DEDICATION

Rarely is it given to one man to influence so largely the research and graduate atmosphere of a campus. As the first head of the department of bacteriology, as the organizer and first Dean of the Science Division, as the first Dean of the Graduate College, and finally as Director of the Iowa Agricultural Experiment Station, Dr. R. E. Buchanan's long career was synchronous with the grand period of growth of the Iowa State College.

As a professor of bacteriology his many textbooks, research papers, and services in microbiological nomenclature placed him in the top rank in his chosen field. World-wide prominence of his researches was recognized by his election as Chairman of the Judicial Commission of the International Microbiology Congress.

In the Agricultural Experiment Station he has organized and directed a research program that has led to many discoveries of fundamental and practical value. As a leader in the Association of Land-Grant Colleges and Universities he has served as Chairman of the Experiment Station Committee on Organization and Policy. International recognition of his broad knowledge of agriculture led to his selection in 1946 as a member of the U. S. Agricultural Mission to the Near East. In 1947 he was appointed by President Truman to serve on the Committee on Foreign Aid. He is a member of the Administrative Board of the International Institute of Agricultural Sciences at Costa Rica and has served on the United Nations Committee on Food and Agriculture.

THE SPIRIT OF

HER CAMPANILE

This is your book the 1948 Bomb and in it you will see you and your friends portray the true spirit of Iowa State. Certainly we all worked hard and studied hard this past year, but there was lots of fun too. Naturally there were finals and reports and quizzes, but there were also the fighting Cyclones, Homecoming, Veishea, dances and, of course, the graduating seniors.

Actually the pictures on these two pages are merely an introduction, a preface, to the complete story that is to follow. Consider them but a taste, then turn the pages to see the complete and faithful reproduction of Iowa State in '48.

PRESIDENT CHARLES E. FRILEY

Our president, son of a Texas college president, has been with us for 16 years, first as Dean of the Science Division and then in 1936 as President. Many things which we take for granted we owe to him—the difficult task of leading a college through the war years, handling the problem of increased post-war enrollment, and the intensive building activities.

GOVERNOR ROBERT D. BLUE

A familiar figure at Iowa State, Governor Robert D. Blue has officially opened our Veishea celebration since his election as governor in 1944. Governor Blue stands as a model for us, for he has put his training at ISC, CCC College of Des Moines, and Drake University Law School to good advantage in his social and political career.

Dr. George Fowler of the Department of Veterinary Medicine prepares for a class demonstration.

G. B. MacDonald has helped to develop the Forestry curriculum into one of the finest offered in the country.

Since the end of the war many problems have been facing faculty members. With the increased student enrollment the past year, instructors have had extra work but have enjoyed the versatility provided by so many new students. Sometimes they had the problem of teaching class in some place far from their division building. Sometimes it meant correcting papers for classes overflowing these rooms. And the nature of their classes has changed with the influx of veterans and married students.

But the number of faculty members has now increased. Of the 2,045 staff members of Iowa State, 822 of them are faculty personnel—deans, directors, professors, assistant professors and instructors. Besides the 822, there are 216 graduate students teaching,

FACULTY

Dorothy Briles makes a pretty picture as she discusses her specialty, Textiles and Clothing.

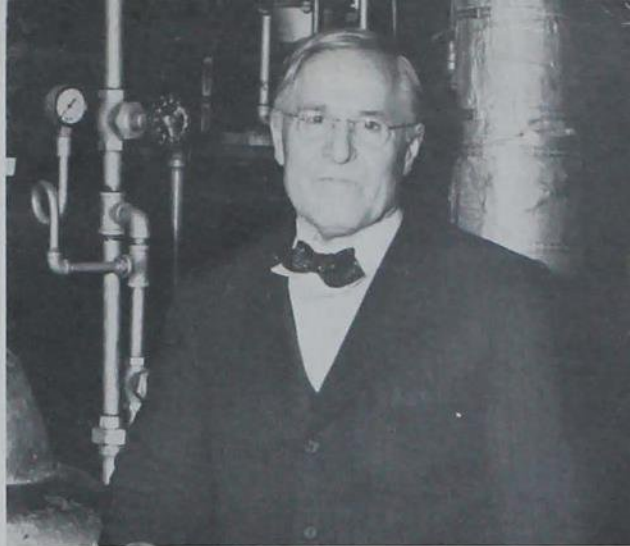

Evidently Harvey Feyerherm of the Zoology Department has discovered the long-lost duck-billed platypus.

Mr. Barter of the Bacteriology Department watches hopefully as an experiment progresses.

Professor Emeritus of Chemical Engineering O. R. Sweeney won national fame in his field before retiring last year.

FACULTY

Within the five divisions at Iowa State there has been a considerable turnover of personnel during 1947-48. Present professors find that instruction is only one of their jobs. Many participate in research and extension work. Overlapping of their fields gives students a varied knowledge of the work within the division in which they have chosen to major.

Another duty of some of the faculty is supervising the various departmental clubs for students. This, along with the student faculty teas of some departments, allows students and instructors to become better acquainted socially. As chaperones of all-college dances, speakers at college functions, and guests of organized student houses, the faculty also shines socially.

Professor of Dairy Husbandry N. L. Jacobsen seems to have found a new friend.

Florence Fallgatter takes time out from Home Economics to appear in the Bomb.

Vet Medicine also claims smiling Dr. Olson.

AGRICULTURE

DEAN H. H. KILDEE

There is no more logical place for one of the largest colleges of agriculture in the world than in the heart of agricultural America. Our Agriculture Division has earned a position of leadership, not only in Iowa and the United States, but also in all farming regions of the world. Gone are the days of hit-and-miss farming; thus the division, under Dean H. H. Kildee, has become a training ground for the ever-increasing number of students interested in scientific agriculture.

You've seen lots of "cheesecake," but look at this Iowa State cheese.

It looks like the Landscape Architects are really inspired.

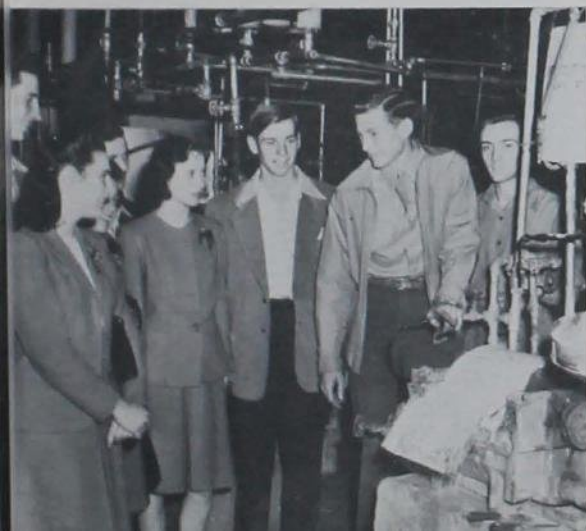

ENGINEERING

With the huge demand for engineering graduates, enrollment in the Engineering Division is largest on campus and still increasing. Engineers seem to flood the campus, creating a need for extra faculty, classrooms, and laboratories. The nine departments of engineering are directed by our new Dean of Engineering, J. F. Downie Smith, and the new Assistant Dean, Frank Kerekes. In the list of "news" is the department of architecture which was first accredited last year.

DEAN J. F. DOWNIE SMITH

Wally Hansen backed by Duane Schmidt gives out with a little information to visitors at the Chem. E. Veishea Open House.

Kent Drummond assures Veishea visitors that the transit is sometimes used for purposes other than sightseeing.

DEAN P. MABEL NELSON

No matter which phase of Home Economics a student chooses at Iowa State, it will give her "Science with Practice." Whether the college girl wishes to practice science in a professional manner or as a mother and homemaker, she is assured of a sound basis with which to start. Every girl is given basic courses in all nine departments of the division, for the problems a home economist must face are never limited to her specialized field. The whole campus is familiar with the good foods which come from the Hec building, the gay parties that are held in the home management houses, and the humorous adventures that come from the nursery school.

SCIENCE

Science Division offers the greatest variety of courses in the college curriculum. As well as serving the students enrolled in the division, it provides basic science courses for the entire college in order that students might have a well-rounded education. Women, who have recently invaded the division, have been given a chance to prove that their ability to blow up a chem lab or chart the path of a star equals that of any man. Under Dean H. V. Gaskill, the division has organized a Department of Statistics and has created a new major in Technical Journalism. Keeping astride of the newest scientific advances, the division turns out a group of well-equipped graduates.

DEAN H. V. GASKILL

Left: Two men of science spend an enlightening period in the Physics lab. Right: Take it from Professor Boxle . . . this is a snap course.

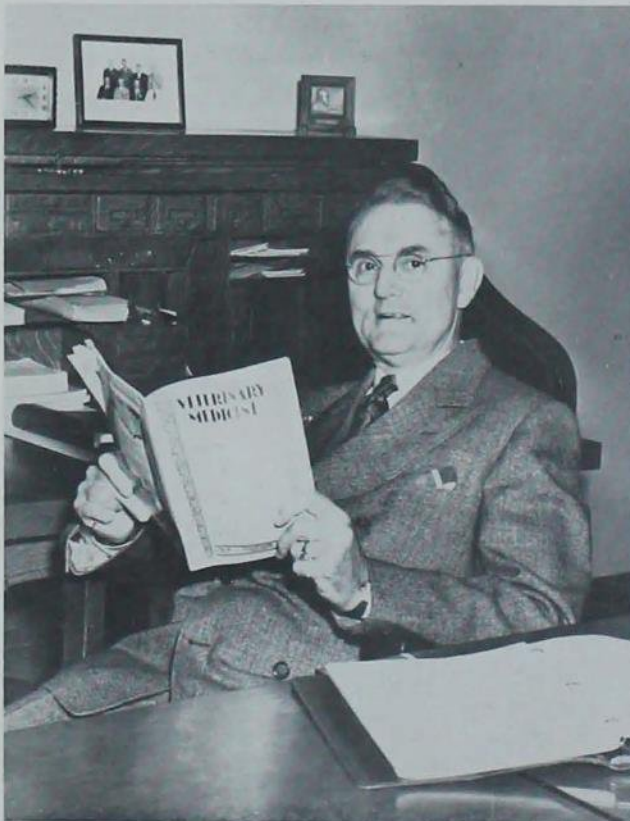

A background of chemistry is required for students in Veterinary Medicine.

Students try to decide which one is chocolate.

VETERINARY MEDICINE

DEAN H. D. BERGMAN

Although the Veterinary Medicine Division is the smallest and least-crowded on campus, it is the most difficult in which to become enrolled. Normally only 64 first-year students are accepted each year. Students are chosen largely from the midwestern states on the basis of good scholastic record, previous experience, character, personality, and aptitude. The present requirement for admission is one year of prescribed college work, but in 1949 two years of pre-professional study will be required. A record of the division's activities is published in its magazine, the Veterinary Student.

ADMINISTRATION

Taking an active interest in the student body is our administration. In fact, Dean M. D. Helser, of the Junior College, says that the student body is his "hobby." Students by the thousands ask his advice every year on personal and educational problems.

With the college enrollment higher than ever before, housing has created a problem. Madge I. McGlade, head of the residence department, has this problem on her hands. Authorization for construction of a new men's dormitory capable of housing 1,600 students will help her in providing comfortable living quarters.

Mrs. Doris Hoppenrath of the Social Office worked with students in obtaining a more varied social program. All in all our administrators are striving for a better I.S.C.

Too many activities and too little space is the situation in the case of Dick Mannheimer. Dick has served as chairman of the 1947 Engineers' Carnival, Cardinal Guild booking agent, and as chairman of several Homecoming and Veishea committees to mention just a few. He was elected BJOC and is a member of Tau Beta Pi and Eta Kappa Nu.

CAMPUS LEADERS

BOOK TWO

.....and we selected from among our own fellow-students those who were to direct our college life and activities, even as the cygnets on Lake Laverne looked to Launcelot for leadership.....

CARDINAL GUILD

As the year progressed, our student governing body, Cardinal Guild, worked on many important measures. Perhaps the most outstanding one in the mind of feminine students was the granting of 12:30 Saturday nights, which allow dances to last until 12 midnight.

Acting as president for the student body and Cardinal Guild was Don DeLaHunt. Assisting him in the role of vice-president was Alex Edwards. With them as leaders Cardinal Guild drew up a new constitution to be presented to the student body. A revision of the old activity point system also progressed. To further race tolerances the Guild sent a delegation to the University of Nebraska at Lincoln to discuss the possibility of allowing Negroes to play in the Big Six.

Cardinal Guild and the Athletic Department are cooperating in financing equipment and trips for our cheerleaders. Both feel that our athletes need backing for out-of-town as well as local games.

