

The first picture shows the nest and five eggs of a Maryland Yellowthroat on the ground in a strawberry patch.

The second picture shows the mother bird brooding those eggs. She is so small that when she covers the eggs she is hardly visible.

Five hours after this second picture was taken a bull snake devoured all the eggs. I am sorry that I was unable to get a picture of that.

No 2.

Maryland Yellowthroat
nest in strawberry patch

6/20/26

active time 45 sec

16 stop  $\frac{3}{4}$  sec 2 ft 8 in P.

Female Maryland
yellowthroat brooding
her five eggs in Gilroy's strawberry patch. Five hours
later the entire set of
eggs were devoured
by a bull snake

6/27/26

Snyder machine