Dedication

To Winfred Forrest Coover,
Associate Professor of Chemistry, who for seven years has devoted his time and ability to the upbuilding of the Chemistry courses, all Athletic teams and the Forensic Interests of Iowa
State College, the Class of Nineteen Hundred Twelve dedicate this book.

Greeting

Another college year is near its close, a year filled to overflowing with victory and defeat, pleasure and pain. The Institution we love has gone on to even greater successes than ever before and has each day become more dear to us. Many and varied have been the events that have helped to bind us to it during these months just passed. We, to whom the work of recording these events has fallen, have found the task a heavy one, but we have earnestly endeavored to give a true history of our every day life on and around our beautiful campus and in its buildings. It has not been the work of a week, or a month, but of the whole college year, demanding many weary days and sleepless nights.

We now lay this volume in your hands, feeling in our hearts that it is good, but knowing that the Ideal has not yet been reached. Take it, read it, ponder over it, and then render your verdict.

An Appreciation

NEVER is any generation given the wisdom, the perspective to judge aright the men of its time. This holds true even though judgment be passed in the kindest spirit possible. We, of the present college generation, can scarcely hope to give fitting appreciation to our President, E. W. Stanton. We shall attempt the task in all sincerity of purpose and with the kindest spirit.

Whatever difficulties may beset us, of this we are sure—that no man connected with the Iowa State College has a more genuine college spirit than Dr. Stanton. To realize what this implies we must understand what college spirit really is. College spirit is an evasive, intangible term. It carries with it great significance, yet defies concrete definition. This much we know, that true college spirit signifies deep and abiding love for the institution, a love that is willing to find expression in the sacrifice of time and strength and energy that the interests of the institution may be better served. It implies unselfish devotion to ideals that lead ever upward and onward. It implies consecration of abilities, mental and spiritual, towards the upbuilding of an institution that will better serve men and women. College spirit, then, signifies much; for only as a college serves in the truest sense the students who come seeking guidance and uplift does that college deserve consideration at the hands of men.

A college is more than a mere collection of buildings and shops and laboratories. These are but material—the concrete evidences of existence. The real college springs from truth, sincerity, and goodness as expressed by a faculty; from aspirations, genuineness of spirit, and whole-souled enthusiasm and vitality as expressed by the students.

President Stanton has served long and faithfully the institution which he loves. Acquaintance with succeeding college generations has given him a broad view of the needs of college men and women, has made him realize, as no one of a younger generation can realize, what of life is sham and tinsel, and what is pure gold. Future generations will know more truly the real worth of the man. Such knowledge must await the fulfillment of time.

This is the appreciation of the present college generation: President E. W. Stanton—a man who is genuine'y good, a man who has given the best years of his life to college men and women, a man who has the true college spirit in the highest and best sense of the term.

An Appreciation

THE State Educational institutions of Iowa are to be congratulated upon the outcome of their first legislative experience under the new Board of Education. This Board was created for the purpose, among its other duties, of determining the financial needs of these institutions and presenting those most urgent, to the Legislature. The Board did this; a joint committee of the Senate and House reviewed their askings and approved them; the appropriation Committees made some slight re-adjustment of the special requests for buildings and land but otherwise increased rather than decreased the total amount recommended, and the General Assembly adopted the budget by unanimous vote. The result shows the confidence of the Legislature in the good judgment, fairness and integrity of our governing Board and its Finance Committee.

The institutions can now go forward to a great work. The College at Ames appreciates its opportunity. The revenue under the new millage law, and the unexpired term of the old law, will furnish the institution during the next six and one-half years with an available building fund of over one million dollars. The annual support funds of the institution including those for experimentation and extension work have been increased in the sum of $118,000. For the equipment of departments, extension of heating plant and improvement of the Campus the additional sum of $131,500 has been appropriated.

These amounts taken together represent the generous provision of a generous people to a splendid purpose. Honor to Iowa. Honor to its Legislature. Honor to its Governing Board.

It is ours now to build this institution into a still greater College of industrial science and industrial art.

The Wendigoes

Their History and Development

PREFACE

IN offering to the public this brief history of an important people, the editors are fully aware of the impracticability of giving adequate treatment to all of the events which would receive attention in pretentious works of more comprehensive character. It is the intention to merely present the events important in the development of this people from a primitive stage to one of refinement and education.

PREHISTORIC PERIOD

The clans dwelt apart and to themselves. Unnurtured and ignorant of the rest of the world, they lived in rude simplicity. And it came to pass that certain leaders, whom they called The Learned, who had ventured forth into the world, returned with glad tidings. They told of the gathering together of men and women at a great mead-hall in the center of the land, bordering on Squaw Creek and reached by the Northwestern trail. The news spread wide in the land and a great yearning took hold of the people. There was a general awakening to the need for greater knowledge. Preparations were made to journey to this hall of learning.

The above is all that could be ascertained from that mass of myth and legend that always surrounds the early life of a people.

ANCIENT HISTORY

When the tribe emerged from chaotic obscurity into the certain light of authentic history we find them possessed of a firm government. Harmony existed among the members of the tribe and under the leadership of "Mike" the Worthy One, they were held together in a strong organization. It was at this time that the tribe gets its present name of Wendigoe.

The colors chosen for the banners were light blue and brown. Under this standard the tribe prepared to answer the hostilities received at the hands of an older tribe. These were an arrogant people and exceedingly stuckup. Under the pretended garb of superiority they persisted in lording it over the younger tribe, oft times humbling them in the dust and making them to do homage before them. But Prexie is just and hearing of the troubles going on between the tribes at this great hall of learning, he called together his cohorts, called the Faculty, and after due consideration arranged that the tribes settle their differences in a grand tilt, a tug of war.

Great joy filled the camps of the Wendigoes for they were confident of their strength. And it came to pass that some of their leaders, notably Don the Bold, called the tribe together for a council of war at the Campanile. Here the gleeman sang songs of valor and the strong hearted ones made speeches of bravery. Enthusiasm filled the veins of the warriors. They waxed strong and were anxious that the dogs of war be let loose.

At the second hour of the afternoon the tribes came together. Thrice, yea four times did they meet and each time did the valiant Wendigoes hold their own, three times forcing the arrogant ones into the billowy deep. But the onslaught did not stop here, for finally when dry land was reached a fierce hand to hand combat ensued. Even to the dusk of evening did they scrap. Then was the campus, this beautiful lawn sward, at night tide, when day grew dim, stained with gore, all the walks besprent with torn shirts, the grass with bloodshed. Satisfied and at peace the tribes departed for their respective camps while the shades of night stole over the bloody scenes of the encounter. Thus ended the differences between the two tribes and though various other troubles came up, at no time was warfare resorted to. Track meets, football and baseball games furnished opportunities of showing of valor and loyalty. Finally the hatchet was buried at the joint dance and feed known as the Freshman-Sophomore annual. Henceforth and to the end of this period matters of learning and education occupied the interests of the tribes. The Wendigoes grew in intellectual strength and became a part of the great institution to which they had come.

THE MIDDLE AGES

This period in the history of the tribe marked an advance not only in intellectual achievements, but it was during this period that their fame as warriors spread to the farthest realms of the college nation. It spread out into new fields, assuming its part in the college life and gaining in respect before the older tribes. Never had a young tribe had such a bright future before it and never were greater efforts put forth. Reverses were met with at times because of the encroachments of neighboring tribes. But they were received as a matter of course and the compliments promptly repaid. The work of building the great Temple of Education, the foundations of which had been laid in the past, was now begun in earnest. Their power became more centralized and the tribe came to a full knowledge of its true self. It was truly the Renaissance period.

At the beginning of this era the tribal unity was disturbed by foreign invasion. A bold foreign tribe, known as "Preps," and coming from the barbarous hordes of the border, came and pitched their tents next to those of the Wendigos. Their impudent manners and advances were tolerated for a time and were considered an excellent source of amusement. But as time went on it seemed that the inroad of this foreign element was to cause the downfall of the established tribe. The members of the Wendigos arose as a body to check these demoralizing influences. The foreigners were threatened but to no avail. Then nocturnal raids were made upon their camp and several of their number were carried off as hostages. They were caused to fall upon their knees in the "Tennis Courts" and eloquent were the supplications they made to the moon and stars. Others were persuaded with the historic "paddle."

Such a state of affairs continued for some time but it was evident that the crisis would soon come. A few nights later the members of the Wendigos tribe hoisted a large banner to the roof of the bookstore. Despite the attempts of the "Preps" to carry it off during the night, so well was it guarded that it still remained afloat the next morning. It was a call for the members of the tribe to assemble and unanimously did they respond. It was on that day about the fourth hour that the "Preps" made their attack and the battle of the Bookstore was commenced. The conflict was short and fierce and the "Preps" were repulsed. The success of the defenders was evident as the banner still remained intact. Near the close of the melee, Prexie the Just arrived upon the scene. When he finally obtained a hearing, he made a speech which was heartily applauded by both sides.

Once again it became necessary for the tribe to uphold its name and reputation against the arrogance of the foreign element. This time the superiority of the tribe was to be determined in a great tournament called the Push Ball. "Dad" the Bald was the leading spirit in this contest. On the afternoon of the appointed day the opposing factions arrived on the scene in battle array. It was now that the military training that the tribe had received in Lincoln's army was of great service. The battle which ensued was a novel sight. Never before had such a conflict been seen. After about two hours the "Preps" were overwhelmingly defeated. A number of the more arrogant ones still lingered about the scene of the encounter. These were submitted to a lengthening out process called "stretching" and divested of that part of their garments known as shirts. Others were awarded a black eye for their valor and sadly did they turn their steps homeward. That night there was great rejoicing in the camp of the Wendigoe tribe. They indulged in songs and games of mirth and rejoiced in their victory.

In addition to these conquests the tribe extended its efforts in social and athletic lines. When peace was established they royally feasted the "Preps" and were in turn feasted by them. All old scores were settled and again there was harmony between the tribes. In athletics the Wendigoes were less successful. They came off victorious in the Homemeet but failed to secure any other championships. They made a creditable showing however in the number of representatives they had on the various college teams.

As this period came to a close the tribe or class as it was now called gained great glory and distinction in the college nation. However false reports were circulated concerning its history. To put a stop to these the Bomb Board was elected to make a thorough investigation and place the facts as they were before the public. Thus we leave the class at the end of this period.

MODERN ERA

The class has now reached such a high plane of civilization that it no longer enters into those primitive forms of warfare—the tribal scraps—in which it took such delight during the earlier periods of its history.

In order to maintain its position among the classes of the college the '12 class now entered into struggles of a different nature. Two of these contests took place on the football field. In the first of these, which was with the upper class, they carried off the victory. But in the game with the lower classmen defeat came to them. To offset this misfortune the ladies of the class arranged for a contest on the hockey field and allying themselves with a younger class gained two decisive victories.

Aside from these few struggles with their neighbors the relations of the class with the other classes of the college have been of the friendliest. In view of this inter-class harmony, the '12 class called the '11s not to a council of war but to a peace conference. This was held in Margaret Hall on the first of October and will go down in history as the Junior Trot. It was a great success in every sense of the word and in the words of an eminent authority it was the most orderly conference of classes ever held. The dances were not war dances and the music was not martial. Another peace conference is being planned for this spring and in the North Woods the '11s and '12s will smoke the peace pipe and bury the hatchet forever.

The class has in other ways extended its influence. The Bomb Board is publishing a book which deals with Iowa State College in general and the '12 class in particular. This book will always serve as a proof of the ability of the class and a record of its achievements.

The future can only be predicted, but the class has shown itself in every way qualified to take the place which it will hold among the nations when the older class is gone. With its members joined together by loyalty to Iowa State College and to the class of 1912 only bright pages can be added to the history of the Wendigoes.

"Frenchie."

C. E.
Oakes, N. D.

He says he doesn't believe that exams are required of the preps at Summer Camp, but if "Frenchie" ever goes to camp again, beware, O ye preps! Enjoys a good joke as well as anyone, even if it is on himself, and never loses his temper except in the drawing room.

ALEXANDER, P. V.
"P. V." "Alec."

E. E.
Guthrie Center, Ia.

Phi Sigma Kappa, A. I. E. E., Class Track, Ia.
Eng. Staff.

"Alec" does good work but he never studies much. He tried most all phases of college life and seems to like it. All in all, he's a hale fellow, well met.

ANDERSON, JOHN W.

E. E.
Sioux City, Ia.

John never smiles half heartedly and he always looks as if he wished you "the top of the marnin'." He never starred in anything but math., but he is made of good substantial material and he's a loyal student.

ANDERSON, A. G.
"Andy."
Cosmopolitan Club.

C. E.
Des Moines, Ia.

"Sells typewriters." Is also popular with lady manipulators of same. Vice Dean of the Vet. department for three years. Extremely popular with vets, who believe he made a mistake when he did not take their course. "Andy" is always busy and always accomplishes something. In addition to his outside work he finds time to annex some choice grades to his credit.

AMESBURY, E. G.
"Amy."

C. E.
Missouri Valley, Ia.

A hand-me-down from the '11's but not because of flunks. He stayed out just long enough to finish with a good class. Quiet and unassuming, but a first class student. Pulls good marks in everything that he takes including "Ye Studie of Ye Pursuite of Ye Elusive Mayde."

ARTHUR, JOSEPH N.
"Joe."

C. E.
Ames, Ia.

Pythian.

Joe has a tender spot in his heart for English XII, for that's where he learned the secret of monopoly. In our search for "dope" we learned that he has an enviable reputation as a rough-houser, but that only makes him a better Civil. Always ready for a good laugh and never fails to do it justice.

BAKER, JASON.

M. E.
Whiting, Ia.

Like the Jason of old he too pursues the elusive sheepskin. He is neither too ambitious nor inclined to be lazy, but he just takes things as they come. He grins even when taking Mechanics finals. Optimistic, well yes.

BANKS, C. H.
"Baldy."

Vet.
Ames, Ia.

Gamma Theta, Vet. Medical Society.
"Woman rules me still."

Was caught in the matrimonial whirlpool in 1910. Says he got married so he would n't have to attend Vet. Society. Presided over Dr. Stang's Hog Cholera Serum plant one year. Isn't sure now whether he will be a vet, or a banker.

BARRET, RUTH

Science,
Ames, Ia.

Pi Beta Phi, Tri Psi, "A" Girl, Clio, Bomb Board,
Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, Girl's Glee Club, Vice-Pres.
Woman's A. A.

"There is a fire and motion of the soul,
But once kindled, quenchless evermore."

Ruth knows every path on the campus; every pebble in the paths; but only one boy on the path. (See W. T. S., '11 Bomb) A sincere, earnest girl, but always in for a good time. Has more honors than one can count and deserves every one of them.

BASS, ELMER A.

A. H.

"E. A." "Elmer." Emerson, Ia.

Iowa Club, Alt. Triang. Debate, '11, Alpha Zeta, Kennedy Cup Debates, '10, Pythian.

"Silence is his one great art of conversation"

Elmer is studious and thoughtful, and a helper when one is in need. He does n't fuss, because Nellie told him not to.

BASS, HOWARD L.

A. H.

"H. L." Red Oak, Ia.

Iowa Club, Normal Debate, '10, Kennedy Cup
Debate, Forensic League, Bomb Board, Pythian.

"With a pose like a king."

Here's a man who can form a lot of plausible arguments with but little research. Talkative and amiable, and a booster from the start. Rather partial to Ruth as a name for a girl.

BAUGHMAN, J. T.

Vet.

"Little John" Ames, Ia.

Vet. Medical Society.

"I have grown old in the service of my college."

The oldest inhabitant tells you that he cannot remember the time when John wasn't connected in some way with the institution. Still does the greater part of the work of the Phys. department.
Between times he has carried a heavy course and endured sorrows that would have broken most men.
We lift our hats to him.

BEATY, FLOYD A.

E. E.
Dana, Ia.

A. I. E. E., Tau Beta Pi.

Floyd hails from Dana, wherever that is. He's our one girl-proof shark, guaranteed not to fuss, flirt, nor frolic. His quiet manner has kept him from becoming a popular chap, but he has many friends and is a good fellow withal.

BECKMAN, H. C.

C. E.
Muscatine, Ia.

"Beck."
Tau Beta Pi, Forum, Alt. Normal Debate, '10.

A believer in the saying, "Be sure you are right and then go ahead." A more consistent student cannot be found on the campus. He's here for business and business only as the results of his work show. Often has to act in the capacity of court of appeals in cases of dispute.

BELL, RAY A.

Agron.
Sumner, Ia.

"R. A."
Iowa Club, Alpha Zeta, Forum, Normal Debate.

"And still he spoke, and still their wonder grew,
That one small head could carry all he knew."

"R. A." is a student of ability, and a debater of high merit. A jolly good fellow, well liked among his associates.

BELL, EDWARD M.

A. H.
Wyota, Ia.

"E. M."
Iowa Club, Forum.