Socially speaking, Guild members dine with President Charles E. Friley once a month. Cardinal Guild acts as a link between the administration and the students. Its roll call is compiled from representatives from each division, Panhellenic Council, Interfraternity Council, Women's and Men's Dormitories, and Ward Council.

Led by president Don DeLaHunt Cardinal Guild guided student life

STUDENT UNION BOARD

Meeting weekly for an hour consultation and a dinner, the Student Union Board had charge of all student activities in the Memorial Union. The group sponsored the bridge classes held weekly throughout the year. It also managed the bridge tournament winter quarter.

A new charge of the board was the Student Night Club, started fall quarter and continued during winter quarter. The night club was held every Friday evening in the South Ballroom of the Union and featured a band, dancing, a floor show, and candlelit tables.

The board also sponsored the all-college campus varieties at which organized houses presented original skits. Judges for the skits were chosen by the board from faculty and staff members.

Okaying all dance budgets before allowing dances to be held in the Union was another duty of group. Heading the Student Union Board were President John Slothower and Vice-president Dean Huston. Other members of the board were Floyd Dirks, Ruth Royer, Shirley Norman, Maxine Anderson, Clancy Strock, Russel MacDuffee, Charles Spangler, and Joseph Erickson. Harold E. Pride, policy head of the Union, and Don Stevens, finance head of the Union, and Mrs. Jean Woodburn, program consultant, were staff members.

Union Board provided campus with dances, night club, and varieties

A memorable event was the jazz concert by Duke Ellington.

ENGINEERING COUNCIL

Top: Dean Smith enjoys a carnival decoration—Dean Smith. Lower: Wolves grin evilly as Hank Kallsen points out candidates for Engineer's Lady.

Made up of two members from each of the nine departments of engineering, Engineering Council started the year with a reception for incoming freshmen. A big event of the calendar year sponsored by the council was the Engineers' Carnival. Knights of St. Patrick pledges were chosen by the council and announced at the carnival.

Another event of the year was the Engineers' Ball during winter quarter. Ron Norman was chosen to head the Knights of St. Pat at that time. Dr. L. O. Sweeney, former head of the Department of Chemical Engineering, was also knighted as faculty representative.

Engineering Council had Prof. F. E. Allen as its adviser. Glen Schlueter served the group as president. Assisting him were Vice-president Wayne Swan, Secretary Norman Egli, and Treasurer Donald Shimon.

AGRICULTURAL COUNCIL

Serving as the governing body of the Agriculture Division was Agricultural Council, composed of two representatives from each of the departments in the division. The group handled business pertaining to the division and sponsored a freshman reception in the fall, the annual Harvest Ball, an agricultural convocation during winter quarter, and an all-Ag banquet that was held for the first time since before the war.

During spring quarter a banquet was held in honor of the retiring officers of the Council, who were presented with gold keys in recognition of their service. Included among the list of projects completed by the group was the rejuvenating of all trophy cases in Curtiss Hall.

President Edwin Lidvall, Vice-president Dean Brown, Secretary Bud Davis, and Treasurer Armin Prewie were officers.

Top: Chuck Spangler and Ed Lidvall hold a private meeting in front of the Ag barns. Lower: Council members remove a decade's dust collection from Ag trophies.

Top: Home Ecs discuss a hot topic. Lower: Viv Mukin takes hours reading the minutes.

HOME ECONOMICS COUNCIL

Serving as president for Home Economics Council was Mary Neff. Other officers were Vice-president Mary Lou Garth, Secretary Nancy Johnson, and Treasurer Jeanne Mann.

Vivian Mukin and Dorothy Dowe were sent by the council as delegates to the Chicago home economics convention. Sending a financial contribution to the AHEA building fund in Washington, D. C., was another phase of the council's work.

Perhaps the highlighting feature of the year was the Diamond Jubilee celebration in October which was climaxed by the Home Economics Ball. The group cleared money in order to give scholarships to two outstanding girls in home economics.

Meeting every two weeks the group governed the installation of officers and the projects of individual clubs. Miss Anita Kezer was adviser to the Council.

SCIENCE COUNCIL

"Student-Prof," a student-faculty party, began activities for Science Council fall quarter. The Wintermezzo Dance with music by Phil Levant and his orchestra followed in the social activities of the group. Dean Plumer headed the dance committee.

A major job of the council was getting student opinions regarding the science curriculum. Meeting weekly during the noon hour the fifteen members of the council prepared a curriculum questionnaire to give to students.

Six honorary keys were awarded to seniors for service to the division and the college. One faculty member was also awarded a key.

Serving the council as president was Art Gilkey assisted by Vice-president Delores Saue. Kay Olsen was treasurer, Mary Jo Overholt, secretary, and Tom Maney, publicity chairman.

Top: Phil Levant and his orchestra give the Science Dance an ultra scientific swing. Lower: Could be a get together of the students and faculty of the Science Division.

AVMA COUNCIL

Members of the Iowa State student chapter of the American Veterinary Medical Association met monthly to hear speakers discuss topics of interest and value to future veterinarians. Faculty members of the Veterinary and other divisions, practitioners, and persons working in associated fields were featured at the meetings.

Many of the members of the student chapter worked on their official publication, the Veterinary Dance held during winter quarter, the spring sports dance, and the Veterinary Picnic. At the annual picnic, again held late in spring quarter, class rivalry expended itself in a final burst of organized and unorganized athletic activity. President of the organization was Robert Morrison.

Top: Vets look over some professional publications. Lower: Nothing looks quite so professional as something preserved in formaldehyde.

SOCIAL COUNCIL

Social council was composed of the social chairman of each sorority, fraternity, dormitory, and organized residence group at ISC. The group met every two weeks under President John Harvey at which time plans were discussed as to various social events to be held on the campus.

During fall quarter a reception was held for all new housemothers taking over positions as residence directors here at Iowa State. In this way all the new "Moms" were given an opportunity to become acquainted. Council members also attended a picnic held during the fall.

A leap-year dance was planned as an all-college affair to be held during spring quarter. Social director of the college, Mrs. Doris Hoppenrath, served as adviser for Social Council.

Top: Social council members plan for a new event. Lower: New council members get the word from an old Socialist.

WOMEN'S PANHELLENIC COUNCIL

Members of the Women's Panhellenic Council met twice each month to pool their ideas, foster the panhellenic spirit, and form rushing and panhellenic policies. The president and a representative of each house formed the Council, which was guided by Adviser Doris Hoppentrath.

The group gave a scholarship cup to the top sorority in scholastic average for the year and sponsored the Women's Panhellenic Formal, and Women's Panhellenic Day. They were also co-sponsors of the yearly All-Greek Day.

Officers of the Council and the alumni advisers are chosen according to the rule of Panhellenic succession, whereby the positions are passed around the various sororities. Officers were President Marian Dawson and Vice-president Mary Tinkham.

Top: Dorothy Bonnell gives Mrs. Hoppentrath the facts about sorority girls. Lower: It seems as if Panhel President Marian Dawson should certainly have a chair.

SORORITY PLEDGE COUNCIL

Twice a month members of the Sorority Pledge Council met to discuss mutual problems and pool their ideas. The Council is made up of the president and an elected representative from each sorority class.

Activities of the organization included planning various group social functions, afternoon coffees to increase cooperation and friendship among the pledge classes, recommending to the Women's Panhellenic Council procedures on rushing, and working on the annual pledge dance.

An adviser from the senior panhellenic group carried back ideas and recommendations of the Sorority Pledge Council for consideration by the active's council.

The group was headed by President Mary Ellen Fuller.

Top: Pledges decide on a time for the next meeting. Lower: Eleanor Breckenridge and Barb Longley go over a report.

DORMITORY COUNCIL

Revising the dormitory rules was one of the main projects of Dormitory Council this year. The council was the coordinating group for the system of eight women's dormitories and acted as a student governing body. Besides being the policy-making body, it dealt with any problems which arose.

Membership in the Dormitory Council was made up of the eight presidents of the dorms. The group met every two weeks. Serving as president of the organization was Jackie Strifert with Darlene Fey acting as secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Madge I. McGlade served in advisory capacity to the council.

Valentine weekend the group sponsored the dormitory formal called "Heart's Enchantment" with music by Benny Strong.

Top: Dormitory Presidents Jean Shaw, Darlene Fey, and Theresa Scallon make new plans for their freshmen. Lower: Dick Lyons, NISA business manager, discusses arrangements for the spring convention with dormitory council members.

DORMITORY ACTIVITY AND ADVISORY COUNCILS

Dormitory activity and scholarship chairmen from the eight women's dormitories made up the Dormitory Activity and Advisory Council. The group's busy president was Jean Shaw.

Getting women interested and then active in both dormitory and college activities was one of the prime purposes of the group. Each delegate was responsible for her own dormitory. The council discussed ways of encouraging women's participation in activities.

Another purpose of the Dormitory Advisory Council was to push scholarship. Study and quiet hour rules were discussed by the group. Mrs. Madge I. McGlade was adviser for the organization.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

All-Greek Day, annual spring quarter event sponsored by Interfraternity Council, again furnished entertainment for many fraternity men by a day of competition in various outdoor sports. Among other activities backed by the fraternity system's governing body were the annual Men's Panhellenic Ball and the Interfraternity Chapel held during Religion in Life Week.

The Council, composed of the presidents of all fraternities on campus, made rules concerning conduct among themselves, with other student groups, and with the administration. Serving as officers of the organization were: Coville Woodburn, president; Kenneth Sales, vice-president; Robert Denney, secretary; Norman Filbert, assistant secretary, and John Hamilton, treasurer.

They met every two weeks to discuss mutual problems and exchange ideas.

INTERFRATERNITY PLEDGE COUNCIL

Interfraternity Pledge Council met twice a month to discuss problems relating to fraternity pledges and to formulate plans for closer relations among neophytes of all organized houses.

Acting as sponsors of Pledge Council were the fraternity pledge trainers. The group elected its own officers and gained valuable experience in parliamentary procedure and working together on pledge projects. Council members worked together to sponsor the annual pledge smoker and Interfraternity Pledge formal dance, Neophyte Nocturne, last year.

Serving as advisers to the pledges in their activities and meetings were Al Erickson and Kenneth Slabaugh. President of the Council was Dan Mulvihill.

YMCA CABINET

An all-college mixer at the beginning of fall quarter began the year for YMCA. The group spent much time going to small churches and schools to perform deputation work. In Ames, members prepared YMCA work programs in the five schools for any boys interested. Serving the YMCA Cabinet as president was John Drewry. Other officers of the organization were Vice-president Ed Holland, Secretary Robert Walters and Director Max Smith.

Three quartets were maintained by the YMCA. They became known over a large area in the state for their performances on the radio, a tour of the state between winter and spring quarters, and their numerous appearances at Iowa State functions. YMCA also sponsored the Spring Parade of Quartets. Many of the 1500 members attended firesides in faculty homes. Ray Cunningham was adviser for the group.

YWCA CABINET

With Maxine Sutherland as president YWCA highlighted the year with a banquet celebrating its seventy-fifth anniversary. Other cabinet officers were Philomena Beck, vice-president; Charlene Spangler, secretary; and Doris Adams, treasurer. They had social, publicity, fireside, and conference committees working under them to plan the events of the year. During winter quarter Miss Betty Miller Cowles was appointed executive secretary of YWCA by the Advisory Board.

To reach girls with different interests the YW has six groups—crafts, religion, radio, music, international caravan, and freshman YW. They get together each month for a joint meeting.

Sending representatives to the Lake Geneva Regional Conference and National Assembly was one of the projects of the year.

Formed in the fall quarter of 1946 to further the cause of athletics at Iowa State, the 630 Club enjoyed another full year of activities. Besides their regular activities of naming an "Athlete of the Week" and posting his picture and a record of his achievements, the organization sponsored a Winter Sports Banquet in winter quarter and the King of Sports Dance in the spring. Students selected the King of Sports from the list of the athletes honored each week.

A coordinating office was formed to work in conjunction with the Athletic Personnel Director in keeping in close contact with outstanding high school athletes around the state.

Ken Yarbrough served as president of the organization, and Jim Foxgrover and Bob Lax were the coordinators. Jim Barclay was vice-president, and Bill Rickert acted as treasurer.

SOCIAL BUREAU

Sponsoring of all-college social activities was the major duty of the Social Bureau headed by Bill Dwine. Floyd Damman, vice-president, and Vivian Mukin, secretary, assisted in getting things done socially at Iowa State. The bureau initiated the dance classes given once a week each quarter under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Werbllosky of Des Moines.

