The BOMB

M. A. "Maury" Kent, head football and baseball coach, has been ideally fitted by practical experience to serve in these capacities. While in college at the University of Iowa, "Maury" played three years at quarterback on the varsity football team, served as a forward on basketball squad and was the leading pitcher on the baseball nine. After graduation, he spent several seasons pitching for the Brooklyn Nationals. He then coached the Haskell Indians one year and likewise served in a similar capacity with Carleton College for a season. Recognizing his coaching ability, his Alma Mater secured his services. He spent five highly successful seasons there and at the end of this time, transferred his services to Wisconsin where he acted as basketball and baseball coach until secured to serve in a similar capacity here. This season "Maury" had football instead of basketball under his direction.

"Bill" Chandler, Iowa State's basketball and assistant baseball coach, is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, where he played center on the varsity team for three years." Chandler was captain of the team during his third year there and was selected as All-Western center for three years. He was awarded the captaincy of the All-Western team his last year with the Badgers.

In 1918 he played with and coached the Great Lakes Naval Training Station team, which made an exceptional record for a service team. He directed athletics and coached basketball at the River Falls Normal School, before coming to Ames; the team he developed there went through the season without losing a conference game.

Hugo Otopalik, physical training instructor and assistant football and wrestling coach, starred in these two sports while enrolled at the University of Nebraska. During his three years there he played fullback on the football team. He won the light heavyweight wrestling championship of the Missouri Valley for two seasons and in competition at Gary, Indiana, demonstrated his claim to the National Amateur championship of his class. While in the service in France, Otopalik was placed in command of the athletic work of his unit and upon his release, assumed a similar position at Nebraska. Coming here last year, Otopalik has aided materially in developing strong teams by his work with the reserves of both the football and wrestling squads.

"Art" Smith, track coach and trainer, has been coaching and directing athletics for twelve years before coming to Iowa State. He was track coach and football trainer at the University of Maine for six years, during which time he turned out thirteen championship track teams, several of which won New England Championships and included the National Intercollegiate Cross-Country title in 1915.

Before going to Maine he was director of athletics at Colby College, Tufts College, Williston Academy, City High Schools of Buffalo, New York, and acted as assistant coach at the University of Pennsylvania. In 1912 he attended the Olympic games in Sweden, where he assisted "Mike" Murphy, the American Olympic team coach.

C. E. DAUBERT

C. E. Daubert has been at Iowa State for two years as swimming coach and gym instructor. He now has his department well organized and is having wonderful success along this line. So far this year he has had, under his instruction, 102 men who have passed the Red Cross life saving test and are now eligible to act as life guards at any swimming beach.

Besides being coach and swimming instructor, Daubert has been conducting special classes for men and women. Daubert is working very hard to develop his theory that everyone who graduates from college should be a good swimmer.

E. E. MYLIN

This is the second year for E. E. "Hook" Mylin as freshman coach. Mylin turned out two exceptionally good teams of freshmen, in football and basketball, this year. "Hook's" ability to develop good athletes is helping greatly to strengthen our varsity teams.

Mylin is also in charge of all intramural sports. This year there has been an added interest shown in all these sports due to the attractive and efficient handling of the proposition by Mylin.

We certainly wish our freshman coach success in his ambition to develop for Iowa State a quarterback that will be as good as he once was, when he gained recognition as All-American.

Richard L. Barker, who graduated in 1921, was appointed as one of the assistant football and wrestling coaches for this year. "Dick" was one of the best linemen who was ever developed at Iowa State. He was also the 175 pound intercollegiate wrestling champion of the United States last year.

With his experience as an athlete and his love for the sport, Barker should make a valuable assistant next year.

"Dick" is also very much interested in getting good high school men to come to this institution, and he has devoted much time to this work since his appointment on the athletic staff.

B. J. FIRKINS

Bruce J. "Bugs" Firkins has been for the last few years on the job as an assistant wrestling coach. He has done much to help develop the wonderful wrestling teams that this school has turned out in the last few years. Firkins was a member of the team while he was in school and now that he is an instructor in the Agriculture Department he is still doing a lot in coaching the mat squad.

IOWA STATE FOOTBALL SEASON

Y winning from Drake, Grinnell and Kansas Aggies and losing to Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and Washington the Iowa State football team finished its 1921 Missouri Valley gridiron season in sixth place. In addition to the Valley victories a fourth win is credited to Ames, that secured in the first game of the season against Coe. With a total season's percentage of .500 the 1921 period was entirely typical of the "ups and downs" and surprises of present day football. Captain "Polly" Wallace, expected by Cyclone fans to be at his prime in the season just passed, received an injury to one of his knees in the game with Missouri, the third contest of the season and he was compelled to retire from the lineup during the Kansas and Washington games. The Washington game was lost by the slim margin of two points and the Missouri game by three points.

Nebraska, winner of Valley football honors, was the only team that decisively defeated the Cyclones. The score was 35 to 3. Even this defeat had its compensations in that the Ames touchdown was the only score made against Nebraska in the Missouri Valley conference and the second in the Huskers' entire 1921 schedule which included Notre Dame, Pittsburg and several other of the stronger teams of the United States. Dr. Norman C. Paine, football coach for the 1920 season, signified his intention of not returning for the 1921 season at the end of the preceding college year. Coach "Maury" Kent was named as his successor and with Hugo Otopalik as an assistant he piloted the team through the breaks of the season just past.

ONLY ONE NON-VALLEY GAME

Attention was centered almost exclusively on games within the Missouri Valley conference for of the eight contests permitted by the Athletic Council seven were with conference teams. In this respect Ames played more conference games in 1921 than any other team in the Valley. Coach Kent issued his first call for football men two weeks before the opening of college and over 60 candidates responded. This number included 12 letter men, several promising freshmen and an abundance of line material. Until college opened two sessions of strenuous practice were held daily.

On the day of the Coe game after approximately three weeks of practice Coach Kent announced the lineup as follows: Laughlin and Higgins, ends; Alsin and Lingenfelter, tackles; Morrison and Church, guards; Wallace, center; Brorby, quarterback; Young and Currie, halves; and Gaylord, fullback. This lineup with a few changes was substantially the same that went through the entire season.

THE COE GAME

Iowa State opened the season on State Field with Coe, October 3, and easily won 28 to 3. This game showed Cyclone fans a team reasonably strong in both defense and The Ames backs kept the ball in their possession fully three-fourths of the game and Coe was given little opportunity to demonstrate its ability in pushing the ball through the Ames line. Fumbles and other defects in the Ames lineup were not entirely absent but on the whole a team was presented for the first game of the season which had every promise of being above par for the remainder of the season's games. The team was certainly better than the first game lineup of 1919 and 1920 when the Cyclones were beaten, the first year 3 to 0 and the second year 6 to 0. Coe drew first blood. Near the end of the first quarter, after several punts had been exchanged, Pence placed a dropkick between the bars for the Cedar Rapids team's only score. In the second quarter line smashes by Gaylord and passes by Davis brought the ball near Coe's goal line, only to lose a touchdown on a fumbled forward pass across the goal. This failure only served to make the eleven work harder and by straight drives down the field the ball was soon pushed over the line by Schooley for the first touchdown of the year. The second half started with the ball in Coe's possession. Currie soon secured the ball for Ames by intercepting a forward pass and placing it on the Coe 20 yard line. A place kick by Young from this point failed. After an exchange of punts and the end of the third quarter Davis was injected into the lineup and, with the aid of Schooley adding a few yards, Gaylord made a plunge which netted a touchdown. A third touchdown was secured in much the same manner and an almost new lineup placed the ball over the line for the fourth touchdown.

THE GRINNELL GAME

Grinnell, opening the Missouri Valley season for Ames, proved to be nearly as easy meat as Coe and succumbed to the Cyclones by a score of 21 to 3, in a game that was full of interest. The contest was featured by Wallace's ability to break up the Pioneer line smashes and by Higgins 80 yard run for a touchdown. Two of the Ames touchdowns were made early in the first quarter by Young and Higgins. Grinnell found the Cyclone line almost impenetrable by line plunges and end runs and after the first part of the game they resorted to passing which they used freely.

At the beginning of the second quarter, with a strong wind as a timely aid, White-hill, Pioneer backfield man, booted the ball from a drop kick over 40 yards for Grinnell's only points. The remainder of the second quarter and most of the third the ball seesawed across the field, Markley, Whitehill and Fearing for the Pioneers gaining a yard or two at each trial but eventually being forced to punt out of danger. At the same time that the Ames line was holding solidly the Ames backs found it difficult to penetrate the Grinnell line but late in the third period when a Grinnell man fumbled Lingenfelter recovered and after two or three line smashes Young placed the ball over the line for the third touchdown. For the remainder of the game Grinnell resorted to forward passes whenever the Pioneer backs found the ball in their possession, gaining at times, but often losing the ball to the Cyclones because of incompleteness or an interception.

THE MISSOURI GAME

The Missouri game on October 15 at Columbia proved to be the first real battle for the Cyclones. After a struggle in which football critics gave Iowa State credit for exhibiting a superior brand of football, the Cyclones lost 17 to 14. Coach Kent used the regular lineup in this game and the team succeeded in being the first to score. Iowa State held the offense in Missouri territory during the first quarter. Late in the first period after a punt by Young to the Missouri 25 yard line, Lewis of Missouri dropped back for a punt but the center misjudged his pass and the ball rolled across the goal line where Higgins fell on it. The Missouri backs were guilty of many such fumbles and bad passes during the game.

No more scoring was done in the first half. On the kickoff at the beginning of the second half Higgins received the ball and with a clear field with the exception of the Tiger safety he started for a touchdown only to be downed in the middle of the field by Hardin. The first Missouri score came in the same manner as the Ames score, Storms falling on the ball for the Tigers. Missouri followed this score with a field goal in the third quarter and a touchdown in the fourth. The final Cyclone score, a touchdown, came after the ball had been worked down the field by passes and line smashes to the Tiger eight yard line. Wolters was substituted for Schooley and on the second play he made the necessary distance on a crisscross formation.

With about three minutes left to play the Ames backs worked the ball down to within striking distance of Missouri's goal, but failed to make either a touchdown or a dropkick from the 16 yard line and after regaining the ball Missouri's stubborn defense prevented a touchdown from the five yard line. An attempt at a dropkick was blocked just as the game ended.

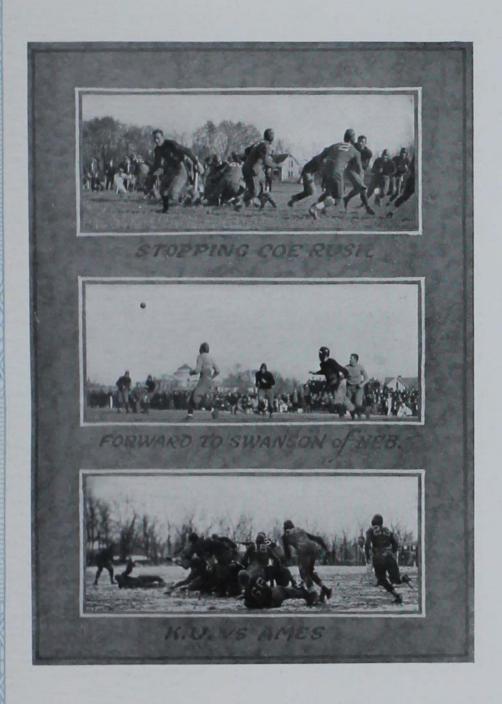

THE KANSAS GAME

Iowa State lost the fourth game of the season to Kansas in an ironical defeat quite characteristic of football. Statistics of the game showed that Ames gained almost four times as much ground in scrimmage as did Kansas but lost by the score of 14 to 7. The relentless aerial attack of the Jayhawkers was in part responsible for their ability to cover the ground, making three times as much yardage as the Cyclones by this method, Ames started off well, scoring a touchdown in the first quarter after Young's place kick had failed to go between the goal posts and McAvinchey had recovered a Kansas fumble on their own 16 yard line. A pass from Young to Riggs secured the six points.

In the middle of the second quarter Kansas made the second touchdown of the day. Recovering a punt fumbled by an Ames man on the Iowa State 35 yard line the Kansas team marched down the field with line plunges, that usually netted from two to three yards, and forward passes that made up the required ten yards for first downs until the Ames goal line was reached. Neither team scored in the third period but in the last quarter Kansas again opened up with an aerial attack that seemed to baffle the Iowa State team and gave a second touchdown to Kansas. Capt, Wallace with his able generalship of the team and a nose for fumbles as well as Lingenfelter was sorely missed and both watched the game from the sidelines in citizens clothes. Neither had been in action on the field since the Missouri game.

THE WASHINGTON GAME

Washington university administered the third defeat of the season 2 to 0, October 29, on a foreign field in the last quarter of the game. A soft and almost muddy field prevented anything spectacular in the way of end runs or even consistent gains through the line and near the end of the contest darkness hampered the players somewhat. The game soon resolved itself into a kicking duel, neither team seeming able to penetrate the other's line. Thumser, Piker quarterback, displayed an uncanniness in placing his punts so that they rolled outside of bounds near the goal line with a material loss to Ames. The ball went back and forth across the gridiron, it being advanced by line smashes, end runs, forward passes, fumbles and punts, in about equal proportion, with a result that neither side really endangered its opponent's goal line. Iowa State managed to work the ball to the Washington 15 yard line and failed to make good on a place kick. Washington several times had the ball in its possession on the Ames 25 and 21 yard lines but some twist of the game always enabled the Cyclones to work their way back to safety.

Washington's only score of the game came early in the fourth quarter. Ames fumbled on its own 15 yard line and the ball rolled across the goal line where an Ames man fell on it. This gave Washington two points rather than seven. Lingenfelter started in this lineup and Wallace was substituted late in the game. Wolters started the game at quarterback and Palm at left half.