Here's a quiet, unpretentious chap who works hard and does n't talk about it. He's big-hearted and generous, always ready to help the fellow who's in trouble.

BENTON, ELDRIDGE M.
 "Benny."
 Glee Club.

A. H.
 Peoria, Ill.

"Benny" quit Illinois U. by mutual consent, and came to cast his lot with the '12's. Got up a rep. as a warbler in the role of Mikado in the Girls' Glee Club Concert, and has caused much discord and misery ever since. As a fusser he does fairly well, although not much of an advertiser. He's a jolly good fellow, whom we are heartily glad to have with us.

BILLER, MINERVA
 "Bill."

H. Ec.
 Hartington, Nebr.

Omega Delta, Class Basket Ball, Junior Class Play.

"True worth needs no interpreter."

Everybody likes "Bill;" and who could help it. Just as natural for her to get good grades as it is for her to breathe. If she tells you she has never been stung, just say, "Jack O'Lantern."

BIRD, BYRON

C. E.
 Fort Dodge, Ia.

Tau Beta Pi, Bachelor.

Each look at this cherub's smilingly innocent face suggests that ancient saying, "In the Spring a young man's fancy, etc." And does he fuss? "Yes, I guess not." One of the standbys of the Military Department, and of a West Side young lady. He has a corner on the "smile that won't come off," and his infectious laugh has made him many friends.

BISSELL, ELSIE K.

H. Ec.
 Ottumwa, Ia.

Scrub Faculty, Bomb Board, Ladies' Glee Club, Crescent.

"She knows difficulties only by name."

Elsie has left city grade didactics to do four years work in three at Ames. Independent, democratic, conscientious to a letter, and thorough to the dot, her capabilities are legion. A discriminating student of leaves in both woods and books. Revels in riding the plush.

BLINN, RAY E.

M. E.
Ames, Ia.

You seldom see Blinn without noticing his smile. Ambitious, he worked hard and left the farm to solve some of the problems of the present day busy Engineer.

BODEN, FRANK OTTO "Bo."

C. E.
Ames, Ia.

Theoretically, "Bo" should make a good Athlete. He has lots of surplus energy and usually disposes of it in some form of that physical exercise known as "rough-housing." Of late, however, he seems to prefer that none of the faculty witness his demonstrations. Nevertheless, "Bo" can work when he has to and has no trouble in keeping pace with the rest.

BOSMAN, GIDEON J.

Agron.
"Bos," "Dutch." Transvaal, S. Africa.
Adelante, Delta Theta Sigma, Cosmopolitan Club, Forum.

"Dutch" says, "Don't laugh at me, I have made no mistake." That is true, for he visited many Agr. Colleges, and decided that Ames was the best. He's a Boer, but nobody ever calls him a bore. A jolly but thoughtful fellow.

BRADY, E. E.
"King."

Vet.
Sanborn, Ia.

Gamma Theta, Vet. Med. Society.

"My experience in Anatomy has always taught me perseverance."

Used to do everything his partner Banks did but gave it up when the latter married. Believes in never troubling trouble. Flags Saturday morning classes because "he didn't expect the Dean out anyway."

BRANT, W. O.

Agron.
Meridan, Ia.

Crescent.

"A mighty clean fellow"—so the other fellows say.

This droll and even tempered "bell hop" and hand lotion dispenser for the College Hospital started in with the "E squares," but shunted off on the Ag. line. Loves an argument. More familiar with the passive than the active voice of the verb "to fuss." It's Brant's story that always gets the dog.

BROOKS, ERNEST C.

E. E.
Atlantic, Ia.

Iowa Club, Class Track, A. I. E. E.

All the scandal mongers in the institution were a little weak in material on Brooks, so we'll have to let him down easy. We do know, however, that he's partial to the Phys. department, and rated as highly efficient (?) in A. C. and D. C. He's a good fellow but a little too quiet to be widely popular.

BROUHARD, O. J.
"Blow hard."

A. H.
Colo. Ia.

"Perfectly harmless."

Not a hot air expert as his title might indicate, but he does like to ask foolish questions. He lives not far from Ames and came here because it was close. For two years he fussed, and then gave it up; reason not definitely known.

BBROWN, ROY G.
"Flink."

Vet.
Ames, Ia.

Vet. Med. Society.

The man who drives the dun horse. Always drives east and makes his drives on Saturday afternoon. No one ever saw him drive back. Says he always begins the return trip before time for country schools to open on Monday morning. A generous open hearted lad with a host of friends.

BBROWN, CARRIE LEONA

H. Ec.
Ames, Ia.

Bomb Board, Clio.

"A sunny temper gilds the edges of Life's blackest cloud."

Carrie works hard and receives good results from her labor. We can't find out a single bad thing about her and we have tried pretty hard, too. Is quite partial to small, W(e)ise people.

BUCKMAN; A. W.
"Buck."

Ind. Chem.
Calamus, Ia.

Class Baseball.

Known as a pet charmer, especially dogs in chem. class. Buck has never been known to feed of the dainties that are bred in a book, for "that doesn't affect the price of eggs in Kansas City."

BYSOM, LESLIE L.

E. E.
Primghar, Ia.

Pythian, A. I. E. E.

Some folks ascribe the stoop of this young man's shoulders to the cares of his years, but we are inclined to think that it is due to the excessive weight of his nose. He's a quiet chap whose 'tend-to-your-own-business' policy has kept him from becoming widely acquainted.

CALDWELL, FLORENCE
"Flossy."

H. Ec.
Ames, Ia.

Delphian.

"Large streams from little fountains sometimes flow."

"Flossy" is filled with that perfect interestedness and self-devotion which is often found in women. Inflamed with the study of learning and admiration of virtue. Believes in getting stand-in with H. E. department by wearing fancy neck bows.

CAMPBELL, A. L.

M. E.

Park Rapids, Minn.

Philomathian.

Campbell enjoys beautiful scenery, and is an enthusiastic user of the camera; even under difficulties. He is said to be ticklish, and to have a well developed sense of humor, in spite of the calm and steady look which he usually bears.

CATHCART, C. S.

Ag. Eng.

"Chat."

Lohrville, Ia.

Colonial, Philomathian, Bomb Board, Student Staff, Agriculturist Staff, A. S. A. E.

"Unrivalled as thy merit, be thy fame."

"Chat" thinks Ag. Engineering is the only thing and the department could n't run well without him. He is a hard worker but always ready for a good time. Sometimes called a rough-houser. Goes home frequently "to see the folks."

CHAMBERS, ARNETTE B.

E. E.

"Abbie."

Lake City, Ia.

Colonnades, Class Football, Class Track.

"Abbie" came to us from Iowa in his Sophomore year, and became a loyal '12 as soon as he landed. Through unavoidable circumstances he's not in school this term, but we all want to see him back next year.

CHAPPEL, A. R.

A. H.

"Allie." "Chappie."

Des Moines, Ia.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Varsity Football, Varsity Basketball, Quo Vadis.

"What care I when I can lie and rest, kill time and take life at its easiest."

He is never happy when he has to study, and he is always happy. Chappie never works and never worries, never flunks and never hurries.

CLARK, HAL B.

For.
Sioux City, Ia.

Gamma Theta, Reserves, Class Football.

Hal thought for a time that he would be an Engineer, but changed his mind and joined the Foresters, but not before he'd obtained a good working knowledge of telephone operations (and operators.) He's rather a good fusser, and a good student, and manages to keep up well with his classes.

CLARKSON, L. JOHN

Min. E.
Albia, Ia.

Beta Theta Pi, Varsity Track, Cross Country, Kappa Phi, Gamma Zeta Psi, Class Pres. '10, Bus. Mgr. Soph. Play, A. I. M. E.

John is one of the mainstays of the '12 class, there having seldom been a notable class movement in which he has not figured prominently. He started with the Electricals, but decided Mining was a better course anyhow, an opinion not heartily concurred in by the Phys. Department. As a fusser he is not very spectacular but is highly efficient. We all like John, and are sure he will make good as an Engineer.

CLAYTON, PEARL

Science.
Kelly, Ia.

"She is good as she is fair,
As pure in thought as angels are,
To know her is to love her."

Pearl possesses a simple, wise and natural truthfulness, and this has lent her a dignity as moveless as the center. She has shown that the happiest women, like the happiest nations, have a history.

CLEMMER, HAROLD F.
"Clem."

C. E.
Hampton, Ia.

Alpha Tau Omega, Married.

"When I said I would die a bachelor, I did not think I should live till I were married."

Plays the piano like four hundred dollars. How he passes up his work in the time left over from social duties is a mystery we cannot solve. Best known man on the campus and well liked.

CLYDE, FLORA H.
"Flory."

H. Ec.
Osage, Ia.

I. F., Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, Clio, Bomb Board.

"The longer you know her, the better you like her."

How many times we have heard this said of Flora, the girl who is never fussed, never ruffled, and who knows so much about keeping friends, and so little about keeping ponies.

COLLINS, JAMES V.
"Red."

E. E.
Winthrop, Ia.

Varsity Track, Cross Country, Class Track, Double "A" Fraternity, A. I. E. E.

If we were to give this youngster a flowery name, we think we'd call him "Crimson Rambler," for he's crimson to the superlative degree, and the way he can ramble when he gets on the cinders is a sight to behold. He lost a dollar one time on the color of NO gas,—but we promised not to mention that.

COMPTON, D. WROE
"Wroe."

A. H.
Ames, Ia.

Adelante, Alpha Zeta, Forum.

"Wroe" is a hand-me-down from the '11's, and one whom we are heartily glad to welcome to our ranks. There's a world of fun in those quiet eyes; and he'll blush like a co-ed when girls are mentioned. He's a model student, a loyal Ag., and a fellow whom it is a pleasure to know.

COOL, C. A.
"Claude."

C. E.
Waverly, Ia.

Here is one Civil who never gets fussed; he is always cool and belonging to a Cool family is probably what makes him that way. He mined coal and explored the state of Washington just long enough to finish with the '12's. He's full grown and full of fun, and reminds you of just an overgrown kid.

COOPER, MORTON O. A. H.
"Coop." Knierim, Ia.

Delta Sigma Rho, Normal Debate, Final Kennedy Cup Debate, Philomathian, Student Staff.

"Coop" and his knowledge suffer a marked negative affinity, but this may be considered excusable in his case, for when a fellow is so small that it is hard to see him he certainly has a right to be heard. Not all of his wind is wasted, either—he debates.

CORRAY, LAWRENCE E. C. E.
"Spike." "Deak." Monroe, Ia.
Class Track, Class Basketball.

The rapidity of "Spike's" early growth caused a "moment" about the back of his neck and made him stoop shouldered. He has been behind a little in the race, due largely to a handicap placed on him by the Math. department, but no doubt he'll be there strong on the finish. He's a dandy fellow and has many friends.

CRAFT, IRA C. C. E.
"I. C." "Iry." "Prexy." Zearing, Ia.
Alamo.

"Iry" helps Clarence run the Alamo Club. He's as wise as a hoot owl from the top of his head up, but nevertheless seems to be crafty enough to avoid being encored by his profs. Thinks that Stantie's theory of least work is sometimes practical, but he is n't afraid to buckle down when said theory does n't apply.

CRESSLER, MERRITT W. C. E.
"Cress." "Tess." Scranton, Ia.
Hawkeye, Varsity Track, Class Track, Cross Country.

"Cress" is not one of the watch-my-smoke kind except when running a transit or the 440. He is a shark at passing up Summer Camp, and is also said to have classified at various times in Fussology. However, he knows that results at the finish are the only ones that count, so classify again "Cress," the end is not yet.

CRITTENDEN, FLORENCE H. Ec.
 "Flossy." Humboldt, Ia.
 Omega Delta.

"Not because your hair is curly and not because your eyes are blue."

"We like you, Flossy, because you're you." She's quite a student although she does n't know it. Would lower herself e'en to the station of a worm to gain favor in the eyes of the "Jacks."

CRONIN, L. J. For.
 "Lee." Sibley, Ia.
 Class Track.

"The welcome ever smiles and farewell goes out sighing," for Lee is welcome. A man who attends church—reason unknown (?) A fellow who is jolly, yet thoughtful, Lee is a man who is admired by his friends.

CRONIN, MAURICE J. A. H.
 "Monty." "Mon." Sibley, Ia.
 Class Track, Class Baseball.

Maurice is a fellow that when we look "into the eye and prospect of his soul" we find a man. Not loud, not noted, but a quiet fellow who is better liked as he is better known.

CULP, OPAL ADRIAN H. Ec.
 "Kelly." Ames, Ia.
 Omega Delta, Bomb Board.

"She is pretty to walk with
 And witty to talk with
 And pleasant, too, to think on."

Opal has a disposition as sunshiny as her countenance, eyes of earnest ray and cheeks glowing at each emotion. Believes in "steadies," one at a time, please. Has been known to receive Sunday morning callers before having removed her hair curlers.

CUTLER, E. C.
"Rheostat."

M. E.
Farragut, Ia.

As curious as a woman and loves Phys. to distraction. Once he almost turned Ag. but he concluded to work out his salvation as an Engineer. Dreams of becoming a fusser but as yet his ambitions have not been realized.

DAY, R. M.
"Pomp."

Dairy.
Minneapolis, Minn.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, Soph. Class Play, Junior Class Play.

"My heart is true as steel."

Quiet when out but not always so when at home. Stately, thoughtful and sincere. A man who wins your respect by his reserve and quiet manner.

DEAN, CAROLINE MARY "Mandy."

H. Ec.
Nevada, Ia.

"Her stature tall; I hate a dumpy woman."

After a year at Northwestern, this neighbor girl decided to patronize a home industry. Here her Zoo drawings (on exhibition) are works of art; her note books emblems of neatness. A good mixer—in "dough" lab. Always goes home Friday nights. Guess why!

DE VAULT, G. G.

M. E.
Earlham, Ia.

Varsity Basketball.

Our detectives could n't unearth much scandal about this fair-haired youth, except that he's busy on a volume entitled, "Glimpses from a Side-Door Pullman." Basketball and plug tobacco are his chief pursuits, with a little study thrown in.

DOTY, HIRAM S.
"Hiram."

Science
Ames, Ia.

"There is many a good morsel in silence."

If he ever opens his mouth to speak, you want to listen for it's sure to be something worth listening to. One of the few who can tend strictly to his own business and not be a grouch.

DRAKE, CHARLES P.
"Ducky."
Married.

E. E.
Ames, Ia.

"Ducky" is noted for his angelic and religious (?) disposition, probably due to his early training at Morningside College. Joined the "Married Men's Club" last summer, and the treatment seems to be taking well. His close association with the 13's is somewhat of a handicap, but he's overcome bigger difficulties than that, and we're not at all afraid of his future.

DREW, L. PAUL "John."

C. E.
Ames, Ia.

Alpha Gamma Beta, Dutch Band.

"I am too childish-foolish for this world."

If we would, we could write a volume about John, and not nearly exhaust the subject. As an entertainer, he's a close second to the illustrious gentleman whose name he bears; and is the author of the "Stories that made the Dutch Band Famous." Says the faculty is the thing that takes the place of a conscience after you've been in a real, live, class scrap.

DUNN, RUSSELL
"Dunn."

A. H.
Ames, Ia.

Quiet and thoughtful. He never makes any boasts, but instead he does good consistent work. Dunn is the kind of a man who will put theory and practice together when he gets back on the farm.

DUNLOP, ALEX. N.
"Sandy."

A. H.
Ames, Ia.

Cosmopolitan Club.

"My bonny maid has never come."

He's Irish and not ashamed of it. He early became noted as a soldier who never wore a uniform. A man who will make good in practical agriculture.

DUNLOP, GEORGE
"Fatty," "George."

Agron.
Jefferson, Ia.

Colonial, Beardshear, Class Football, Pres. Y. M. C. A., Bus. Mgr. I. S. C. Student, Bus. Mgr. Junior Class Play, Forensic League.

Busy and industrious, he has no time to be idle. When George is not busy with the cares of the Student, he plays football, gets his studies and wins a host of friends.

DYER, W. K.
"Windy."

A. H.
Nevada, Ia.

Phi Gamma Delta, Varsity Track, Class Track.

"I would rather run than eat."

Dyer was our dark horse in the Missouri Valley meet and placed in the mile. He likes to fuss so well that he has been known to go to chapel when it is cold.

GLOFF, J. M.
"Joe."

A. H.
Cedar Falls, Ia.

Phi Gamma Delta, Dutch Band.

"Men of few words are the best men."

Joe has good judgment, lots of common sense, is quiet and a hard worker. He has proven his ability as a fusser on countless occasions and we have great hopes for his future.

ELLIS, GUY

Dairy
Ames, Ia.

Married.

"Better late than never."

The Extension Dept.'s right hand man. Thought it cheaper to live double than single. Don't blame you, Guy, your wife sure makes good cake.

