier athletic programs in the nation," Gene Smith began his tenure as Iowa State's 12th athletic director on July 1, 1993. In his fifth year at ISU, he has already made good on that commitment. The past president of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) has left an indelible mark at Iowa State, engineering unprecedented financial and competitive performance that prepared the Cyclone athletic department for entry into the Big 12 Conference and the 21st century.

Through his first five years at Iowa State, Smith has:

- Led a successful $12 million drive to finance construction of a new 60,000-square-foot, state-of-the-art athletic office and training facility, the largest capital fund-raising campaign ever undertaken by the Iowa State Athletic Department. An all-natural grass surface was in place for the Cyclones' 1996 season opener against Wyoming.

- Conceptualized the $6.1 million three-story press tower at Jack Trice Stadium with skybox suites. Funding for the press tower came from "Campaign Destiny: To Become the Best," a $300 million capital campaign that includes the construction of new football practice fields.

- Overseen a successful $900,000 project to construct new offices and meeting rooms at Hilton Coliseum for the ISU men's and women's basketball programs. Further capital improvement included the construction of a soccer field and new press boxes for the baseball and softball fields and a new cross country course.

- Increased academic student support that resulted in a higher 1997 six-year graduation rate for student-athletes than the general ISU student population. More than 175 student-athletes earned recognition on the 1996-97 Big 12 academic honor roll. The department produced four academic All-Americans in the last school year. Smith laid the foundation for a broad-based athletic program into the next century through a $5 million scholarship fund drive as part of the ISU Foundation's $26 million Presidential Scholarship Campaign.

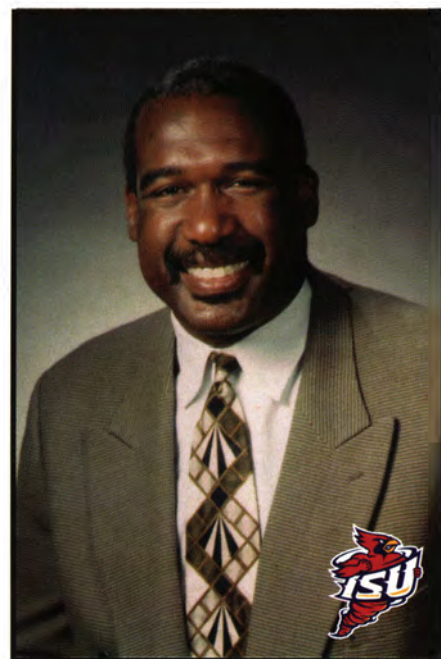

- Hired two of the nation's top young basketball coaches, Tim Floyd and Bill Fennelly, who produced immediate results. Smith also hired the energetic Dan McCarney to take over the Iowa State football program, producing the largest attendance increase in the Big 12 Conference. Student season-ticket sales doubled. All-American running back Troy Davis was a Heisman Trophy finalist in McCarney's first season and the runner-up in 1996.

- Sparked a competitive environment that produced ISU NCAA Tournament team appearances in men's and women's basketball, volleyball, men's and women's cross country and men's and women's golf. The 1997 men's indoor track and wrestling teams finished third and fourth nationally, respectively. The 1997 men's golf squad placed third in the Big 12 Championship, earning a NCAA Regional berth. The gymnastics team broke the school's scoring record and advanced to NCAA postseason action and the women's basketball team hosted the first and second rounds of the 1998 NCAA Tournament.

The 1977 Notre Dame graduate was named president of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA). Smith also serves on the NCAA President's Commission Liaison Committee. A member of the NCAA Executive Committee, he was named to the NCAA's Management Council in May of 1996.

Prior to his arrival in Ames, Smith served as athletic director at Eastern Michigan University for seven years. Smith joined the EMU staff in 1983 as assistant athletic director for non-revenue sports.

A native of Cleveland, Ohio, Smith earned eight letters in football, basketball and track while attending Chanel High School and was the "Most Valuable Player" on the football squad as a senior. Smith, who was born Dec. 18, 1955, has three daughters: Nicole (18), Lindsey (14) and Summer (13). He was married to Sheila Strike Smith in September 1996. Smith serves on the board of the Ames Youth and Shelter Services, the Iowa Games and Norwest Bank.

"The planning and hard work to which we've dedicated ourselves is making a big difference. We want to have winning programs. We do it with integrity, with fiscal integrity and with a great deal of fire and desire."