THE DRAKE GAME

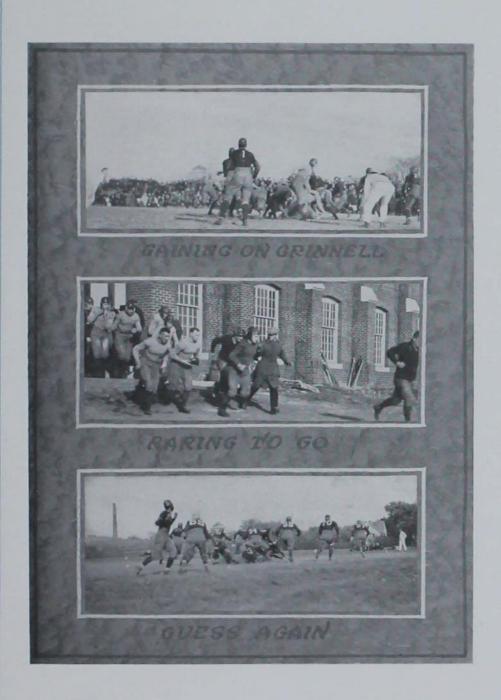

A more or less crippled team met Drake at Des Moines on November 5 and won 7 to 0. The winning score for Ames came in the last part of the third quarter. After Hamstrom of Drake had intercepted an Ames pass on his own 15 yard line and had run to the Cyclone 30 yard line before he was downed, and several Bulldog plays had been good for first downs, Young suddenly intercepted a forward pass and ran 85 yards without opposition for a touchdown. The Ames line showing up poorly in the two previous games took a spurt in the Drake battle and gave the Bulldogs little opportunity to make consistent gains although at times they broke through for more than average yardage. Higgins and Riggs as ends, played an excellent game for Ames on the defense.

"Polly" Wallace, hampered by a lame knee, easily stood out as the star of the contest. His inability to run at a normal gait prevented a touchdown in the second quarter after he had intercepted a pass on the Ames 40 yard line and carried it to the Drake 20 yard line. Drake was able to endanger the Ames goal line only once and that in the third quarter just before the Cyclone touchdown. In the last quarter Drake seemed to possess a slight advantage and forced the Ames backs to kick several times from behind the goal posts.

THE KANSAS AGGIE GAME

Playing in an Armistice day game on a field covered with two inches of snow and under a sky that threatened more snow at any time, Iowa State defeated the Kansas Aggie team 7 to 0. The Iowa State team seemed to hold the upper hand throughout the entire contest and they possessed a punch that rarely failed them when extra yardage was needed. End runs by Young and Higgins and line plunges by Gaylord were the means of gaining ground for Ames. Six out of ten passes were completed by Ames for a total of 72 yards.

The Ames touchdown came in the first few minutes of play in the second half. Higgins received the kickoff and ran the ball to the Ames 28 yard line. An end run by Young and some line smashes were completed before Young punted. A penalty gave Ames possession of the ball for the second time and the team worked its way towards the Kansas goal where a final pass from Young to Higgins brought the winning touchdown. Twice, later in the contest, Iowa State was within striking distance of the Aggie goal but a penalty and a fumble blocked these attempts. Kansas lacked the punch to gain consistently on yardage throughout the entire game and the 33 yard line was as far as they were able to penetrate into Ames territory. In the last quarter the Wildcats opened with several long forward passes. A 40 yard pass by Kansas seemed certain to bring a touchdown for the visitors until intercepted by Currie on the Ames 10 yard line. Because of the condition of the field both quarterbacks were hesitant about opening up with a strong offense.

THE NEBRASKA GAME

Fighting against a heavier and more seasoned team, Iowa State went down to defeat before Nebraska in the Homecoming game on November 19. The score was 25 to 3. The only Ames score, a place kick, came early in the first quarter. A Nebraska fumble was recovered by Lingenfelter on the Nebraska 30 yard line and after three smashes at the Husker line, which netted only seven yards, Lingenfelter dropped behind the line and with the aid of Wolters he booted the ball squarely between the goal posts for three points. The Cyclones held the Cornhuskers on almost equal terms during the first half. Nebraska's first touchdown came in the first quarter after the teams had sawed back and forth across the field. A fake play mistaken by the Ames team for a change of signals enabled Noble, Husker left half, to break through the Ames defense to the 29 yard line where a succession of line plunges gained a touchdown.

In the second half Nebraska came back with an onslaught that brought them three touchdowns in rapid succession and a fourth in the last few minutes of the game, Wolters displayed excellent generalship in this game and with the line smashes of Young and Gaylord and the excellent support of the entire line headed by Captain "Polly" Wallace in his last football game for Ames, the Cyclones were far from tamed by the Huskers. Nebraska had a forward line that included three men averaging over 210 pounds each. In their back field Noble, weighing 195 pounds, possessed an ability to shake off tacklers that rarely failed to gain the necessary amount of yardage.

Western Wrestling Conference Ames won three firsts, one second, and tied for first in the 125 pound class.

The BOMB B

WRESTLING SEASON

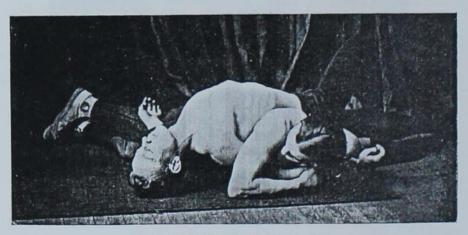

INNING all of the eight dual meets on their schedule, seven of them shutout victories, allowing the conquerors of Penn State to win only one match and winning three classes in the Western Intercollegiate wrestling tournament, the Iowa State wrestlers closed the 1922 season with the most successful record in wrestling history at Ames. Ames stood at the top of the Western Intercollegiate wrestling conference percentage column tied with Illinois for first place. Iowa State was tied for first place, but only in number of meets won. The Cyclones held a decided advantage over the Illinois team throughout the season and there is little question as to the outcome of the meet if the two teams had been scheduled for a contest. None of the victories obtained by the Urbana team were shutout affairs and the majority gave the other team at least one match and sometimes three matches in every meet. Iowa State was therefore given Western wrestling champion-ship honors.

Two Ames men, Captain Dickerson and Wallace, were forced out of the wrestling season because of injuries. Dickerson received an injury to his ankle before the first meet of the season, and this kept him out of the entire schedule. "Polly" Wallace received an additional injury to his knee, wrenched in football, and was forced to retire after the Oklahoma meet. Practice for the Ames grapplers began late in the fall and was in full swing soon after the closing of the football season. From that time until the Indiana meet on January 20 every effort was made by the Cyclone coaches to turn out a winning team. Over sixty responded to the first call and under the competent direction of Coaches Mayser, Otopalik, Barker and Firkins, between sixty and one hundred men reported regularly for workouts during the entire season. Coach Mayser, the "father" of wrestling at Iowa State, announced this lineup for the first meet of the season: Sogard, 115 pound class; Loucks, 125 pound class; Bowen, 135 pound class; Shepard, 145 pound class; McKibben, 158 pound class; Wallace, 175 pound class; and Zink, heavyweight class.

Six Ames men were declared eligible for the Western conference tournament and five of these—Sogard, Loucks, Bowen, McKibben and Zink—were taken to the tournament at Wisconsin University. From this tournament Sogard, Bowen and McKibben returned victorious. The new mat rulings, which allow twelve minutes for the main bout and two extra three minute periods in case the main bout is a draw, were received with favor at Ames and turned the majority of the meets from tiresome affairs, lasting for three to four hours, into short interesting contests.

INDIANA MEET

The Iowa State wrestling team began its series of shutout victories on January 20, when the Cyclones won every bout in a meet with Indiana University. The score was 52 to 0. Every man on the team displayed an offensive early in each bout that literally took the Hoosiers off their feet and gave the Cyclone wrestling fans a distinct surprise. Five of the seven matches, wrestled for the first time at Iowa State under the new conference rules, went to Ames by falls and two were won by decisions. None of the Indiana men, with the exception of Carter wrestling against Wallace in the 175 pound class and Held opposing Zink in the heavyweight class, caused the Cyclones a great deal of worry.

Wallace and Carter struggled on the canvas for all but 14 seconds of the twelve minute bout before the Ames veteran was able to subdue his opponent with a reverse head and arm lock. Zink, wrestling his first bout for Iowa State, found an able opponent in the Indiana veteran, Held, and the bout was forced into the second extra period before the Cyclone finally threw the Hoosier. Sogard, also participating in his first bout as a regular member of the wrestling team, flopped his man to the mat in 1:47.

THE NEBRASKA MEET

Finding themselves equal to the greater strength of the Nebraska wrestling team, the Iowa State Grapplers defeated the Cornhuskers on January 28 with a score of 46 to 0. Two bouts were won by falls and five by de-Sogard wrestling cisions. against Whealy in the 115 pound class and Bowen wrestling against Isaacson in the 135 pound division, obtained the two falls for the Cyclones. The Huskers, ably coached by Dr. R. G. Clapp, presented a team on the Ames mat that was not defeated without a battle in each weight. Trautman of Nebraska, one of the more experienced men of the Cornhusker grapplers, and Thomas opposing Wallace and Shepard in the 175 and 145 pound classes, gave the Cyclones the most trouble of any on the Nebraska team. Although the Ames men were the superiors in each case, they were unable to obtain falls and the match between Wallace and Troutman was forced into the second extra period before the Ames grappler had enough advantage to enable the referee to declare him the winner by decision.

OKLAHOMA MEET

Substituting two second string men, Conrad and Tipton, in the 115 pound and 125 pound classes, in order to rest Sogard and Loucks for the West Virginia meet, the wrestling team took five of the seven matches by decisions and won from Oklahoma University 46 to 0. As in the two previous meets the Cyclones displayed an aggressiveness that completely overwhelmed their opponents. Iowa State men were behind their adversaries 29 minutes and 30 seconds while Oklahoma's total time behind was only one minute and eight seconds. Conrad and Tipton both came out of their bouts with comfortable time advantages over the Sooner wrestlers, Grimes and McKinney. Tipton seemed certain of obtaining a fall late in his bout but lost the opportunity when he pushed his opponent off the mat and time was called before he was able to secure another hold. Bowen lost little time in getting to the mat with Armour and after trying repeatedly for a fall he finally placed the Oklahoma grappler's shoulder on the mat in 4:55 with a bar arm and body lock.

In the 145 pound class Shepard obtained a decision over Smith with a time advantage of 7:20. McKibben easily obtained a decision from Lamar of Oklahoma. They went to the mat at 2:30 and except for 10 seconds in which the Sooner almost pinned McKibben to the mat the Ames entry was behind 9:20. Wallace secured a decision over Cooper after the two had wrestled on their feet for 10 minutes and 32 seconds and Zink secured a fall from Walden in 4:18.

THE WEST VIRGINIA MEET

After a week of intensive workouts and two weeks' rest for the light-weight members of the wrestling team Iowa State met and defeated the West Virginia wrestling team in the hardest meet of the season by a score of 34 to 10 or 17 to 5 by eastern scoring, which was used in the contest. "Polly" Wallace injured his knee several days before the meet and Smith was substituted in the 175 pound class in his place. West Virginia was also affected by illness and their entry in the 145 pound class was compelled to go to the hospital on Friday morning. The bout between Loucks of Ames and Captain Scott Hough of West Virginia proved to be the feature match of the meet. Hough, with a long experience on the mat, displayed probably the best knowledge of wrestling seen on the Ames floor during the 1922 season. At several times during the bout Loucks secured holds which seemed certain of bringing the Mountaineer nearer the mat only to have him with a quick twist bring himself into the advantageous position. Loucks prevented Hough from obtaining a fall and lost on decision.

All of the West Virginia grapplers proved to be wrestlers of more than average ability and no falls were obtained by either team. Sogard secured a decision over Richards in the 115 pound class with a time advantage of 2:50. Two extra periods were necessary before Bowen was declared the winner over Steve Harrick in the 135 pound division. Captain Hough of West Virginia forced Shepard, in the 145 pound weight, into two extra periods before the Ames wrestler was able to secure enough time advantage to be declared the winner. McKibben, in a rough and tumble bout, managed to stay behind long enough to give him a decision over McDonald in the 158 pound class. Smith and Pittsenberger wrestled to a draw in the 175 pound class, staying on their feet during the main bout and Smith gaining an advantage of only seven seconds during the extra bouts. Zink maintained a comfortable time advantage over Joe Harrick in the heavyweight class after the two had gone to the mat at six minutes.

Contentment

Going Up

THE MICHIGAN AGGIE MEET

By winning four matches by falls and three by decisions Ames counted a fourth shutout victory, against the Michigan Aggies, 50 to 0, on February 17. All of the Iowa State falls were secured in less than seven minutes each and in the three bouts that were won by decisions the Cyclones had a time advantage of over 8 minutes in each case. The Michigan Aggies counted 45 seconds behind, while Ames registered 38:15 by the same route. Shepard shortened the meet considerably when he threw Kooman in the 175 pound class in 1 minute and 59 seconds. Neller wrestling for the Wolverine Ags in the 158 pound class against McKibben gave the most trouble of any of the contestants. He seemed content to maintain the defensive during the greater part of the bout and defied all attempts to throw him. Besides the 145 pound class, falls were won by Ames in the 115, 135, and heavyweight classes.

NORTHWESTERN MEET

By repeating the 50 to 0 win over the Michigan Aggies, the Cyclone grapplers found little difficulty in defeating Northwestern University on February 24. The Northwestern team put up the strongest opposition in the 125, 135 and 175 pound classes, but Loucks, Bowen and Smith secured decisions over Myers, Knight and Wayne respectively. Shepard set a season's record in the 145 pound class when he pinned Griffith, Northwestern, to the mat in 1:34, using a half nelson and wrist lock. Sogard also threw his opponent, Jenness, in the short time of 2 minutes and 6 seconds with the same hold.

Myers, of the Purple, obtained the only time behind for his team during the entire meet, 34 seconds, in a bout that Loucks won on decision. McKibben secured his first fall of the season when he threw Mathews of Northwestern in 6:49 after McKibben had secured a hold announced by the referee as a reverse headlock, but which in reality was no hold at all. Zink in the heavyweight class had little difficulty in placing Horton where he wished to on the mat and the Cyclone secured a fall in 3:06 by a body chancery.