Social Bureau is essentially a service bureau to help any group of 15 or more students start a club or study project. It also aids in bringing entertainment to the campus. The all-college musicale, "Girl Crazy," Fun Nights at the Women's Gym, Intra-Campus Quartette Sing, and trips to the KRNT Radio Theater in Des Moines were all a result of the bureau's work.

PUBLICATION

Acting as a guide for the Bomb, the Bomb Publication Board is headed by President Bob Axthelm and Secretary Bob Wilde. The main job of the board is to give editorial advice, but it also assigns positions, checks reports, and approves applications for the yearbook.

The editor and business manager of the Bomb are automatically members of the board. There are five other student members elected by the student body who serve until their graduation. Professor K. R. Marvin and Mr. R. A. Evans are advisors.

Besides giving editorial advice, the Bomb Publication Board sponsors the Bomb Beauty Ball given every year. They also decide how the Bomb Beauty candidates will be chosen.

BOARDS

Both editorial and business staffs were advised by the Iowa State Daily Publication Board. The board gave final approval to expenditures, contracts, and other business actions instituted by the newspaper.

Headed by Chairman Edward J. Knorr and Secretary Ruth H. Hackett, the board considered all applications submitted for major positions on the publication. The board also helped determine the editorial policy of the Daily by reviewing current trends and making suggestions for future action on the part of the editorial staff.

Voting members of the board were students Ray Dankenbring, Ruth Hackett, Cliff McBride, Quentin McDonald, and John McElhinney, and faculty members Ken Marvin and A. O. Starbuck. Ex-officio members included Frank Berry, of the College Press, Prof. Rod Fox, Editor Tom Murrane, and Business Manager Bill Giese.

1948 BOMB

Thousands of man-hours were logged in the east end of the College Press Building by the editorial staff of the 1948 Bomb under the leadership of Editor Jim Senger. Jim, ably assisted by Editorial Advisor Sherron Boyer and Managing Editor Ted Hartman, planned and published a year-book that contained an accurate record of the year's college activities and a record-breaking number of pictures.

In charge of getting the multitudinous number of pictures taken were Photography Editor Dave Garfield and Head Photographer Roland Simpson. Associate Editors Nancy Early and Don Bice were responsible for planning the layouts and copy.

1948 BOMB

A new system for dispensing Bombs in the spring diminished the work of the business staff this year. Under the new system a free Bomb is given to each student who was registered in senior college either fall or spring quarter. Formerly, in order to determine the eligibility of each student, the business staff was required to keep a record of the number of quarters he spent in college.

Business Manager Tom Maney effectively guided his staff in making debits equal credits and in selling the Bomb during fall quarter. The 75 salesmen made enough sales to guarantee a printing order of 5,850, largest in the book's history.

IOWA STATE

With the official dropping of "Student" from the mast head, the Daily Student became the Iowa State Daily at the beginning of fall quarter.

Following Lee Schwanz's graduation in December, Tom Murrane moved into the editor's office. Dick Hanson took over the managing editor's duties, while Bob Oel-berg shifted to the sports editor's corner.

Editing women's news was Ruth Hackett. With John Heer and Fred Berggren handling the wire news, Society Editor Susan Menne guided the social coverage for the Daily. John Anderson, Ray Dankenbring, Fred Young, Martin Healy, Bob Parker, and Shirliann Fortman were issue editors.

DICK HANSON, Managing Editor

More than 80 sophomore journalism aspirants, who received concurrent training in journalism classes in the department of technical journalism, bolstered the editorial staff to the largest number in the history of the newspaper.

Along the promotional lines, the Daily continued to sponsor the annual spring style revues under the direction of Irene Meyer. Campus surveys and Daily polls supplemented staff activities.

Business management of the Daily was in the hands of several staffs during the past year. Bill Giese took the top spot for the summer and came back to the job winter quarter.

Summer Ad Manager George Rusk came back winter quarter to promote the classified section. Former Ad Manager Dick Bell moved into the theater manager position.

Most of the issue managers defied the staff changes with only big Tom Southard and Carol Slothower stepping in as newcomers. Five new positions winter quarter as office managers were filled by Chris Thompson, Laura Whitefield, Margaret Stevesson, Betty Bacon, and Wendell Voss.

as credit manager to slice receivables from the Daily's books.

John McElhinney, who carried national advertising all the way, added a new job winter quarter as personnel manager. Advertising promotion manager, George Evans, brought new ideas into the Daily's service to advertisers.

Heading the Homemaker staff were Betsy Nichols, director; Doris Adams, editor; and Nancy Baker, Joyce Edgar, and Margery Saunders, associate editors. They instituted monthly surveys to find out readership of both editorial and advertising copy. Publishing eight issues, the staff chose material to interest student and outside readers.

With Ruth Hackett as associate editor, Dycie Stough as art editor, and Terry Hallagan as business manager, the staff produced three issues of Sketch. Original poems and prose contributed by literary minded students were chosen as examples of Iowa State's creative work. With the December issue, a series of invitational comments by prominent graduates was initiated.

Cardinal Key, men's honorary for juniors and seniors, is headed by President Ronnie Norman and Treasurer Chet Randolph.

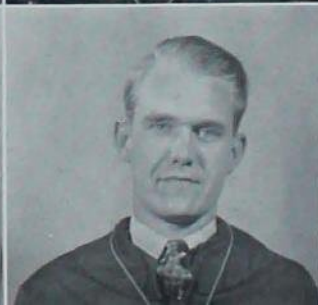

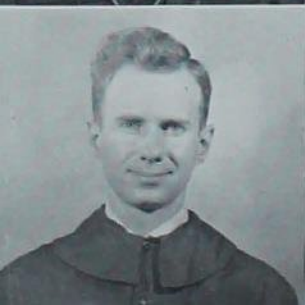

Each spring quarter the organization sponsors Leadership Day at which time two-hundred men outstanding in activities are invited to the Leadership Day Banquet. From these men the finalists for Cardinal Key are selected.

Mortar Board, women's honorary, was the group which saw the need on Iowa State's campus for a men's honorary similar to its own. The two groups tap their members simultaneously under the campanile during Veishea.

Twelve members, six chosen from the junior class and six from the senior class, are selected each year. Leadership in campus activities, service on campus, character, and scholarship are the four points on which membership in Cardinal Key is based.

Under the guidance of Mortar Board, Iowa State women took over the leadership of the campus on the annual Women's Day, March 4. Men were shoved into obscurity for a day as women took over all positions on the Iowa State Daily and filled the administrative positions of the student governing body, Cardinal Guild. ALPHA ZETA Founded November 4, 1897, the national chapter of Alpha Zeta celebrated its golden anniversary last year. Riley Gillette, Tom Clague, and Clair Cook represented Iowa State at the celebration held at the founding place, Ohio State University.

Highlight of fall quarter activities was the initiation banquet for 33 new members. Cedric Hall, '26, was the main speaker, telling the group of his trip to England and Europe with the 22 Iowa farmers who studied agriculture conditions abroad.

Beginning winter quarter, Alpha Zeta held two meetings each month, devoting one to business and the other to a program centered around an outside speaker.

Members of the agriculture honorary are selected on the basis of their scholarship, fellowship and character. Purpose of the society is to promote the profession of Agriculture and to develop high standards of character and leadership among its members.

Baking and selling Christmas fruit cakes was one of the projects of this national professional home economics fraternity. The group also designed and made Christmas cards to send to its alumnae.

With Carol Josephson as president and Mary Ellen Watt as vice-president, the 53 members of the organization sponsored events connected with home economics and held two meetings each month. On February 11 the group celebrated Founders' Day with a dinner at the home of Dr. Nichols. They also co-sponsored the Ellen H. Richards Day dinner. A picnic for all members held during spring quarter rounded out the list of activities for the year.

Members are chosen from the junior class on the basis of activities and scholarship. The organization was established to strengthen the bonds of friendship, to promote development of its members, and to advance and promote the profession of home economics.

TAU BETA PI

Tau Beta Pi, national engineering honorary, again recognized students outstanding in scholarship and activities by pledging worthy men in the fall and spring. Other requirements for membership that are just as important are integrity, breadth of interest, and adaptability.

Under the leadership of President Dick Malek the active members provided an active probation week for the pledge classes. Wearing the traditional brown and white robes, the pledges laid out the "bent" on engineering campus, sang on the steps of campus buildings at noon, and underwent several problems sessions. The chapter sponsored the Engineers' Banquet in the spring.

DELTA PHI DELTA

Stimulating potential professional art abilities was the main objective of the honorary art fraternity, Delta Phi Delta. Led by President Phyllis Mitchell, the group held the annual Christmas Bazaar and also made and sold Mother's Day cards. The twenty-two members of the fraternity were chosen for high scholarship and art ability. Miss Edna O'Brien was the faculty advisor backing the group.

ETA KAPPA NU

Seventeen men were initiated into Eta Kappa Nu, electrical engineering honorary, during the year. The fraternity, headed by President Glen Rapp, had a booth at the Engineering Carnival, participated in Honors Day presentations, and assisted with Veishea Open House. Also in the year's plans was the dedication of a display case to the EE Department. The purpose of the group is to bring men in the EE field into closer union.

PI MU EPSILON

Forty of the 120 campus members of Pi Mu Epsilon, national mathematics honorary, were undergraduates. Sponsoring and supporting the mathematics club was the main activity of the group. They planned programs to entertain freshmen and sophomores interested in mathematics and stressed scholarship. At the Honor's Day Banquet, the fraternity awarded prizes to freshmen and sophomore students with high grades.

PHI MU ALPHA

Under the leadership of President Jim Kopke the men's music honorary of Iowa State experienced another great year. The annual Harmony Ball sponsored by the organization was a huge success as was the Interfraternity Sing. As if to prove their ability in the field of music, four club members entered and won first place in the Barbershop Quartet contest held during winter quarter.

THE ARTS

The Iowa State Concert Band

Band made annual concert tour and instilled pep at athletic events

ISC BAND

Touring the state between winter and spring quarters was one of the main activities of Concert Band. They also played a concert each quarter during the year and appeared in Stars over Veishea.

Leading the group was Prof. A. R. Edgar, assisted by Harry R. Holmberg. The band featured many soloists among whom were Dick Waltz, trumpet player; Don Niemand, trombonist, and Ada Beister, flutist. President Dick Waltz headed the Concert Band with Don Niemand as vice-president.

Marching band was seen at all football games, at Homecoming, and at the Veishea parade. It also appeared between halves of the Drake football game in Des Moines.

Symphonic and popular concerts highlighted orchestra's musical season

Harriet Porter, mezzo-soprano, was featured at the orchestra's fall concert. The winter quarter concert's soloist was Ilza Niemack, violinist of the music department. The sixty piece Iowa State College Symphony was under the direction of Prof. Alvin R. Edgar with Prof. Eugene Hillgoss, assistant director.

Seven concerts played in the high school auditoriums at Mason City, Charles City, Grinnell, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Boone, and Fort Dodge comprised the tenth annual winter orchestra tour.

President Ada Biester presided over business meetings of the orchestra. Other officers were Mary Ann Paulu, vice-president; Lloyd Sease, secretary; and James Kopke, treasurer.

RELIGION IN LIFE

Dr. Edgar DeWitt Jones, famed lecturer and speaker, was the main attraction during Religion In Life Week January 12 to 18. He spoke at an all-college convocation on the subject "The Most Unforgettable Person I Know." A three-day series of informal talks in organized houses highlighted the first part of the week set aside for religion. Faculty members, local ministers, and church laymen spoke to groups and held discussions.

Heading the Religion In Life Week committee was Max Smith. Morning matins over Radio Station WOI featured both student and faculty speakers, and the South Ball Room, Memorial Union, was the scene of morning chapel from 7:35 to 7:55 each morning during the week. All other college functions were cancelled in order that students might take full advantage of the week devoted to religion.

1947 FOOTBALL

In his first year as Cyclone grid mentor Coach Abe Stuber brought a fighting and spirited brand of football to Iowa State. Never outfought, the Stuber men in winning three out of nine games were usually long in first downs and short in scores. With co-captains Vic Weber and Harley Rollinger spearheading the attack, the Cardinal and Gold gridders' fast moving and intricate plays provided thrills aplenty.

After downing Iowa State Teachers in the season's opener, a touchdown scarcity beset the squad. Colorado and Kansas provided successive stumbling blocks and then the team lost a heartbreaker to Nebraska. Although completely blanked as to first downs, the Huskers managed to convert two second half Cyclone lapses into gloom for Iowa State. Missouri's Tigers effectively spiked Homecoming hopes but the season ended on a cheerful note with victories over Drake and Kansas State. Iowa State's Webb Halbert won recognition as a halfback on the all-conference first team.