FERGUSON, J. GORDON
"Mike."

Gen. Science
Burchinal, Ia.

Adelante, Delta Sigma Rho, Forensic League, Cosmopolitan Club, Welch, Class President '08, Sophomore Class Play, Class Track, Business Mgr. Bomb, Y. M. C. A. Pres. '09-'10, Triangular Debate '08, Winner Declamatory Contest '09, Winner Peace Oratorical '10, Winner Home Oratorical '10, Winner State Oratorical '11. Editor Elect of Student.

"There is no eloquence without a man behind it."
Nuff said.

FAIN, OLIVE ERNESTINE
"Steenie."

H. Ec.
Chariton, Ia.

Omega Delta, Tri Psi, Athletic Council, Jr. Basketball.

"The music nighest bordering upon heaven."

A most polite young lady; shown by her conduct in Zoo. Lab. "Girls, I'm going to cut out fussing this term, I'm a student."

FARQUHAR, FRED
"Faker."

Agron.
Tarkio, Mo.

Colonial, Agriculturist Staff, Class Track, Phil-leutheroi.

Although we call him "Faker" we think he is perfectly straight. Never fakes only during vacation when he sells stereoptican views. A regular race horse on the cinder path.

FEDDERSEN, P. C.
"Cotton."

Min. E.
Clinton, Ia.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Sigma, Gamma Zeta
Psi, A. I. M. E. Reserves, Class Baseball, Class Football.

"He capers nimbly in a lady's chamber,
To the lascivious pleasing of the lute."

"Cotton" doesn't work very fast except when a skirt is the "prime mover." He's the champion featherweight fusser of the college, and has credits enough in Campus Lab. to pass up a regiment. Carries a complete fussing outfit with him all the time.

FERRAND, W. S.
"Windy."

Vet.
Mansen, Ia.

Vet. Med. Society.

"Persistency has pulled me through many a tight place.

I command respect with my gray hairs."

Works hard for what he gets but disseminates it lavishly on all occasions. Grasps the practical side of everything and will have money to loan to some of the higher ones in a few years.

FERRIOLS, VINCENTE

Vet.
Zambales, P. I.

Vet. Medical Society, Cosmopolitan Club.

A little brown brother with a big heart and an active mind. Has time for business only. Very meek but on extreme provocation able to "tote" his end of a meat slinging contest.

FISCHER, EDWARD L.
"Fish." "Ed."

E. E.
Ames, Ia.

Class Baseball, Class Football.

The only charge of crookedness ever lodged against "Fish" was that he sold out a ball game in the Bush League at Kelley one Sunday. His chief business is hoeing his own row, which he does with a vim. He's a mighty good fellow and has many friends.

FLINT, VICTOR
"Vic."

A. H.
Nashua, Ia.

Philomathean, Y. M. C. A. Cabinet.
"Then he will talk
Ye gods, how he will talk."

"Vic" is a regular walking dictionary of college affairs. Always ready to give information on any subject. If you want to know what's what, ask "Vic."

FOLKINS, G. H.
"Felix."

Vet.
Ames, Ia.

Vet. Med. Society.

Helped run the Northwestern before he came to I. S. C. Has been Champlin's right hand man since. Used to spend a great deal of time at Drake, but persuaded the Drake lady to move to I. S. C. where they formed a partnership. Could write a book on "Who's Who at I. S. C." A hard worker both in and out of school.

FOWLER, A. E.
"Art."

M. E.
Cedar Rapids, Ia.

"Art" was a stationary engineer at Cedar Rapids and a student in the I. C. S. course before he came to I. S. C. His thirst for knowledge is great and he is determined to satisfy it even if he does have to ask questions at the rate of 250 R. P. M.

FRANCIS, LESLIE L.

E. E.
Manson, Ia.

A. I. E. E., Dutch Band.

It's really too bad that a photo doesn't reproduce the color schemes of a man's make up, for "Red" has the most brilliant tresses that ever crowned a man's head. He made a reputation for nerve in his Prep. year when he went to sleep regularly in Aunt Julia's classes, and he hasn't lost his love for the arms of Morpheus yet. A hard working fellow, well liked by all who know him.

FRIEDMAN, VICTOR N. E. E.
"Vic." "Frieda." Sioux City, Ia.

Alpha Gamma Beta, Reserves, Class Football,
A. I. E. E.

"Frieda" surely is (or was) some "foxy" guy, all right, all right. He has a wholesome respect for M. E. 502, and a hearty love for the Phys. Department. Likes to tell of the time when he was "shorted" on 500 volts. He is joint author of an unpublished volume entitled, "A Standard Handbook of Slang and Choice Phrases."

FROMMELT, HORACE A. E. E.
Dubuque, Ia.

Class Football, A. I. E. E., Delphian, Newman Society.

This fair haired specimen of masculine manhood hails from Dubuque, the city of handsome women and good beer. He generally has a "stove" in his hat, presumably to keep his head warm while he pounds the cinder path from Ames. Quiet, known to but few, he is a good friend and true.

FUCHS, IVA B. H. Ec.
"Foxy." Odebolt, Ia.

Phileleutheroi.

"Clothes, as despicable as we think them, are unspeakably significant."

Iva has decided to remain at Ames until she graduates; in the mean time, her pleasant manner, her generous heart, her automatic giggle, her flattering sweet nothings, and her cosmopolitan friendships will lighten her burdens and clear her paths—campus paths?

FURMAN, RUSSEL A. C. E.
"Rusty." Lyons, Ia.

Bachelor, Student Staff.

"If all the king's forces should work might and main
They could n't keep "Rusty" away from a game."

Along with his love of sports Rusty must have a general liking for most everything else, for no one on record has ever seen him out of humor. A consistent student with a host of friends.

GADEN, HENRY
"Precious." "Hank."

C. E.
Remsen, Ia.

"Hank" would n't tell us why he is precious. He says that is to be reserved for our next issue. However, he is a big, good-natured, likeable chap and liked by everyone. He's a shark in everything and not a grind either. "Hank" is just naturally good and we wish we had more like him.

GASTON, MILDRED "Put."

H. Ec.
Boone, Ia.

Kappa Delta, Tri Psi, Jr. Class Play.

"Seeks to be good, but aims not to be great."

The happy possessor of four "wooglines." Escorted to and from classes daily. "Put" is a common, sunshiny friend, who is jovial, sociable and attractive. With those flowing locks, "beauty has given an edge to the blunted sword."

GARABRANDT, HOWARD
"Gary."

Agr.
Chester, N. J.

Class Track, Varsity Track.

"Hit it up hard Gary, the folks back home are watching you."

We never knew he was a runner, but he showed us. Simple questions are his hobby and sometimes they are hard to answer.

GAYLORD, RALPH WELLES

C. E.
Grinnell, Ia.

Phi Gamma Delta, Kappa Phi, Bachelor, Jr. Class Play.

"They call him a Duke.
If you would know why,
Just go and inquire
Of some gentle Pi Phi."

A stocky, determined looking chap with a deep voice but not half so gruff as he seems, if properly approached. For proof of this consult the Duchess. (see M. W.)

GIBSON, ANDREW D.

E. E.
Ames, Ia.

"All the perfumes of Arabia will not wash these freckles off."

This long limbed, modest mannered genius, though not yet caught in the toils of the Tau Beta Pi, plays a strong, heady game and has always delivered the goods. His chief delights are hitting the cinder path and consuming Piper Heidseick. A persistent and conscientious worker, who doubtless will make a mark as an engineer.

GILLIS, DEWITT C.

Vet.
Stacyville, Ia.

"Yens."
Vet. Med. Society.

"My exalted head shall strike the stars."

The founder of the Anti-Pay-Your-Fare Club. Follows the team from Omaha to Minneapolis at a very reasonable price. Has threatened to leave I. S. C. and go to Chicago, but always changes his mind. Has devoted a great deal of time to Physiology. A superb artist at the chafing dish.

GILLMOR, I. F.

A. H.
Dixon, Ia.

"Dad."

Colonial, Class Pres. '09, Alpha Zeta, Philomathian, Freshman Debate, Cosmopolitan Club, Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, Editor of Bomb, Editor Elect of Agriculturist.

"Dad" is a man who is "rich in good works." He has been tried in every place the '12's could put him and he has always made good. He is a hard working, consistent booster. "Dad" is known as a hunter of "Possums" and not of "Girls."

GJELLEFALD, OLAF N.

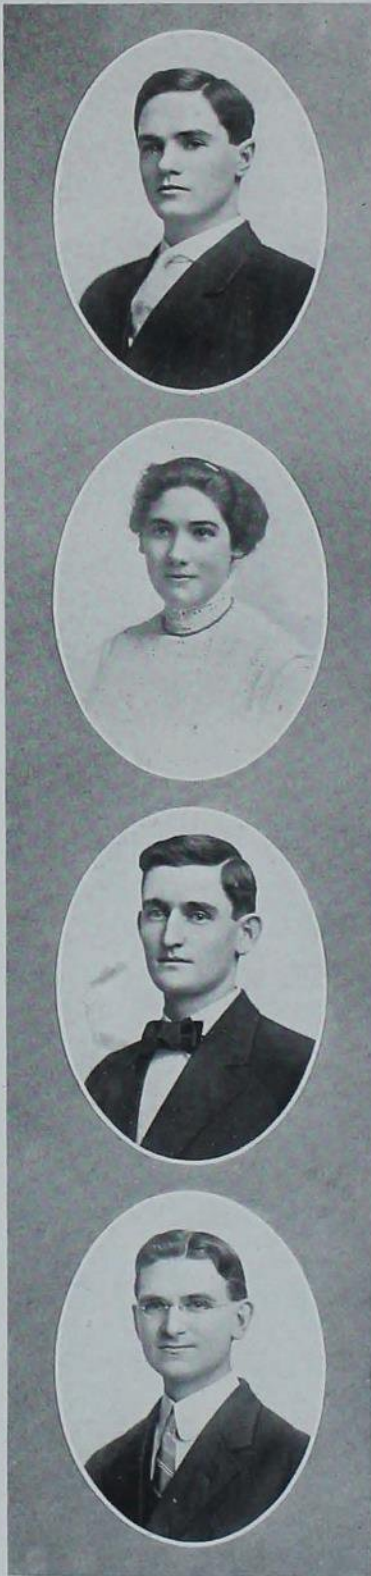

C. E.
Forrest City, Ia.

"Ole." "Prunes."

Ozark, Varsity Tennis, Class Baseball, Jr. Class Play.

They claim down at F— C— that they put all the letters in his name that were left over from makin' other peoples. Ole is n't a bit like his name, he's really quite descent. Thinks that if you can't say something good about a fellow, better keep still.

GOOD, HARRY F. E. E.
Ames, Ia.
"Hal." "Goody."

Iowa Club, Glee Club, Welch.
"Goody" is known to all lovers of good music and as President of the Glee Club has lived up to his name. A bright and capable student, whose gentle manner has won many friends.

GRAY, MARGARET H. Ec.
Ames, Ia.
"Mag."

Kappa Delta, Tri Psi, Bomb Board.
"The beautiful are never desolate,
But some one always loves them."
"Mag" is a worker, as is proved by her affinity for Zoo, and the remarkable high grades she gets in Campistry. Seems to be quite partial to six-footers. She's a terror at Basketball and an all 'round good Indian.

GREGG, RALPH W. A. H.
Hawarden, Ia.
"Rip."

"Modest and retiring."
In times to come people will hear of Ralph as a man who has shared with the rest in the quest of honor, wealth, and better agriculture.

GROUP, JESSE C. E. E.
Ames, Ia.

A. I. E. E.
"I thank my God for my humility."
Old Mother Nature made a mistake when this docile young man was christened, and neglected to insert an (i) in his first name. We think he really wanted to be a preacher, but joined the Electricals as the next most angelic (?) bunch he could find. A shark from the toes up and a jolly good fellow to know.

HADLEY, MURRAY B.

Min. E.
Ames, Ia.

Gamma Zeta Psi, Class Football, A. I. M. E.

A good student and a firm believer in blondes and blue eyes—at a distance. There was a rumor once that he was seen with a girl on the Campus, but he established an alibi. It is well known, however, that he did have a case on the "landlady's daughter." He is a jolly good fellow and we all like him.

HALE, VIRGIL
"Virg." "Gig."
Dutch Band.

M. E.
Carroll, Ia.

"Gig's" two greatest sins are his love for the "weed" and the down town lassies. He is noted for his faithful attendance at chapel and class meetings, having so far attended one of each. As a mechanic, he's there with the goods (to hear him tell it), and when he graduates, he expects to go back to his old position as assistant chamber-maid in a Northwestern roundhouse.

HAMILTON, SHERMAN
"Sherm."
Iowa Club.

M. E.
Lead, S. D.

"Sherm" came all the way from South Dakota to study Engineering. He's not afraid of toil and the word study in his vocabulary means hard work combined with a never-give-up spirit that is sure to win. Slow, but he gets there.

HANSON, CLARA W.
"Peg."

H. Ec.
Glidden, Ia.

"I grateful take the good I find—
The best of now and here."

A cheery maid, industrious, neat, and deft with the needle. Expresses her thoughts without hesitation. Her opinion is "Wright" on many subjects, but "Charles says some things are not for publication."

HANSON, IRVIN W. E. E.
 "Irvie." "Hans." Estherville, Ia.
 Alamo, Bachelor, A. I. E. E.

Nowhere in all his tender years has the subtle influence of the gentler sex been manifest; but all his present, his past, his future, center about—his "chum." Says he spends his summers at home but the society columns of the neighborhood papers impeach this testimony. "Hans" has many friends who wish him success in his career.

HARRIS, ROSALIE H. Ec.
 "Curly." Fairfield, Ia.
 Kappa Delta, Tri Psi, Soph. Class Play.

"You never can tell about a woman."

She doesn't know her own mind half the time, we are told, and the other half she doesn't know whether she does or not. Makes good grades anyway.

HARTNELL, F. E. A. H.
 "Freddie." Stacyville, Ia.
 Rho Sigma Gamma, Dutch Band.

"Oh, what may man within him hide
 Though angel on the outward side."

Short on stature but long on brains. Fred likes a good time and knows how to have one. He is a musician of some "note" and a friend of the feminine always.

HAW, ARTHUR B. Ind. Chem.
 "Tubby." Ottumwa, Ia.
 Class Football.

"I do not know that man alive
 With whom my soul is any jot at odds
 More than the infant that is born tonight."

This sentiment doesn't apply in the case of women, however, for "Tubby" has been a woman-hater ever since a meddlesome female spoiled a Chem. Analysis for him. Did so well in Mechanics that he got a "C" for a grade, meaning "congratulations."

HELM, F.
"Texas."

A. H.
Clifton, Texas.

A Texas man who has come to us to finish his schooling. Well liked by all who know him for he has a warm Southern heart and ability to spare.

HENNINGER, FRANK E. Min. E.
"Shanks." "Henny." Council Bluffs, Ia.

Beta Theta Pi, Varsity Football. A. I. M. E.

We always thought "Henny" was of a sound and practical mind until he mistook one of the college lights for Halley's Comet; and then his stock went down. He got a bad start and has been somewhat handicapped but we all hope to see him in at the death. A good fellow and popular among his mates.

HILL, F. A.
"Hill."

M. E.
Rectory, Va.

Class Track.

"A mighty pain to love it is
And 'tis a pain that pain to miss.
But of all the pains the greatest pain
Is to love and love in vain."

"F. A." comes to us from Virginia where argumentative hot air blows free. Beware! At present he is greatly enthused over aeroplanes. Noted for his "banjo pickings" and his "negro lullabies." Stars in beating railroads to see football games.

HILL, T. JOHN "T. John."

Science.
Cambridge, Ia.

Welch, Bomb Board, Kennedy Cup Debate '09, '10, Alt. Fresh. Debate.

"Lend thy serious hearing to what I shall unfold."

A quiet man except when he debates. A good student and well liked by all his friends. His trying, plugging spirit will land him on a big debate yet.

HITCHINGS, CHARLES C A. H.
 "Hitch." "Chas." Sutherland, Ia.
 Hawkeye, Bomb Board, Glee Club, Dutch Band,
 Jr. Class Play.

"Tall, stately, and aristocratic."

A lover of music, of studies, and sometimes of girls. "Hitch" is a fellow that commands respect by his personality and by his deeds.

HORN, W. L. A. H.
 Newton, Ia.

Not known as a mixer nor has he been known to get the highest honors, but he is liked by all who know what is behind his rough exterior. A practical man who will put his knowledge into practice.

HOWE, ALICE H. Ec.
 "Bobbie." Cedar Rapids, Ia.
 Pi Beta Phi, Jr. Class Play.

"Her blushes like the last beam of evening thrown on a white cloud,—just seen and gone."

Alice positively possesses no temper. But O! that perpetual smile! It sure is the center of her good system of bluffing. Particularly fond of "Jenny Wrens."