THE KENTUCKY MEET

Iowa State secured a third successive shutout victory with a score of 50 to 0 on March 3, when the Cyclone grapplers defeated the southern mat enthusiasts from Kentucky University. After the first few bouts the meet, expected to be hard fought, promised to be a contest in which Ames might take every match by falls but beyond the 145 pound class the Kentuckians were more formidable opponents and McKibben, Smith and Zink were forced to be content with six points each. None of the Ames falls were secured easily or in record time. Bowen secured the quickest in 4:33 and Loucks required 10:29 to throw his opponent. Shepard secured a fall over Neal in 6:18 and Sogard obtained a fall from Waits in 6:42.

The Kentucky men all used their ability to bridge effectively in staving off defeat and presented themselves as a team that with more training might easily prove a formidable opponent for Ames. Robertson of the southerners, who opposed Smith in the 175 pound class, kept up a steady defense that defied Smith's best efforts to hold him in one position and marked Robertson as one of the most promising wrestlers seen on the Cyclone mat.

WISCONSIN MEET

Wisconsin University, badly crippled by a lack of suitable material, fell victim to the Iowa State wrestlers in the last dual meet of the season by a score of 52 to 0. Ames held a decided advantage throughout the meet. The Cyclones piled up a total of 21 minutes and 33 seconds behind while Wisconsin secured 22 seconds by the same route. Sogard, Loucks, Bowen, Smith and Zink secured falls from their opponents and Shepard and McKibben won their bouts by decision. Smith secured his first fall of the year in intercollegiate competition against Heuer of Wisconsin in 10:15 with a half nelson and wrist lock. Bowen wrestling against Catteau of the Badger team obtained the quickest fall of the meet when he threw his opponent in 2:09. Captain Peterman, opposing Shepard in the 145 pound class, proved to be one of the two strongest men on the Wisconsin team. Peterman secured 15 of the Badgers' 22 seconds behind. Loucks' opponent in the 125 pound class, Woellfer, secured the remaining seven seconds before he was thrown.

FTER passing through a season in which every meet yielded a decisive victory, five of Coach C. W. Mayser's grapplers entered the Western Individual Wrestling Conference, held at Madison, March 17 and 18, with the best record of any of the contesters who were to take part in the contest. Friday night three Cyclones entered the preliminaries; "Shorty" Bowen in the 135 pound ring, McKibben in the 158, and Zink with the heavyweights. In the 115 and 125 pound entries Sogard and Loucks had only one contestant which eliminated the preliminaries in their classes.

There were three men entered in the 135 pound line-up. Sweeney of Iowa drew the bye which left "Shorty" Bowen to tackle Hatowski of Chicago. The Maroon was conceded one of the cleverest wrestlers in the meet, but by outclassing him in strength Bowen won his decision with a margin of eight minutes and thirty-two seconds. At one time during the match when the Chicago boy tried to get behind him with a head lock when they were both on their knees, Bowen appearing to have strength to burn threw Hatowski over his head and drove him to the mat. In the finals Shorty won over Sweeney with a comfortable margin for a decision. He broke away from Sweeney's holds quickly, never getting in real danger.

Sogard in the 115 pound class ran true to form. He worked hard and fast on his man, Turner of Purdue, and at the end of nine minutes he had pinned the Purdue grappler tight with a half nelson and body scissors. McKibben, winning over the 158 pounders, was the third Cyclone victor. In the preliminaries he took Lucas of Indiana to the mat quickly by using his characteristic leg dive and stayed behind his opponent ten minutes and five seconds. In the finals McKibben won an easy decision over Templin of Wisconsin who drew the bye for the preliminaries. Probably the liveliest bout of the conference was the 125 pound mix, between Loucks of Ames and Vana of Iowa. "They were up and down and all over the mat." Although Loucks had a slight advantage in time behind his man, it was not sufficient to win a decision. The match was a draw and Vana won when they flipped the coin for first place.

Zink met Held of Iowa on Friday in the preliminaries. Held was a short, thick set wrestler with rare speed for a man of his build. The Cyclone grappler won his decision by a margin of only one minute and two seconds. In the heavyweight finals Zink met the giant of the tournament, Spencer of Purdue, who never weighs less than 230 pounds in mat condition and is built in proportion. Spencer endangered Zink several times before he finally got a fall with a bar arm and a body scissors. This was the only fall which was scored against the Cyclones this year.

Shepard was eligible to participate for Ames in the 145 pound weight but was unable to go on account of sickness. "Shep" had lost no bouts in any of the dual meets and stood a good chance of winning the championship bout. The 175 pound class was also blank in the Ames entries. "Polly" Wallace had wrestled this weight victoriously through the first of the year but his bad knee gave out too close to the end of the season. Although Smith followed up the All-American star in good shape he had not wrestled in enough meets to be eligible for the conference. Coach George Pinneo, referee at the Madison tournament, a man of international fame in the wrestling world, in passing several favorable statements to the Cyclone grapplers, expressed his keen interest in the work of the squad at the meet. "McKibben," he said, "was one of the two men in the tournament who could use the leg dive to advantage."

"Sogard is a real worker," he also stated. "He looked, acted, and played his man clean just like S. E. Ackerly, the 121 pound champ at the Olympics last year."

It was on the championship record that Coach Mayser established with his mat experts at Madison that he was elected permanent secretary of the tourney by the conference committee, which met shortly after the tournament. This conference includes all the Big Ten Schools, Iowa State, Nebraska and the Michigan Aggies. In this meeting it was stated that a large part of the recent developments in wrestling in Western schools can be traced directly to Ames. It is expected that Mayser's influence will have much to do with increasing the popularity of wrestling throughout the conference.

LTHOUGH the 1921-22 Cyclone basketball team did not have the opportunity of defeating Iowa a couple of times as had last year's quintet, the season has been judged a success by the Ames followers. The Cyclones were the smallest in stature of any of the teams in the Valley, yet they emerged from the championship struggle with eight games won to their credit. This gave a percentage of .500 and a tie with Oklahoma and Nebraska for fourth place. One of the most interesting factors in the season's play was the steady improvement made in the short pass system that was first used here last year by Coach "Maury" Kent. Under the tutelage of Coach "Bill" Chandler, the small but fast basketeers maneuvered a short pass and pivot game that was not only a pleasure to watch but exceedingly hard to break up. Another characteristic of the Cyclones was their ability to come back strong in the second half. With most small teams, the opposite is generally true.

To "Bill" Chandler, former Wisconsin star, belongs the credit for developing a winning team from uncertain material. Although handicapped by a scarcity of large and adequate material, Coach Chandler turned out a fast aggregation. The team seemed to be "jinxed" on the home floor as the first five encounters were lost, but while away from home the Cyclones won consistently.

The first pre-season game in preparation for the Valley race was played December 19 with Cornell on the local floor. Cornell showed lots of fight but was unable to withstand the faster Cyclones. The game ended 29 to 5, Greene and Innes scoring the heaviest for Ames.

The second encounter of the season came December 21, when Coe College invaded the local gymnasium for a pre-season game. Coach Chandler substituted but little as he wanted to give the regulars the opportunity to work together. Coe was unable to make any headway against the Cyclones' offense and were repulsed completely by the Ames defense. This is indicated by the score, which was 35 to 12. The Coeites did not tally from the field. Innes, Greene and Paxton were the main factors in the offense, Paxton getting five baskets in his first college game. Currie and Woodward were invincible on the defense.

The squad returned from Christmas vacation early to prepare for the Missouri Valley season. After two weeks of practice, the season was opened January 9 with Nebraska on the home floor. The first half was a fight from the start and ended in a tie score. The game was practically in Ames' possession until Captain Smith broke loose with some phenomenal shots which gave them a lead in the finish. The final score stood 21 to 14. Greene's floorwork was good while Woodward's ability in guarding helped materially to keep Nebraska's score down.

SOONERS AND KANSAS FARMERS DOWNED ON SAME TRIP

The first cage trip of the season called for a long jaunt for games with Oklahoma University and the Kansas Aggies, January 14 and 16. Although tired from a long trip, the Cyclones defeated the Sooners 25 to 21 in a ragged game. Lane, a new man on the Ames lineup, substituted for Paxton at forward and was responsible for three of Ames' goals. On the return trip from Oklahoma, the Cyclones stopped off at Manhattan to try the Wildcats. Here the Cyclones were going in top form and annexed the game by a 36 to 26 score. Coach Chandler's pivot and pass style of play that the Cyclones were mastering more successfully with each game proved too difficult for the Aggies. The ability of Innes and Greene to hoop baskets from difficult angles, combined with close guarding, enabled the Cyclones to pull ahead.

On January 21 the fast Drake Bulldogs trolleyed to Ames and showed a capacity crowd a wonderful exhibition of basket shooting that won the game for them 33 to 19. Statistics of the game show that Ames retained possession of the ball most of the time and took the most shots at the basket. However, Drake scored more and that is what wins. Innes led his teammates in scoring, caging five of the seven field goals secured by Ames. Greene secured one field goal but made up for the others missed by his floorwork. Woodward was especially effective in his guard position. Inability to hit the hoop from the free throw line also handicapped the Cyclones.

The Missouri Tigers, 1920-21 champions, played at Ames on January 28. In all of her previous games, Missouri had scored from 40 to 50 points but Ames held them to a 30 to 18 score. The greater size and basket shooting ability of the Tigers gave them a pronounced advantage over the smaller Cyclones. Innes and Currie led the scoring for their teammates, the Cyclone center securing three field goals. Lane was handicapped by a wrenched ankle but succeeded in caging a long basket from the side of the floor.

In hopes of avenging the previous defeat at the hands of Drake, Ames journeyed to Des Moines February 1, and met the Bulldogs that night. Drake was the victor with a score of 24 to 22. Although Drake was in the lead several points until the last five minutes of play, the Cyclones rallied and tied the score. However, the tie was soon broken and in the last minute, by Payseur, the star Drake forward. Coach Chandler used an entirely different lineup against the Bulldogs than had been used before. Woodward was shifted to forward and Young was inserted as guard. This lineup seemed to work with entire satisfaction against Drake. "Pinky" Greene, the "sorreltopped wonder", played an amazing floor game and was high scorer for Ames, counting 12 points.

The team next journeyed to Nebraska and Kansas. On February 4 the Cornhuskers were completely surprised and received one of the most severe beatings in their athletic history. The final score stood 26 to 7. Greene, Currie and Woodward got two baskets each while Innes led with four goals. Lincoln papers hailed Captain Currie as "the big noise" in the Ames defense. On February 6 the second game of the trip was played with the Kansas Jayhawkers at Lawrence. Kansas was able to find the basket much better than Ames and won the tilt 32 to 21. A dangerous rally was started in the last half by Greene who dropped in four baskets in less than five minutes. However, the sensational work of Captain Rody and his guards soon gave Kansas another safe lead. None of the Ames team displayed the freshness shown in the Nebraska game.

AMES BROKE EVEN ON SOUTHERN TRIP

The team returned to Ames Tuesday and left for St. Louis Thursday where Washington was to be encountered February 10. The Pikers proved fairly easy for the short pass and Ames won 20 to 16. The Cyclones were again off form on basket shooting but held the ball most of the time by superior floorwork. Greene led the scoring. The next night the "Mizzous" were encountered at Columbia. Ames led in scoring and managed to get a four point lead before Missouri found the basket. Then Brownig and Knight got started and led a fast Tiger attack and defense which ended with a score of 29 to 19. As in the first game with Missouri, Ames held them to one of their lowest scores of the season. "Pinky" Greene led the Iowa State scoring with 11 points.

The following Wednesday, February 14, found the Cyclones on their own floor with the Kansas Jayhawkers who had been defeated but once and that by Missouri. That the Jayhawkers expected an easy game was indicated by Coach "Phog" Allen's ready substitutions which were made when his team had but a few points lead. As was characteristic of this year's Cyclones, they came back strong in the second half and played the Jayhawkers off their feet until Captain Rody and Wulf were sent back in. Their work turned the tide of the battle into a victory for Kansas by 24 to 18. Ames passed erratically and could not hit the basket. Rody, high point scorer of the Missouri Valley, scored nine points for his team while Currie scored eight tallies for Ames. The Cyclones traveled to Grinnell on February 18 and met the Pioneer squad on the latter's floor. The game proved to be closer than dopesters had anticipated but the consistent work of the Ames guards kept the opponents' score down. The final count was Ames 17 and Grinnell 11.

The week of February 20 to 26 found the Ames quintet at home playing host to two-teams during the week. The first guest was Oklahoma. The Sooners, mainly through the work of their All-Valley center, nosed ahead in the last few minutes and won 29 to 27. The game was probably the most ragged exhibition seen on the local floor this year. It was a disappointment to Ames followers as they had counted the game as another victory for the Cyclones. Greene, Woodward and Innes scored consistently but the work of the Oklahoma center under the basket defeated them. The Kansas Aggies, the other guest of the week, did not prove so ungrateful and Ames took the game 28 to 22. The Aggies failed to find the basket and were completely "foxed" by Coach Chandler's passing game. Woodward and Currie led the Ames scoring with four goals apiece. The Cyclones again played host and met Washington on the home floor March 2. Led by Woodward, who scored seven baskets, Ames outplayed the Pikers in every phase of the game and won 33 to 16.

CYCLONES CLOSED SEASON WITH WIN OVER GRINNELL

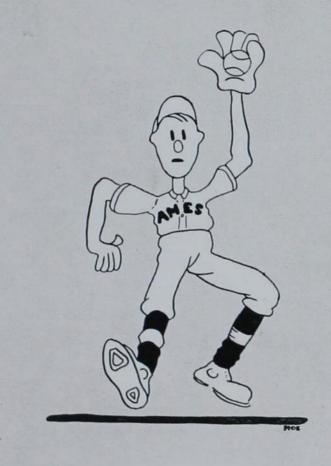

In the final game of the season, on March 4, the Pioneers fell before the winning Cyclones 26 to 20. "Pinky" Greene played a wonderful game in this final encounter. Although scoring but two baskets, he handled the ball with an agility that ofttimes surprised his teammates as well as the Pioneers. Grinnell was unable to break up the pivot and short pass game and the Cyclones kept the ball in their possession most of the time. Immediately following the game "Pinky" Greene was elected captain of next year's team.

The final percentages of Missouri Valley teams show Ames in a tie with Oklahoma and Nebraska for fourth place, having won eight out of sixteen games.