Webb Halbert listens in as Coach Stuber tells how it's done.

Although Vic Weber almost lost his head over the football game, the Cyclones downed Iowa State Teachers in the season's opener.

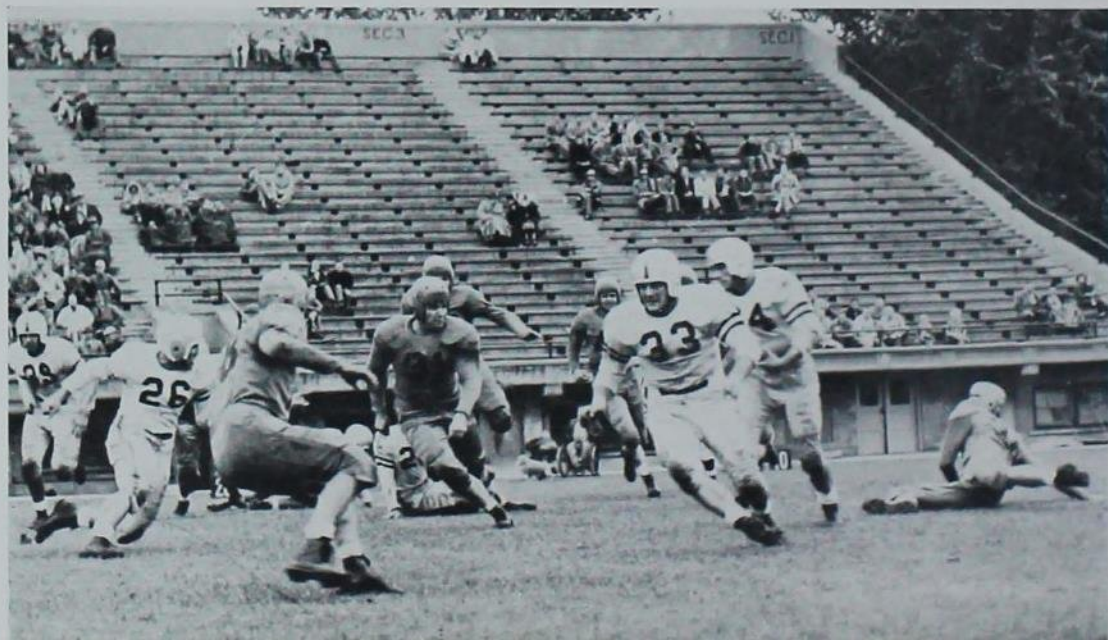

ISC 31, ISTC 14

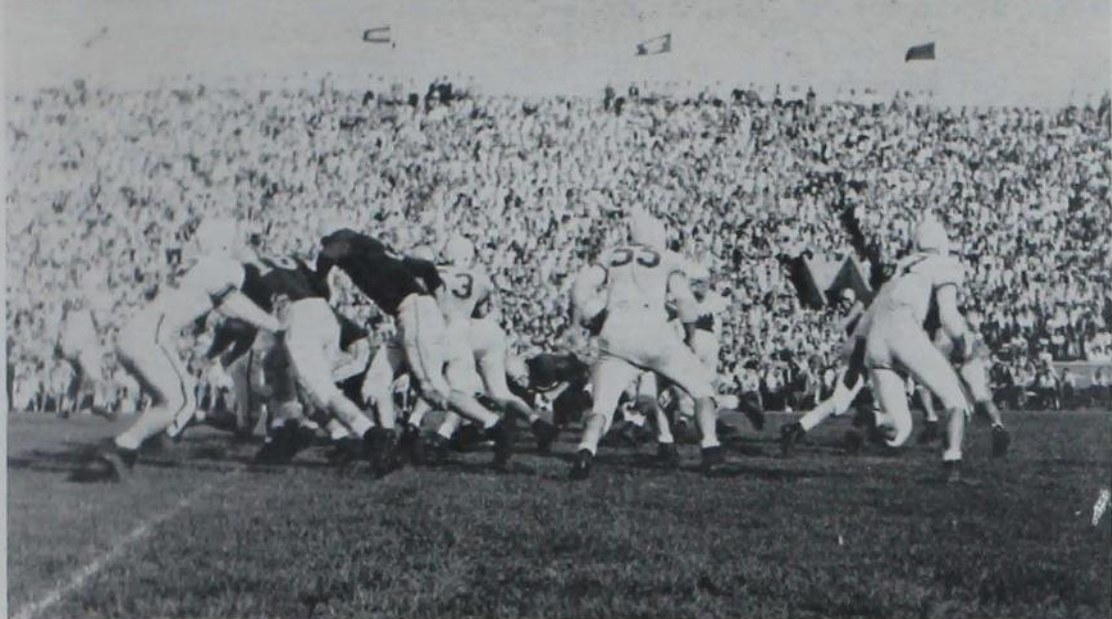

Aided chiefly by Ron Norman's spectacular passing and the fancy running of Webb Halbert, the Cyclones overwhelmed Iowa State Teachers in Coach Stuber's inaugural game. The team's crowd-pleasing brand of football completely fooled the Panthers. Assisting Norman on the receiving end of his passes were Bob Jensen and Dean Laun. Tackles Harley Rollinger and Tom Southard stood out in the forward wall.

ISC 0, COLORADO 7

During most of the play Iowa State out-charged the Buffaloes of Colorado making thirteen first downs to their opponents eight. A tie for the Cyclones seemed possible until the Colorado defense tightened and held on twelve inch line with seconds remaining to play. Ron Norman's outstanding passing during this final touchdown drive highlighted the game. Webb Halbert's center smash fell inches short of the goal line.

Joe Brubaker starts to do something about a host of would-be Colorado tacklers.

A horde of the white clad opposition try to block a Cyclone pass.

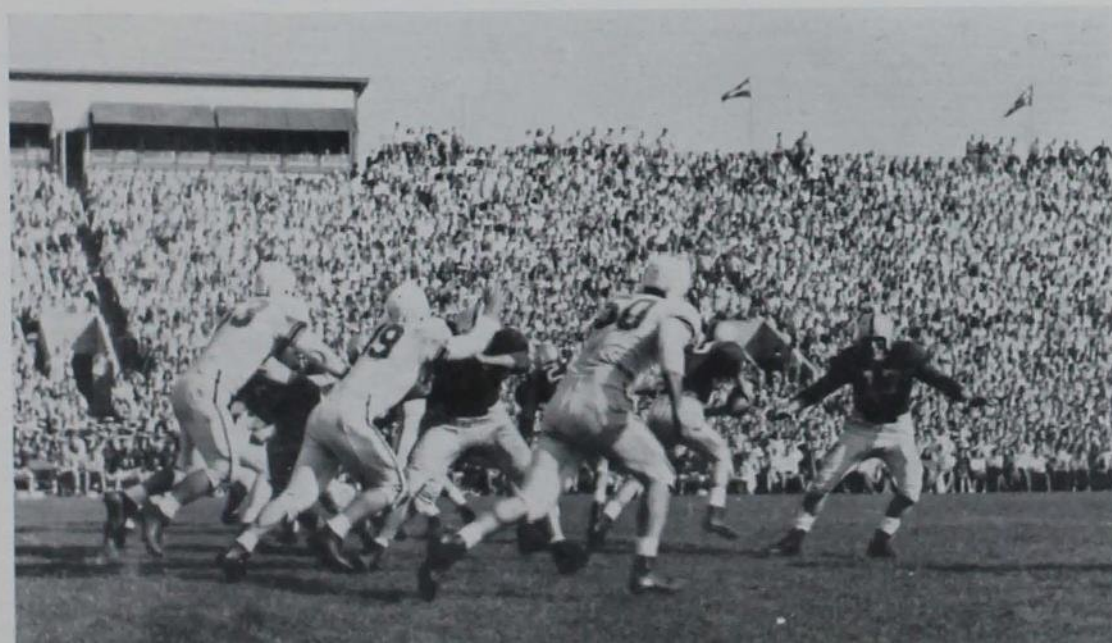

ISC 7, KANSAS 27

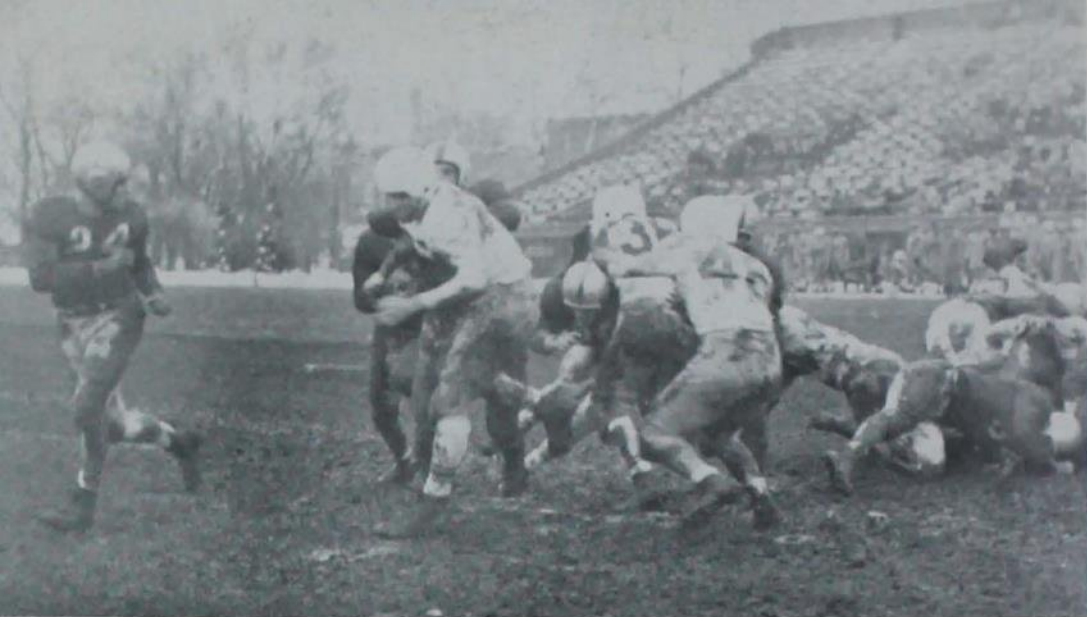

Featuring a sixty yard touchdown pass from Johnny Griffith to end Dean Laun, the Cyclones dominated play in the first period. The Kansas eleven then unleashed their vaunted passing attack to score twice in both the second and fourth quarters. Led by All-American Ray Evans, the Jayhawkers completed six of nine aerial attempts. Dean Laun's pass receiving and the running of fullback Ray Klootwyk stood out for ISC.

ISC 7, NEBRASKA 14

Although this game went down as a Nebraska victory, the Cornhuskers were a thoroughly beaten team at the finish. In every department the Cyclones manhandled their larger opponents, but two bad breaks ended the team's hopes for a victory. A bad pass from center and a blocked kick were converted into touchdowns by Nebraska. Tom Southard was a power in the line, and Bill Chauncey contributed the touchdown.

Bill Chauncey gets ready to stop the Nebraska rush for passer Ron Norman.

A slightly muddy Vic Weber looks back on the play in the Kansas State game.

ISC 14, KAN. STATE 0

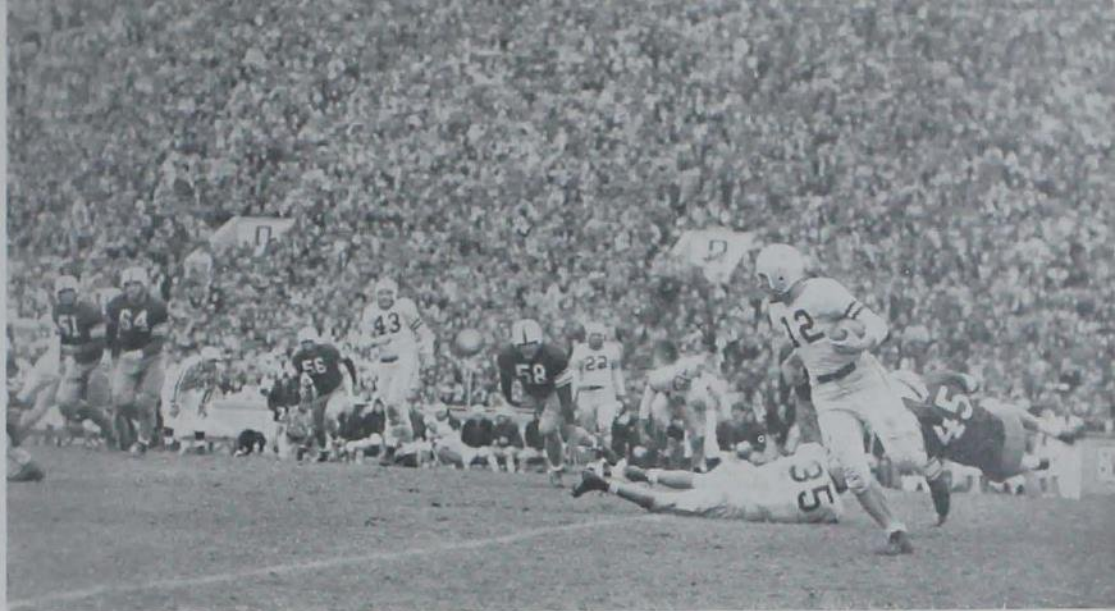

The Cyclones ended the 1947 season with a decisive victory on a snow covered field. Slipping and sliding in the mud, the Cyclones made fifteen first downs to their opponents four and dominated play during most of the game. Both touchdowns came within three minutes of each other in the thrill packed second quarter. Webb Halbert first scored from the one and a moment later Norman hit on a pass to Weber.