HUNTER, CARRIE H. Ec.
 Ames, Ia.
 Clio, Jr. Class Play.

Carrie is neither big enough to travel on half fare nor small enough to adapt herself comfortably to anaerobic conditions. (See cartoon and Webster's.) A good size, however, to shoulder Chem., Phys., and Zoo, and to wield a feather duster on the stage.

HURST, R. L. Min. E.
"Buck." Leon, Ia.

Gamma Zeta Psi, Quo Vadis, Varsity Football,
Class Basketball, A. I. M. E.

"Buck" is one of the charter members of the Hammer and Anvil Club. He's not much of a hand for sweets, but Oh! "you eatin' terbacker!" He's a little inclined to be an argumentationist and a little bull headed, but he's all right if you don't ruffle his temper. Just a little better than he looks.

HUTCHISON, CLARON B E. E.
"Hutch." De Soto, Ia.

Class Football, Class Track.

"Hutch" is a shark from the word "go." He ingratiated himself early into the good (?) graces of Aunt Julia by sleeping peacefully through her Math. classes. Has been classified about three hours per week at the Scenic ever since he came. A fine fellow whose personality is liked and whose ambition is admired by all.

HYZER, ALBERT L. Dairy.
"Hyz." "Bert." "Anheuser." Storm Lake, Ia.

Varsity Track, Class Track, Pythian.

"Neither rhyme nor reason fits naturally into Bert's soul."

There are not many who can throw dust at "Hyz" when it comes to running hurdles. A man that will be heard from sometime as a champion butter maker.

JAY, D. A. A. H.
"Dicky." Blakesburg, Ia.

Student Staff, Soph. Class Play.

A bright and shining star to all femininity but only one girl for "Dicky." Knows every inch of the road east of Ames, at least a mile.

JOHNSON, FRANK B. E. E.
 "Jersey." "Johnsy." Wall Lake, Ia.
 Alamo, Bachelor, A. I. E. E.

For natural talent to promulgate profound and infeasible schemes; for unfathomable depths of argumentative abilities; for natural affiliation to, and subjugation of, the weaker sex; "Jersey" stands as king,—he should have been an Ag. Takes as much pains with Lab. notes, etc., as a co-ed with her complection, with equally gratifying results. Known to all as a good-hearted fellow and a good student.

JONES, WILLIAM E. C. E.
 "Bill." Sturgis, S. D.
 Tau Beta Pi, Bomb Board, Glee Club, Dutch Band.

This quiet, sunshiny chap is one of the livest wires we know, and a booster from his soles up. As a student, he ranks with the best, and his geniality has made him one of the most popular men in his department. He's notorious for his delight (?) in the companionship of women, and his love of social prestige. We all like Bill and all our best wishes are with him.

JONES, JOHN J. Min. E.
 "Johnny." Ida Grove, Ia.
 A. I. M. E.

This young man has a remarkable talent for Mathematics, probably due to his early training under our dear "Red Ann!" He is known principally for his docile manners and the helpful (?) suggestions which he offers his instructors. A loyal Miner, and true, who is particularly fond of ginger ale and chewing gum. A jolly good fellow, well liked by all who know him.

KEENEY, WILL E. C. E.
 "Bill." Aberdeen, S. D.
 Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Sigma, Varsity Track.

Bill always seems to take things easy enough and is never known to hurry except at the crack of Jack's pistol. Then he certainly goes some! Not noted for the noise that he makes but will prove an all-round good fellow when you meet him half way.

KEIPP, HARRY M.

A. H.
Colfax, Ia.

Alpha Tau Omega.

"Who shall have my fair lady; who but I?"

A hard worker—works everyone he can. A pretty good kid for all his faults. Makes frequent trips to Pella for his health (?).

KIETH, ROGER

Min. E.
Des Moines, Ia.

Roger came to us from California U., and, having had some trouble to connect, has been a little behind. He has a kindly disposition and a friendly manner and we're glad to have him amongst us.

KELLEHER, JOHN J.

A. H.
Des Moines, Ia.

Sigma Nu, Bomb Board, Alpha Zeta, Soph. Class Play.

Kelley is never in a hurry, but is constantly pushing. He is a reliable, consistent booster. He has won fame as an actor, a social man, and a student. Sometimes he fusses, but does not make a specialty of it.

KENNEDY, CARL N.

A. H.
Ames, Ia.

Delphian, Alpha Zeta, Bomb Board, Agriculturist Staff, Forensic League, Class Track, Kennedy Cup Debate '09, '10, Business Mgr. Elect of Agriculturist.

"A friendly heart with many friends."

A genuine "all round man." Good wherever he is put and wanted everywhere there's something to be done. Carl would rather hold a horse than study. Says he never fussed in his life.

KERRIGAN, JOHN C. C. E.
 "Kerry." "Irish." Davenport, Ia.
 Colonnades, Tau Beta Pi, Varsity Baseball, Capt.
 '11, Varsity Basketball, Class Baseball, Bomb Board, Newman Society.

"Irish" was unknown until the eventful time that he impersonated the "White Man's Hope" in the 440, but since then he's been a comer. His long suit is impersonations and readings from classics by the Phys. faculty, and he has a few choice stories to tell as a side line. He's been prominent in athletics and has won fame thru his baseball career.

KING, JESSIE BERNICE H. Ec.
 "Jess." Pueblo, Col.
 Pi Beta Phi.

"For nature made her what she is,
 And never made another."

A girl of decidedly characteristic mannerisms but generous and kind-hearted if you know her. Sometimes does side stunts in Chem. Is proud of her record with the shark. A living, breathing, question mark.

KNIGHT, EVERETT F. E. E.
 "Teddy Bear." Eldon, Ia.
 A. I. E. E.

"Teddy" says he was in love once but the girl didn't know it. Has a record for chapel attendance (?) that so far is unbroken, with mighty slim chances that it will be. His standing as a student is only surpassed by his ability to start something and he will long be remembered for his noisy, genial, good-fellowship.

KNUTZ, WILL H. E. E.
 "Bill." Merville, Ia.
 Dutch Band, A. I. E. E.

"Bill" is a quiet business-like sort of a fellow and you would never believe it but he has big "blow outs" regularly—on his horn. His friends say he's married (literally?) and that is probably why he is never seen fussing here. With C. C. M. he occasionally assists the Phys. Dept. in quizzing the Ags.

KOOLISH, PHILIP H.
"Mose."

E. E.
Sioux City, Ia.

Alamo, A. I. E. E.

"I am the very pink of courtesy."

"Mose" has gotten to be quite a favorite at the Hall due largely to his polished manner and the soft, purring accents of his voice. He thinks he is a favorite among the ladies and intends to get a few credits in campus lab. in his Senior year. He's conscientious and capable, and as an Engineer, we're not at all worried about him.

KRAUSE, F. E.
"Franz."

Agron.
Ionia, Ia.

Forum.

"The mildest manners with the bravest mind."

Krause is so quiet that not many of us have had the pleasure of his acquaintance. He tends to business, does his work well and is a good friend of all who know him.

KUEMPEL, REUBEN

M. E.
Guttenberg, Ia.

Beardshear.

Kuempel is slightly Dutch by inheritance but he can't help it and he would 'nt if he could. He's not a star nor is he handsome but he makes an A. 1 practical man.

LACEY, SUMNER E.

M. E.
Council Bluffs, Ia.

"Lacey" is just "lazy" misspelled. But he'd rather be in a rough-house than study, anyhow, and a long guess has it that his inclinations are more often satisfied than not. His great delight is to wield a heavy hammer when the Phys. department is under discussion. Pet habit---"pills"---pet expression ---!!!

LAKE, CARRIE
Clio.

H. Ec.
Gilbert, Ia.

"In spite of all the learned have said,
I still my own opinion keep."

Carrie's love of leadership, coupled with her faithful attention to details, makes this black-eyed Junior a "hammer" on a committee. Her good heartedness is never premeditated. Makes an awfully dapper drug clerk at a "stag" affair.

LAYMAN, CLAUDE C.

A. H.
Ames, Ia.

Forum, Lieut. Cadets, Illinois Club.

Noted for a horse, a buggy, and a girl. Not as ambitious as some, nor as husky as others, but is thorough in what he does. One of the organizers of the Illinois Club.

For.
Perry, Ia.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Quo Vadis, Class Track, Varsity Track, Reserves.

Rex started all right but he changed his course to forestry the second term. He is determined to have fun and is bubbling over with mischievous ideas. Good-hearted, he is liked by all his associates.

LEMMON, GEO. R.
"Jack."

C. E.
Atlantic, Ia.

Theta Xi, Class Football.

This quick stepping, quick thinking chap is as full of energy as a nut is of meat. He fusses a little when the notion strikes him, and spends the rest of his time chewing gum. He's a jolly chap when you know him and one who will make good.

LIESER, HAROLD A.
"Hal."

E. E.
Alden, Ia.

Hal's vertical dimensions are all out of proportion to his horizontal ones, due largely, we think, to his persistent training on the cinder path from town. Even his frequent trips to Boone don't relieve the situation. He's a quiet chap and well liked by all who know him.

LITTLE, ROY L.
"Red." "Cap."

A. H.
Cherokee, Ia.

Alamo, Cadet Captain.

"War is a terrible trade, but when on dress parade, sweet is the smell of the powder."

"Red" entered I. S. C. with a longing for military glory, and we think his ambition was realized when he wore his uniform home during Xmas vacation. Has the reputation of having been stretched more than any other man in school. A good student and a loyal Ag.

LINDAMAN, H. W.
"Lindy."

M. E.
Charles City, Ia.

Iowa Engineer Staff.

Head man for Hart Parr Co. and hails from Charles City, the summer metropolis of the Ames Engineer. Likes the girls of Texas, 'tis said. Jolly, easy going, never seems to worry except about his future.

LOGAN, C. C.
"Red."

Vet.
Mt. Pleasant, Ia.

Los Hermanos, Vet. Med. Society.

"Does bold things in a quiet way."

Was a constant irritation to the Sophomores in his prep year, but has quieted down. Has a record of taking as many anatomy exams. as any man in his class. Thinks twice before he speaks.

LONGNECKER, ALBERT C. Ag. E.
"Longy." "Boes." Shelby, Ia.

A. I. Ag. E.

"Longy" was nearly ruined by his early association with the C. E.'s, but he's fast regaining his former docile and angelic (?) manners under "Happy" Hamilton's protecting wing. His one bad habit is his proclivity for a "sack of smoke," but we'll forgive him that as long as he does 'nt (?) chew it. A good scout who has many friends.

LOOMIS, GEORGE A. Cer.
"Knockey." "Sam's Partner." Cherokee, Ia.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

"Knockey" looks all the time as if he'd just come out of a band box. He tried Mining for a time, but after a little practical experience decided that a pick was too heavy, and deserted in favor of the Ceramics. A modest, retiring fellow known to but few, but heartily liked by all his acquaintances.

LOUCK, REX C. Vet.
"Cupid." Kalona, Ia.

Vet. Med. Society.

A diligent student and extremely practical, but ready at all times to uphold the honors of his class. His roving tendencies caused him to change rooming places every six weeks until he settled down with Fred Ballard.

LUTHLEY, W. E. Vet.
"Bill." Ames, Iowa.

Vet. Med. Society, Class Football.

"Beauty took vacation at the time of my creation." Worked for Champlin before he entered I. S. C. Liked the work (?) so well he still hangs around Sunday nights. Spends his summers helping Reed keep the college buildings painted. Has a penchant for "Bugs Lab."

LYNDE, ALICE
"Lindy."

H. Ec.
Hartington, Neb.

Basket Ball, Clio.

"Resolved! That worry is work."

This is "Lindy's" sentiment, up-to-date, hence she is third floor favorite. Quick in wit, in originality, and in basket ball. She says that the year in which she taught school has been the longest one in her life. What about her year of Zoo?

MELLOR, BESSIE
"Bess."

H. Ec.
Ames, Ia.

Forensic League, Delphian.

"The friends thou hast, and their adoption tried Grapple them to thy soul with hooks of steel."

Claims that there is an advantage in missing 7:20 cars because "it gives an opportunity to do the shopping." Bess is a girl of much refinement, conscientious and dependable. Stirred up with high hopes of living, she has shown us how a woman may be made.

MANEY, T. J.
"Tommy."

Hort.
Ames, Ia.

"He is little, but Oh, my!"

We predict that Tommy will head the Public Speaking Department some day. He became famous the night of the Ag. reception and has n't lost his notoriety to this day.

MAYNE, EARL W.
"Tail."

Vet.
Sanborn, Ia.

Vet. Med. Society, Class Track.

"Earth without woman were a solitude."

Of his past life we will say nothing. Numbers his friends by his acquaintances. Was once accused by his friend Bill Luthley of casting longing glances toward Margaret Hall. Proved an alibi, however.

MCCOWN, W. VERNE
"Mac." "Irish."

C. E.
Spencer, Ia.

A modest little "Irishman" from upstate. Would be taller if he had n't worn so much off via the cinder path. Quiet, never angered, and never fussed, "Mac" is often on the job without anyone knowing it, and while there does n't waste his time either as his grade sheet will show.

MCDONOUGH, DAN G.
"Mac."

E. E.
Osceola, Ia.

"Mac" has a countenance pleasing to look upon, but the very devil lurks in his eye. He fixed up a private "platinum scandal" in his house one time that nearly caused all the Preps. to leave home. He's some fusser, too, but somehow our co-eds have n't gotten wise to it yet.

MCDERMOTT, GUY I.
"Mac." "Shorty."

Ag. Eng.
Anita, Ia.

Theta Xi, Quo Vadis, Class Baseball '10, A. I. Ag. E.

"Quality not quantity always counts."

"His Shortness" used to like the electricals but he saw the benefits of an agricultural education so he split the difference and called for Ag. Engineering. Cheerful, full of energy, and an all around good fellow.

MCELROY, HAROLD W.
"Mac."

Dairy.
Newton, Ia.

Class Basket Ball.

"Faith, I can cut a caper."

Thinks Newton is the only place on earth and can prove it if you give him time. If "Mac" did n't have so far to go when he falls down he thinks he would like to play basket ball with the Varsity.

MCGREW, E. M.
"Mac."

Agron.
Emerson, Ia.

Class Football, Fruit Judg. Team '09, Kennedy Cup Debates '10, Alpha Zeta, Bomb Board, Beard-shear.

"Mac" is big, strong, and a man clear through. He plays football, debates and wins friends with remarkable ease. He early became famous as a pushball captain, but just now he's winning honors along gentler lines.

MCKELVY, I. P.
"Mac."

Agron.
Corydon, Ia.

Fruit Judging team '09.

"True merit is like a river, the deeper it is the less noise it makes."

Until recently "Mac" hasn't been real sure which class he belonged to. The 12's looked good so he climbed into their wagon and thinks he made no mistake. He is a hard worker and a practical man.

MCMILLAN, L. E.
"Mac."

A. H.
Vinton, Ia.

Adelante, Beardshear.

"Of him no scandal can be told."

You have to be well acquainted with McMillan before you know him. He believes in working hard and tending to his own business. Always smiling and in a good humor.

MEADE, R. S.
"Rex."

E. E.
Primghar, Ia.

Colonial, Phileleuthori, Varsity Baseball, Class Football.

"Blessings on him who first invented sleep."

Meade has been known to fall asleep in the parlor at Margaret Hall. He says the height of imagination is to take a girl to Lit. Society and imagine you are fussing.

MERCER, CLYDE

E. E.
Greenfield, Ia.

Gamma Theta, A. I. E. E., Bomb Board.

Clyde is quite gallant with the fair sex and he likes to dance. Hints that his knowledge of Mag. Hall is extensive but he still has his unknowns to do, both in Chem. and Campus Lab. Will make a good man yet.

MILLER, CLAUDE C.
"Claude."

E. E.
Renwick, Ia.

Class Baseball, A. I. E. E.

"Claude" is the real Dyed-in-the-wool-and-a-yard-wide producer gas machine of the '12 class. We expect to see him in Aeronautics some day, it's so easy to inflate the balloons. His chief delight is to entertain (?) the Phys. faculty with his "Barnyard Orchestra" during Lab. periods. If you hear a ringing laugh and a crash of furniture, look out, for he's coming!

MILLER, W. J.
"Bill."

Vet.
Ames, Ia.

Vet. Medical Society.

"I was a cobbler by trade."

Would doubtless have become a minister had he not removed from Indianola when quite young. As it is he claims relationship with one or two good Methodist parsons. Is never happy unless working. His wife says he is hardly ever happy.

MINER, LELAND R.

M. E.
Shellrock, Ia.

When is a Miner not a minor? When he is a Mechanical.

Verily, this person is a model youth, for try as we might we could unearth no scandal concerning him. Furthermore our suspicions are strengthened by the fact that he dwells in the abode of the Utopians. Surely a brilliant future lies beyond the sheepskin.