Captain Currie, Innes and Woodward played their last games for Iowa State when they helped defeat Grinnell. Captain Currie, with the termination of the basketball season, has earned eight letters, three of which are for basketball. Currie plays a consistent, heady game and led the scoring among his teammates during the past season. Innes is also a three-letter man in basketball. He was unanimous choice by Missouri Valley sports writers as second All-Valley center. "Nev" is a steady and fast driving player; of the type that opponents try to dodge. Woodward finished his basketball career at Iowa State after winning two letters. Although "Woody" had always played as a guard, he proved valuable during the past season as a forward. Captain-elect Greene has one more year to play. His floorwork is equal to that of any player in the west. Several writers placed "Pinkey" on the second All-Valley selections.

BASEBALL SPRING 1921

HE opening of the baseball season found Ames with a new coach as far as baseball was concerned, in the person of "Maury" Kent, head basketball coach of the previous winter. Coach Kent had conducted a successful basketball season, considering his material, and was well fitted for his position as head baseball coach. He had previous coaching experience, and had played considerable baseball with Wisconsin University and as a hurler for the Brooklyn National League club.

On February 2 the first call for would-be ball tossers was issued, which resulted in twenty-five men for indoor practice reporting. A dearth of veterans was noticeable from the start, leaving Kent with much green material to work on. Captain Schneider, Davis and Finn were the only veterans he had, although several others, Morrison, Brask, Walker, Willimack, and Cruikshank had been on the squad before, together with a few promising preps, Petty, Mahoney and Bailey. With the ending of the basketball season, Currie, regular left fielder of the previous year, Greene and Woodward reported. This gave Coach Kent about fifty men with which to develop his Cyclone nine. Before his heavy schedule of fourteen Conference games opened, Kent scheduled two batfests with Dubuque and one with Coe. His team went into action with Dubuque on April 8 and played a second game the next day. Under inclement weather Ames won both games, 10 to 3 and 7 to 2, knocking two Dubuque pitchers from the box, one being the famed Taber. Morrison and Greutzmacher performed in fine style for the Cyclones with two three hit games.

The conference season opened April 18 and 19, with Drake at Ames. Coach Kent started the season with Petty behind the bat, Morrison pitching, Mahoney 1b, Greene 2b, Davis ss, Schneider 3b, Currie If, Finn cf, and Woodward in rf. But, they faced a bear in their first start. Niggemeyer, pitching for the ducklings, was unhitable and allowed but one hit, a double by Davis in the ninth. Niggemeyer also scored both the visitors' runs. As in the first game weak sticking and infield misplays were in evidence with the result that Drake took the second 5 to 1. Goode, the visiting pitcher, struck out sixteen, against eight by Greutzmacher. Greutzmacher allowed only five hits, but they were bunched with errors. Mahoney was the hitting star with a homerun and two singles in four trips to the plate.

After considerable batting practice the Cyclones journeyed to beard the Tiger in his lair, but were no match for the hard hitting, fast fielding pennant contenders. Fifteen hits off Bailey and Morrison in the first game, spelled defeat for Ames 13 to 2. John Finn tallied both after a three bagger and a single. The rest were helpless before Pruitt, Missouri star. The next day Greutzmacher, after breezing along in good fashion for six innings, was knocked from the box. He was made more ineffective by his teammates's misplays. Missouri took the second game 5 to 2. Inability to hit in the pinches was Ames' greatest difficulty. Bailey who relieved both pitchers in each game showed promise as he stopped them in each game.

The next trip was to St. Louis to meet Washington, another pennant contender. Here Bailey started his first game. But six errors and eleven hits could not win with weak hitting, so Ames lost again 7 to 3. Ames staged an eighth inning rally but the relief pitcher was hard to solve. The next day was much the same story. Morrison and Greutzmacher were nicked for twelve hits and nine runs, while their teammates were held to six hits and three runs, losing 9 to 3.

After dropping six conference games straight, Coach Kent made a big shakeup in the team, preparatory to the series with Nebraska at home. Morris, a new man with promise of a hitter, was put into right field. Finn was shifted to third, and Schneider to field, while Greene was supplanted at second by Cruikshank. For the first time Ames staged a swatfest, scored six runs in the first inning by batting three Husker pitchers for twelve runs, and won 12 to 7. Morrison was unsteady and was relieved by Bailey in the eighth after the visitors had scored four runs. In the next game, however, the batters resumed their lethargy. Munger held Ames to three hits, while Durland was batted for seven hits and seven runs, with seven errors. All these combined in the 7 to 0 defeat.

On May 9 and 10 Washington came to Ames for a return series. Ames won the first 11 to 1, due largely to the wildness of Debolt and the hitting of Davis and Morris. The latter cracked out a double and two singles. Bailey pitched a steady game and showed an alertness around the infield, which gained for him good support. The next day Debolt of the visitors came back and held Ames to one hit. He struck out ten in seven innings, while Durland was batted for seven runs. Washington won 7 to 0. Ames dropped another pair with Kansas on May 13 and 14. Although outhitting the Jayhawkers in the first game, the Cyclones' errors caused a possible victory to slip away. Kansas won 11 to 7. The hitting of Davis was the afternoon's sensation. He got a homerun and two doubles, in three times up, off Marxen, the Kansas spitballer. The next day Kansas staged another swatfest at the expense of Bailey and Durland and won 11 to 3. Davis duplicated his hitting record of the day before and got two doubles and a single.

Ames played their last conference games with Drake at Des Moines. The tables were turned on the Bulldogs and Iowa State won both games, the first 9 to 5 and the second 7 to 2. The first game was close. Arriving at the ninth inning one run behind, the Cyclones knocked out five hits off Bill Wilhelm, Drake veteran, while Morrison, who relieved Bailey, held them safe in their half. The second game resulted in a swatting bee at Niggemeyer's expense. He had previously held Ames to one hit. Greutzmacher held Drake safe and won 7 to 2. Morris got three hits. These victories were a fitting climax to a rather disappointing season, but did not help materially to raise the Cyclones from their position next to the bottom in the conference ratings.

The last game of the season was played with Northwestern University. This game served as an indicator of the rating of Big Ten and Missouri Valley baseball as Northwestern was well toward the bottom in the Big Ten race, and Ames near the cellar in the Missouri Valley Conference. The Purple squad won but not until after a hard eleven inning battle, in which Ames had the advantage all the way, until Anderson pushed a Texas leaguer into the right field with one on base, in the eleventh. Morrison pitched a whale of a game, but five errors featured heavily. It was in this game that Captain Schneider, Finn and Davis played their last baseball for Iowa State. Each won two letters before this season.

This ended the somewhat unsuccessful Conference season as far as games won and lost were concerned, but not entirely unsuccessful, because a large nucleus was developed for a winning team next year. Only three men were lost.

Although Ames was near the bottom in Valley rating, it can be said with perfect right that no team had more careful, skilled and conscientious coaching than did the Cyclones. Starting with practically no veterans Coach Kent developed a team that surprised close followers. Mahoney, Davis and Morris showed the most consistency in hitting. Loose fielding and an apparent inability to size up quickly and accurately inner circle plans resulted in many costly errors. This made it a puzzle as to which combination around the bags worked the best. The following received their letters: catchers, Petty and Whitaker; pitchers, Morrison, Greutzmacher, and Bailey; Mahoney 1b; Greene and Cruikshank 2b; Davis ss; Schneider and Johnson 3b; Currie If; Finn cf; Woodward and Morris rf. Mahoney, first baseman, was elected captain for the 1922 season.

OWA STATE'S 1921 track season was featured by its famous two-mile relay team. Coach "Ned" Merriam, who is known all over collegiate America as one of its greatest long distance track coaches, succeeded in developing a record-breaking relay team as well as a strong corps of distance runners. On February 28, 1921, the team, composed of Graham, Frevert, Higgins, and Webb, started their season with an indoor meet at Kansas City. At this time Kansas University went down to defeat before the fast Cardinal and Gold pathmen. Besides winning the relay two of the members, namely, Graham and Frevert, took first in the mile and half mile, respectively. The next meet, the Drake Relays, proved the true worth of this crack team. Here the relay was won in the record time of 7:52%. This is the fastest time that any team composed of American runners ever covered the distance in the United States. This time is also a world's record for runners made up from the same school.

With this record to their credit, the team journeyed to the Penn relays, where they took second in a neck to neck race with Yale. The winning time was one and two-fifths more than the time established by Ames in the Drake meet. In both the Penn and Drake meets as well as for the rest of the season, "Deac" Wolters took the place of "Mot" Frevert.

Five members of this year's team go out of varsity competition at the end of the season, either because of the fact that they have already had three years or because of graduation. The loss of Captain Bill Paige makes a big hole in the field events, his specialty being the high and broad jumps. Paige was also a member of the half-mile relay team. The broad jump is still further weakened by the loss of Norton, a class "A" high jumper. Godby and Tracy will be left to hold up the pole vault records with Frederickson out of the running because of graduation. One of the greatest weakening points is the loss of "Stan" Graham, a member of the two-mile relay team as well as a famous miler. The relay team still retains Wolters, Higgins, Webb and Frevert. This with the addition of the remaining varsity and freshman material should assure a winning track team next year. The four mile team also loses a member, namely Mitchell. His work in the mile this year proves him to be a double loss to the team.

A triangular indoor meet between Ames-Drake-Grinnell marked the opening of Iowa State's 1921 track season. Ames took an easy first with 73½ points to their credit. Drake and Grinnell fought hard for second place, Drake finally winning by a margin of one-half point with 17½ counters. Ames' total score came in clean sweeps in two events, the pole vault and the high jump, and seven firsts, six seconds, and two thirds besides.

Boyd, Frederickson, and Tracy eliminated all other entries in the pole vault while Capt. Paige, Boyd, and Lemen duplicated this feat in the high jump. Capt. Paige also showed his ability for spanning wide distances in a broad jump of 21 feet and one-fourth inch, having had hardly any former practice. Ames took first as well as a majority of seconds in all distance events. The mile relay came the nearest to looking like defeat, Grinnell taking a big lead at the start. But with Webb as third man and Higgins for anchor, a lead amounting to almost a quarter of a lap was established before the finish.

About a week after the triangular walkaway, the two mile relay team started their victorious season by defeating Kansas University at the Kansas City A. C. meet. Before the relay Higgins won the half mile in 2:03%. He held his own in the relay event and put up a brilliant brand of track work in both events. After running a half mile of the relay in the remarkable time of 1:59%, Graham entered the mile. He was handicapped by drawing a second row berth to start from but after battling his way through a crowd of fourteen runners he broke into open field and took the event in 4:30%. This was one and a fifth faster time than Joie Ray made at Boston the week before. "Mut" Frevert was handicapped from the beginning in the 100-yard dash and could do no better than second place until the final spurt, when he closed the gap and crossed the tape by the width of his body for first place. A feature of the day was Bert Webb's spectacular finish in his half of the relay. His Kansas man passed him but not realizing Webb's rapid recovery of lost distance was forced to come in second. Webb's time was 1:59%.

On March 5, Coach Merriam took six men to Urbana to compete in the Illinois relay carnival. Capt. Bill Paige did himself very creditably in the high and broad jumps, tying for first place in the former and placing third in the latter. With a bad start to account for Ames could do no better than third in two mile relay. This defeat was made up, however, by the winning of the medley relay. Higgins covered his quarter mile in :50 flat, thereby giving Pohlman a good lead. Pohlman lost the lead only to regain it before he handed the baton to Webb. By covering his half mile in the remarkable time of 1:58, Webb increased the lead considerably and left what seemed an easy finish for Graham. Furnas of Purdue, a famous Olympic star, was not easily beaten, however, and if Graham had not been able to establish a new indoor record the Purdue man would have beaten him. The time for the relay was 8:24. This tied the former carnival record. Ames did not place in either the 600 or 1000 yard dashes.

Outdoor track started with a rush at the Drake relays, when the Cardinal and Gold boys covered the two mile relief circuit in the record breaking time of 7:52½. This established a world's record for runners made up of one school as well as setting a record on the Drake track. "Deac" Wolters, on the initial scratch, took a long lead although not as great as he might have taken considering the fact that he had no opposition. Graham was staked against Illinois' strongest man and was forced to come in second notwithstanding the fact that his time was less than two minutes. The best times were made by Webb and Higgins, who covered their half mile circuits in 1:56 and 1:56½ respectively. Ames placed third in the four mile relay when "Mot" Frevert spurted past Wall of Wisconsin in the last 100 yards of the grind. Illinois came in first with the watch at 18:191/6.

On April 26, Coach Merriam took his two mile path team composed of Webb, Graham, Wolters, and Higgins to the Penn relays which took place on the 29th. In both the two-mile and medley relays Ames succeeded in placing second, their time being but a few fifths of a second slower in each case. A wet track hindered the athletes. Ames made the rounds in 7:54, the winners, Yale, making it one-fifth of a second faster. The medley time was 10:213/5, only one and three-fifths seconds slower than the world's record. The leaders, Illinois, majored Iowa State by two-fifths of a second. In this meet all eastern colleges conceded that Ames was without a doubt Western champion.

Minnesota was the next school to battle with our men. Ames easily romped away with the honors, giving the Gopher lads the short end of a 84 to 56 tally. Eight firsts and a tie for another first with the majority of seconds and thirds made the total score for Iowa State. Bert Webb entered the broad jump in place of Paige who was laid up with an injured ankle and surprised Iowa State followers by taking a first in this event. Webb also took the blue ribbon in his specialty, the half mile, doing this in 1:5845. Rathbun took the two-mile event in 9:4525 with Frevert a close second. Individual point winners were Webb for Ames with ten points to his credit and Anderson for Minnesota, who took first in all three of the events that he entered.

This dual proved to be valuable experience for the Ames cinder experts as shown by the strong showing made in the State meet which took place at Des Moines one week later. By collecting a total of twenty-seven points in three of the middle distance events Ames started a tally that made a second to Iowa with 52 points.

Higgins and Webb ran an almost perfectly even half mile although the judges awarded Higgins the decision with a new record time of 1:57, just three-fifths of a second faster than Beardz, an Iowa State man, stepped it in 1908. Graham made another Drake record in the mile by lowering Browning of Cornell's record of 4:303/5, three and one-fifth seconds.