Head Coach

Dan McCarney

Iowa State head coach Dan McCarney has made good on his pledge of bringing back excitement to ISU football in his first three seasons as the architect chosen to rebuild the Cyclone football program. His contagious intensity created new enthusiasm among ISU fans and players. McCarney's first three seasons at Iowa State are among the most exciting in school history. Before coming to Ames, the former defensive coordinator at Wisconsin played a major role in two of the most dramatic football turnarounds in Big Ten Conference history -- with the Badgers and at Iowa. In his three years as Iowa State's head coach, his Cyclones put themselves on the national football map:

- Playing exciting football while laying the foundation necessary to sustain a winning football program in the nation's premier gridiron conference. Now with state-of-the-art facilities, respect on campus for his team's academic performance and enthusiastic fan support girding the ISU community's commitment to his football program -- focus intensifies around on-the-field improvement. Under McCarney, the Cyclone football program is getting unprecedented exposure. The Cyclones were on television a record seven times last season.

- Despite playing a top-25 schedule that ranked 21st in toughness among 112 NCAA Division I-A schools last season. The Cyclone schedule ranked 12th in toughness the previous season. Iowa State was the Big 12 Conference's youngest team, employing a conference-high 16 freshmen in its two-deep last season.

- Breaking a slew of offensive school records as 1996 Heisman Trophy runner-up Troy Davis received unprecedented national attention. He was the first player to rush for more than 2,000 yards in more than one season. Davis led the nation in rushing and total yards both seasons. ISU averaged a school-record five yards per rush both years. In 1997, Iowa State again was an offensive force. Quarterback Todd Bandhauer put up the second-most prolific passing season in ISU history. The mid-season return of Troy's younger brother Darren resulted in several record-setting rushing performances as Darren became the ninth player in Iowa State history to rush for more than 1,000 yards in a single season.

- Fueling a record attendance surge as fans across Iowa jumped on the Cyclone bandwagon. ISU averaged 35,460 fans per game in the season prior to McCarney's arrival. McCarney's 1995 team played before an average of 37,455 fans per contest and 43,296 fans per home game saw his team play in 1996 -- a 22 percent increase in just two seasons. Season-ticket sales have increased in each of McCarney's three seasons. Student season ticket sales have more than doubled over the same period. The sellout of the Iowa at Iowa State game last season marked ISU's sixth capacity crowd in eight games.

- Since McCarney's arrival, the Cyclones have moved into their new home, the Richard O. Jacobson Athletic Building adjacent to Jack Trice Stadium. An all-natural grass field was laid in 1996. Jack Trice Stadium's new press box and individual suites opened last season, underscoring the Iowa State administration's commitment to McCarney's vision for making the ISU program a blueprint for success. New practice fields are set for dedication this season.

Anyone who has watched McCarney's rise in the coaching ranks would not be surprised by the effort of his national caliber coaching staff. A native of Iowa City, McCarney was instrumental in rebuilding efforts that produced Big Ten titles and Rose Bowl berths at both Iowa and Wisconsin, two schools that regularly finished near the bottom of the league before his arrival.

"Dan is respected by his players and his coaching peers, and he was highly recommended by everyone I talked to. Our success underscores our conviction that he was the perfect man for the job."

Cross Country and Volleyball

Volleyball

The Iowa State volleyball team closes out the 1998 season with four home matches in the next two weeks. The Cyclones played host to Oklahoma last night and will battle Kansas tonight in the Forker Building at 7 p.m. Next weekend, Texas and Texas A&M visit Hilton Coliseum in ISU's season finale.

First-year ISU head coach Kerry Miller has taken over one of the youngest and most inexperienced squads in the Big 12 Conference. Of the 11 players on the roster, seven are freshman and sophomores, but more astoundingly is the fact that seven of the 11 players came to ISU as walk-ons.

Despite a 3-25 overall record and a 1-15 Big 12 mark, the Cyclones have reason to be excited about the future. Sophomore middle blocker Stacy Nicks has had a steady season as ISU's top middle player. The Spencer, Iowa, native leads ISU in blocks with 80, and is three solo blocks shy from cracking into ISU's single-season solo block chart. Nicks is also third on the team in kills with 210. Freshman outside hitter Nanette Allen, a native of Pasco, Wash., has been a primary offensive threat for ISU, ranking second on the team with 219 kills for a 2.46 kpg average. Lindsay Robinson and Melissa Duffield are two other freshmen who have played quality minutes in their rookie campaigns.