ISC 7, MISSOURI 26

A continuous shower and the Missouri Tigers ruined Iowa State's hopes for a successful Homecoming. The Cyclones took over momentarily in the last half as Don Ferguson completed three passes to Jensen to set up the lone score; Halbert went over from the six. The Missourians divided their scoring by tallying in both halves. Chauncey's running as well as Ferguson's passing sparked our offensive.

Iowa State's all-conference Webb Halbert leads a Cyclone offensive against Missouri.

While Ray Klootwyk sends a Sooner flying, Iowa State's Chris Steinbach starts the long trek upfield.

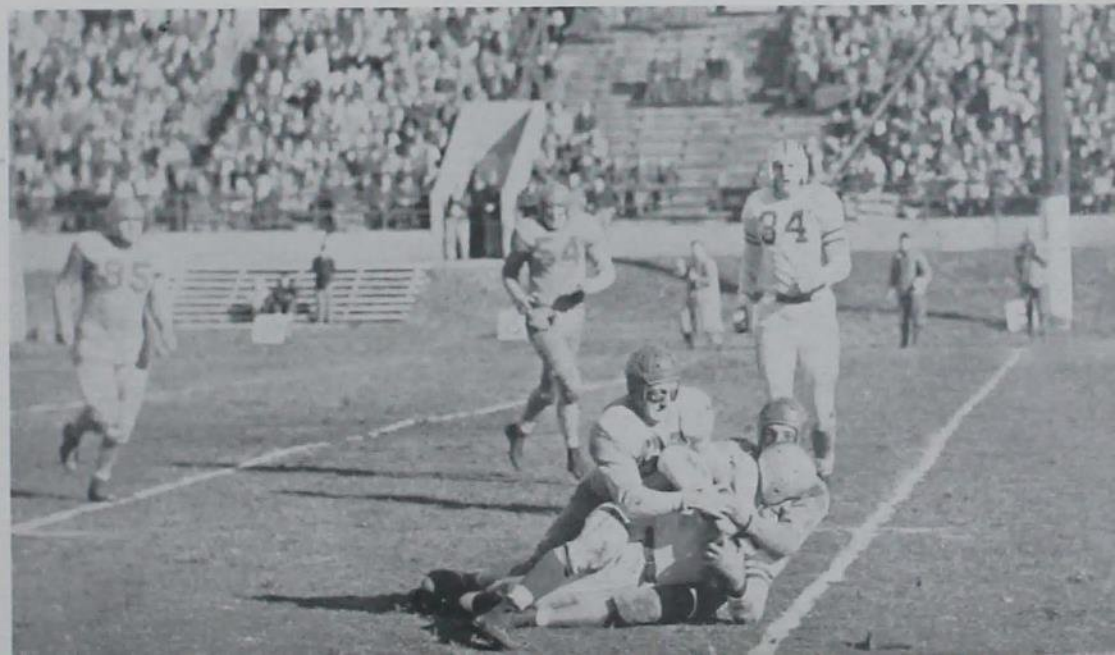

ISC 9, OKLAHOMA 27

A determined Cyclone squad jumped off to an early 3-0 lead when Rollinger converted a difficult field goal in the initial period. Hopes for a major upset were short lived however, for Oklahoma then broke loose a powerful offensive. The Cyclones' only other score came after a dazzling fifty-seven yard run by Halbert. An incomplete goal line pass from Norman to Jensen ended Iowa State's final threat.

ISC 36, DRAKE 0

A third string fullback provided a run that thrilled the crowd and ended a very successful day for the Cyclones. The Bulldogs managed to make only one first down against the smooth working Iowa State eleven. To climax the game scoring substitute Clarence Carney picked the ball up on his own eighteen and carried it to the Drake thirty before lateraling to a teammate for the score.

Bob Jensen can't decide whether this is a football game or wrestling match against Drake, but the Cyclones won just the same.

Ron Norman gets off a high one as opposing linemen rush in.

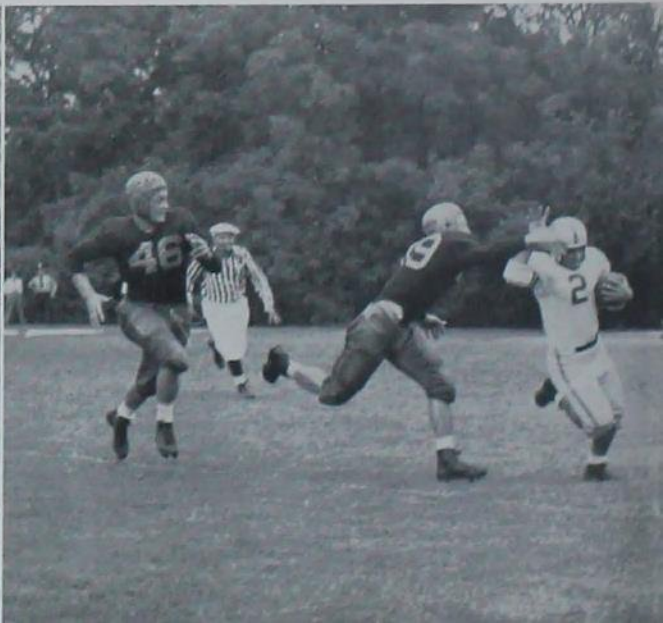

FOOTBALL HIGHLIGHTS

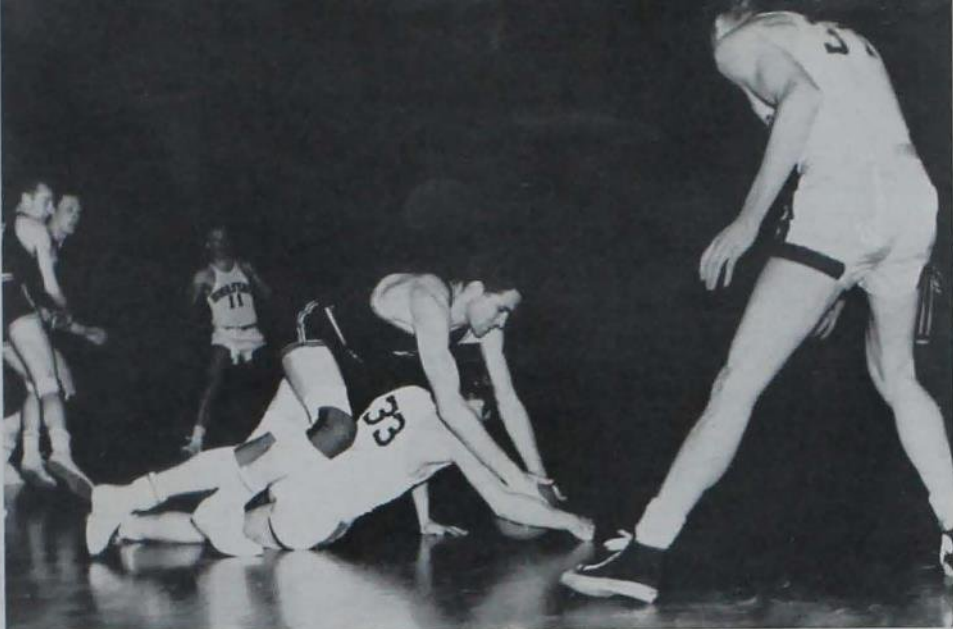

At the close of the 1947 football season there was a definite air of optimism on the Iowa State campus. The fighting spirit and determination displayed by the squad somewhat offset the balance of the past defeats. In keeping with the new look in Cyclone grid fortunes, the Stubermen managed to outplay many of their opponents. The old refrain of "wait till next season" seemed to be nearer fulfillment than in past years.

SEASON'S PLAY

The basketball season also presented a new coach to Iowa State fans. Chick Sutherland in his first year as cage mentor produced a team that alternately flashed hot and cold. Because of the large number of returning lettermen, the Cyclones were able to alternate two teams with about equal effectiveness. Lacking any exceptional height, Coach Sutherland had to depend on speed and simply outrun the opposition. In posting a final record of 14 wins and 9 losses the squad showed balanced scoring power; if several nights when shooting lapses bothered the squad could have been omitted, the summary would be considerably improved. In the Big Seven tournament at Kansas City the Cyclones got off to a slow start and won only one game, but during the Christmas vacation they came up to expectations by twice topping a Michigan team that was to ultimately become the Big Nine basketball kings. Swinging into conference play, the team defeated Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska, and Oklahoma once and Missouri twice.

In a season of fast basketball action, the last minute stalls of the Cyclones provided many exciting moments. Iowa State's two diminutive guards, Don Ferguson and Bob Petersen, managed to drive the opposing players crazy with their fancy dribbling. The desperate attempts of the other teams to get the ball, the twisting and turning of Iowa State's two little men, and the roars of the crowd always managed to provide a fast and furious finish to the game.

1948 SWIMMING

Sporting an all-letterman team the Cyclone swimmers had one of the most successful seasons in many years. Under the guidance of Coach Jack McGuire, the team lost only two dual meets during regular competition, one to Minnesota and another to a great Michigan State team.

The biggest event of the season was the conference meet at Nebraska and the Cyclone crew made it even more memorable by sweeping through and winning almost without competition. Of the nine possible titles the team won all but two and in doing so set many new records.

In capturing the conference crown, Iowa State garnered eighty points, forty more than the nearest opponent, for a new record in itself.

In his first full year as baseball coach since the war, Cap Timm brought the Cyclones into fifth place in the conference with seven wins and six losses. Hampered by cold and rainy weather in their early drills, the squad did not begin to round into shape until late in the season. Seeming to play in a series of ups and downs, the team usually managed to split a pair of games with the opposition. Don Paulsen, Jack Buchner, Don Froehle, and Dave Jones were among the leading hitters while Ben Anderson, Jim Hogue, and Ralph Theobald topped the pitching staff.

In a close race Kansas State edges out the Cyclone speedsters.

Jim Bean's times in dashes gave an indication of future record breaking Weakened by winter graduation losses, the Cyclone trackmen found tough going in the conference and dual meets during the spring. Among the bright spots in the season were several record equaling performances by the thinclads. Chris Steinbach tied an old school mark set in 1932 for the low hurdles. Don Smith and Dwayne Feeken took first and second honors in the high jump at all dual meets held during the outdoor season. Iowa State's quartermile and mile relay teams composed of Bob Lary, Bob Magill, Phil Wright, and John Alexander were outstanding; their only defeat coming at the hands of Missouri's great mile quartet in the conference meet. Bud Everett's performances in the mile were also promising.

During the indoor track season, Iowa State outpointed Drake and Iowa State Teachers and lost a dual meet to Nebraska. Continuing his winning outdoor ways, Chris Steinbach went on to break two state A.A.U. records in the low and high hurdles. Don Smith's showing in the high jump at the conference and dual meets ranked him among the great jumpers in Iowa State history. The fall cross country conference meet held at Ames was somewhat slowed down by a snowy and muddy track. During the season, however, the Cyclone harriers managed to capture two out of three dual runs, a one point margin at Missouri causing their only defeat.

1948 WRESTLING

During the past season Iowa State became the wrestling center of the country. Besides being selected as the site for the final Olympic tryouts in the spring, Coach Hugo Otopalik of the Cyclones was chosen as chairman of the National A.A.U. wrestling committee and as a member of the Olympic wrestling board.