Rathbun showed master stepping when he took the two mile in 9:4845, thereby shattering the former record by approximately eleven seconds. The mile relay team made up of Pohlman, Webb, Higgins, and Wolters broke another previous Drake mark by taking the event in 3:2515. McBirney placed second in the javelin throw, losing by a small distance to Patterson of Drake who heaved the spear 158 feet and 3 inches. Although Capt. Paige was out of competition in the high jump, Norton surprised the dopesters by tying for second place. Individual honors of the day went to Paulu of Grinnell.

Iowa State's performance at St. Louis in the Missouri Valley meet was almost a repetition of their work at the State meet. Higgins and Webb again crossed the tape with arms locked in 1:56. Rathbun ran easy, saving his reserve for the final spurt when he crossed the tape ahead of the well known Watson of Kansas Aggies in 9:453/5. Iowa State had a comparatively easy time in the mile relay. Frederickson tied for second place in the pole vault. Graham took the lead from Watson in the mile only to be beaten at the final tape. Watson was forced to make the run in 4:22%, thereby equalling the former conference record. Nebraska upset the dope when they took the meet with a total of 37 points. University of Kansas and University of Missouri tied for second with 29 points each and Iowa State came in a close fourth with 28.

The closing of the 1921 track season was marked by taking four places in the annual Big Ten meet held in Chicago on Stagg Field. Higgins won the half mile in 1:58\frac{2}{5}\frac{1}{5}\text{ while Webb came in fourth. Rathbun fought a game fight with Wharton of Illinois only to lose by a couple of yards. In finishing second he defeated Furnas of Purdue, a member of last year's Olympic team. The mile relay team finished a strong third to Michigan and Illinois. Michigan pulled just ahead of Iowa State in 3:26\frac{1}{5}\frac Illinois won the meet with 61 points, while Michigan was second and Wisconsin third. Iowa State was nosed out of fourth place with a scant two points by Iowa. The Cardinal and Gold boys took home a total of fourteen points.

CROSS COUNTRY

OACH "ART" SMITH started the cross country season in the fall of 1921 as the new track and cross country mentor at Ames. The beginning of the season found a good nucleus around which to build a winning cross country team such as has represented Ames for the past twelve years. The veterans with which to start the season were Rathbun, Captain Frevert, and Webb. Bierbaum and Brown of the 1921 track squad had considerable experience. These men with other good harriers, Hallowell, Channer, Seaton, Miller, and Greenlee, who had yet to prove themselves, made up the personnel of the squad.

The first meet of the season, held on October 22, was a dual with Kansas University. It resulted in a victory for Ames by a 21 to 34 score. Rathbun, the machine-like Ames runner, was the first to finish and was fully fifty yards ahead of Patterson of Kansas. Rathbun's time was 27:51. Webb and Frevert tied for third place, followed by Hallowell and Bierbaum, who finished sixth and seventh respectively. The first mile was made in 5:08 by Patterson, but he was closely pushed by Rathbun. Both fought for the lead up to the midway mark when "Bunny" led off for the remainder of the race. The meet ended between halves of the Kansas University and Ames football game.

After the Kansas dual meet Coach Smith directed his attention towards conditioning his men for the Missouri Valley meet at Lincoln, Nebraska, on November 12 and the Big Ten meet at Bloomington, Indiana, the following week. Special work over hills and pastures filled the program of practice for the Big Ten meet. Eleven men were now taking the brunt of the work-outs. Smith's teams have won two national championships and he knew the caliber of a team required to be the winners of these two events. A squad of six men picked from these contenders for berths, appeared to be one of the best balanced teams which had competed for Cardinal and Gold honors in recent years.

On November 12, Iowa State won the Missouri Valley championship at Nebraska University by a nineteen point margin. Kansas University, Kansas Aggies, Nebraska, Grinnell and Washington finished in order. Rathbun placed first over the five mile course in the fast time of 26:132/5, followed by Patterson of Kansas University, who trailed "Bunny" in the dual meet at Ames. Captain "Mut" Frevert placed fifth, Bierbaum sixth, Webb seventh and Brown twelfth.

November 19 found the team at Bloomington, Indiana. Illinois University, who was doped to win, carried off highest honors, with Ames second. Illinois had an exceptional team this year, composed of all veterans of the past season and members of the record breaking four mile relay team. "Bunny" Rathbun led first ahead of Finkle of Wisconsin, but ran some fifty yards off the course and had to come back, thus coming in behind the winner by two yards. The time was 29:20. Captain "Mut" Frevert was the next Ames man to finish and came in eighth. Bierbaum, Brown and Webb finished next in order farther down the line. The course at Bloomington was typically "cross country", over roads, pastures, plowed fields, timber and very steep hills. This was the first time in cross country running that a course of this kind was used and that partially accounted for the slow time. The Big Ten was the concluding meet of the season and the last one for Frevert and Webb. Each of these men has run three seasons.

TENNIS SQUAD

ITH the opening of the 1921 season prospects for a successful intercollegiate tennis season loomed especially promising. Although Smith, the crack net man of the previous season, was lost by graduation, Kinney, Kuppinger, and Kittle, veterans, were left.

On May 20 the coaches issued a call for men to which a good number responded. The usual elimination tournament was held soon after in order to select a team. Winners of this tournament were Loucks, Kuppinger, Kinney, and Kittle.

Ames easily won the meet with Drake in both singles and doubles. The results of the singles were: Loucks of Ames defeated Grant of Drake, 6–3, 6–3; Kinney of Ames defeated Friedman, 6–4, 6–2; Kuppinger defeated Mahaffa of Drake, 6–3, 6–2; Kittle of Ames defeated Barkley, 6–1, 6–5. The results of the doubles were: Kittle and Loucks, Ames, defeated Mahaffa and Barkley, 6–1, 6–1; Kinney and Kuppinger, Ames, defeated Friedman and Grant, 6–3, 6–2.

Ames was unable to attend the Missouri Valley meet at Washington.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION FACULTY

Miss Winifred R. Tilden, B. A., is Professor of Physical Education and Director of Women's Athletics at Iowa State College. She is a member of the National and Mid-West Physical Education Association, a member of the Middle West Society of College Directors of Physical Education for Women, also a member of the National Committee on Women's Athletics and President of Women's Athletic Council, and Honorary Member of the Women's "A" Fraternity.

Mrs. W. G. Gaessler has charge of all the heavy apparatus and aesthetic dancing classes as well as beginning swimming. She is Medical Advisor for the Red Cross Corps, a member of the Athletic Council and an Honorary Member of the Women's "A" Fraternity.

Miss Agnes Murphy has charge of all advanced swimming and playground classes. She is the Chairman of the Swimming Club and Official Examiner for the Red Cross Corps in this district. She is also an Honorary Member of the Women's "A" Fraternity.

Miss Marie Habermann is a graduate of Hope College, Holland, Michigan, and has a B. P. E. degree from the American College of Physical Education at Chicago. She is an Instructor in playground and elementary gymnastics.

Miss Mae Kelly received her B. A. degree at Oberlin College. She is Instructor in Corrective Gymnastics.

Miss Ruth P. Springer received her degree from Columbia Normal School of Physical Education at Chicago. Miss Springer has been added to the Instructing Staff this last year and she has charge of General Sports and Freshman Gymnastics. The BOMB BX

NEW POINT SYSTEM IN WOMEN'S ATHLETICS

Because the Women's Athletic Association at Iowa State is a member of the Athletic Conference of American College Women, it became necessary to revise the Constitution of the Association and also establish a new system of making athletic awards, in order to meet the requirements for such membership.

It has been customary in the past to award medals to the honor girls of the athletic teams. When a girl received three such medals she was awarded the official women's "A" sweater. However, under the new system the intermediate awards have been put away, and points are awarded. When the required number of points has been earned, the girl receives her "A" sweater.

Double "A" 800 points Official "A" 500 points Membership 200 points

Points may be earned as follows:

Varsity 100 points Squad 50 points Second team 25 points

The W. A. A. Sports shall be:

Hockey Heavy Apparatus
Basketball Dancing
Tennis Baseball
Swimming Track

A girl may earn only 300 points during her Freshman year.

Rules governing W. A. A. Sports:

- 1. A girl may take part in only one Major sport each quarter.
- 2. A girl may earn only 200 points in any one W. A. A. sport.

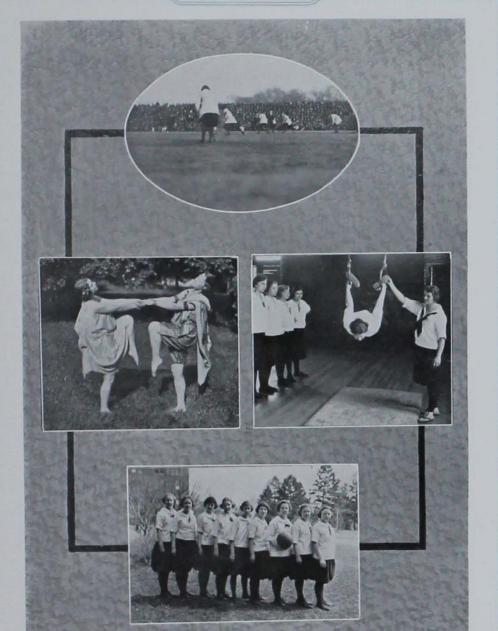

The Outing Club which is under supervision of the Physical Education Department shall consist of the following sports:

Golf Riding
Soccer Archery
Volley Ball Hiking
Quoits

Only 100 points from the Outing Club may be transferred in four years; with not more than 25 points from any one sport.

Adaptations of the point system:

- 1. Any medal held by any girl shall be valued at 150 points.
- Any girl graduating in 1922 shall be required to have 475 points for her Official "A".
- Any girl graduating thereafter shall be required to have 500 points for her Official "A".
- 4. In order for a Senior to receive her "A" she must have earned 25 points during her Junior year.

MAJOR SPORTS

W. A. A. HOCKEY

Field hockey for women seems to be a very popular sport at Iowa State College if we are to judge from the number of girls who came out last fall. Class games were played off and then the high twenty-five girls were picked for the varsity.

The Sophomores won from the Freshmen by a 2 to 0 score, and the Freshmen also suffered defeat at the hands of the Seniors by a score of 3 to 0. The Juniors fought the Freshmen to a tie score of 2 to 2. The Seniors tied with the Sophomores and also with the Juniors. The Juniors won from the Sophomores by a 2 to 1 score.

At the beginning of the winter quarter all girls out for basketball went into training. After a period of six weeks practice the class games were played. There was unusual enthusiasm shown in playing the final games. To prove her theory that girls under weight should not play basketball, Miss Tilden made a feature game out of one of the games and she played the "heavies" against the "skinnies" and the former beat by a score of 26 to 15.

The first game played was that between the Senior college team and the Sophomores, which resulted in a top-heavy score for the Sophs. of 35 to 46.

The Senior college team also suffered defeat at the hands of the Freshmen, having to take the small end of a 19 to 12 score.

The championship game was played between the Sophomores and Freshmen in which the Preps led by a score of 45 to 25,

PLAYGROUND

Playground at Iowa State has been about as popular a subject as dancing and heavy apparatus. Miss Agnes Murphy has been in charge and has given several demonstrations in different phases of the work. How to handle community work has been the object of the course. A girl must know all the different phases of the work from unorganized games, such as sand building, to the organized pageants and plays.

There has been much interest shown and several original suggestions made for pageants. One of the most interesting of the demonstrations Home Economics Day was that presented by the playground classes with the aid of the children of Ames Public Schools.

CORRECTIVE GYMNASTIC'S

Remedial Gymnastics has received a very prominent place in Physical Education at Iowa State College. Instead of letting a girl continue work in regular gymnasium classes if she has fallen arches, round shoulders, one hip larger than the other, or anything else, she is scheduled in corrective gymnasium and she stays in this department until she is cured as much as she ever can be.

Miss Mae Kelly has worked hard in this department and she is to be highly congratulated on her work. The exhibition Home Economics Day was conclusive evidence that the girls receive a great benefit from this form of gymnasium.

MAY DAY PAGEANT

The Historical Pageant under the direction of Miss Winifred Tilden, who was also Chairman of the Theme Committee, was a repetition of the Semi-Centennial Pageant given a year ago. The setting however was very much different.

The pageant opens when twelve Trumpeters followed by History enter. History introduces: first, the Committee of Three; second, the six Counties desiring the location of the Model Farm; third, the Board of Education. Next enters the lad, who hears the summons of Education. The Foundation Stones are laid. Opening of College. FEATURE PART OF WOMEN'S ATHLETICS

The hearty cooperation between the Women's Physical Education Department and the Men's Physical Training Department is always evident in this institution.

Many requests have been made of the girls to appear in aesthetic dances between halves of the basketball games. The requests have always been met with high favor among the girls and enthusiasm is abounding. The type of dances vary from the interpretative solo to the group dances.

The dances of foreign countries are taught to the girls in their physical education classes—and are given in appropriate costume.

A team composed of girls from the Heavy Apparatus class exhibited some remarkable work on the Giant Stride, the Flying Rings, and the Ropes, this winter between halves of the final game of the Girls' Basketball Tournament. At the same game the class in playground also presented the "Colkey Jubilee"—a gymnastic dance—which included some excellent tumbling and pyramid building.

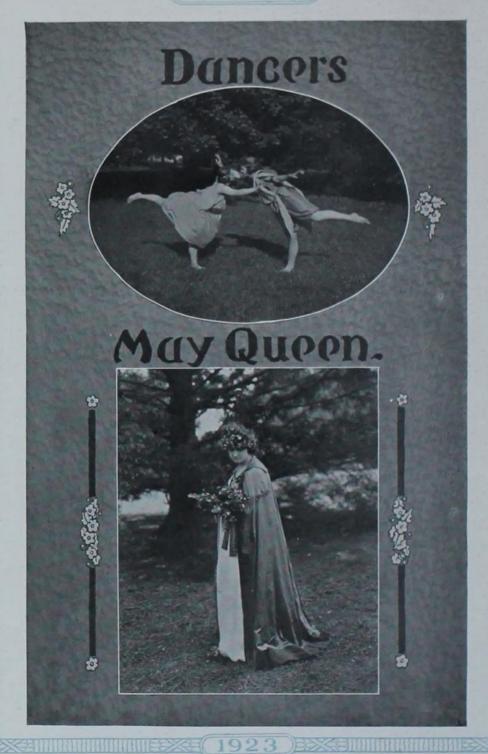

The Women's Red Cross Life Saving Corps has very ably assisted Coach D. E. Daubert's Porpoises in two demonstrations at the men's pool. The life saving work was emphasized throughout the two demonstrations. Fancy diving and stunts were also included in the program.