The Cyclones will lose the services of seniors Virginia Hoss, Mandi Middleton and Julie McGrath, who will be playing in their final matches of their careers next weekend. Hoss has been the Cyclones' most consistent offensive player in 1998, leading the team in kills (293) with a 3.05 kpg average. Middleton rejoined the team after taking a two-year layoff, and she has provided the Cyclones with excellent play in the middle, blocking 65 attempts to rank third on the team. McGrath will end her Cyclone career as one of the school's top setters in history. The Crystal Lake, Ill., native's 2,315 career assists ranks fourth all-time in school history. McGrath also leads the team in service aces with 19.

With only three seniors graduating and the addition of three highly skilled transfers who sat out this season, Miller and volleyball fans can't help but feel optimistic about the future of ISU volleyball.

Cross Country

The Iowa State men's and women's cross country teams completed the 1998 season last weekend at the NCAA Midwest Regional Cross Country meet in Wichita, Kan. The Cyclone women finished seventh behind sophomore Alienor Gilchrist's 24th-place performance. The Ames, Iowa, native covered the 5,000-meter course in a time of 17 minutes 58 seconds. In the men's race, Philemon Too was the first Cyclone to the tape claiming the 15th spot clocking 31:38. The men's team placed 16th in team scoring.

The women's team continued to improve with each performance throughout the season. Each meet was a building block for the next one according to ISU women's head coach Dick Lee. Sophomore Andrea Crapisi was a solid leader for ISU during the season. Crapisi was ISU's top finisher at the Big 12 meet, taking 17th place. Crapisi's time of 18:05 put her 17th out of 143 runners during the 5,000-meter competition. Iowa State finished eighth in team scoring with 150 points.

"Andrea has been the most consistent performer throughout the season," Lee said. "But keeping our top three runners together would only help the entire team, and that was our goal."

All but two members of the 1997 Cyclone men's Big 12 runner-up squad returned this season for ISU. Too placed fourth out of 100 runners at the third-annual Big 12 Cross Country Championship meet, earning all-conference honors. All-American David Lichoro took 17th, and freshman John Sainna placed 40th. The Cyclones placed seventh in team scoring, totaling 169 points.

Coaching Staff

Nick Quartaro • Receivers/Special Teams

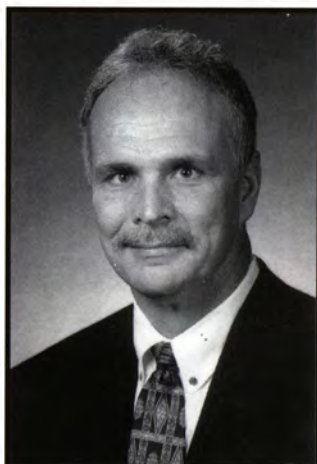

Assistant Head Coach

Quartaro was named as the head coach at Fordham in 1994. Fordham's third-place conference finish last season was the school's highest ever league standing. In 1993, Quartaro's final year at KSU, the Wildcats went 9-2-1, defeated Wyoming in the Copper Bowl and finished the season ranked 18th in the Associated Press poll.

Quartaro, who was a placekicker for Iowa, finished his career as the Hawkeyes' second all-time leading scorer. The 1977 Iowa graduate went on to coach the secondary, defensive line and special teams at Northwestern. He started Drake's NCAA Division III football program, coaching the Bulldogs from 1986-88.

Nick Quartaro, who rebuilt a formerly winless football program at Fordham and was Kansas State's associate head coach during the Wildcats' gridiron turnaround, joined Iowa State's coaching staff as assistant head coach in February. The 42-year-old Quartaro brings recognized expertise to his role as receivers and special teams coach, renewing a bond he forged with Cyclone head coach Dan McCarney when both played at Iowa.

Pete Hoener • Offensive Line

Offensive Coordinator

Eight of Hoener's offensive line-men at TCU earned all-Southwest Conference honors. He also served as TCU's assistant head coach. Hoener coached three seasons at Purdue, where he served stints coaching the offensive and defensive lines and the Boilermaker special teams.

A native of Peoria, Ill., Hoener was the offensive line coach at Illinois from 1986 to 1988. The 1973 Bradley graduate was the tight ends coach for the NFL's St. Louis Cardinals from 1984-86. From 1978-84, Hoener served as offensive coordinator and offensive line coach at Indiana State.

