

Female Redwing Blackbird
at nest in South Pond

The mother Redwing is not such an imposing bird as her mate in his glossy black coat
with red shoulders.

She weaves her nest in a most skillful manner
to the rushes and this cradle swings over
the water. W.M. Rowland

Top of nest 28 in high and bottom 24 in high