MOLSBERRY, H. C.
"Curley."

E. E.
Plymouth, Ia.

Calonnades, Varsity Baseball, Class Baseball, Tau Beta Pi.

"By Jing, boys, I am mad!"

"Curley" has to advertise it every time he loses his temper; you would never guess it to look at him. One of the best natured and best liked men on the campus. Baseball is second nature to him; he learned to pitch by throwing incorrigibles out of the school room.

MONTILLON, GEO. H. M. E.
Cedar Rapids, Ia.

Phi Sigma Kappa, Bomb Board, Bachelor, Tau Beta Pi.

"Wouldst thou hear what man has to say in a little?"

Says you want to look out for these quiet men. One of that Cedar Rapids gang. A thorough student though he hates to confess it. Noted for his quiet wit.

MOORE, C. G.
"Speck."

Vet.
Toledo, Ia.

Vet. Medical Society.

"I want to grow fat and look young at forty."

Was Ben Edwards' henchman when that personage ruled the campus. His warlike tendencies have cropped out at times, but he is now here for business. His small stature in no way measures his mental capacity.

MOORE, LELA H. Ec.
Chicago, Ill.

Pi Beta Phi, Tri Psi, Tennis Medal.

"Think of others as if you were the others."

Lela always thinks of the others. This courteous, gentle "co-ag" hails from Chicago U. Her hobby is bacteria, which she is always endeavoring to eradicate. An amiable advocate of Home Sanitation.

MOOOREHEAD, HELEN H. Ec.
Ida Grove, Ia.

Kappa Delta, Tri Psi.

"I am sure care's an enemy to life."

Might draw highest honors of her class if her head were not so filled with Pain(e). Walks out the cinder path to reduce her flesh.

MORIARTY, CLARENCE C. E.
"Irish," "Mick," "Clarence." Redfield, S. D.

Class Baseball, Class Track, Varsity Track, Reserves, Alamo.

"Mick" is our little Irish friend, who is always looking out for fun. Says he don't think much of his last name, but just dotes (?) on his first. He has threatened several times to butt into Society, but as yet hasn't had the nerve. A fine fellow, whose geniality has won many friends.

MOSBO, EDWARD M. E.
Rembrandt, Ia.

Forum.

"Blessed is the man who never says anything, for he shall not be quoted."

"Ed." is so mild that if you stood on his horns he'd only ask you to get off when it was time to go to class. The vital energy of his six feet of brawn and muscle runs to brains rather than to physical prowess that makes some men famous, and he is classed by the fellows as a "near-shark."

MOULD, HENRY E. E. E.
"Ned," Sioux City, Ia.

A. I. E. E.

"Ned" was a jolly, good hearted fellow, well liked by all who knew him. We are sorry for the misfortunes which have befallen him and hope that some day his normal health may be restored.

MMURRAY, CHAS. A.
"Married."

Vet.
Ames, Ia.

Student Staff, Bomb Board, Glee Club, Vet. Society, Scrub Faculty.

"But the very hairs an your head are all numbered."

Perpetual motion his pet hobby. Has more to do than any seven men but does it all well. Thinks the Vet. course the only one in the institution. Has a monopoly on the Autoclave in Bact. Lab.

MMEYERS, C. H.
"Cack."

M. E.
West Liberty, Ia.

Capt. Class Basket Ball '11.

"Cack" is the fellow you have seen leading the Junior class in basket ball this year. Was quite an aeronaut when young. (If you doubt it, ask him). Rather gruff sometimes but it's all a bluff for his hearty laugh always shows his good nature.

JDAIDEN, JAMES H.
"Jimmy."

M. E.
Woodward, Iowa

Gamma Theta, Dutch Band.

A hand size specimen, but like all samples, of the best quality. Barring a change of course and a sweet tooth, Jimmy would no doubt have been an alumnus by this time, but circumstances alter cases. Not noted for always being in a rush but, his classmates say, he gets there just the same.

NASON, EVERETT P.

E. E.
Des Moines, Ia.

Class Baseball, A. I. E. E.

This skinny six-footer's chief business is watching his own irons, and his success is evident from the size of his grades. He's a quiet chap, not much given to fussing or frivolity, and he's heartily liked by those who know him best.

NEGUARD, CLARK OSCAR M. E.
"Negaard." Canby, Minn.

"Kindness is wisdom."

A modest, quiet fellow who claims no honors and makes no stir, but believes that the way to get anywhere is to keep putting one foot before the other. The goal is in Minnesota.

NEMMERS, W. P. C. E.
"Bill." Bancroft, Iowa
Tau Beta Pi.

"Bill" is an ex-school ma'am and teaching is probably what gave him his high ideals. He would almost as soon be flunked as to get ninety; thinks there is n't much difference. In spite of that he's an easy going chap who worries little and always has a cheery word for everyone.

NEWBURGER, MORTON B. Dairy
"Spike." St. Joseph, Mo.
Aztec, Class Football, Reserves, Dixie Club.

"Robust and hardy." "Came here because he had to move on." A Missouri man who lives up to the "show me" principle. He never takes a bluff. Rough but modest.

NEWELL, THOMAS R. C. E.
"Tommy." Columbus Junction, Ia.
Class Basket Ball.

"Tommy" started his education with the 11's but soon saw his mistake, and cast his fortunes with us. He goes to his classes and doesn't say much, but manages to gather all the information to be had. A big hearted, jovial fellow, who makes many friends.

NNEWSOME, F. W.

A. H.
Derby, Ia.

Beardshear, Dutch Band.

Meant to be an Engineer but met Bruce Crossley and changed his mind. A member of the firm of Newsome and McNay and can always be found at headquarters. Has probably consumed more electric light juice than any other member of the class. His grades are indicative of the foregoing.

B'BANION, A. C.

Forestry.
Storm Lake, Ia.

"Allen." "Butch."
Iowa Club, Reserves, Class Football.

"Butch" never talks much but he makes things move when he gets his moleskins on. He comes from Storm Lake, which means that he bluffs others but can't be bluffed.

N'NEIL, CLEM J.

Dairy.
Livermore, Ia.

"Clem."
Beardshear.

"They are never alone that are accompanied by noble thoughts."

The more one knows of "Clem" the better they like him. He has a sincere Irish heart that makes you respect him. A man who will put dairying in Iowa on a higher basis.

LLMSTEAD, HARRY H.

Vet.
New Hampton, Ia.

"Olmy."
Vet. Medical Society, Gamma Theta.

"As proper a man as e'er my poor eye rested upon."

Would have been an Engineer had he followed his early inclination. Wisely changed his course, however. Divides his time evenly between the postoffice and answering letters to "home folks."

OLMSTEAD, R. A.

Forestry,
Des Moines, Ia.

Beta Theta Pi.

If we would, we could tell all sorts of scandal about this man. However, Olmstead is a good little fellow and all the girls like him so we refrain. Conservation of our National Resources has worried him so much that his growth has been somewhat neglected.

OLSEN, GUSTAVE C.
"Ole."

C. E.
Ellsworth, Ia.

Dutch Band.

"Ole" should have been a poet, for the language of ordinary mortals seems inadequate for his use in sounding the praises of the fair Co-eds. Nevertheless he has an enormous capacity for hard work which is good evidence that he is wrong when he says that he should have been an Ag.

OLSON, WILLIAM A.
"Ole."

C. E.
Cambridge, Ia.

Forum.

"Ole" used to go to Cornell, so it is n't surprising that he has never been able to fully appreciate a certain trouncing which the Purple and White received here in the fall of '09. We won't complain though if, once won over, he remains as loyal to I. S. C. A level headed, consistent thinker and worker, and a general favorite.

OLSON, DEWITT P.
"De." "D. P."

C. E.
Idaho Falls, Idaho.

"Days of absence, I am weary, she I love is far away."

Says he forgot his Kappa Sig pin but we doubt it. It's a pretty smart boy for his size as he's passing up a five years' course in four. Quite prone to smile on any occasion. Even when the telegram arrived calling him to service in the south he smiled.

OLSON, CARL E. C. E.
 "Carl." "Eddy." "Swede." Red Oak, Ia.

This fair-haired son of the Northland comes to us from Red Oak, the capital of the world. Spends part of his time shaking empty sieves in the cement lab., and the rest of it in writing bulky epistles to a fair damsel in the aforementioned metropolis, taking a recess occasionally to catch up with his classes. A Prince of a fellow, whose friends are as numerous as his acquaintances.

SBORN, LYNN W. Agron.
 Flandreau, S. D.
 Bachelor.

This young man classified Freshman, worked for the Sophs. in the push ball contest, and had his photo taken for the Junior Bomb, all in one term. Guess that's goin' some! He has a natural capacity for hard work, and will doubtless make a good manager for some farm when he returns to good old Dakota.

PACKMAN, CHLOE GRACE Gen. Science.
 "Closing Grace." Eagle Grove, Ia.
 Phileleutheroi, I. F.

"Wasted time is existence; used is life."

Never caught napping, doesn't need a diagram to see thru things. Likes to boss, but is not domineering; a great help behind the scenes; valuable in lining up girls to draw for the Junior Trot. Clever, but too modest to admit it. Can't get away from "kid tricks." Will never get a "con" in slang.

PAINE, H. W. M. E.
 "Carb." "Barney." Eagle Grove, Ia.

"Barney" could detect the odor of an auto a mile away with no effort at all, and he could design a gas engine with his eyes shut. Just watch his smoke. He'll be hitting all six while some of us are under our machines. Honk! Honk!

PARKER, ROBERT H. C. E.
Charleston, Ark.

Welch, Adelante.

A great big good natured piece of southern sunshine. Showed his good sense first of all by coming to Ames to finish his education. Like the rest of us he has many troubles, but the hardest thing for him to do is to keep from doing the Buck and Wing dance when the boys whistle.

PARMENTER, GLEE Vet.
"Ham." Grimes, Ia.

Vet. Medical Society, Class Football 1910, Class Baseball '10.

"If I could only whip Jack Johnson I'd be a greater man than Dean Strange."

Could easily have made the debating team had he so desired, for he can argue on any side of any question. Is studiously inclined, but will stop at any time to rough house or wrestle. Helps Pat run the Zim house of which he is the official bouncer.

PATTERSON, JOHN Vet.
"Pat." Marion, Ia.

Vet. Medical Society, Scrub Faculty '10-'11
Class Baseball '09-'10, Class Football '10.

Grew up with horses but never used one after, entering I. S. C. Would fall sick if his grade sheet showed anything below an honor. Doesn't win his honors by resting on his laurels, but plugs for them. Had a strenuous life as manager of the Zim house and assistant to Dr. Murphey, in addition to his regular work. A true friend at all times, but a hater of shams. Asks about things he does n't understand.

PAULSEN, JOHN AUGUST C. E.
"Dutch." "Germany." Irwin, Ia.

A good natured, phlegmatic, easy going Dutchman, never known to worry about anything except once when he wondered how he'd get home from Summer camp. John August wasn't used to fast life then. We believe there are hopes for him yet as a Civil altho once he did n't read the azimuth of line as $361^{\circ} 45'$.

PECK, LOUISE

H. Ec.
Indianola, Ia.

"Great wits may sometimes gloriously offend."

This scintillating Simpson alumnus delights in trying to make us think she's a dead game sport. An inveterate reader of "Life." Knows the model and speed record of every auto on the market. Big hearted, versatile and full of "pep." Louise is leading lady in any and all gym "stunts" that the Margaret Hall girls can put on.

POLLOCK, R. C.
"Polly." "Dock."

Science.
Martinsburg, Ia.

Band, Glee Club, Crescent, Iowa Club, Kennedy Cup Debate '10, Triangular Debate '11.

"Go boldly; go serenely; go augustly."

Has reached quite a height in the air and in debate. Toots his own horn without conceit. A congenial fellow ever ready with the pat remark. Believes in private gym. Letters from home account for certain omissions in social lines.

POMEROY, S. L.
"Diak."

C. E.
Newton, Iowa.

Bachelor, Bomb Board.

"Diak" is a very busy man, but in spite of his many pressing engagements he finds time for politics. He claims to be directly responsible for Governor Carroll's recent election. (We've just learned that he sold his vote for thirty cents.) However "Diak" is a good scout and here's to his success.

PORTER, D. G.
"Dug." "Lengthy."

M. E.
Davenport, Iowa.

A. T. O., Sigma Sigma, T. L. B.

"The only evidence of life is growth."

"Dug" is inclined to bluff just a trifle for he is a pretty good talker. However he passes his work and transfers the remainder of his energy into linear expansion.

RAMEY, ETHEL
"Patsy."

Music.
Ames, Ia.

Delphian.

"Her fairest virtues fly from sight;
Domestic worth shuns too strong a light."

"Doesn't mind recitals if it weren't for committing twelve pages of classical music." Kept busy trying to differentiate dates. Ethel is quiet and sober in public but jolly and sociable in private.

RICHMOND, CHAS. A.
"Scrubby."

M. E.
Cedar Rapids, Ia.

Rho Sigma Gamma.

"High erected thoughts seated in the heart of courtesy."

Has often heard the chimes at midnight while returning from specialized lessons in "Dutch" and "Campus lab." "Scrubby" comes to us from "Seed-Rabbits" and has become quite well known thru his singing "Ring around, ring around the moon." Nevertheless he's a steady, patient fellow with a pleasant countenance to greet his mates.

RICHMOND, HOWARD H.
"Rick." "Shorty."

Forestry.
West Union, Ia.

Palisades, Class Baseball.

"Rick" is short of stature and quick in action. His thoughts come quickly and are witty. You can rely on "Rick" when you get in a pinch. He is one of the class standbys in baseball.

REED, CLARK
"Hud."

A. H.
Bradford, Ill.

Colonnades, Forum, Soph. Class Play, Alpha Zeta, Class Football.

"There is scarcely any man who cannot persuade himself of his own merit."

A fusser from Fusserville. Accidentally found out who had to write him up and has been suspiciously good ever since. Strictly speaking, however, he's all right, even if he does think so himself.

ROBERTS, LUCIA L.
"Artist."
Vet. Medical Society.

Vet.
Zearing, Ia.

Means to locate at Story City to practice. Makes weekly trips there just to keep in touch with the people. Is a follower of that part of the adage, "Early to bed and early to rise," etc., which pertains to the maintenance of good health. Never worries, always smiles.

ROBINSON, CLARA A. H. Ec
Armstrong, Ia.
I. F., Hockey, Y. W. C. A. Cabinet.

There is a wholesomeness and a democratic spirit about Clara that makes her well worth knowing. A thoroughly reliable and consistent worker in every phase of college life. Admitted in Textile class to having been familiar with the uses of the cotton plant during the time of Columbus.

ROGERS, GLENN E. A. H.
"Rog." Alexis, Ill.

Phi Gamma Delta, Bachelor, Freshman Debate, Sophomore Class Play, Asst. Editor of Bomb.

"Comparisons are odious."

Glenn is an actor of marked ability. A pleasing personality, a bright smile, and a boasting spirit has won a place for "Rog" among the many busy people of the College.

ROSECRANS, MERLE C. E.
"Rosie." Ames, Ia.

Tau Beta Pi, Iowa Engineer Staff.
"Oh! Piffle!"

Absolutely unaffected by worry and girls. He takes life easy and goes to bed early, but withal seems to draw top-story grades. He has the unequalled record of having witnessed every varsity practice and contest since his arrival, and strongly advises the addition of Football criticism to the curriculum.

ROWAT, T. W.
 "Tom."
 Class Track, Bachelor.

C. E.
 Des Moines, Ia.

Take the Pth root of the Qth power of thirteen times Tom's liking for "Phys." and you'll have in Horsepower his energy directly available for work. This quantity however is a variable, depending upon the nature of the work. Nevertheless take this as proof that Tom's wise: he runs the Owl Club.

ROUNDS, A. D.
 "Johnnie."

C. E.
 Twin Falls, Idaho.

"Johnnie" is good natured in spite of everything, even English XII. Could n't ruffle his feathers with a hay rake. Fond of novels and work too—sometimes. His hobby is furnishing dope and so firmly does he believe in his system that he often wagers even his meat and potatoes on the Cyclones.

SANBORN, G. CLIFFORD "Sandy."

Min. E.
 Merville, Ia.

Phi Gamma Delta, Gamma Zeta Psi, Varsity Base Ball, Reserves, T. L. B., Soph. Class Play, A. I. M. E.

"Thine eyes, sweet lady, have infected mine."

"Sandy" is deeply interested in mine plants in general and Mills in particular, so deeply, in fact, that it is said he receives correspondence on this subject nearly every day. His geniality has won him many friends, and we'll long remember this big, good hearted six footer, and wish him success wherever his future life may lead him.

SCOTT, DAVID R.

E. E.
 Onowa, Ia.

Varsity Track, Class Track, Cross Country, A. I. E. E.