Pete Hoener (pronounced HAY-nur), joined the Iowa State coaching staff in January after catching the eye of Cyclone head coach Dan McCarney when the two coached against each other during Hoener's coaching tenure at Illinois, Purdue and Texas Christian. Hoener's TCU offense led the Southwest Conference in 1994.

Hoener pupils at TCU included quarterback Max Knake and running back Andre Davis, who earned co-Southwest Conference player-of-the-year honors.

John Skladany • Linebackers

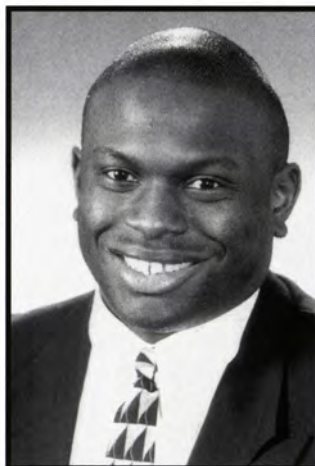

Defensive Coordinator

John Skladany, who played a key role on the Colorado State coaching staff that turned the Ram defense into a unit that led the Western Athletic Conference, joined Dan McCarney's staff as defensive coordinator in 1997. His fundamental, attacking style brought a new sense of mission to the Iowa State football program with McCarney's blessing. ISU made strides on the defensive side of the ball in 1997. Iowa State defenders made 21 sacks last season, the most by a Cyclone team in 10 years. Skladany came to Ames after successful tenures at every coaching level.

With Skladany coaching the defensive line, Colorado State won WAC team titles in 1994 and 1995. The Rams won 25 games over the last three seasons of Skladany's term at CSU.

Skladany played football at Central Connecticut State, earning a bachelor's degree in 1972. The Haverhill, Mass., native played in the defensive line for the New England Patriots (1972), the Washington Redskins (1973), the WFL's Birmingham Americans and the Ottawa Roughriders (1975) of the CFL. Before Colorado State, Skladany coached at Northern Arizona, Ohio University, Maine and the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy. He owns a master's degree from Ohio.

Tony Alford • Running Backs

Tony Alford, a former all-Western Athletic Conference runningback who was a Doak Walker Award nominee, is in his second season at Iowa State after Dan McCarney hired him to coach the Cyclone running backs. That move paid immediate dividends at ISU, where the Cyclone backfield produced a 1,000-yard rusher for the third straight season. Hiring Alford, who earned all-WAC honors at Colorado State in 1989, was a priority for McCarney after former ISU running backs coach Kirby

Wilson left for the New England Patriots of the NFL.

Alford earned honorable mention All-America honors at Colorado State on USA Today's 1989 All-America team and was named to the WAC first-team all-conference squad. The 1992 CSU graduate with a bachelor's degree in exercise and sports science set a conference single-game rushing record with 310 rushing yards against Utah and was nominated for the 1989 Doak Walker Award.

The running backs coach at Kent in 1996, Alford was the running backs coach at Mt. Union College in 1995. He helped the Raiders to a 12-1 record and the NCAA Division III semifinals. He has also served as an assistant coach at high schools in Lake Wales, Fla., and Fort Collins, Colo.

Bob Carskie

Director of Football Operations

Chicago native Bob Carskie, who was named Iowa State's director of football operations before 1998 spring practice, has coordinated ISU's first four recruiting efforts that have put the Cyclones on the recruiting map across the country.

In addition to his recruiting contributions, Carskie is responsible for scheduling, serving as the department liaison for the football program and handling a variety of administrative duties. Carskie, an original member of ISU head coach Dan McCarney's Iowa State coaching staff, had stints tutoring the Cyclone offensive linemen and wide receivers during his first three seasons in Ames.

Carskie worked with McCarney at Wisconsin for the 1990, 1991 and 1992 seasons, while earning a master's degree in educational administration in 1991. He moved to Louisville under Howard Schnellenberger in 1993. The 45-year-old Carskie earned a bachelor's degree from Missouri Valley College in 1975.