The swimming club of the W. A. A. has also appeared in three public demonstrations. The men's pool was put at their disposal for these meets. Swimming among the girls is rapidly coming to hold an important position among women's athletics. The handicap of a small pool and inadequate equipment does not prevent a large number of women from becoming proficient swimmers.

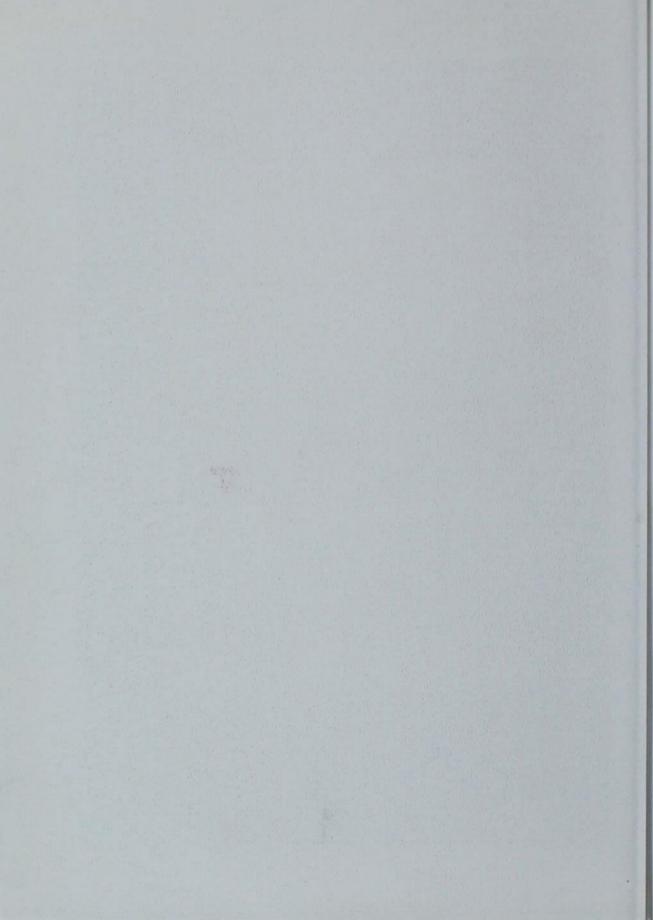

Each spring a gymnasium meet is held in which the girls whose grades are at least 90 per cent compete in their department for a silver loving cup. Last spring the cups were awarded to Verena Meyer in Heavy Apparatus, to Lenore Higley in Dancing, to Irene Haynes in Playground and to Kathryn Gearheart in Elementary Gymnastics.

THE VEISHEA

Hansen, Barrett, Innes, Weise Beach, McKee, Todd

ORGANIZATION

H. E. Pride Permanent Secretary

The Veishea represents the joining together of the students of all the divisions of Iowa State College in a common exposition. It is the first all-college carnival and exposition to be put on by the student body. It is expected to become an annual event and to take the place of the divisional celebrations, the Ag. Carnival, the Engineers' "St. Pat's Day", and the "H'Ec Day". The Veishea gives a fine opportunity for the student body to demonstrate its ability in developing organization, team work, and leadership. It has for its purpose to furnish entertainment and to exhibit the educational advantages offered at Iowa State College, not only to the students themselves but to all the people of Iowa.

The name "Veishea" is composed of the first letters in the name of each of the five divisions and is symbolical of the uniting together of the five divisions in the common exposition. The program of the Veishea includes the May Day Fete, an all-college parade, carnival, departmental open houses, military demonstrations, night shows, and dances. The athletic features include baseball games and the invitation high school track, tennis, and golf tournaments.

SENIOR PROM

Sedate old Central building, for many years the custodian of ancient customs at Iowa State, shook off its dignity on a certain moonlit June night and lent itself to the merriment of the evening. The wide halls and silent corridors, so long accustomed only to the hushed tread of serious professors or the hurried steps of anxious students on their way to and from classes, now rang with light and happy steps and responded with joyous voices. Even the library, ever busy and answering the demands of its clients, placed its books upon their shelves, locked the cases and suspended all its business for the more importaont festivity of the evening.

But no other feature of the building put forth such a welcome on that June night as did the ever-famous brass ring for it was polished to its very shiniest and sent forth a welcoming invitation to all the merry makers for this was the night of the Senior Prom of the class of 1921.

The Prom was novel in every aspect, and differed from any previously given by any of the other outgoing classes of Iowa State. Contrary to the usual custom of holding the final dancing party of the senior class in the State Gymnasium, at the hotel or in some other large public building, the class of 1921 chose Central building which has served as a sort of guardian over them since the first day of their registration as freshmen. The four floors were thrown open to the revelers. An orchestra was centrally located and the music was wafted thru the center and down the long corridors to the dancers. The tiled floors had been previously treated, so they were in excellent condition. Gay streamers festooned the place, in quaint little noonk, punch was served while chaperones watched from afar, the fun. Girls, in lovely organdies of every color of the rainbow, in soft crepe de chines or charming swisses, added much to the festive appearance of the place, being in strong contrast with their usual school suits and sweaters most commonly seen around Central.

One of the features that led to the spirit of fun prevailing over the whole place was that one just never could tell where one would be the next moment, for perhaps one was dancing on fourth floor one dance when one's partner for the next dance might be found way down on the ground floor. And how much fun it was, just to lean over the balustrade and look down and spy the people as they danced around on the floors below. Why on every floor were people one knew, having as much fun and enjoying themselves as immensely as you were yourself. And then it seemed like a veritable fairyland when along in the latter half of the dance the confetti began to fly the balloons to float on down through the center to the very bottom and gay horns to call, echo and re-echo through the great depth of the mammoth building.

In all it was a delightful Prom and each and every Senior as he or she left the building on that moonlight June night paid a silent tribute to dear old Central who had sheltered them through the four years of their college life and who had been the scene of their last class festivity, the Senior Prom of 1921.

Foreword

Our motto has always been "Never let your studies interfere with your college education" and in the following pages we have made an attempt to give a clear, concise, and illustrated notion as to what a college education should be. We have endeavored to give publicity seekers their due and in some cases have manufactured enough scandal to satisfy those whose activities are comparitively insignificant, and yet who would be offended if they were given no publicity. With malice toward none, with a joke for all, we cheerfully dedicate the following attempts at wit, scandal, and accusations.

One of our church-going terpsichorean studes was up before the Dean for-er-disorderly dancing. As he finished-

"It's too much wine, women, and song, Jones," he said; "you'll have to reform."

"Yes, sir," replied Jones somewhat thoughtfully.

The Dean was somewhat stunned to read in the Student the next morning: Jones Resigns from Church Choir.

The BOMB BX

TO THE BUM BORED

Hon. Sers,

I have followed your instructions and have investigated all houses on the campus and have given as much publicity as possible to each. I had with me two booze hounds, a fotografer, and a Whizz Bang. I managed to keep all these until the last house where they stole my Whizz Bang and ruined the camera with the effect which is shown. However do not turn to the last page at once to see the effect as there is lots of good scandal in between. Yours,

IGNUTZ.

I have never been in the Sigma Kappa House since they changed their names from Arcades. Delta Phi was too highbrow for me, but now that they have become a trifle more civilized, I decided to try my luck. Nothing has ever reminded me more of the old scene from "The Crockery Shop" than my short sojourn there. The girls all have good honest faces which is supposed to make up for the lack of beauty, but as the old saying goes, "A thing of beauty is worth a pound of cure." Here we find the literary geniuses such as Marjorie Miller and the erstwhile Gwendolyn. But let us pass on the bunch who admit they have the class of the campus.

As you have already guessed, my next visit was nowhere else but the magnolious Ring Ching Hotel. Pi Beta Phi is out for the beauty contest in dead earnest and show their support by putting thirty Pi Phi names on each Pi Phi petition. Pi Phi is famous for Helen Curtis (see illustration) and for Deans of various female divisions (see Green Gander). A large Greek motto hangs over the fireplace, which being interpreted in Ring Ching means "Up the neck". From the talk I heard while I was there, it seems that the sisters are trying hard to regain the old rating, but as Benj. Franklin said, "The crescent is mightier than the arrow". I stayed for a short time only as the blue blood was too much for me.

I decided the A × B's or the Axby's, as some young wit has called them, should be the next to honor my presence. The Sigma Kappa's were born rich rather than good looking, but as you will notice, the Axby's are simply here in school. They seem to have a hard time to find enough pledges but manage to rope in a few here and there. It must not be forgotten that during the Hog Barn fire the girls at the microbe house agreed to participate in the all-sorority-pajama-bucket-brigade, but not until they received their mail from home. In the illustration at the right we have endeavored to show how they grow.

The Alpha Gamma Delta girls are hardly the same since Babe Manwarring left. Guess from all indications they are trying hard to keep up their rep, for the iceman says they have a goodly supply of overstuffed davenports in their cellar. This is a unique departure from the average cellar product, but the attraction seems to be just as great. It seems that they keep in practice by using the fire escapes but usually require a little male help in ascending. I understand that before the year is over they hope to lead the pledge list as far as quantity is concerned.

When I called 822, some feminine voice answered "Chi Omega". I can't quite figure as I have always heard this bunch called the Dizzy Mu's though one or two of them is occasionally seen wearing the horseshoe shaped pin deeply concealed. I learned with interest of the homecoming visit of a dean of a certain western college and of the interesting complications which ensued. They led me into their dining room before I had been in the house ten minutes, and as I looked at it I remembered Jean Kelley and thought of how wonderfully she would have harmonized with the bluebirds painted on the walls.

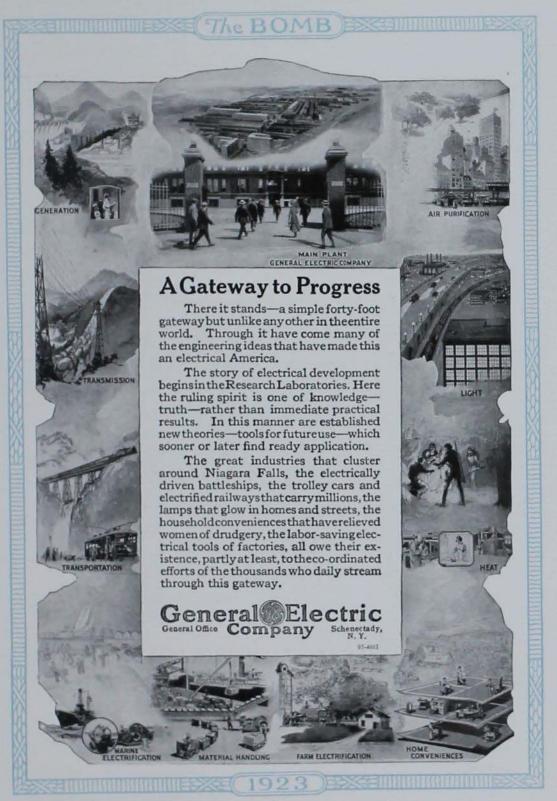

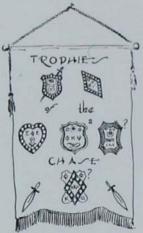

One might have thought that he was in the Phi Sig house, but my close association with the Phi Sigs (in connection with the scholarship committee) had acquainted me with the difference in the pin. The Gamma Phi's admit that as yet they are better known as the swamp angels, but with Rose Storm as feature editor of this publication, Gamma Phi should begin to be recognized at other houses besides the Sig Ep house. It is the purpose of this series to advertise all prominent personages so we must not forget Dorothy Cass who helps uphold the honor of the Pond Lilies in a political way. Each freshman is required to be well grounded in life saving and navigation before being pledged.

After having walked for a matter of three days and several nights I came upon the little cottage where Ione Johnson and some of the rest of those short little girls hang out. They have a sign over the door that states they are the Alpha Delta Pi girls which is a funny sounding name, but I guess you know all the poor jokes about Alpha Delta Pi. To tell the truth there wasn't much there of importance to write on. Of course the Alpha Delts get kidded quite a bit about being the country club girls but I really do believe that they would get more dates if they lived closer in though some of the fellows that go with them say that the distance is the thing that really makes the bunch.

The Kappa Delt house is truly the house of a thousand sisters. They adopted their secret motto from the A. T. O.'s and their pin from the Alpha Delts. They rope the girls in from everywhere. Upon entering I at once wondered whether I was in the K. D. house or at some Pan-Hel meeting from the number of pins scattered about. Practically all the houses on the campus were represented, but the Phi Psi's have the majority for once. The K. D. motto is "My queendom for a pin", and their song is "The engineer's favorite". The sisters admit that every national on the campus asked Kappa Delta to petition at one time, but with careful training they will grow out of it. But on to the Tri Delt's for real scandal.

When I entered this dive of notoriety, I was dumbfounded to find all the lights on and the davenports empty. It was explained to me that the girls were at the feeding trough and I sat down and listened in on how they intended to keep their chapter. Motion was carried that next year all girls must have fur coats. Bud Drewry was requested not to smoke during meeting. Carolyn Miller was censored for losing the roll of honor from the back window-suggestion made then was overruled. Ardis Pettigrew made some suggestion about seating space but not many understood. It is hard to understand any one in love. Ianet Townsley was told to take her week end fights outside hereafter. Then an argument started regarding beauties for the contest and I left. They aren't such a bad crew, but I do hope that no more of their pets lose their social privileges.

As soon as I had finished the so-called sororities on this, our fair campus, I thought I'd might as well get the worst over first among the fraternities, so I chose the A. T. O. house. Every one knows they have the biggest bunch of rough necks on the campus. I didn't recognize the prep who answered the door but he looks like a product of Kelly or Ames. This guy Wilson (the one who carts the Pi Phi's around,) started up the casket talking machine of theirs to take my attention away from the rest of the chapter as soon as he learned the purpose of my visit. About half the chapter were cussing the high prices of house assessments and wondering when in the haitch they were going to get their joint paid for. From the amount of work they don't do, it is no wonder that they nearly tie the D. U.'s for low grades.