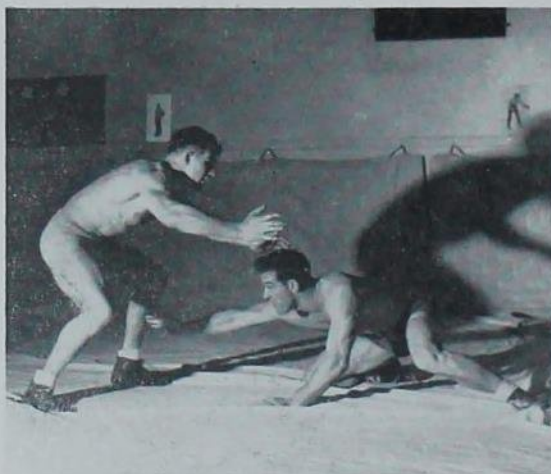

The Cyclone team grappled through a fairly successful season to win third place in the conference meet at Colorado and to finish with a dual meet record of five wins, five losses, and one tie.

Outstanding for Iowa State was Glen Brand who was ranked among the great wrestlers in Cyclone history. Defeated only once in dual competition during his college career, Brand went on to win the conference and National Collegiate titles. In taking the National crown, he won three matches by falls and one by a decision. His fast moving and spectacular style was the featured highlight of each meet.

Jack McGuire took over as coach for 1947 and guided the golf squad to one of its most successful seasons in many years. WOMEN'S "I" FRATERNITY

Athletic honorary for women, the Women's "I" Fraternity, this year was under the able direction of Mary Jean Otopalik, president. The girls sold Homecoming Mums and also undertook the Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Drive with Gene Carr serving as co-chairman. To become a member of "I" Fraternity a girl must first earn her "I" through activity in WAA Clubs for six quarters. Then if she has a high grade point and has done outstanding work in other organizations, she may be considered for "I" Fraternity. Dr. Germaine Guiot, head of Physical Education for Women, serves as faculty adviser of the group.

All women on campus who wish to participate in individual and group sports may do so through the Women's Athletic Association. The association, active on campus for over forty years, is made up of eight clubs representing the different sports. Governing body of the association is the WAA Council which is made up of the presidents of each club and the council officers. Among the activities of the WAA which the council plans are "play days" for women students at which time women may participate in activities such as swimming, badminton, and table tennis. WAA Awards for outstanding participation in sports are also made at these "play days." This year Marge Smith served as president of WAA Council and assisting her were Scottie Merrick, vice president, Mary Ellen Watt, secretary, and Jean Lockwood, treasurer.

The purpose of intramural activities is to include as many students as possible in the fun of participating in sports. Last year over 1,000 students were included. The Women's Intramural Board, led by Levon Garrison, president, was comprised of one representative from each organized house and dorm, and a town girl representative. The board planned nine tournaments during the year.

Table tennis champs were the Pi Phi's.

Freshmen get the word at a convocation in the armory.

The first thing to catch the eye of any sophisticated sophomore on his return to school in the fall is the droves of wandering freshmen overrunning the campus. These girls with new wardrobes and guys with high school letter sweaters are enduring that arduous introduction to ISC known as "Freshmen Days." Entrance exams, convocations, rush dates, and finally the Registration Dance will keep their minds in a state of constant turmoil and confusion for three full days.

Freshmen took over campus for a week to get acquainted with ISC

A private cheering section was provided for each contestant at the pie eating contest during the Freshmen Mixer.

There's always a smile and a hearty handshake for a rushee at the Delta Tau Delta house.

REGISTRATION

Registration is synonymous with "rude awakening" in the minds of most Iowa State students. After a leisurely summer away from "Science with Practice" and all that it stands for, we return to the old alma mater with joy in our hearts and fairly dripping with school spirit only to have a mountainous stack of forms thrust into our hands by the registrar. No doubt some events that will live longest in our memories occur during these trying days. After all, it's not easy to forget such things as seven o'clock turn cards and veterans' book lines.

Girls trade dollars for education.

Horrors of registration and book lines decreased due to efficient handling

Veterans devise new angles for getting that extra pencil without paying.

The big moment comes as students receive their time cards.

During 1947 and '48 our campus was honored by the visits of many famous personages. Their appearances here were due to a variety of reasons ranging from appearances on the artist or lecture series to hastening our contributions toward the Friendship Train.

Speakers at various functions during the school year included Admiral Richard E. Byrd, columnist Robert St. John, news analyst Drew Pearson, and Senator Bourke Hickenlooper of Iowa. From the world of music we welcomed such men as Morton Gould and Dmitri Metropoulis, director of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra.

Drew Pearson thanks Ames for contributions to the Friendship Train.

SUMMER SCHOOL

The 1947 edition of summer school will go down in the annals of history as one of the hottest, driest, and most miserable endured by college students. For three solid months our rain thirsty campus and vacation hungry students sweltered in temperatures approaching 105 degrees; in fact, the only green grass on the campus existed on the watered fairways of the college golf course.

This same golf course furnished a break in the daily grind with the holding of the Iowa Master's Golf Tournament in mid-July. Another much appreciated recreation was the Summer Artist Series which drew large crowds. Despite these few high points, it was with a sigh of relief and a loud "Never again!" that we left for home in August.

UNION LAB

This most popular of all courses, Union Lab, is required in every curriculum offered at ISC. In fact, it almost goes without saying that one could not expect to receive his degree from this institution if he had not developed the faculties of table-hopping and squeezing that tenth chair around a table that was meant for only four.

Truly our Union does live up to its name,

The Hub of the Campus. It serves as a site for meetings, dances, concerts, Campus Varieties and, above all, just plain loafing. Everyone from the youngest freshman to the oldest senior knows all there is to know about the Union. We know you can always find a bridge game, an argument, or a date, and we're sure that the people on these pages will be there no matter when you drop in.

The Union Grill—where the elite meet but don't eat.

Marian Dawson shows Jim Senger the result of not making a date for the Engineers' Carnival.

UNION LAB

The Union has long been the site of many and varied happenings . . . the past school year has seen no change take place. People have strolled in casually for cokes or loafed in the West Lounge; others have stormed in throwing pie or sans trousers as advertisement for the Engineer's Carnival or some similiar campus function. You don't know what to expect when you enter, but it's always fun.

You can't beat the coziness of the West Lounge.

Interesting speakers and good coffee maintain the popularity of the Coffee Forum.

"Twirling Ted" Smirniotis demonstrates his championship form.

"More to watch than a three ring circus" is an overworked phrase that aptly applies to the entertainment offered by the students of ISC for the students. National champion baton twirler Ted Smirniotis, strong man Ray Klootwyk, and dancers and vocalists galore shared the spotlight at various campus programs. The greatest extravaganza of the year was, of course, the traditional Stars over Veishea production.

When all else failed we were also quite adept at entertaining ourselves. As proof of this it is necessary only to recall the Harvest Ball, the Engineers' Ball, and any number of others plus the Engineers' and I Club carnivals.

Stars Over Feishea vocalists make with the sweet notes.

This action sums up completely the spirit of ISC.

ENTERTAINMENT

LAUGHTER, WOMEN, AND

The "Youth on the Campus" section of the Chicago Sunday Tribune in a feature story about Iowa State made the statement that "the college social life is largely self-contained since the small town of Ames offers little in the way of amusements." In answer to this statement we can only say, "Brother, you ain't kidding!"

However, we will go on to add that we're not complaining either, for fun is found wherever one looks for it. In the case of ISC bright lights, women, and good times centered around functions in the Union and parties sponsored by the various organized groups and houses. Such events as Campus Varieties and the Sor-Dor and Fraternity Sings furnished welcome entertainment.

SONG NO WINE

Several happenings during the past year merit special mention, of course. To cite a few examples we need only to recall the various "girly shows" presented in Varieties. Where else could one hope to see such an educated burlesque playing weekly shows with chorus lines composed entirely of girls with college educations—all for only ten cents too. With such a situation existing it was easy to predict that a male group would stand little chance of annexing the trophy.

The Union Night Club was also opened during the past year. Nothing, however, came quite so close to the student heart as that simple well-chosen phrase which was used as the title of the intermission show at the Engineers' Carnival—"Take It or Shove It."

MR. ALBERTO VARGAS

The utmost cooperation was shown the 1948 BOMB by the creator of the famed Varga Girl in his selection of the 1948 Beauties. In his correspondence with the staff members Mr. Varga remarked . . . "In view of my unbounded admiration of the American girl I considered it a great pleasure to be allowed to select the yearbook queens for your great school. However, it was indeed difficult to single out four finalists from among the eight lovely girls whose photographs were submitted."

... and year in and year out some things were unchanging in their presentation and enjoyment. In fact, it wouldn't seem right if Veishea or Homecoming or queen elections were varied . . .

TRADITIONS

1947 VEISHEA

Introduced by the theme "Veishea Views Tomorrow" the 1947 spectacle proved to be an exceedingly enjoyable albeit very damp weekend. Opening ceremonies featured the presentation of the first 1947 Bomb and an introduction of the Veishea Queen of Queens, Jane Thomas. After this noble start, however, the rains came and future memories of the great occasion will inevitably include quantities of mud and water.

Frequently though, the rain subsided long enough for scheduled events to take place. The opening day saw the final heats of the Lake LaVerne boat races and a fine outdoor concert by Ray McKinley and his orchestra. Ray and his boys furnished excellent music at the Veishea dances as well.

Though dampened by heavy rains 1947 Veishea was biggest and best ever

And the horse isn't

*The Highlanders start the Veishea parade

Boat races convinced many that outboards were more practical than paddles.

1947 VEISHEA

No doubt the high point of the entire Veishea weekend was the colorful parade of floats that rolled past the queen's throne at Beardshear Hall on Saturday morning. Winning the sweepstakes trophy was the swan and cygnets float entered by SAE. Many of the floats were damaged by the heavy rains, but the swan along with the prize winning Phi Delt, Alumni Hall, and Chi Omega floats weathered the storm without damage. Many persons felt, however, that the Veishea slogan might well have been "Iowa State Washes Away." Therefore the 1948 committee has endeavored to move as many events as possible indoors.

As usual Veishea Vodvil and Stars over Veishea were crowded at all performances. These two events along with the Horse Show furnished excellent entertainment for students and campus visitors alike.

Prize-winning floats pass before the judges stand.

The Home Ec open house furnished a free meal as well as a cordial welcome.

Theater lovers found ample entertainment in the presentation of "Our Town."

1947 VEISHEA

The open houses held by each department and by all organized residences symbolized very well the true purpose of Veishea—the showing off of our school to all visitors. Through this means our parents and friends are enabled to see Iowa State and all that goes with it in the short space of three days. They can view the school itself via the open houses; they can find entertainment of many types. They can sense the traditions of the college through the Mortar Board and Cardinal Key tappings, and they can see our athletic teams in action against the teams of other Big Seven schools. Certainly the 1948 Central Committee could have chosen no better slogan than "Iowa State at Home."

Enlow Ose and John Furman, chairman and business manager respectively in 1947, were succeeded by Alex Edwards and Tom Schultz who are responsible for the 1948 edition of the traditional event.

By way of contrast Veishea Vodvil offered chorus lines of either the Oak Hall or Sigma Nu style.

HOMECOMING

Queen Mary Alice Johnson and attendants Dorothy Woodin and Viv Mukin smile but keep mum.

After the wet, soggy Veishea weekend all Iowa State students were certain that it just wouldn't be possible for rain to spoil another big event. How near to being wrong we were! Rain came down in torrents all weekend, but despite that, the 1948 Homecoming was still a huge success. After the practice obtained during Veishea it was a simple matter for ISC to waterproof itself against the elements and concentrate on having fun.

The opening evening saw the pajama races and Pep Barbecue held inside the Armory. There were few complaints though because the food was good and spirits were high as we chanted "One, two, Beat Missou."

Like Veishea, the 1948 Homecoming celebration proved a wet weekend

HOMECOMING

That same barbecue and pep meet also gave us our first glimpse of Pep Queen Mary Alice Johnson and her attendants, Viv Mukin and Dorothy Woodin. Abe Stuber summed up the team's chances for the game on the following day, and the crowd followed the band to the traditional bonfire which sputtered bravely for a few short minutes before succumbing to the rain.

Naturally, many of the decorations suffered from the rain, but a surprising number of them were undamaged and their clever ideas were among the best in recent years. Everything connected with Missouri from Harry Truman to tigers worked its way into the displays.

Tex Beneke did everything but melt the keys when he cut loose with that torrid sax.

Students mourned loss to Missouri but were revitalized by Tex Beneke

Theta Chi's decoration scored as well as Missouri and took first place trophy.

Delta Tau Delta directed cutting remarks toward the Tigers.

Look at those gals put away those pep barbecues.

Tex and the Modernaires pep up the Pep Prom.

A strip tease on the run occurred at the traditional pajama races.