"Scotty" hails from Onowa, but the town has other claims to distinction than that. The most important business he attends to is paddling his own canoe, and we predict that he'll do in his later life what he's done in athletics, namely, make good.

SCHNAIDT, H. A.
"Dutch."

A. H.
Rock Rapids, Ia.

Iowa Club, Philomathean, Alpha Zeta, Bomb Board.

Good, solid business sense and lots of it here. "Dutch" is a big man with a big heart, and lots of brains. He never started anything he did n't finish and that's why he rustled "Ads." for the Bomb.

SCHUMACHER, C.
"Shorty."

M. E.
Clarion, Ia.

Acacia, Class President '11.

We have here a man who has lots of plain common sense. His manly qualities won the class presidency. Rarely hasty, but at times cusses and discusses the Phys. department.

SHEEHAN, WM. M.
"Bill."

E. E.
Des Moines, Ia.

Hawkeye, Class Tennis, City Golf Champion, Des Moines, State Golf Champion '09.

This good looking little boy comes from the city that "does things." We've been asked whether his ability as a golfer is greater than his ability as a fusser, and after due deliberation have decided it's about a standoff. "Bill" has many friends, who wish him success in his future career.

SHUPE, MILTON W.

E. E.
Ames, Ia.

Married.

Shupe might do all right as an artist or a musician, but he'll never make good as an engineer until he cuts his hair. This same superfluity of hirsute adornment speaks well for the tranquility of his domestic relations, however, he's a good fellow through and through, well liked by those who know him best.

SHIELDS, ROBT. W.
 "Bobby."
 Theta XI.

C. E.
 Washington, Ia.

According to C. B. Stanton he's just a sample, but according to some of his pals in field work the energy displayed by the various members of the party varied inversely as the squares of their respective sizes which places "Bobby" at the head of the list. More samples, please.

SHEARER, P. S.
 "Phin."

A. H.
 Marshalltown, Ia.

Colonial, Philomathean, Class President, Bomb Board, Fruit Judging Team '09, Student Staff, Alpha Zeta, Royal Stock Judging Team '10, International Stock Judging Team '10.

"In busy companies of men."—Marvel

"Phin" is a thoughtful fellow who makes good. His judgment about stock, apples, or girls is O. K. He is a man who hurries up, by doing things correctly. He is a man who commands your friendship and respect.

SILVER, FRANK F.
 "Sliver."

A. H.
 Cantril, Ia.

Rho Sigma Gamma, Beardshear, Fruit Judging Team '10, Dutch Band.

"A loyal, just, and upright gentleman."

Silver likes to work when he feels that way. He was high man on the fruit judging team. Likes Ames pretty well but says it does n't compare with "Possum Hollow."

SIMMONS, G. P.
 "Pit."

Vet.
 Ames, Ia.

Vet. Medical Society, Class Baseball '10.

"His little body lodged a mighty mind."

Since passing up A. H. under Dinsmore he has had easy sailing in his work. Can easily handle the largest horse that grows. Is equally successful with small ones.

SKINNER, S. P.

A. H.
Westfield, N. Y.

"The skinner, a mighty man is he."

There is considerable rivalry between Skinner and Capt. Little as to which has been stretched the most, but we declare it a tie. He is thorough in everything, and we expect a good strong man of him.

SSMITH, WM, A.
"Bill."

Forestry.
Reinbeck, Ia.

Gamma Theta, Varsity Track, Varsity Football, Double "A" Fraternity.

Bill is one of those steady going, mind your own business fellows, who saws wood and don't tell about it. He got the fussing microbe in his system one time, but it didn't last long. A good student, a good athlete, and a mighty good fellow.

SSMITH, FAE E.

E. E.
Macedonia, Ia.

Smith would doubtless have quit with the 11's if he had n't stayed out to help the Ft. D., D. M. and S. get their electrical department up to an efficient working basis. Holds a patent on an automatic signal system for electric railways, and also a record of 98% efficiency (?) in A. C. and D. C. He's a jolly good fellow and an exceptional student.

SSMITH, GRACE E.

H. Ec.
Macedonia, Ia.

Clio.

Outgrowing the higher educational advantages offered at Tabor College Grace turned to the Ames "dough" lab. for her goal. The only Junior girl who owns a copy of "Hutchisons Food and Diagnostics," and consequently was once taken for one of the Extension workers. Perseverance, thoroughness and insatiable ambition characterize her many capabilities. Not at Lincoln for recreation.

SMITH, HOWARD E. A. H.
"Arkie." Whiting, Ia.
Sigma Nu, Alpha Zeta.

"My only books were one girl's looks,
And folly's all they taught me."

"Arkie" says his electives will be poultry work mostly. He took incubator practice because he likes the family. Specializes in Campus lab. and Chapel dates. Now writing a short article on "How to be Popular With One Girl."

SMULLIN, GEORGE W. M. E.
Clinton, Ia.
Class Track.

George used to be a dumb bell artist when he first came to I. S. C. but gave that up to become chief joker at the "Zim" house. His highest ambition is to become a crack athlete, and we predict success if he'll only train, and let the girls alone.

SOSA, HERMAS A. Agron.
"Sosa." Asuncion, Paraguay.
Forum, Cosmopolitan Club.

Keen in appreciating things American. Is fond of sonorous phrases and involved sentences; of suave speeches and dulcet tones of voice. He remarked confidentially, "I'm very much misunderstood. I'm really a very serious person but I just can't make my eyes behave." Says his first step after graduation will be to get married.

SPERRY, DON C. Vet.
"Shorty." Fayette, Ia.
Vet. Medical Society, Class Football '10, Reserves,
Phileleutheroi.

"Above my fortunes, yet my state is well; I am a gentleman."

His quiet and unpretentious ways have led him to a life of seclusion. His fame as a cook is wide spread, and the hospitality of his bachelor's quarters is best appreciated by those who have enjoyed it. High grades in Zoology once brought him under suspicion in that department but he easily proved his innocence.

STANG, L. C.
A. I. E. E.

E. E.
Le Mars, Ia.

Stang is inclined to be quiet and tends mostly to his own affairs, but he does things. He has formed quite an attachment to the German department of late. Always pleasant, and much interested in college work.

STEARNS, HARVEY P. M. E.
"Doc." Sutherland, Ia.
Mgr. Dutch Band, Welch, Iowa Club.

Can "Doc" play the cornet? "You bet your whiskers." Some doubt his ability to become a mechanical engineer, but doubt his musical ability, never! He got up a reputation as a peddler when he sold pictures for the Ags. during the excursion of the Carpenter's Convention. You can bank on "Doc" for a hustler every time, and there's no doubt he'll make good when he leaves I. S. C.

STEPHENSON, J. L. C. E.
"Li'l Steve." "Stevie." Spencer, Ia.
Class Tennis.

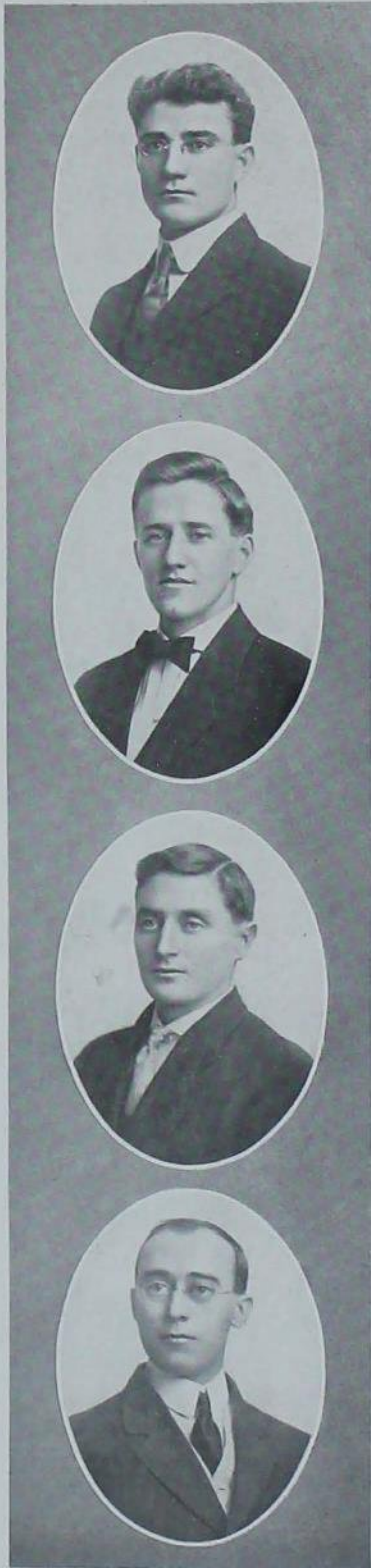

"It's the hair, not the hat."

A vest pocket edition of egotism. Has taken aluminum cooking utensils clear to Washington, and thereby won a loving cup from the company. Steve makes the most girlish little miss in co-eds garb at parties.

STEWART, CARL A. C. E.
"Stew." "Angel Face." Grinnell, Ia.
Phi Gamma Delta, Kappa Phi.

The man with the hearty laugh. Makes an awful hit with girls, and they think he's simply divine. (See nicknames) From Grinnell and says he is proud of it, "it" nodoubt referring to the town for he patronized his home institution for a year.

TAYLOR, BEN L.

C. E.
Ames, Ia.

Married.

"As ever in my great task-master's eye."

Oh, you Spanish shark!

"His mouth he could not ope
But out there flew a trope."

Spanish and his pipe have made quite a hit with Ben. But with his everlasting grit and steady determination and that encouraging whistle he has managed to be a '12.

TAYLOR, LEE

"Fuzzy."

Min. E.
Maquoketa, Ia.

Colonnades, Gamma Zeta Psi, A. I. M. E.

"Fuzzy" blew in from Maquoketa, Ioway, the place where they make good segars, and has been working fiercely ever since. There's nothing sensational or startling about him, but for steadiness he's hard to beat. Will fuss occasionally if he's forced to it, but is inclined to go rather light. As fine a fellow as ever lived, whom one may be proud to call a friend.

THOMPSON, D. C.

"Tommy."

M. E.
Marcus, Ia.

Delphian, Cadet Captain.

"Tommy" is just an ordinary man but he has his good points. He never tried to be a Quaker or an athlete, but he did his duty by the General. Never says much but he's always ready to help.

THORNBERG, EARL R.

E. E.
Linden, Ia.

Chose Ames as a change from Colorado atmosphere. A business like sort of chap with not much to say but is willing enough to talk if you mention pitching. A conscientious worker with many friends.

THOMAS, W. LYNK
"Tommy."
Hawkeye.

C. E.
Coon Rapids, Ia.

The investigating committee could n't discover any one thing in particular about Tommy. He just seems to be a kid, and like all kids, kiddish. He's harmless tho, since his kiddishness seems to take the form of atmospheric vibrations caused by a frequent exercise of the vocal organs. A good fellow anyway, loyal and likable.

TONG, EDNA

H. Ec.
Hines, Ia.

Scrub Faculty.

"Wild and carefree as the tumble weeds of the prairie."

Will she ever grow up? Edna is awake every minute, and is usually hunting for something she has just lost. An aid-de-camp in the Dean's office, and an official floorwalker during classification. Teaches preps to lisp their Castillian "S'es." A good student in spite of her carrying off the sweepstakes at the Margaret Hall Baby Show.

TOMPKINS, J. LESTER
"Tommy," "Sport."

A. H.
Garrison, Ia.

International Stock Judging Team, Quo Vadis, Class Baseball.

"How many fine people there are in the world if you only scratch them deep enough."

A dark horse on the stock judging team, a roya good fellow and the idol of the A. H. bunch, (including stenographers.) As a dispenser of "prep tonic" he will never have an equal.

TRUAX, T. R.
"Trux."

Science.
Yale, Ia.

Colonnades, Philomathean, Student Staff, Triangular Debates, Inter Society Debates 1910.

Dispenses dope in the Bacteriology department and hot air in the department of Public Speaking. Called regularly on his sister at Margaret Hall, until he gave the joke away himself. Helped Bill Taft and Senator Cummins frame the Reciprocity Treaty with Canada. Expects to be a lawyer if he doesn't "settle down" too soon. Laid the foundation for his education at Cornell, but wisely chose to build the superstructure here.

TYSON, HARRY B. Min. E.
Emmettsburg, Ia.
Colonnades, Gamma Zeta Psi, T. L. B., Class
Track, Iowa Engineer Staff, Dutch Band, A. I. M.
E.

Harry is a hand-me-down from '11, '10, etc., but we're glad to get him. Says he's surely going to graduate now that he's hit a live bunch to associate with. He's famous for his impersonation of the web-footed whangdoodle on College day.

UN, CHUNG C. Agron.
"Unnv." Canton, China.
Pythian, Cosmopolitan Club.

"Genius is the capacity for taking infinite pains."
A hard and accurate worker. Found out why the adding machine made mistakes. Noted for original themes, clever interpretation in public speaking, and efficient assisting in local experiment station. Courteous, yet thinks some things are done better in China whither he expects to return to take up experimental work.

VAN DEVENTER, JAMES R. A. H.
"Van." "Jimmy." Hedrick, Ia.
Crescent, Iowa Club, Kennedy Cup Debate, Junior Class Play.

"Van" is a big, stout, husky fellow who always wears a smile. He debates, studies, and does everything else with energy in proportion to his size. He is an amiable and pleasant fellow.

VAN MEERTEN, ELBERT J. Ag. E.
"Van." Pretoria, Transvaal.
A. I. Ag. E., Cosmopolitan Club, Bomb Board, Pythian.

"Wit is the salt of conversation."
A knight of the camera and the pleasant joke; a resourceful co-worker, a dependable friend. Tho an Ag. he voted for the Engineers, for "I'm on the fence; I'm an Ag. Engineer." Expects to return to the Transvaal a Benedict.

WORSE, CHARLES "Jap."
Aztec.

C. E.
Des Moines, Ia.

We presume "Jap" got his nickname from his close resemblance to those hurrying, rushing little people of the Pacific. In facial expression and "rushing" qualities the resemblance is close, so close in fact that his uncontrollable mania for exploring the campus has gained him an enviable reputation among his fellows. His remarkable ability for study has made him a favorite (?) with the faculty in E. E. 503.

WAGNER, KENNETH
"Wag." "Honus."
Palisades.

C. E.
Cedar Rapids, Ia.

You would never guess it but "Honus" believes in co-education. He does n't take life very seriously and is inclined to be a dreamer. Though rather flighty at times he's enthusiastic and determined to succeed in the engineering world.

WALKEY, FRED L.
"Nye."
Vet. Medical Society.

Vet.
Ames, Ia.

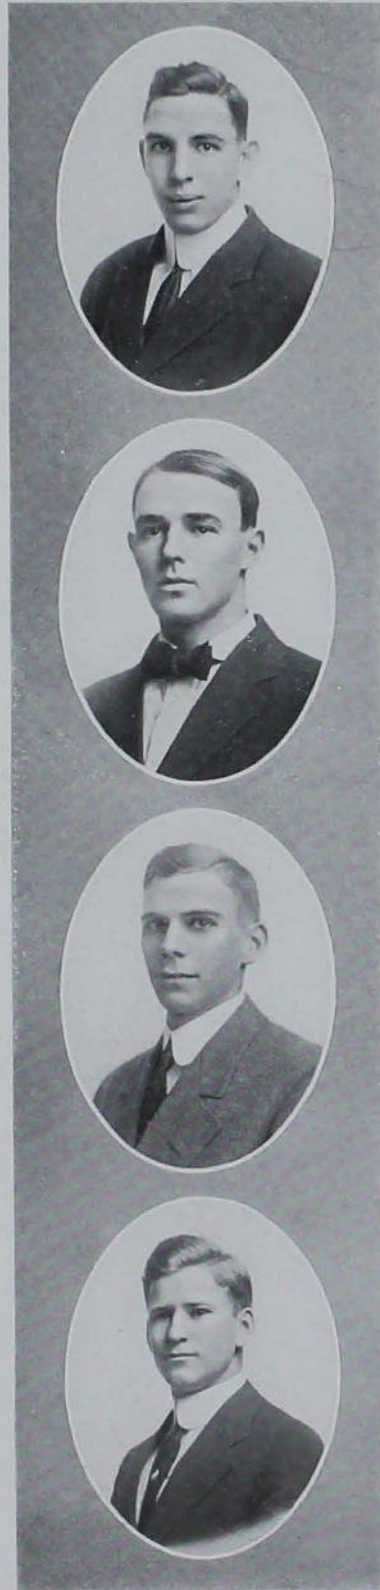

"A horse! A horse! My kingdom for a horse. A pony will do."

In order to be able to devote his entire time to school work he married early and settled down. But habit is strong and he still indulges in at least a weekly trip to the Scenic.

WALKER, ROBT. K.
"Bobbie." "Bob."
Aztec, Sigma Sigma, Varsity Basketball, Class Basketball, Class Track.