Matt McGettigan • Strength & Conditioning

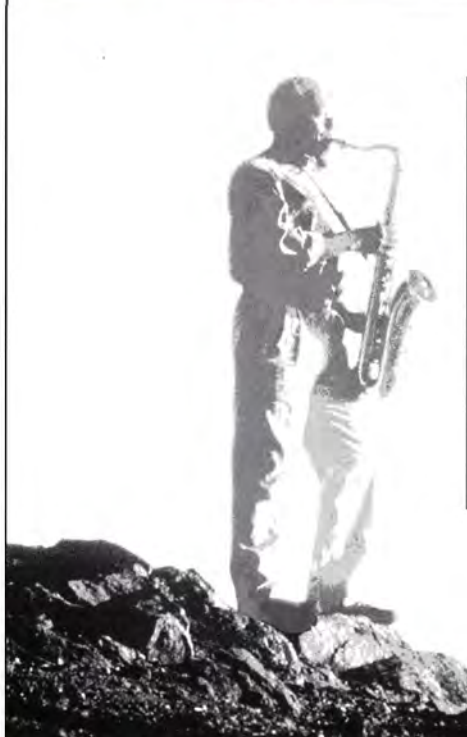

Iowa State's football team has literally grown by leaps and bounds since Dan McCarney came to Ames. Most of the credit for those improvements must go to Cyclone strength coach Matt McGettigan. McGettigan came to Iowa State with head coach Dan McCarney after serving as assistant strength and conditioning coach at Notre Dame since 1990.

Prior to his work with the Fighting Irish, McGettigan served as the strength and conditioning coordinator for the University of Wisconsin-Platteville from 1987-90. McGettigan earned his master's degree in 1989 in exercise science.

McGettigan completed his undergraduate work in physical education at Luther College in Decorah, Iowa, in 1987. He is a member of the National Strength and Conditioning Association. In January, 1989, McGettigan received his certification as a Strength and Conditioning Specialist.

Mike Grant • Assistant Secondary

Mike Grant, who lettered at quarterback on three Nebraska bowl teams, was named assistant secondary coach at Iowa State before 1998 spring practice. Grant comes to ISU from James Madison, where he coached the Dukes' tight ends and wide receivers last season.

Grant was an academic all-Big Eight signal-caller on Nebraska teams that earned three Orange Bowl berths in addition to Fiesta and Citrus Bowl appearances during his playing career. The native of Tampa, Fla., earned a pair of bachelor's degrees from Nebraska and completed his master's degree in Mass Communication from Nebraska.

Grant was a graduate assistant coach working with the Husker tight ends and wide receivers from 1994-96. This experience includes being part of two Nebraska national championship teams. The 28-year-old Grant assisted the Nebraska recruiting coordinator in 1993.

Phil Meyer • Quarterbacks

Phil Meyer is in his fourth season at Iowa State and his first coaching the Cyclone quarterbacks. Meyer came to Iowa State after serving as offensive coordinator at Illinois State in 1994. Meyer helped coach a Cyclone offensive unit that has set several NCAA and school records. He is no stranger to the signal-calling position, having coached quarterbacks in the six seasons before his arrival in Ames. Meyer coached ISU's tight ends and special teams the past three seasons.

Meyer previously coached five seasons at Southern Illinois, where he was offensive coordinator for four seasons and the Salukis' assistant head coach in 1993.

A Milwaukee, Wis., native, the 41-year-old Meyer began his collegiate playing career at Wisconsin-Milwaukee before transferring to Illinois State for his sophomore season. He earned his bachelor's degree (1979) and master's degree (1980) at Illinois State.

Mike Nelson • Defensive Line

Mike Nelson's impact on the Iowa State defense was immediate. Last season, his first at ISU, Nelson's defensive line figured prominently in racking up 21 sacks, the highest Cyclone single season total in 10 years. Nelson, who has been to bowl games at Wisconsin and Stanford, joined Dan McCarney's Iowa State staff in January 1997 as defensive line coach. Nelson's resume includes trips to a pair of bowl games under Dave McClain at Wisconsin. Under Minnesota Vikings head coach Dennis

Green, Nelson went to the 1991 Aloha Bowl at Stanford.

Nelson has Big 12 experience, with coaching stints at Missouri (1985-86) and Kansas State (1989). Nelson started his coaching career at Southern Illinois and was defensive coordinator at Norfolk State (1972) before returning to his alma mater, Dayton, in 1973. He then moved to Virginia (1975-76) and later Ball State. Nelson was the defensive line coach at Rutgers (1993-95) for three seasons before going to Oregon State (1996). Nelson earned his bachelor's degree from Dayton in 1969. He earned his master's degree at Southern Illinois in 1970.