HOME COMING

The major Homecoming event was, of course, the Saturday afternoon game with the Missouri Tigers. The Cyclones were backed by thousands of wildly cheering students but were unable to overcome Missouri's superior depth in reserves and eventually went down in defeat. Muddy going hampered Iowa State's passing throughout the game, but the rain stayed away until late in the fourth quarter.

Halftime entertainment was furnished by the Marching Band which performed many intricate maneuvers as well as treating students and alumni to the best in college songs. Cyclone football captains of years past were also introduced to the crowd.

At the close of the game spectators and players alike vowed that 1949 would see Abe's team beat his old alma mater.

Coach Abe Stuber threatens Missouri, his alma mater, with defeat.

Barbecue lines moved into the armory, but food was still good.

HOMECOMING

Chairman of the 1948 Homecoming Committee was Bob Kenworthy whose job it was to plan the busy weekend. Dance chairman Leonard Ranch furnished ISC with a surprise that was to be one of the year's highlights when he brought Tex Beneke and his Glenn Miller orchestra here for a two-night stand. Tex lived up to every expectation and was claimed by many to be the best dance band ever to play on the campus.

Money man for Homecoming was Business Manager Tom Schultz. After a few days of worry Tom balanced the books with black ink to make the event a success officially. Publicity was handled by Russ Helms, and Dick Mannheimer kept himself and several hundred other people busy with open houses.

Top: Gander sales contest winner gets the goose. Lower: Queens and escorts flash a "victory-we-hope" smile.

KINGS AND QUEENS

Once again the passing of a school year found an abundance of kings and queens elected to reign over various college functions. In fact, practically every department, division, dance, or other event had its own royalty selected by various methods. The Ags had their Harvest Ball queen, the Engineers had their lady, and even the army got into the act when Scabbard and Blade selected an Honorary Cadet Colonel. Not content to let beauty remain in Ames, the I Club Queen was entered in competition for Drake Relays Queen.

Kings and Queens galore were chosen by ballot, appointment, and demand

MAE Jim Foxgrover is now pinned and no longer available.

KINGS AND QUEENS

While it would appear at first glance that only girls become royalty at ISC such is not the case. Refusing to be relegated to a secondary position the men stepped forward to claim the titles of "Big Junior on Campus" and "Most Available Engineer."

Methods of acquiring a royal title varied but in general were dependent on the results of a campus election. An exception to the rule were the Bomb Beauties; preliminary candidates were selected by the yearbook staff at Nebraska while finalists were picked by artist Varga.

BJOC Ted Hartman and Prom Girl Juliann Barker are content to bask in the sun rather than in the light of their achievements.

Titles offered included St. Patrick, Cadet Colonel, BJOC, and Prom Girl

St. Patrick Ron Norman and Engineers' Lady Dorothea Kuschmann reign over the ball with attendants Barb Perry and Joyce Wineinger.

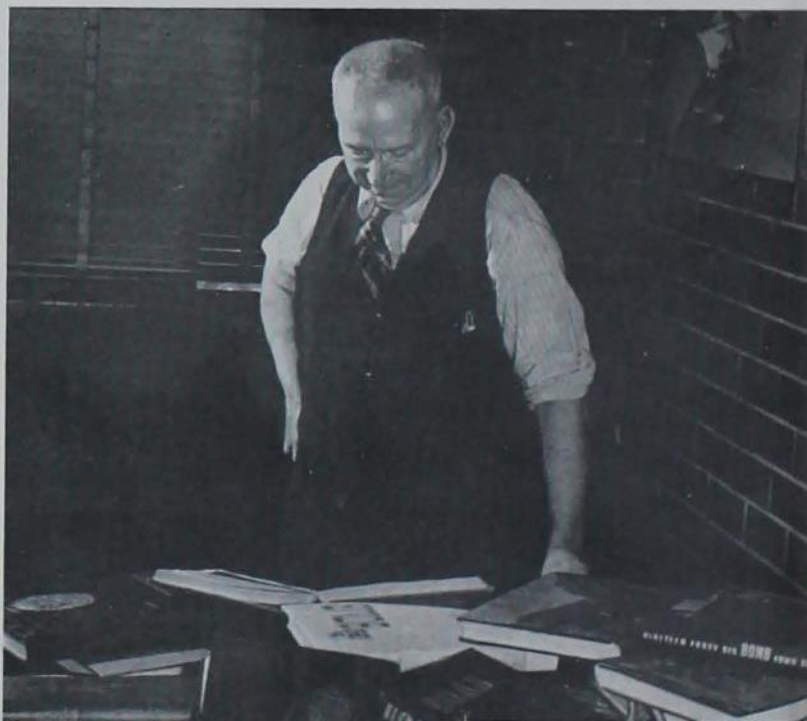

ISC cheerleaders are permanent fixtures at every Cyclone contest.

...YEAR IN AND YEAR OUT...

There are many things at Iowa State that are unchanging but two in particular might be classed as really traditional. It would be impossible to attend a football or basketball game without meeting the ever present ISC cheerleaders. This needs no further explanation.

The second "year-in, year-out" item deals with the Bomb. Ever since 1929 Daniel McLeod has been running Bombs off the press. Twenty year-books and one press man is a record seldom equaled. While many staffs and many senior classes have appreciated Dan's contribution, the 1948 edition is first to render its official "Thank you."

Dan McLeod looks over some of the twenty different Bombs he has run off the press.

Rated as one of the largest and best equipped student housing projects in the midwest, Pammel Court has grown in the past year from a village of 400 trailers, quonsets and prefabricated houses to a community housing nearly 1100 families.

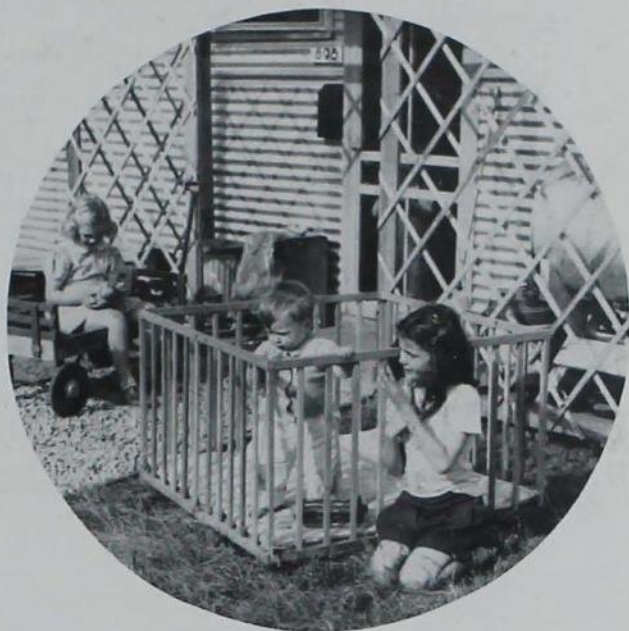

A court mayor, Donald DeRoos, and five councilmen were elected at the start of the fall quarter. The construction by students of a recreation hall in the south area and a new grocery store in the north area was started.

When rats appeared in the court in increasing numbers, 125 residents led by Richard Talcott conducted a four day rat killing campaign and bagged an estimated 750 rats.

PAMMEL COURT

Realizing the necessity for a program of fire prevention and control, the court council under Mayor DeRoos organized a volunteer fire brigade headed by Elgin S. Scobell. Sixty volunteer firemen were appointed and given training in fire control by the Ames fire chief.

Although the housing program was complete, the population of the court, estimated at 3,300 people, continued to increase. As more and more couples became members of the Stork Club the nickname "Fertile Acres" aptly described Pammel Court.

Leading the Alpha Gam beauties were Vivian Mukin who was selected as an attendant to the Homecoming Queen, Shirley Lewellen as Bomb Beauty finalist, and the Sig Ep sweetheart Ruth Bisson.

Musically inclined Alpha Gams were present in the band, orchestra, glee club, and chorus. Frances Cosmos was one of the distinguished soloists of the glee club. Ada Biester served as president of the orchestra.

BWOC Sherron Boyer was editorial adviser for the Bomb, a member of the Home-maker staff, and a member of the Writers' Round Table. Several of the many girls affiliated with the Home Economics Clubs were Mary Lou Garth, Vivian Mukin, Marlyn Cody, and June Williams. Lisabeth Nolting, Helen Stevens, and Bonnie Lou Clappison were members of the Iowa State Players.

First place for the Homecoming decorations this year went to the Alpha Gams for their "fiery" display.

The DZ's, believing the old adage that it takes more initiative and ability to be a leader than a follower, had many girls holding offices in divisional clubs and in charge of special events. On the Home Economics Council, Joyce Edgar was the representative to Cardinal Guild, Nancy Johnson was secretary, and Dorothy Doll was co-chairman of the Veishea float. Jean Lund was the publicity chairman for the Social Bureau and Helen Beneke held down the chairmanship of the Homecoming Barbecue. Social-minded Doris Hatcher was in charge of publicity for the King of Sports Dance. Two vice-presidencies were held by Dorothy Doll, Applied Art Club, and Joyce Edgar, Technical Journalism Club. With the number of DZ's in athletics it was very fitting that Dorothy Dillan should hold the position of treasurer of the Women's I Club.

Active on the Homemaker were Joyce Edgar, associate editor, and Nancy Johnson, "Keeping Up" editor. Iowa State Daily worker was Jean Lund who helped keep up both the editorial staff and the business staffs. Mary Bess Shelledy contributed to the Bomb.

Weekend relaxation came with the numerous dances held at the DZ house. "Winter Dream" was the formal dance held fall quarter as an opener for the year's social functions. Following this there was a faculty tea, and the annual spring formal.

Social life hit new all-time high with "Winter Dream" climaxing season

Bomb, Daily, and honoraries were well populated with Gamma Phis

Following the precedent set by Gamma Phis of years gone by the Gamma Phis of today still claim many beautiful girls chosen as campus queens. Sophisticated, shapely Sue Hamlin was chosen to reign as Honorary Cadet Colonel of the Military Ball. Knowing that "8000 Nebraska students can't be wrong," everyone agreed with their selection of Marilyn Hoefler and Mary Lou Dahl as Bomb Beauty finalists. Beautiful Dorothea Kuschmann was the belle of the Engineer's Ball when she was crowned as Engineer's Lady.

Many informal firesides dotted the calendar throughout fall and winter quarter and were replaced by picnics as the weather became warmer. To make the social year a well rounded one two formal dances were held, one at Christmas and the other in the spring.

Gamma Phis in honoraries included Mary Lueder, Sue Menne, Jeanne Wallerius, Ellen Dunlap, and Maxine Sutherland. Max was setting the pace for the girls this year by keeping busy in her numerous activities. Among these were Mortar Board and Phi Upsilon Omicron; in addition she was president of the YWCA and an active member of the Home Economics Club.

Senior picture co-editors for the Bomb were Mary Ann Lindauer and Mary Lou Battles. Sue Menne was Daily society editor.

Lovely Thetas dream of that little home for forty or more that will soon be a reality.

A rare moment—for the first time, ISC hears a Theta song.

Hard work and strong pledge class insured a bright future for Theta

With their installation this May, the Thetas will become the junior member of the sororities here at Iowa State. This installation ceremony will be a mile-stone in the progress made by Dorothy Kelleher and Molly Miller, Dorothy, a transfer student from Iowa University, and Molly, a transfer from Drake, came to Iowa State to lay the foundation for the establishment of their chapter. They began pledging winter quarter and brought the chapter roster up to eighteen. Next fall they plan to move into their house and begin building another strong Theta chapter.

The Kappa Alpha Theta Fraternity was founded at De Pauw University in Greencastle, Indiana, on January 27, 1870. Since then they have grown large and strong and built for themselves the reputation of being one of the best national sororities. To date there are seventy-two active chapters located in the United States and Canada.

The Thetas' grand president, Mrs. Virginia Grimm, was here at Iowa State last January and spoke at the annual Panhel Council. Mrs. Grimm is from Kenilworth, Illinois.

As the Thetas begin to take their place on campus, their badge will be recognized by all. Their national flower is the pansy which was selected for its delicacy and beauty and their colors are black and gold.

KD's held offices in Home Ec clubs, YWCA, and honoraries

The KD's as usual had many of their members prominent in activities. Jean Mann, Helen Uban, and Janice Schroeder were all members of the Home Economics Council and beginner Joan Armann was secretary of the Freshman Home Ec Council. Maxine Anderson held down the chairmanship of the Home Economics Diamond Jubilee. Elected to executive positions were Philomena Beck, vice-president of the YWCA; Patricia Dunn, vice-president of the Newman Club; Tweeza Gilpatrick, Twisters vice-president; Janice Schroeder, president of the Applied Art Club; and Helen Uban, president of Household Equipment.