A. H.
Des Moines, Ia.

"My goodness, Bobbie, what a heller you are." "Bob" is carefree and independent. He rushes basketball, track and even his Domestic Relations. He has been known to visit Manhattan when he did not care to.

WALKER, MARION H. Ec.
 "Marion." Vinton, Ia.
 Kappa Delta, Library Assistant.

"The expression of truth is simplicity."

Maid Marion is an AI cook and an adept at carving at Sunday dinner. Quick and skillful with hand and mind. Has a good memory for all kindnesses, but is long on the other side of the fence, too. A special friend of Morpheus.

WALL, JOE F. Vet.
 "Swede." Berwick, Ia.
 Vet. Medical Society, Class Football '09, Varsity 10.

Attended college two years before he learned he was back in Campus lab. Classified in it at the first number of the 1911 lecture course and expects to have all back work made up by spring. Big and jovial, he is respected by all. In a scrimmage on the field his white head always bobs serenely up.

WALRAVEN, JOHN W. E. E.
Lyons, Ia.

A dignified looking gent from Lyons. He came here as the result of the action of one force, i. e., the desire to study E. E., but since his arrival, 't is said a second force has entered and has produced a couple. Such results are not always fatal, however, and no doubt John W. will survive.

WALTON, SAM F. Ceramics.
 "Sammy." "Loomis' Partner." Washington, Ia.

Bomb Board, Brotherhood of St. Andrews, Student Staff.

This comely featured chap is an artist of some renown, his artistic tendencies being exceeded only by the verbosity of his arguments. Got out of his line a little one time, and tried to judge some horses—but we guess he got all he deserved then. Do n't really mind associating with the Miners, but then "Loomis and I" will do better by ourselves.

WEAVER, ETHEL
"Scrub."
Pi Beta Phi.

H. Ec.
Spencer, Ia.

"Scrub's" squareness and frankness are exceeded only by her independence. She is strong for the "Vets," and enjoys "Vet" dances (?). However, this Vetecism does n't interfere with her class work, which is usually good.

WEBSTER, HUGH "Hugo."

A. H.
Weatherford, Okla.

Acclante, Crescent, Delta Sigma Rho, Delta Theta Sigma, Bomb Board, Normal Debate '09, Agricultural Staff, Forensic League, Soph. Class Play, Declamatory '10 (2nd) Peace Oration '10 (2nd).

"There is no genius in life like the genius of energy and activity."

A firm, decided character; a clean brain; an earnest purpose. Destined to be a source of power in developing the Southwest if he does n't take himself too seriously. Usually late in issuing invitations.

WELLS, CLARK J.
"Cy."

E. E.
Ireton, Ia.

Class Football, Welch, A. I. E. E.

This elephantine prodigy hails from Ireton, a place we couldn't find on the map. He is best known, perhaps, as choir master of the Electricals' Glee Club, a place he has held with distinction. He's a worker, though, a modest lad, and the ladies are the least of his troubles.

WENDT, WM.
"W. R. C." "Bill."
Hawkeye.

C. E.
Newton, Ia.

It would take six prod poles and a pitchfork with a good man behind each to make "Bill" move faster than a walk except when he ditches Railway to go home. However, he seems to have kept up with the bunch and does n't show signs of weakening yet. Said he would like to shake the fellow who first played tricks with his initials.

WENTCH, MARGARET Science.
"Gretchen." "The Duchess" (see R. W. G.).

Pi Beta Phi, Bomb Board, Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, Scrub Faculty.

"What I can fancy, and am able to express."

"Gretchen" has made a decided hit among the "preps" as well as in the Dean's office. Could n't possibly be a Co-Ag. for "Oh, you cows!" Nevertheless, Margaret is a good mixer, a loyal friend, and an industrious student who always had some answer for "Uncle Benny" in Organic Chem.

WENTZEL, CLAUDE E. Agron.
"Bing." Beaman, Ia.

Gamma Theta, Dutch Band.

Likes to stop at Polk City coming home from Des Moines, and roll cigarettes and tell stories. Makes his spending money taking tickets for the "Broadway Belles" at the State Fair. Has been known to study on rare occasions.

WHITE, WARREN G. C. E.
"Stub." Nevada, Ia.

Why is "Stub White"? No one seems to know, but it does seem that he is the only white man among the Civils. His gentle training in early youth would not permit him to engage in the study of military tactics, so he chose footracing; but he is on record as having used slang twice in the last year.

WHITEHEAD, HERBERT H. A. H.
"Whity." Le Grange, Ill.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Alpha Zeta, Welch, Class Tennis, Varsity Tennis.

"He knows what's what."

A man who will bear your most intimate acquaintance. He's a student from the word go, and commands your respect and friendship by his straightforward and gentlemanly manner. Fusses when not too busy.

WHITAKER, W. S. Agron.
 "Whit." Hillsboro, Ia.
 Acacia, Beardshear, Delta Theta Sigma.

A man that is noted for "Deeds, not words."
 Spends most of his time getting good grades.
 "Whit" is a student with great possibilities, and he is doing his best to make good use of them.

WHITE, HELEN H. Ec.
 "Auntie." Marion, Ia.
 Bomb Board, Clio.

"Humor often makes the heart smile without awaking a single wrinkle on the cheek."

A one-time nurse with an insatiable interest in bacilli and streptococci. Has a predilection for third floor. Her long stunts are climbing transoms, training preps, and talking in polysyllables. Her sparkling repartee and originality are surpassed only by her kindly thoughtfulness.

WILCOX, HERBERT Forestry.
 "Herb." "Coxey." Marshalltown, Ia.
 "He talked much and said little."

Herbert started in two years before the rest of us, but he stayed on just to finish with a good class.
 He has done everything from breaking bronchos to sawing logs with the Swedes in Minnesota.

WILKINSON, H. ARTHUR E. E.
 Ames, Ia.
 A. I. E. E.

Here's a young man of model disposition and habits. The only misdemeanor on record against him is that he seriously contemplated flagging Stantie's Calc. class on St. Patrick's day—but he did n't—and God knows his conscience has punished him for those evil thoughts. Used to carry a micrometer screw to measure the spark on his motor cycle.

WILLIAMS, RUTH
"Rufus."

H. Ec.
Ft. Dodge, Ia.

Omega Delta.

"It's nice to be natural, when you're naturally nice."

This young lady would rather spend a few days at home than attend all the social functions of the calendar. Quite keen (?) about answering the phone at the Omega Delt house. Once your friend, always your friend.

WILLIAMS, H. L.
"Bill." "Sapho."

A. H.
Postville, Ia.

At Ames we call him "Bill" but at home he's known as "Sapho." A shark if there ever was one when it comes to exams. He passed up Campus Lab. long before he came here.

WILLIAMS, C. M.
"C. M."

Hort.
Las Vegas, N. M.

Iowa Club, Beardshear.

In spite of the fact that he hails from the far Southwest "C. M." has become quite civilized during his stay in Ames. Judging from certain of his actions, we surmise that fussing is a chronic habit in New Mexico.

WILSON, OSEE JANE "Okie."

H. Ec.
Seymour, Ia.

I. F., Phileutheroi, Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, Capt. Class Hockey Team.

"Poised, serene, and kind."

Mrs. C. says Osee has never caused one moment of worry. Refined, gentle, thoughtful, just—a valued "inmate of the Hall." A born Hockey player.

WILSON, B. B. A. H.
 "Willie." "B. B." "Benny." Spencer, Ia.
 Delphian, Fruit Judging Team.

"Millions of bubbles like him."

Tall, slender, and noted for his lack of serious mood. Always has a ready joke. An apt student of English when it comes to answering questions without studying. Works hard on Campustry at times.

WILSON, MAUDE E. Science.
 Sac City, Ia.
 Kappa Delta.

After a short period of training at Chicago University, this co-ed decided to locate at the big Ag. school, where she has hitched her wagon to a star, but has n't sold her mule, the typewriter. Maude is a faithful student, for industry is her slogan, and ambition is her pride.

WITWER, POLLY H. Ec.
 "Polly." Cedar Rapids, Ia.
 Soph. Class Play.

"Joys are our wings; sorrows our spurs."

Winsome, merry little Polly, liked by all who know her. In on all Hall stunts. Delights in horse-back rides and strolls but "Father" is the best chum. Has proved her ability to manage a household.

WORMLEY, DON S. Ag. E.
 Newton, Ia.
 Bachelor, Alpha Gamma Beta, A. I. Ag. E.

This young man left the engineers, and now cavorts in the ranks of the "half-way between." He does n't bother the ladies and, so far as we know, the ladies don't bother him. We are sure he will do well and make friends wherever he goes.

WOLFE, JOHN H. Chem. E.
 "Hans." Keokuk, Ia.
 Colonnades, Bomb Board, Dutch Band, Bachelor,
 Glee Club.

"Hans" is a thriving parasite on the tree Chemicus Laboratory. He fell into the gas ditch with the bass drum one night, and severely strained his relations with the Dutch Band. His imported French "auto-go" made a hit on College day, and caused a shower of comment—and other things—from the bleachers. We all like "Hans" and pronounce him a Prince of good fellows.

WRIGHT, HARRY F. Min. E.
 "Harry." Ames, Ia.

Gamma Zeta Psi, Bomb Board, Iowa Engineer, Dutch Band, Class Football, A. I. M. E.

Harry got his start with Ringling Bros., but soon decided that he would rather dig for gold than blow for it; and is just the same at digging as he is at blowing—good. A lively mixer and an A1 student with hosts of friends, he disproves the old saying, "There 's nothing in a name," for Wright is certainly right.

ZENTMIRE, D. Agron.
 "Zent." Ames, Ia.

Beardshear, Delta Theta Sigma.

"Have held no offices and am not an office seeker."

A quiet man with a strong personality. A student that gets Honors in Organic Chem., and other such studies. Everyone says that "Zent." is a man who will have things coming his way when college days are over. He does not know where the Violet Patch is, but is desirous of knowing.

TE VELTRUP, EDWARD E. E.
 "Te." "Teddy." Sioux Center, Ia.

Colonnades, Varsity Football, Varsity Basket Ball, Class Baseball, Class Track, A. A. Fraternity, Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, Bomb Board.

"As man may, he fought his fight, proved his truth by his endeavor."

"I'm from Sioux City." Passed up Math. and Phys. on short notice to star in athletics. While out on B. B. trips believes in obtaining "two" tickets to the theater. "Teddy" is a talkative and jovial fellow and possesses that best portion of a good man's life, "Little remembered acts of kindness and friendship."

MANN, WM. G.
"Bill."
Acacia, A. I. E. E.

E. E.
Lake Benton, Minn.

Life would be just one long, sweet dream for "Bill" if it were n't for Math, and the stubborn perversity of fate is continually sending him to Room 204. Such treatment is a little severe, especially after a term at Drake, and to offset it he takes three courses in Economics at once! "Where there's a will there's a way."

GERICKE, WM. F.
"Bill." "Dynamite."
Agron. Fremont, Neb.

Cosmopolitan Club, Crescent, National Grange.
"He thought as a sage, though he felt as a man."

This man has tried hard to use his thoughts to help the people, for he has been a candidate for representative. We feel sure that the next election will favor him, as he is now backed by I. S. C. and the Republican Party.

BERGEN, HANSEN
Sci. Dubuque, Ia.

Kappa Sigma, Junior Class Play.

For an all around good student, Bergen can't be beaten, which is proven by the fact that he took Calc. in his Freshman year. He's also a fusser of some ability; and subject to periodical celebrations. But "Just let me lay, boys, I'm comfortable."

STIVERS, ERNEST D.
Sci. and Agr. Ames, Ia.

Married, Phi Gamma Delta, Delta Theta Sigma,

"E. D." graduated from I. S. C. in 1901, but liked it so well that he came back, and brought a wife along to help him enjoy it. He's a big man, with a big smile for everyone, and mighty popular among his associates.

In Memoriam.

God has seen fit to remove from among us a man of sterling qualities and high ambition. I. S. C., the community, the world at large, has suffered a distinct loss in the death of Everett W. Lambert, '09, who died in Denver on July 19, 1910. To those who knew him, and scarcely less to those who did not, he offered an Ideal of strength and manhood. He showed in his studies the same ability and determination that characterized him on the football field, and on the track; a determination best expressed in the words of Theodore Roosevelt, "Don't stop, don't flinch, but hit the line hard."

May his splendid example have its influence upon us who follow, and help us to do the things which made him what he was, a Man.

In Memoriam.

I. S. C. numbers in its family many splendid young men, but finding a more lovable one, one whose splendid living stood for higher ideals than did Herbert Pickler's would indeed be the impossible task. He stood always for the right and in abhorrence of the wrong. He ever displayed a striking devotion for his parents, striving to merit their confidence and love. Maintaining a profound respect for his college and its traditions, he was ever proud to boast that he was one of its students, and joyfully looked forward to the time when he should become an alumnus.

The influence of his life so nobly lived will never die, and we who knew him best will have the manhood he attained as an ideal toward which we may strive.

Football, 1910.

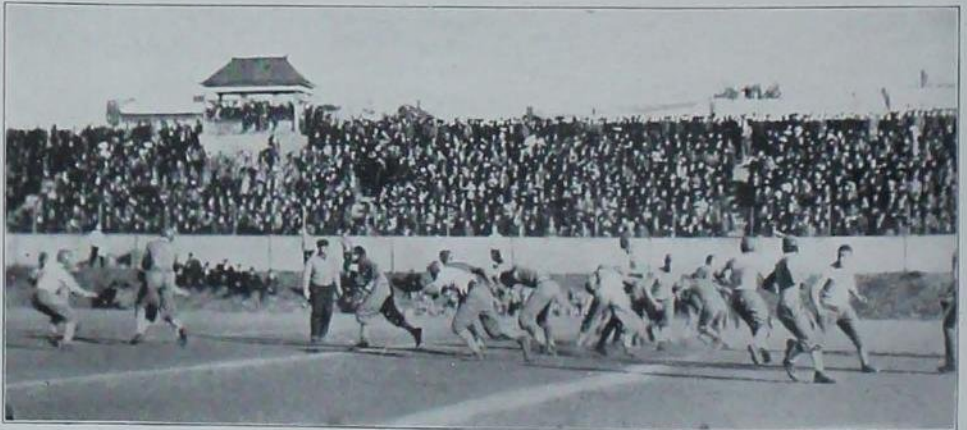

THE football season of 1910 opened with few of the veterans of the preceding season upon the field. Graduation had taken away some of our stars and others had failed to report at the call of Coach Williams. However, many new men who had shown ability on the scrubs and the class teams of 1909 were on hand with the determination to win, whatever the cost, a position on the team.

Ames was fortunate in having as assistant coach, Fred Law, the heady captain and tackle of the '08 Cyclones. His faithful work with the recruits, coupled with that of Hubbard, Coover, and Bickham did much to help "Clyde" train into shape a team from the raw material at hand, which tho' suffering much ill luck, showed great dash and vim at times, and which has left a foundation for a champion team next season.

Coe was the first victim, and two field goals by "Smithie's" ready boot and a touch down were the results of the game. McElyea astonished the Coe players by his speedy playing and the whole team showed themselves to be getting into the game in fine shape.

All work was now centered on the preparations for the Minnesota game, and altho there was little hope of victory, the team resolved to win and to keep the score down. The factor which must ever be reckoned with in football, "hard luck", here became prominent and it was a badly crippled and disorganized team that faced the Gophers, and they were unable to withstand the pounding of the whirlwind backs of the Minnesota team.

Des Moines College was next on the list, and Chalmer's men, altho they were the conquerers of Griffith's Blue and White team, found themselves no match for Williams' men. At first their play was somewhat of a puzzle to our boys but after the first quarter long runs by Hurst on returning punts and the consistent ground gaining of Hart, Ringheim and Vincent began to tell and the remainder of the game was easy. Hurst ran the team well and is to be commended upon his good generalship.

"The intellectual corner on gray matter." Tau Beta Pi.

At Missouri our boys showed what was really in them. It was a hard fought game from whistle to whistle. Reeves, a new man on the team, opened up great holes in the Tiger line and Chappel, Juhl and McDonald showed of what material they were really made. Captain Scott played a grand game at center, passing the ball in fine style, but was so injured that he was not the same player in any of the succeeding games of the season. Smith's boot was accountable for the score.

The following week the reaction came. The Team, still suffering from the terrible grueling of the Missouri game, and somewhat over-confident of an easy victory, were surprised by the fast, plucky playing of the Morning-side team and only after five points had been scored against them did they settle down and fight. It was too late to score and their efforts only prevented their opponents from scoring further points.

The game with Iowa was a battle of Giants and early in the contest it was evident that a victory was not likely to come by straight football and that a fumble, perhaps, meant everything. This is just what happened, for when the ball was passed to the punter behind the Ames line it was fumbled, scoring a safety for Iowa. This decided the game and, altho the Iowa team acknowledged that our men were the better ground gainers, we lost by a score that was satisfactory to neither team.