Paul Rhoads • Secondary

Ankeny native Paul Rhoads, formerly the co-defensive coordinator at Pacific, is in his fourth season at Iowa State under Dan McCarney. He will coach the secondary for the third season after one season as linebackers coach. Rhoads' Iowa State players include cornerback Dawan Anderson, who returned a school-record two interceptions for touchdowns in 1996 and Dustin Avey, who made two interceptions last season.

Rhoads coordinated Pacific's pass defense in 1994 and coached the Tiger defensive backs under former Drake head coach Chuck Shelton from 1992-94. In 1993, Pacific allowed just 152 yards passing per game, ranking 20th nationally.

The 31-year-old Rhoads went to Pacific from Ohio State in 1991, where he was a graduate assistant working with the secondary. Following graduation with a bachelor's degree in economics from Missouri Western in 1989, he was a graduate assistant at Utah State under Shelton. He earned his master's degree from Utah State in 1991.

Coaching Staff

Mike Woodley • Tight Ends

Waterloo native Mike Woodley, the first coach hired by Iowa State head coach Dan McCarney when he became the Cyclones' head coach in November 1994, is in his fourth season as an assistant coach at ISU. Woodley coaches ISU's tight ends after three seasons coaching the Cyclone linebackers. The former head coach at West Des Moines Valley High School graduated from Northern Iowa in 1974 with a bachelor's degree in physical education. He worked for one season (1975) with McCarney as a graduate assistant on Bob Commings' Hawkeye football staff.

After a successful career in the Iowa prep ranks at Waterloo East, Osage and Fort Dodge, the 46-year-old Woodley moved on to St. Ambrose University in Davenport, serving as offensive coordinator for two seasons before taking over the head coaching reins in 1991. His final (1993) St. Ambrose team was 6-5. The campaign marked the Bees' first winning season in six years and included a stunning upset of NCAA Division I-AA opponent Western Illinois.

David Keen • Graduate Assistant

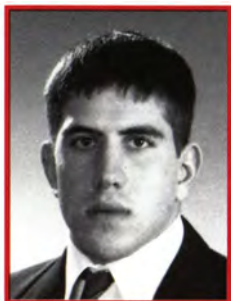

A 1997 graduate of St Ambrose, David Keen joined the Iowa State coaching staff in June 1998. Recruited to St. Ambrose out of Pattonville High School in St. Louis, Mo., by future ISU assistant Mike Woodley (then the Bees' head coach), Keen was a three-year starter in the offensive line. After earning a bachelor's degree in criminal justice, Keen assisted on the St. Ambrose staff as the offensive line and tight ends coach.

Charlie Partridge • Graduate Assistant

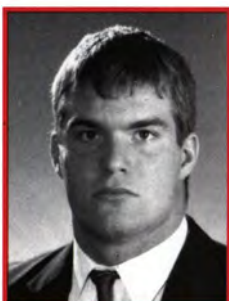

Charlie Partridge is in his first season working with the defense at Iowa State after coaching at Drake, his alma mater, the past two years. Partridge was a three-year starter in the defensive line at Drake and captained the 1994 Bulldog squad. A two-time defensive player of the week, Partridge graded out above 80 percent in each of his last three seasons. The recipient of a bachelor's degree in secondary education, Partridge spent the last two seasons as an offensive assistant and running backs coach. The Bulldogs were 8-3 in each of the past two seasons.

Al and Sara Sorensen

Featured Donors

His friends call him "Big" Al. For Iowa State athletics, "Big" Al has come through in a BIG way. When the $26 million President's Scholarship Campaign was announced a few years ago in conjunction with a gift from Christina Hixson, $5 million of that amount was earmarked for the benefit of Cyclone athletics. It was Al Sorensen and his wife, Sara, who provided the jump start for the athletic scholarship campaign with their lead deferred gift of $850,000 for football scholarships.

Al and Sara Sorensen

These are the same people who two years earlier had endowed the offensive and defensive tackles and offensive center positions to the tune of $500,000.

Scott Barnes, who was ISU athletic development director at the time of the original gift, said the Sorensens' generosity meant a lot more to Cyclone athletics than just the money involved.

"This is extra special because Al was a letterwinner," Barnes said. "It's a statement to alumni, and specifically letterwinners, about what they can give back to the university."

Al was an Iowa State football player, but Sara didn't even understand the game until she and Al were married. But now, the Sorensens rarely miss a football game and try to attend as many basketball games as possible even though they live in Cedar Rapids. Their children and grandchildren are also enthusiastic fans.