Quite luckily I fell in with Verne Hass or I never would have located the T. K. E. house, only Verne called it the Teke house. They claim they have a wonderful bunch of boys, but it is a shame that they can't get some Americans instead of all those foreigners. The house is a bum looking shack inside and the floor is like the Pacific Ocean in a gale. The dinner bell rang and I fought for a place at the table where wondrous things happened. Ben Goodale can eat more than anything on the Ag side of the campus and talk all the time he is doing it. Art Swanson stated at dinner that they now have fourteen chapters but are trying to get a bunch at Mt. Pleasant to petition them. I wasn't aware that there was a school there though there is another state institution. Sort a cutting down on feed there since their formal last quarter.

As soon as I got to the corner I broke and ran for the Sig Alpha house. They are a nice quiet bunch and are hoping that Ira Young will bring back the rep that they lost when Stew White left. They claim they get a lot of pull on the campus because Buck Coover is a Sig Alph. Suppose that does help a little but still think it would have its drawbacks. Though it is well known that S. A. E. stands for "Sleep and Eat" they are an undernourished looking bunch, look at Joe Ringland for example. This bird Houghton is the official lounge lizard for the fraternity and seems to tend toward the Gamma Phi girls. They have their eating down to a science and I have heard tell that they eat cafeteria style which may account for the hungry look generally prevalent. As I left the gang was starting for the sleeping porch.

Well, I thought the Sig Alphs were bad enough, but when I ran into Al Warren at the D. U. House, I'll have to hand it to the D. U's. Al started spouting off when I came in and hadn't quit when I left. Al stated that the boys were dragging the Pi Phi's now and seemed to expect me to compliment him. Yes, he had on his gray suit. He stated most emphatically that the Phi Psi prep who stated at the Freshman Pan-Hel council that Delta Upsilon stood for Dirty Und-, well, you know, was wrong and that the boys are all neat and doggy dressers. Ken Marvin has finally got Mort Goodwin to run him in on the Green Gander, and if there's anything left of it when he gets through Mort may be able to put it into shape again. This Chick Wogens is a dizzy clown and when I saw him I was glad I had brought the trusty old shovel along. But on to the veteran cake eaters.

I was good and tired of the west end and thought that the Sigma Nu's should be off their dates by this time. Did you ever stop to wonder how a bunch of able bodied men can have women for breakfast, luncheon, and dinner? I guess it is because they don't have much else. They are a bunch of dilly birds for fair, and Ev Laird heads the list with his Cedar Rapids and Ames improvisions. The right reverend J. A. R. Hansen crawled through the door. Poor, simple John, he hasn't forgotten Red Orr yet and says that Red watches the freight trains pointed toward Ames with hungry eyes. They sure have a ramshackle old joint and consequently have been forced to reduce the size of their chapter to keep the shack from disintegrating. Too bad that they couldn't pledge another Jordan this year.

I waited until the next morning to interview the Theta Delta Chize. One certainly has to get up early to beat those birds. They rate high in the scholarship list and less than 85 disheartens them terribly. Strom hung his pin and hence the Theta Delts are in society. He will probably spend most of his time around the A. G. D. fire escapes even as before. They are not entirely used to being a national yet, but hope to so soon and like the Beta's spend most of their time figuring out new whistles and designing crests. The artist of this colyum has been so kind as to offer a few suggestions. They value their location next to the Pi Phi House very highly and state when sleeping porch season opens they will be well provided with binoculars and eyeglasses. Well, we can't all be students so let's pass on to the Kappa Sigs who are closer to the bottom of the list.

The joint that the Kappa Sigs live in makes one put his arms around his head for fear that the chandeliers (such as they are) will soon be draped about his neck. They have a hard time keeping a home and it is rumored that the K. D.'s and Kappa Sigs intend to rent a tent next year. (No, Oswald, you misunderstand.) As I was sitting there, Hi Ostrander waddled down the stairs and with a gruff chuckle said he was glad to see me and would I have something to eat but I glanced at the spaghetti on the table and declined with thanks. This gang claims that their order was founded in Italy several hundred years ago, and Spaghetti and Bal Lanza are two of the ceremonies that are still preserved. About half the chapter had gone to Boone where some of them live and others are interested in various activities, so I ambled on up the street.

I was rather afraid that the Phi Delt house would be full of Sig Eps engaged in a friendly little game, but they must have been over at the Phi Gam house. As I came in the preps lined up and gave nine rahs for Captain Greene, and Pink demonstrated his maidenly modesty by applying the hickory with great gusto. Barney Google Allen in all of his glory was already figuring on a little self-advertising in next year's Bomb. Bottorf had just come home from school and was lolling in the corner with a manly air, cigar in mouth Irvin Cobb style. Herb Morris admits that the Sigma Nutts have taken the cup in lizardry, but just wait until we win enough to build that front porch, sez he. Dumbell McBride the practical chimed in with a "Don't hold your breath". But let's leave the Phi Delts to Bruce McKenzie and his kid Bro.

Next we journey to town to see the Phi Psi boys. Even while I was there Hi Johnson called the Tri Delt house and asked them to send down five of their very best for Sunday dinner! Hence Hiram is noted more for his grit than his judgment. Phi Kappa Psi states that Frank Pereboom will be a second Packy McFarland, or maybe it was Butch Brown. As I happened to have the staff fotorgefer along he secured a portrait of little Buster which I herewith enclose. Pereboom is obvious enough that he may be seen at any time. Bob Wright was engaged in Mexican athletics speaking of the queen he was with the night before and how the three mining engineers had elected him to run the engineering council. The Phi Psi's are earnestly wondering what they are going to do for men next year, but Pereboom and Buster can undoubtedly run the chapter.

As long as I was down town I went to the Lambda Chi Alpha house so that I could get it over with. This bird Hoper is wearing a white collar every day now and seems to be quite the berries. Ed Kowalke in person has an occasional date, and in this manner the cow eds are reminded that Lambda Chi is on the campus. Lambda Chi Alpha sounds like a disease but it is really a brand of prunes. This so called organization has the largest coefficient of expansion of any society on the campus and since they were slung together in 1909 have accumulated in the neighborhood of 60 chapters. Any local desiring to go national should write Lambda Chi headquarters and a blank petition and invitation will be sent by return mail.

After doing the houses in the city I was glad to get to the Sig Ep house. I expected to encounter a bunch slightly under the weather and was not in the least disappointed. The Sig Eps lead in the funnel gang and it is nice that they should be first in something. Freddie Bock dragged forth the three house scholars who are in person Grady, Shepardson and Ilgenfriz. These men are noted for being in school longer and passing less work than any 200 men on the campus. Their dance of the winter quarter was well attended and the decorations and fourth of July provisions were self-evident. This gang eats in the cellar and all guests are expected to bring their own liq—, I mean forks. They shove their grub down a chute and catch it in a coal bucket. Their preps are all well versed in this method before they are pledged.

Might as well clean up on the Sig Chi's and then get back to the cow college. No wonder so many people take the Sig Chi house for the Douglas Hotel. You know how the Douglas rates in Ames. According to the line shoved out by H. Z. Test, the Sig Chi's threw a wicked masquerade-dinner-country club wrestle, and he says that for once both the women and the costumes were keen. Joe Franks painted most of the decorations and it is said that much of the Sig Chi chinaware has been painted by Joe b'gosh! The camera shows what was left over from Spring Vacation, and this was the accumulation of only one night. The bottle once contained synthetic gin. We might give some of the rest of this gang a little publicity, but you Back to the college and off at Welch street.

to the doggy Phi Gamma Delta house and grasp the hand of Hale Dickerson whom we promised in person to feature. It is a wonderful sight to see Dick walking down the street with a girl and he has cultivated quite a line, so much different from the reports of last year. Phi Gamma Delta is quite a boarding club, but when a trip is in sight the whole gang change their golf socks for cover alls and hit it for the blinds. Jack Currie was there but as usual he wasn't speaking to anyone. Last year's Bomb states that Phi Gamma Delta is slang for golf but the new version is that Phi Ji is calculus for rasberries. This is said with all espects to the mathematics department. I finally managed to houdini myself away. A complete report of the prime gang of goofs I next interviewed follows.

It was with a feeling of duty to be done that I walked into the halls of this bunch of flat tires, the Delta Tau Delta's (Difficult to Digest). Red Knox leads the sophomores of this past political gang of back numbers. He is a goof for fair, especially since some one told him that he could dance. The Tau Delts are noted for their chapter of 50 and their motto is "A pin on every prep". They are very quiet about their initiations, especially when they initi-

The Pi Kappa Alfalfas are a manly bunch of boys, but they show the effect of Bill Crilly's and Paul Potter's absence. Perhaps they will find another leader in Pun Powers, who knows? The joint wouldn't be such a bad place if it weren't for that infernal tin can orchestra that is constantly practising in the front room. Herb Metcalf gets his drag off the Pi Kappa by playing their dances and incidentally accumulated enough jack to pay the first installment on a Ford for K. D. purposes. It must have been the Pi Kaps' turn to have the football captaincy for otherwise Deac Wolters would never have gotten it. This bird Wilhelm is a wild eyed youngster and is continually talking of labor troubles, etc. Where do they pick up all these bolshevists anyway?

The Phi Sigs are trying hard to come into the limelight as lounge lizards. This bunch of cake eaters seem to think that the Tri Delts are perfection, but, What Ho? You know what Daniel said. Red Dean, well, Red has received a lot of publicity but it hasn't improved his looks, as the photo set over to the right will show. Since Dink Stover has been torturing the Bomb he has found the Bomb office very useful in his love affairs. As I was sitting there in walked Bob Miller a la corduroy. Poor Bob, his aspirations are great but he will never acquire enough inspiration to feel the exultation of acquisition of his goal. It was stated by an authoritative source that Bob has been rupered out of no less than five girls to date by the Beta's. If at first you don't suck seed, etc.

Decided to try the Alpha Sigma Phi's next and wondered when I went there if there would be enough material for any publicity at all. The staff fotogruffer went to the trouble of assembling the gang and getting their picture and I hope that you will agree he secured a very good one. Saw Tom DeHart and I guess the Alpha Sigs will have a beaucoup supply of Bombs this year if he has anything to do with it. The Alpha Sigs are among those just rising from the ranks, perhaps that explains the large supply of yeast that is included in their daily groceries. Looks like some of their eastern brothers had better come down and teach them how to keep a home, but then I guess Alpha Sigma Phi was installed by mail. I had to fill in with a lot of bunk about these burds but I guess most of it is true.

All hail to the Alpha Gamma Ploughboys! I stepped inside and was nearly bowled over by the odor of—boiled cabbage. As the old nursery rhyme goes, the Ploughboys have hayseed down their neck and rolled oats in their shoes. Rutter is the only gook in the house that ever had a date in his life and with his Daniel Boone sideburns he makes quite a striking figger. This guy Race has pulled down a lieutenancy in the Peruvian Balloon Corps section of the local R. O. T. C. and that is the extent of their activities. Contrary to the rumor that they have a few pseudo-athletes, I found the majority of them of the Mexican variety. As the Sigma Nu's would say, the boys are aut women aut nullibus, but it sounds like bunk to me. However let us hie ourselves to the Theta Xi's.

Theta Xi was foundered at Renssalear tech in 64 and since then their chapters have taken in a couple of thousand on hams and maniacs such as Gordon and Felix Crowley. I waited until the last to jump this gang so they could do something original and worth the space. But they haven't. This bunch of busted brains boast of Captain Boberg, R. O. T. C. It is certainly quite a record and Boberg seemed well pleased when I complimented him. They tried to force the BOMB election a little this year, but luckily or unluckily for the school didn't get by. They are the original light fingered gang of the campus and have a larger bunch of contraband signs, etc., than any gang in the middle west. The manly sport of Joker three ways is also indulged in with a fifty-five dollar limit.

IOWA STATE COLLEGE

THE IOWA STATE COLLEGE of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts conducts work in five major lines:

AGRICULTURE HOME ECONOMICS ENGINEERING INDUSTRIAL SCIENCE VETERINARY MEDICINE

The Graduate College conducts advanced research and instruction in all these five lines.

Collegiate courses of four, five, and six years are offered along these lines in the different divisions of the College. Non-collegiate courses are offered in Agriculture, Engineering, and Home Economics. Summer Session includes graduate, collegiate, and non-collegiate work. Short courses are offered in the winter.

Extension work is conducted at various points throughout the state.

Research work is conducted in the Agricultural and Engineering Experiment Stations and in the Veterinary Research Laboratory.

Special announcements of the different branches of work are supplied free of charge on application. The general College Catalog will be sent on request.

Address THE REGISTRAR, AMES, IOWA

The Acacias don't have a large chapter this year as their 25 faculty members crowd the majority out on week end parties. Johnny Earhart confided that they were going to buy some likker with the rake off that Schide got off the Bomb. I told Schide that I'd spill the beans if he didn't divvy up but he refused, so there it is. They must have been afraid that some one would find their house and for the benefit of those who don't know where it is we have had the address put in the telephone book. I looked around for empty booze bottles but they were as scarce as cigarette butts at the Adelante house. They are a bunch of dead ones from the neck both ways. They will probably show their ingenuity by running Culver for another office next election.

I was greatly interested to get to the Chi Phi house and you will remember this gang as the old Lambda Tau Alphas. They are the gang that used to have Nutts Satchel and that goob Sessions hangs around there too. This is the first time that these protégés of Hooks Mylins have been properly razzed. Chi Phi, we welcome you. This wild eyed Plagge is a L. T. A. and there are a lot more on the campus that should be. It was my pleasure to meet the Terrible Turk while there. He is seen quite often at Olsan's with whatever he can drag and perseveres in learning the see saw dance. They do say that during the installation no less than three bottles of cherry pop and a bottle of Virginia Dare were consumed. Of course Hooks Mylin had to get hard and drink lemon extract. I know I have forgotten some one, but perhaps I can find out.