Mary Ellen Watt was vice-president of Omicron Nu, treasurer of Mortar Board, and a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron.

Other honorary Greeks are Helene La Berge, Mary Mills, Betty O'Flaherty, Ethel Mae Hendrickson, Jean Mann, Helen Uban, and Maxine Anderson.

Soloist Mary Mills contributed her singing ability to the Messiah and Glee Club. Mary Jo Overholt played in both the band and orchestra.

Holding offices on the Homemaker staff were Joan Armann, office manager, and Ethel Mae Hendrickson, publicity chairman.

Not all the KD's time was spent on activities and on building a grade point, however. Every one enjoyed the Winter Snow Ball, a formal dance held during January at the chapter house. Music was furnished by the Skyliners.

Advances made during two years at ISC resulted in strong chapter

After just two years here at Iowa State the Kappas have claimed their place on campus as an equal to the older sororities. This they have accomplished with hard work and the old Kappa spirit.

Nancy Early, one of the activity leaders, was associate editor of the Bomb, publicity chairman of the Red Cross Executive Board, assistant activities point administrator, and a member of the Iowa State Daily staff. Other girls working in publications were Gerry Williamson, Bomb index editor; Virginia Sharp, Mary West, Carolan Carlson, and Ellen White, Iowa State Daily; and June Welch and Margaret Wallace, Home-maker staff. Margaret was also a member of the Sketch Publication Board and one of the Iowa State Players.

Honorary fraternity members are June Welch, Delta Phi Delta; Dorothy Bonnell and Ruth Malele, Phi Upsilon Omicron; and Carolyn Mitchell, Psi Chi.

Every science and home economics divisional club had several Kappas as members. Included in these clubs were Applied Art, Sociology, Textiles and Clothing, Horticulture, and Foods and Nutrition.

Active on the Social Bureau lecture committee and as chairman of the Gridiron Gambol, Dorothy Bonnell has shown herself to be a true leader. Lois Lindsey and Jane Graff were YWCA cabinet members.

Pi Phis crooned their way to first place in the 1948 Sorority Sing

The popular Pi Phis were outstanding again this year in all phases of college life. Stressing activities, grades, and good times, they achieved high honors in each.

Under Director Betsy Nichols, the Pi Phis were active on the Homemaker. Working under her were Margery Saunders, associate editor; Donna Sones, national advertising manager; and Janet Adams, assistant research director.

Janet Adams presented the "new look" to Iowa State as chairman of both the Union 410 Style Show and the Daily Student Style Show.

Proving that high grades are very handy, Martha Coover and Betsy Nichols are both members of Mortar Board and Phi Upsilon Omicron. Betsy was also president of Theta Sigma Phi.

Prominent in women's athletics, Mary Jean Otopolik, as president, and Marilou Willis, as secretary, guided the Women's I Club through another big year.

Iowa State Daily workers included Joan Kelleher, Marilyn Westcott, Lura Mae Whitfield, and Betty Bacon. Marilou Willis gave her journalistic talents to the Bomb as women's sports editor. Mary Jean Bond was vice-president of the Iowa State Players.

It seems that an invitation to the Pi Phi house is an invitation to a good time. This was proven by the enjoyable evenings spent at the numerous firesides, buffet suppers, and the January winter formal.

It has often been said that the best things come in small packages. This is especially true of shapely little Joy Ledin, the two time beauty queen finalist. Joy was selected as a finalist beauty for homecoming and for honorary cadet colonel of the Military Ball. Joy was also a worker on the Bomb and the Green Gander as well as an active member of the chorus.

The majority of the campus publications had Sigma Kappas working on their staffs. Doris Adams was editor of the Homemaker and Anita Ohlsen was sales manager for Sketch. Contributing to the Iowa State Daily were Agnes Wells and Jean Heath.

Members belonging to the Iowa State Players included Anita Ohlsen, Dee Hausmann, Dorothy Swallow, Norma Hayes, and Elaine Nelson.

June Bergquist served as chairman of the Veishea prevues for the Home Economics Educational Club.

Chorus members were Priscilla Drohmann, Joy Ledin, Martha Jewett, and Jeanne Robbins.

To add to the Christmas spirit, the Sigma Kappas held a Christmas fireside. "Frost Fantasy" was held in January.

Publications, music, and divisional clubs were activities in which Birch Hall girls were very prominent. Pat Close was president of freshman Home Ec Club.

Joan Lynch and Mary Beth Cushman spent their afternoons preparing the Bomb for publication, while Marion Miller, Millie Schutjer, and Jean Loetterle gave their talents to the Homemaker. The Agriculturist and Sketch also had Birch Hall girls.

The band, orchestra, glee club, and chorus were all well supported by girls from Birch. Diane Rutter was one of the vivacious twirlers for the band and performed capably at all functions.

Iowa State Players included Mary Beth Cushman and Norida Frank. Jan Sutherland was active in the Theater Workshop. Jan also matched her wit against her opponents in the all college debates.

FREEMAN HALL

Joan Lattner served as secretary for the 630 Club and Virginia Yeager acted as president of the Twisters and as secretary for Cardinal Guild.

Freeman showed a lot of spirit and support as they watched their team fight its way up to the intramural volleyball championship winter quarter and claim another trophy for their mantel.

In the ever present race for supremacy in activities, there are not many who can surpass Freeman Hall's Jackie Strifert. Jackie is a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron, Omicron Nu, and Iota Sigma Pi. This year she was named as the winner of the Borden Scholarship. In addition to this she was president of the Dormitory Council and treasurer of Veishea. For the National Independent Student's Convention, Jackie took charge of food and housing.

ROBERTS HALL

The creative ability of the girls in Roberts Hall showed up very well during homecoming when they won first place in house decorations among the dormitory group. Another trophy was won when their pajama relay team streaked across the finish line a shirt tail ahead of the pack.

Many enjoyable evenings were spent before the fireplace by the girls and their dates when Roberts became the scene of many fall and winter firesides.

Artistic members of the Theater Workshop were Margaret Fowler, Evelyn Ward, Lillis Clark, and Laura Neven.

Roberts Hall beauties included glamorous Marjorie Moore, Freshman Queen.

WELCH HALL

Welch Hall's beautiful Mary Alice Anderson was given her title of "Queen" last fall at the Harvest Ball. In addition to her good looks Mary was well known around the campus for her interest in college activities. She was a member of the Properties Board and acted as publicity chairman on the Junior Prom Central Committee. She is a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron.

On the Homemaker staff were Barbara Allen, Mary West, Mary Jo Myers, Joan Held, Mary Hill, Barbara Forsythe, and Barbara Bashem. Kathy McLoren and Joan Lougee contributed to the Bomb.

From the beginning of "Rush Week" till the end of spring quarter, the men of Acacia went rolling along, gathering momentum by placing men at the heads of committees, in different campus publications, and in all phases of college activities.

Robert Denney served as chairman of the Men's Meetings during Religion in Life. Anthony Riepma was refreshment chairman for the Veterinary Ball and John Peterson served as manager of the Horticulture Show. Bob Bortle was a member of Interfraternity Council.

Acacia's honorary Greeks include Gordon Cook, Alpha Phi Omega and Dick Matthews, Tau Beta Rho and Eta Kappa Nu.

Active in publications were Charles Dingle, who worked on the Bomb, and Gordon Johnson, one of the staff of the Iowa State Daily. Dick Wilson worked on the Iowa Engineer and Gordon Reeves, Gordon Johnson, and Edwin Barnes contributed to the Agriculturist.

Max Ingle worked out nightly with the track squad and Winton Weber gave his baseball talents to the team.

Both college activities and varsity sports kept fraternity members busy

Fall quarter saw the beginning of the Adelantes' social program including hayrides, firesides, exchanges, and informal get-togethers. Their annual spring formal was held near the end of the school year as a sort of climax to the good times enjoyed throughout the year.

The Agriculturist was well run with Bill Ettinger as state advertising manager, Riley Gillette as book editor, Forrest Paul as a member of the advertising staff, and Eugene Reynolds as departmental editor. Don Watson was assistant issue editor of the Iowa State Daily and Eugene Reynolds was associate editor of the Ames Forester magazine.

Members of Alpha Zeta were Eugene Reynolds, Ray Rodgers, and Riley Gillette. Riley was elected to serve as chancellor and he also served on the Honors Day Convocation.

Men gifted with an extensive vocabulary and the silver tongue of oration are Jim Fuller, Jim and Riley Gillette, and Bill Ettinger, members of the Iowa State Debaters.

Don Meilike was treasurer of the Student Properties Board and Ray Rodgers served as president of the Social Bureau.

Very active in the Winter Sports Club, the Phi Kappas did much of the planning for the annual Winter Sports Carnival. Bob Morterud was president of the Club while Jack Malloy was vice president. Harry Blichman, house president, was the general chairman of the club's Winter Sports Carnival and many other Phi Kappa's headed committees.

Members of campus honoraries from the Phi Kappa house are Al Riches, national music honorary Phi Mu Alpha, and Edwin Becker, Tau Beta Pi and Phi Lambda Upsilon.

The Phi Psis closed a successful year pointing with pride to their achievements in all fields of campus activities. ISC athletics, publications, and clubs were all well populated with members of the fraternity.

Through the year Phi Psi varsity letter winners were plunging into the line, rebounding and sinking baskets, doing half twists off the one meter board, and pitching strikes over the center of the plate. Varsity football players included Bill Chauncey, George Friedl, Don Ferguson, Dean Laun, Dean Norman, Harold Kornbaum, and Jim Sutherland. Don Paulson and Don Fergu-

One of the campus's fastest growing fraternities is the Phi Kappa Tau house. The fraternity was reorganized in the fall of 1946 after the war and the following year moved into their house. Construction of a game room, painting, and remodeling occupied a great deal of the time of the men during the first year. With the support of the Alumni Association the fraternity hopes to begin the building of a new house in the near future.

Both the class A and class B bridge teams went high in the all college bridge tournament. On the A team Andy Baardson and Gail Jones matched their strategy against other opponents, while the B team was composed of Cleon Goode and Tom Engler.

In intramural football the Phi Kappa Taus were beaten in the quarter finals. House president Meredith Allen won the 121 pound intramural wrestling championship, while on the varsity wrestling team the Phi Kappa Taus had Gene Ewoldson.

The main social function of the year was the annual Phi Tau Fantasy. Firesides and house parties completed the social program.

Many key positions in campus activities were held by the men of Pi Kappa Alpha during the school year. Thomas Schultz was on the Student Properties Board as well as business manager for both Veishea and Homecoming. Tom is also an initiate of Knights of St. Patrick. Skip Calhoun, president of the Journalism Club and on the staff of the Iowa State Daily, was general chairman of the Harvest Ball. Cecil Fortney was on the Social Council, while John Jansen was on the Interfraternity Council. A member of Cardinal Guild was Pi Kappa Alpha Walter Cambell. Other Pi Kappa Alphas working on publications were Richard Brooke on the Green Gander and Walter Campbell for the Vet Student.

Socially, the Pi Kappas sponsored three major dances including a Homecoming Dance, Valentine Fireside, and Spring Formal. Several week-ends saw firesides such as the "Dagger and Key" given by the pledges. The house was decorated to resemble a night club complete with entertainment. Many dance exchanges were also held during the year.

MEN'S DORMITORY ASSOCIATION

Men's Residence Halls composed of Friley Hall, Hughes Hall, East Stadium, and the Men's Cottages reached their capacity in '47-'48 by housing between twelve and thirteen hundred students.

Association President Harvey Wright and the central cabinet directed their efforts toward stimulating special interest groups within the halls. A product of this was the organization of a photographic club. A dark room was constructed complete with enlarger, printer, and all other photographic necessities. The club has expanded to a membership of over fifty photographers.

A weekly paper, the Residence Rag, came out every Thursday conveying the news and activities of the halls to the students living in the Men's Residences. Editor of the paper was Leonard Cohn with Ed Webster as managing editor.

Winner of the Winter Sports Club's snow sculpturing contest was Friley Hall in the men's division. The hall won the trophy for a snow statue of a woman.

ALUMNI HALL

Three men living in Alumni Hall, Dick Bushnell, Bob Schwartz, and Marvin Van Metre, were members of the famous all-college YMCA quartet. During spring vacation this group of singers presented a series of programs at twelve high schools in Iowa. The men in the house also sponsored several other quartets as well as a chorus and a novelty band.

Intramural sports found ninety of the one hundred men of Alumni Hall participating.

High spirit of fellowship prevailed in the YMCA managed Alumni Hall