And Sara, who is an accomplished abstract artist with water colors, has left her own personal mark on the Iowa State athletic scene. When the Raymond and Kathryn Engel basketball offices were nearing completion, Kathryn asked Sara if she would do a painting to hang in the new offices.

"I was flattered that she asked, but normally I hate to do commissions," said Sara, who currently has a show of 38 paintings on display at Ginsberg Jewelry in Cedar Rapids through Dec. 31. "Ideas for abstract paintings have to just come to you so I was hesitant to do the work, but I really wanted to do it for Kathryn because she's such a wonderful person."

Sara didn't need to worry, however, because the two paintings she donated — "Temptation" and "Celebration" — that hang just inside the basketball offices off the concourse at Hilton Coliseum, have received rave reviews.

Some of her other works that have received notoriety are the cover of the Cedar Rapids Symphony program and two works that were recently purchased by Cyclone athletic director

Gene Smith and his wife, Sheila. Sara's work will be on display at Ames' Mary Greeley Medical Center next year.

Al's interest in Iowa State athletics dates back to the days he played football for the Cyclones in the late 1930s. He played the tackle position on a team that went 7-1-1 in 1938 and included such well known athletes as All-Americans Ed Bock and Ev Kischer.

However, Al was quite a skilled athlete himself. The NFL Chicago Cardinals had seen him play and asked him to tryout. He hitchhiked to Chicago with another teammate and received a contract offer. Although somewhat meager by today's standards, Al was able to earn $125 for each game in which he played a complete half.

Al said the most interesting experience he had with the Cardinals was when he tackled the legendary Bronko Nagurski.

"Well, I tried to tackle him once," Al said. "After that, I avoided him. It was like hitting a wall. He was the toughest man I ever saw."

After playing two seasons for the Cardinals, Al continued his education in mechanical engineering and eventually obtained his degree from another university. However, he completed the majority of his education in Ames and has never forgotten Iowa State.

After college, Al pursued his engineering career with several companies, including Collins Radio in Cedar Rapids. It was during those days that he became familiar with a small machine shop named McNally Industries in Wisconsin.

He went to work for McNally as the chief engineer and eventually went into sales. The owners wanted to sell the business and asked Al to help find a buyer. Recognizing an opportunity when he saw one, Al found a couple of other investors and bought the company himself. They paid off their loan in one year and continued to make money every year as they did specialized subcontract machining for other businesses.

Several years ago, Al decided that it was time to get out of the business that he had grown from virtually nothing to an $17 million annual enterprise. He found a willing buyer and retired at the age of 62.

Since his retirement, one of Sorensen's favorite activities is watching ISU football. "I love football," he said. "That's my sport."

Iowa State is fortunate to have a loyal friend like Al Sorensen to step up and make contributions such as he and Sara have done. For Al Sorensen, however, it's a two-way street.

"This school's done a lot for me, particularly regarding my education," he said. "I owe a lot of my success to the education I received at Iowa State. This is a way for me to give something back."

The Excitement Continues at Iowa State!

On the Football Field!

Returning quarterback Todd Bandhauer is one of several Cyclone football players who major in engineering. The College of Engineering is proud to support the Iowa State Cyclones! Excellence in the classroom and on the field goes hand-in-hand to create the exciting world in which we learn, work, and play. A competitive team with a winning attitude brings success on the field, in the classroom, and in the workplace.

In the Marching Band!

One out of three marching band members is an Iowa State engineering student, indicating once again that the talents and energy of engineering students are second to none. And they have a good time working together to improve our lives through technology or through music!

In Engineering

The Engineering Teaching and Research Complex is moving forward at a rapid pace. Stanley and Helen Howe Hall (Phase I of the complex) is well on its way to a 1999 completion and occupancy. Phase II will begin next year.

When fully completed, the $61 million complex will feature high-tech teaching classrooms, lecture halls, and auditoriums with multi-media and distance learning capabilities as well as various state-of-the-art instructional labs – all made possible through the generous support of engineering alumni and friends, industrial partners, and the State of Iowa.

The Big 12 Conference

The Big 12 Conference - Second to None

The formation of the Big 12 represents an undertaking by school chief executive officers to combine resources to achieve even higher levels of performance heading into the 21st century.