Oh, yes, it is none less than Beta Theta Pi that has been omitted. Well, they say that the last place is most emphatic and as this is a destructive criticism, we will give this place of honor to the Betas. They seem to be quite fond of Campbells but can't hang on to them. They are not used to notables as was shown by their ovations over the guvener when he brought his carpet bag along for an afternoon's visit. It is reported that they will soon use their old method of feeding their preps from a hog trough. This treatment goes to the head and hence we have the characteristic Beta. At the Beta convention which lasted three days, the entire time was spent on figuring out a whistle. They have a good start for one now if you are acquainted with the old story.

COLLEGE REFORM

Lecture 1

Fellow students, are we to have the joy of our college life blighted by the old fashion idea that we are here to become educated? No!! Then let our first step be to cooperate with Ohio State in her campaign to have examinations at the beginning of the quarter instead of at the end.

In this way the student would know before he took the course whether or not he would pass it, and therefore he would know whether or not to take the course.

We believe that this would increase the student's efficiency in Campustry, for he would have more time to devote to its pursuit.

It will be argued by the negative that the student might know more about the course at the end of the quarter than at the beginning, but statistics show his statement to be false.

Lecture 2

Fellow students, let our second step toward a better Iowa State College be an improvement of living conditions.

Starting at the nucleus, Central Building, we have the six following suggestions to make:

- 1. We maintain that over-stuffed davenports and floor-lamps be provided for all students.
- 2. That the Library be transformed into a refreshment parlor, where free food and drink is served at all hours.
- That there be entertainment for the overworked student-body, such as Egyptian dances, etc.
- 4. That a jazz orchestra be in evidence at all times, for the benefit of those who wish to dance.
- That the fourth floor be reserved for engaged students; the third for those becoming, or about to become engaged; the main floor for beginners; and the ground floor for stag parties.
- 6. That a Matrimonial Bureau be established in Jr. Dean's office for backward students.

WHAT COULD IT BE?

Our attention was called to an ad which ran recently in one of our local papers. It read as follows: We have something new and interesting in silk hosiery to show you.— We wonder.

1925 Flapper: "My dear, what can be the meaning of this word modest?"

Second Ditto: "Why, that is a word applied only to incomes!"

Rotunda Lizard to Fair Admirer: "Have you ever read (Kant)?"

F. A.: "Why, no, but I've read (Don't) by Miss Harwood."

A kiss is a noun, though never declined. It is generally used as a conjunction. It is more common than proper. It is not very singular and is generally used in the plural. It agrees with you and me.

"Well," asked St. Pete of the new arrival, "what are your credentials?"

"I, sir," said the candidate for admission, "am the honest business manager of the 'AA' dances."

"Come right in," said St. Pete. "We've had a converted horse trader here for twenty years and he is getting chesty."

WONDER WHAT A FLAPPER THINKS ABOUT ON WAKING

Monday: Couldn't keep awake though I sure did try.

(Jim's so sweet when he says goodbye.)

Tuesday: House meeting last nite. They're so absurd.

(I went right to bed without studying a word.)

Wednesday: My easy day. No class till ten.

(I read a story last nite to Gwen.)

Thursday: Had an exam with Prof. Blank today.

(Last nite I studied the hours away.)

Friday: So excited I can't lie still.

(Tonite I've a wonderful date with Bill.)

Saturday: Bill's perfect. His dancing's divine.

(Wish I could get my reports in on time.)

Sunday: Dick's the only man who really thrills me.

(We're going to the woods for a picnic at three.)

Monday: Already! Another's new week is begun.

How COME?

"I gave her a box of rouge for Christmas."

"Gee, that was a pretty flossy present, wasn't it?"

"Yea, but I got it all back when she thanked me for it."

Ouch!

She: "I like your cigarette holder."

He: "Why, I never use one." She: "Don't be so dense."

You might gain your laurels too,
If you could but feed the public

While watching an interesting game with a put and take top at one of our Ash street parlors one evening, our scout discovered that the top was loaded and always stopped on "Take One" or "Take Two." The stakes were kisses, so thinking to keep him from taking advantage of her, our scout warned her that the top was loaded. To his surprise she blushed and said, "You silly boy—it's my own top."

SOLIDIFIED SILENCE

One of the "belles" at Atlantic City last summer had as one of her most ardent admirers a youngster of some seven years. He was a bright little fellow and the two enjoyed many frolics in the water.

One day as they were returning to the bath houses, the youngster suggested that they race to see who could dress first. The "belle" agreed.

The sand-burs grinned audibly as the two raced into the bathhouses which adjoined. A moment after they had disappeared, the shrill voice of the Young American piped out:

"Miss Ethel, oh, Miss Ethel, I've got my stockings on."

"Yes, Bobbie, so have I," came the soft voice of the young lady.

A moment later and the Y. A. again piped up:

"Miss Ethel, I've got my shoes on."

"Yes, dear, so have I," came the answer.

A minute had passed when again a triumphant voice shrilly proclaimed:

"Miss Ethel, I've got my pants on."

The "belle" was silent.

MEMORIES OF A FIRE DRILL

I can hear the fall of the paddle
And a poor frat brother's refrain,
And a feeling of sadness comes o'er me
That seems to resemble a pain.

So I hie me away to the attic And put on a few pair of pants And wedge in a big paper bustle Belonging to one of my aunts.

But they call me down from the attic And ask me to take off my clothes, So with their able bodied assistance I get myself ready to pose.

I take a recumbent position,

The paddle then comes into play,
The preps sit around in the corner
And watch the sad matinee,

They shut their hard jaws together,
I feel that at every rebound,
They put on a vermilion finish
Where my back forms sort of a mound.

Such things have power to quiet
The restless pulse of care,
But they make it rather uneasy
To sit on a hard bottomed chair.

Come, read to me some poem! Some "Favorite" Prescription lay, That will soothe this restless feeling And take the stingers away.

CHEM ENGINEER How to make your corn bring the most money

The preps shall cease their sobbing
And all troubles shall be laid away,
We will quietly fold our breeches
And silently hit the hay.

Rome Wasn't Built E. in a Day 📭 MASTER PRINTERS of the olden days strove to excel in the quality of their work. They looked upon the printing professight of the commercial aspect of the business. This practice prevailed until about the middle of the past century, at which time the commercial idea almost obliterated the artistic and the quality of printing deteriorated to an alarming extent.

Many printers today do not seem to appreciate that quality is an essential in the establishment of a good printing business. The public is largely to blame for this situation. Often it is the matter of a few cents or a few dollars, according to the size of the contract, that determines who will do the work. A firm with a reputation for quality receives no more consideration than one that cares but little for the appearance of the work they turn out.

Our policy is to give every piece of work the eare which it merits. If it be a College Annual such thought and attention is given as is necessary to produce a book that will look well and wear well. A blank form gets the consideration that it should to be of service to the user. And so with every kind of work—each class receives the proper attention to make it attractive and useful. Whatever your needs you will render yourself a service if you turn your printing over to us.

Dependability Summunum munummine

EITHER IS ANYTHING of any magnitude or importance so built. It has taken two decades of continuous effort to rear our business to its present size and standing. C Years of experience in the making of college and school annuals in a pleasing and attractive style, at a cost within the reach of any school, has entitled us to be classed as

Master Annual Builders

There is a sense of satisfaction in turning your annual over to a concern in which you can have absolute faith. The knowledge that the printing and binding will go along right without any worry or anxiety on your part enables you to give your time and concentrate your efforts on assembling the copy, arranging sales campaigns, and other details of importance.

There was a young dancer at Ames
Who always brought out of town dames.
It is needless to tell
That, at the women's Pan Hel,
He was not there to holler, "Home, James!"

If the recent report on grades is indicative, the members of Delta Upsilon should have some good track material. In fact during the entire quarter hardly any professor was able to pass any of them in any course.

"I see the love light in your face,"
He said, as in a dream.
The co-ed grabbed her vanity case
And cried, "Darn that cold cream!"

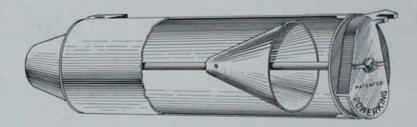

O, spring is come with thoughts of love Stirred by the balmy breeze, With the first rolled hose of summer And the freedom of the Sees.

When it came to dressmaking no home economics instructor had anything on Venus.

Sorority girls don't date any more, I've been informed of such; There's only seven nights in the week, So they still date just that much.

BURGER ENGRAVING

"TAKE THOSE HILLS ON HIGH"

The POWERKING is a patented sound modifier designed to neutralize the exhaust noise by setting up counter vibrations in a central cone; providing a new application of an old principle.

Made of heavy gauge rolled steel plate with carefully inspected, close grained grey cast iron ends, tied together by an acid and rust resisting wrought iron tie bolt to which the vacuum cone is brazed and riveted.

Gas can go through one way only—no chance for explosion. Back pressure cuts down power.

A cutout eliminates back pressure.

A cutout is unlawful. The POWERKING muffler reduces back pressure but is quiet and within the law.

Increased efficiency through wide open vacuum action cleaner, cooler engine with better oil distribution. More power, less gas.

The wide open, simple, efficient construction of the POW-ERKING is a guarantee against muffler explosions. Price $2.00.

Aggie: "Speaking of prolific, my dad's pen is his fortune."

C. E.: "I didn't know he was an architect." Aggie: "He isn't. He is a swine raiser."

Visiting Mother: "This bed of yours doesn't look as I expected the Calculus crib you wrote about to look."

"Sniff! Sniff! Red doesn't love me as he used to."

"'Nother woman in the cave?"

"No. He's broken his arm."

"What did you give your girl for Christmas?"

"She is fond of swimming, so I sent her a bathing suit."

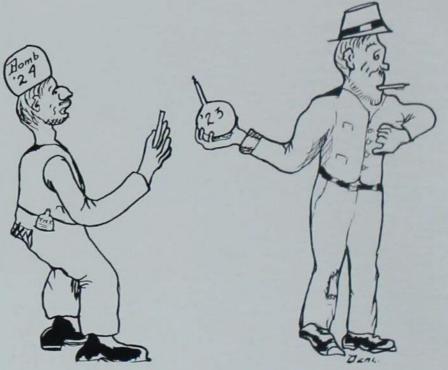

"Was she surprised when she got it?"

"You've no idea how surprised she was when she opened the envelope."

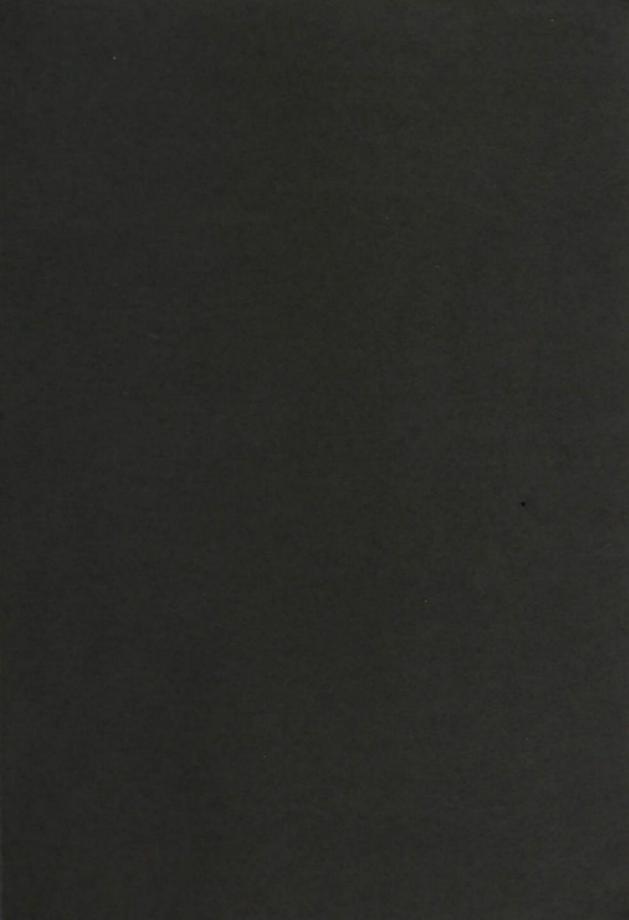

OVERHEARD BY THE CAMPANILE

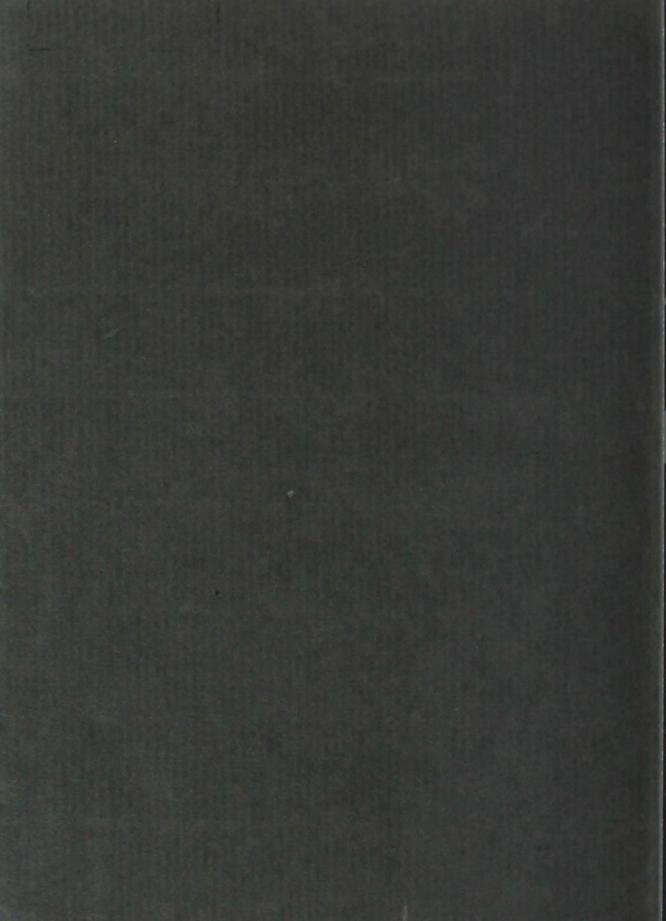

He: "Let's kiss and make up."

She: "If you're careful I won't have to."

And would you mind giving me a light before you throw it?