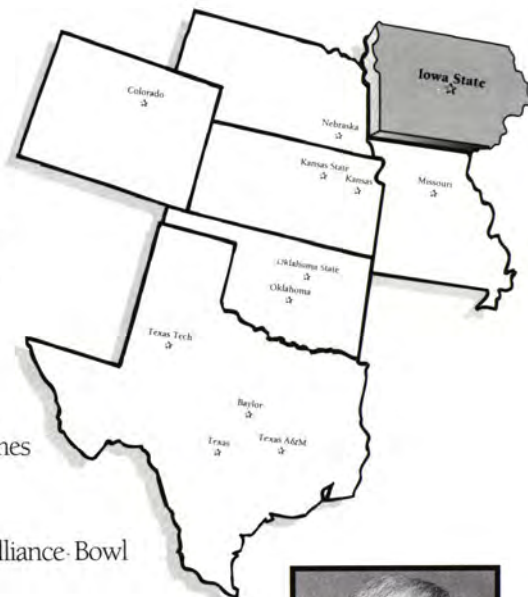

National Exposure

The Big 12 Conference has one of the most comprehensive regional and national TV contracts in America. On any given Saturday, three Big 12 games are being shown to national audiences.

- The Big 12 Conference is the ONLY league nationally to gain two Alliance Bowl berths in each of the last two seasons.
- ABC and Fox Sports Network combine to produce nearly 40 football games annually in syndicated regional, national and prime time windows. In all, the packages with ABC, Fox Sports Network and ESPN guarantee the Big 12 the finest intercollegiate coverage through the year 2000 (2003 with ABC for football television).

Competition

- Seven Big 12 schools were in The Associated Press top 25 poll at least once throughout the 1997 campaign.
- Big 12 schools have a composite bowl record of 10-7 over the past three seasons and have annually sent a minimum of five teams to post season play.

Scouting Report

Cyclones vs. Jayhawks

THE SERIES: The Jayhawks have won the last seven meetings against the Cyclones, which marks the longest winning streak of either team in the series. ISU's last win over KU came in 1989 when cornerback Marcus Robertson forced a turnover and saved a touchdown as the Cyclones used a second-quarter comeback.

OFFENSIVELY: Quarterback Todd Bandhauer is the Cyclones' all-time leader with 39 career touchdown passes. Bandhauer's 2,040 passing yards this season makes him the first quarterback in ISU history to throw for more than 2,000 yards in a pair of seasons. Junior tailback Darren Davis needs only 18 yards to reach the 1,000-yard plateau for the second-straight season. Davis also has 3,216 career all-purpose yards, ranking him fourth on the ISU all-time list. Wide receiver Damien Groce had five receptions last week to give him 44 catches this season. Sophomore KU quarterback Jay Alexander has played in only four games this season, but saw extensive action off the bench against Colorado and Kansas State. Jayhawk sophomore David Winbush needs 124 yards to reach the 1,000-yard rushing mark. A trio of freshmen, Harrison Hill, Byron Gasaway and Henri Childs, along with sophomore Termaine Fulton, have combined for 62 receptions for 962 yards and six touchdowns for the Jayhawks. Hill leads the team with 23 receptions for 306 yards. Fulton is second with 21 catches.

DEFENSIVELY: Cyclone Jeff Waters has collected 86 tackles this season, including 51 solo stops. Senior Chin Achebe is right behind Waters with 85 total stops, including 43 unassisted tackles. Senior strong safety Michael Allen has 102 total tackles to lead the Jayhawks. Allen led the Big 12 Conference in total tackles prior to last weekend's games.

SPECIAL TEAMS: ISU senior placekicker Jamie Kohl has made 6-of-12 field goals, including two beyond 40 yards. His longest boot this season is 48 yards. Cyclone punter Carl Gomez is averaging 39.9 yards on 53 punts. The sophomore launched a 72-yarder earlier this season. KU placekicker Joe Garcia has connected on 10-of-14 field goal attempts this season. He ranks first on the team with 55 points.

THE COACHES: Terry Allen is 9-2 in his second season at the Jayhawk helm and has an overall record of 84-38 in 10 seasons as a head coach. Dan McCarney is in his fourth year as a head coach and has compiled an overall record of 8-35. McCarney was instrumental in turning around programs at Wisconsin and Iowa. The last time Allen brought a squad to Ames (in 1996), he was the head coach at Northern Iowa. The Cyclones prevailed 42-23 that day, but ISU fell to Allen's Jayhawks last season in Lawrence, 24-34. Both Allen and McCarney hail from Iowa and were born at Mercy Hospital in Iowa City. While McCarney was a student teacher at Iowa City West High School, he helped coach the track team on which Allen was a participant.