The Thanksgiving game at the Drake Stadium was fast and exciting. The open style of play was used largely and many kicks were exchanged. Chappel's running down punts was superb and at no time during his football career has "Allie's" football knowledge shown to any greater advantage. The whole team played a great game but was forced to be content with a single safety.

Altho the past season seemed to be one of disaster, many good men were brought out who will be eligible next year and with any sort of luck next fall Clyde ought to be able to build a team that will be the equal of any in the Missouri Valley.

"Another little drink won't do us any harm." The Miners.

The Football Team

CLIFFORD E. SCOTT.

Captain Scott has proven conclusively that a wild west training fits a man for being game when the outlook is dark. He has shown his sterling worth in numerous gridiron conflicts. "Fussie" has been in front of every attack launched his way and has invariably had his arms locked about the man with the ball. He was unbeatable in passing the ball back from center. His admirers feel much gratified that he was picked for the All Iowa center for the past season.

ROY McDONALD

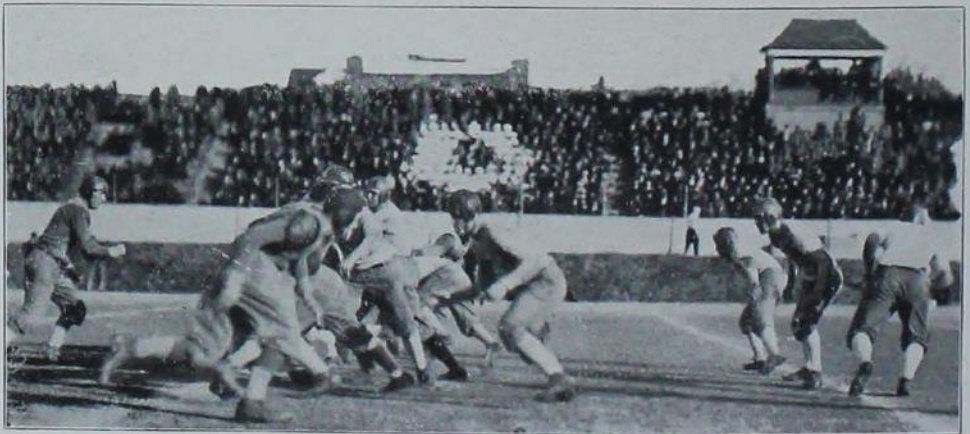

"Mac" has mastered his position at his end of the line. He has a habit of coming down fast on punts and his diving tackles have been the means of shutting off many a return before it was fairly started. In the same way he broke up the opposing interference and nailed the runner in his tracks. With two more years yet to play "Mac" will develop into a speedy and heady end.

JOHN REEVES

"Big John" is our colossal wonder. He came onto the field for the first time this season with about forty pounds of surplus avoirdupois, which took several hard knocks to eliminate. But the stuff was there and John soon rounded into a position at guard. His ability to wade thru on defense and his consistent work on offense will make him an ideal guard for our nex. eleven.

J. F. WALL

"Joe" is rather light for the position of tackle, but he made good when in action. We predict that he will go into the game next fall with all the driving power there is in him. Joe did not get into the game this year until the end of the season, but once in his position he pounded his opponents constantly.

E. C. HARTE

"Busty" Harte cannot be given too much praise for his work in football. That he stands high as a player in the estimation of his teammates is shown by the fact that they elected him captain of the team for the coming year. His playing during the past two years has been of such a quality that the honor seemed to come to him as a natural consequence. He was the life of the team, and, when the moment was crucial it always fell to "Busty" to do the heavy work. "All Iowa" half back was accorded him without question for the past two years.

EDDIE McCOY

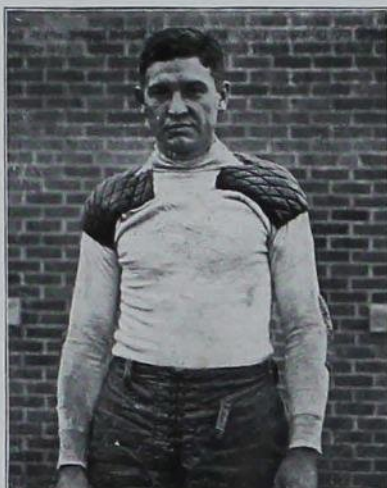

"Eddie" played half for Ames the past season with great success. The onlookers were always glad to see McCoy enter the game, for it meant real sport to see the enemy try to stop him when he got up a head of steam. His work has been highly praised by all foot ball men and his graduation will mean the loss of one of our best men.

H. L. McROBERTS

The spot light was turned on "Mac" during the Nebraska game at Lincoln. In this game "Mac" demonstrated his rare ability at holding down the end position. He was a steady player, reliable, always where he was wanted when he was wanted. Sturdy, thorough, concerted attack characterized McRoberts' work. It is with regret that we see him leave the team.

I. A. RUTLEDGE

From his advent here on the 1913 scrub team "Rut" has played the same strong game. He is an ideal smashing end. Almost five feet ten inches tall, weighing nearly 180 pounds, he charges fearlessly into the opposing interference. In new football an end who can smash "off tackle" plays at one moment and at the next protect his defensive half from a forward pass is a rare player. "Rut" has all these qualifications. Great hopes are placed in him for next year.

CHRIS JUHL

Chris entered football for Ames for the first time at Minneapolis. He was a big factor in cross bucking. The holes he opened in the line were big enough to roll a push ball thru. Chris. is a wonder at breaking thru and tearing down the field under punts. Like many another line man he plays his position with persevering consistency, but with all too scant praise.

W. A. SMITH

"Smithie" has led an athletic and studious life since he entered college. He is an example of what comes to one who is an indefatigable worker, to one who, in addition to his natural athletic ability, is willing to train hard and consistently. With stamina to bear up under the onslaught of an opposing offense "Smithie" was never found wanting. Against Missouri he proved his class by twice booting the ball for field goal, thus enabling Ames to win by one point.

A. R. CHAPPEL

"Chappie" received his early football training at West Des Moines High School. He and "Mac" are two of a kind. They fill the end positions in great style. During the past fall this uncomplaining brown demon played a great game. Certain it is that he was very successful in catching the elusive pig skin and getting away with it. On the defense he was invincible and more than once his diving tackles stopped what looked like a certain gain. Plucky and heady as he is "Chappie" will be a valuable asset to the team next fall.

R. L. HURST

In his one year of football endeavor "Buck" has so endeared himself to the hearts of Ames students that they are willing to predict almost anything for him next fall. His brilliant work in returning kicks and his wonderful dodging runs which often netted forty yards were the whirlwind features of his play. With another year ahead of him, "Buck" will do great things.

H. I. RINGHEIM

"Ring" is one of the star half backs of the state. In his two years of varsity ball he has proved to be a terror to the opposing defense. Running low and hard, his onslaught was like that of a human battering ram. He has been an untiring worker all fall. Successful with the risky forward pass and equally effective in defense, Ringheim should be one of the state's star half backs again next year.

R. T. VINCENT

"Vince," like many of the other men, played his first game for Ames last fall. From his advent on the team he has played a hard, consistent game. His accuracy in hurling the oval and his punting were the features of his play. Especially was this true in the Missouri game where his excellent booting drove the ball far into the opponents' territory.

"Wobbly, fat and short." Ray Stott.

CAPTAIN C. L. MOSHER

"Mose"

Captain Mosier has proved what a man can do by hard work and training. To the extreme dismay of many an opposing floor general, "Mose" has been in front of his adversary on every occasion blocking, passing, shooting for baskets, always in the game, and fighting all the time. Playing a position where stamina to bear up under the constant onslaught of an opposing offense is ever in demand, he made good, always wading thru in some inexplicable manner. His graduation leaves a big vacancy.

J. D. BROWN

"Brownie"

"Brownie" came to us from Sioux City in the fall of 1907 and throughout his entire course has shown himself to be a true example of the student athlete. A good scholar, he has in addition by his untiring and accurate work, made a record for himself in basket ball which has brought forth the praises of the best critics of the game. His graduation this year will deprive Ames of one of the best basket ball artists she has ever known.

HARRY W. BROWN

"Big Brownie"

"Big Brownie" another Sioux City giant blew in to Ames a year ago last Christmas. Notwithstanding the fact that this is his first year at college basket ball he has proved his ability to play the game. Brownie is a wonder at breaking up plays and dribbling the ball down the floor. His accuracy in passing the sphere was the feature of his play. With two more years to play "Brownie" ought to be in a class by himself.

Steam is water crazy with the heat.

J. C. KERRIGAN

"Kerrie"

"Kerrie" came to us from the Davenport High School. He is short, fast, and always has the pep. Splendid aggressiveness characterizes his play. He outdoes his adversary by simply getting the lead on him. He seems to take great pleasure in dodging his opponent. Next year whatever the rules may be "Kerrie" will be playing a regular forward.

R. K. WALKER

"Bobbie"

"Bobbie" received the earliest of his basket ball training at Des Moines High School. He is one of the three veterans left of the 1911 Varsity team. Always playing hard he is one of the best men on the team in guarding his opponent. One hundred and forty pounds made him probably the lightest guard in the west. Fearless and speedy he never fails in handling the ball. Next year if he is able to get into training he will make Ames one of the best guards in the Missouri Valley.

A. R. CHAPPEL

"Chappie"

"Chappie" came up to Ames in the fall of 1908. Besides being a good end in football "Chappie" has demonstrated his ability on the basket ball floor. Guarding fierce but fair he invariably plays his man to a standstill. The fury of his attack is only exceeded by the breadth of his grin which seems to be an indelible feature while in action.

"Let's talk, my friends." Jess King.

ALBERT WEISS

"Tiny"

"Tiny" the smallest basket ball man in the Missouri Valley floated in from Denison, Iowa. He has played for Ames many spectacular games. His success in eluding his larger and more clumsy opponent is ever a joy to see. For his size he is truly a phenomenal player. He has ever been an untiring worker and his graduation this year leaves another big vacancy in the squad.

EDW. TE VELTRUP

"Teddie"

"Teddie" is the big, tall captain-elect. He hails from Sioux City where he played on the notorious Sioux Giant team. Passing the ball and throwing baskets is second nature to him. At center it usually happens that all too little credit is given for the work done. Not so with "Teddy" for he has risen above his position and by his work has won recognition as a star performer.

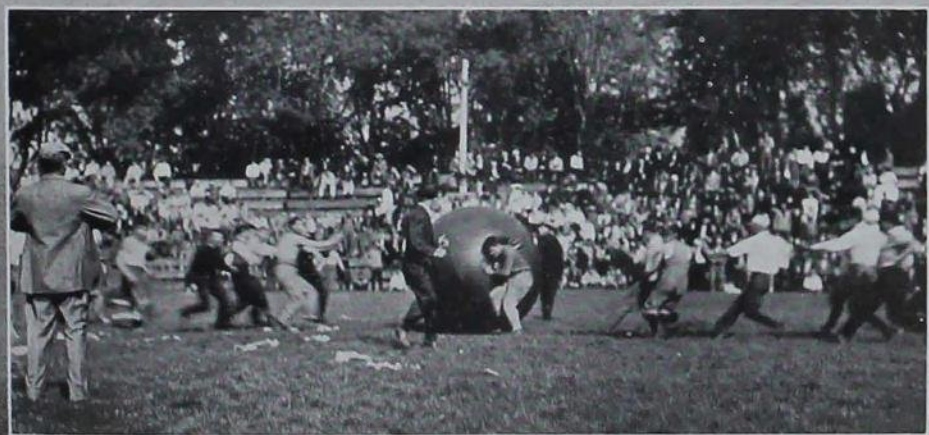

HANS PFUND

"Hans"

"Hans" is a new one at the game this season. He has proven his ability in this line of athletics. He was always ready to enter the game when ever the Coach gave the word and fought like a tiger until the end of the game. He has two more years to play and should be well fitted to fill "Teddy's" shoes in another year.

"Short, fat and wobbly." Lew Stott.

Track, 1910

The closing of the track season of 1910 marked the passing of one more mile stone on the journey to quarters in a new and well equipped gymnasium. The goal is in sight. The marathon is nearly finished. Another hundred yard sprint and our track men leave behind forever the old training shed which has served its purpose better than anything else that could have been built on so limited a purse.

Two more seasons will pass before the gymnasium is completed. This will remove the handicap which "Jack" has had to overcome each year and give our men an equal show with those of competing teams. Point winners, in the class in which we now find ourselves, cannot be developed and fitted easily in a short out-of-door season. Star men, especially, are not developed in that way.

"Jack" has always given us well balanced teams and I. S. C. has rarely been beaten in dual or triangular meets. The track squad of 1910 won over the best teams in Iowa and competent judges are of the opinion that we could have defeated any single team in the Missouri Valley Conference.

"Jack" and "Dutch" realized that they had a team composed of new men and that the points which "Wag," "Si," "Biddy," and "Guy" were accustomed to annex would be missing. "Dutch" did all that could be expected of a captain. The new men had their tryouts and gained that experience which will enable them to come back stronger in another year.

The first Home meet was held on April sixteenth. Competition was keen. The Sophomores won from the other classes with but few points to spare.

On April twenty-third East High came to Ames. The Freshmen were easy winners by 82 points to 31. The following Saturday West High was more successful. This contest was interesting from the start. Clutter and Reed fought it out in the dashes, Reed winning for West High. Redfern and Haggard ran a phenomenal race in the mile, the former winning in 4:39. The final result was 59 to 54 in favor of West High.

The second Home Meet occurred on May seventh. The Freshmen showed the effect of "Jack's" training and won a close contest. The points were evenly distributed. The "Outlaws" did not compete.

The Triangular meet with Drake and Grinnell was held at Ames on May 14. "Dutch" led the way in the half in 2:06 1-5. Smith threw the discus 124 5-12 feet. Knowles of Grinnell won the broad jump at 22 1-6 feet. We won easily.

The Missouri Valley Conference meet was contested at the Drake Stadium. Kansas, Nebraska and Missouri proved to be strong from the start. Haddock of Kansas and Wilson of Coe ran the dashes in a way that reminded one of the days of Huff and "Reddy" Hamilton. Wilson won the hundred in even time and Haddock the 220 in 22 2-5. Dyer finished third in the mile in 4:34 2-5. Kemler was second in the two mile in 9:56 2-5, the fastest race ever run west of the Mississippi River.

Van Meter, Kemler, Dyer, McElyea, Trullinger, and Young won their "A's" for the first time.

Cross Country 1910

Scott, Capt. '10

ALTHOUGH Cross Country running is new here, the proper interest which this line of sport deserves is lacking. More men should get out and try for the teams. It requires a great amount of hard, consistent training and the men on the team are to be congratulated on their splendid success last fall.

Training began early in the term, under the able direction of Ed Merriam, a former quarter-miler and foot ball star at the University of Chicago. By his efforts and the consistent training of the men on the team, we came out third in the big Intercollegiate run at Madison, Wisconsin, and we were only two points behind Minnesota. The schools finished as follows: Wisconsin 33, Minnesota 88, Ames 90.

Our men finished in this order, Scott, Dyer, Clapper, Haggard and Collins.

Our prospects for next fall look very bright as we lose only Haggard and Clapper, and in their places we have strong men in Dixon who substituted last fall and Farquhar who will be eligible for next fall.

"He's a pretty feller." Bob Shields.

Baseball Team, 1910

Top Row. Mead. Matter (Captain). Dorsey. Williams (Coach). Beiter. Hubbard (Asst. Coach). Fedderson. Kerrigan. Mollsberry.
 Bottom Row. Thomas. Sanborn. Malloy. Johnson. Kingman. Van Slyke. Herbert. Long. Maytag.

Captain Otto E. Matter

Ames has had, perhaps, more brilliant players than Matter but no college has ever had upon its team a player who was a harder worker or one who could impart more encouragement to his teammates. As a captain he was an inspiration and his fine hitting and heady base running were instrumental in winning many of the victories of the past few seasons.

Baseball Review. 1910

Training began early and with the fine weather during March the team rounded into shape early. Johnston, Maytag, Meade, Molsberry and Long were the strongest candidates for the box. Beiter's ineligibility left first base vacant but Malloy soon became accustomed to the position and played throughout the season in fine form. Kerrigan, Van Slyke and Herbert made up the rest of the infield while Thomas, Kingman and Dorsey showed the best form of any of the many candidates for the outfield. Matter and Dorsey alternated between right field and the catcher's position.

The first team met was Morningside on April 19. It lasted ten innings of which Meade pitched seven and Johnston the remainder. Kerrigan's three base hit brought in the winning run making the score 5-4.

Next followed two games with the Tigers at Columbia. The weather was anything but good and the pitchers were not given the support they deserved. Johnston pitched the first game, allowing only one hit, but errors and bases on balls lost the game for us by the score of 4-2. In the second game Meade pitched gilt edge ball but seven errors lost the game for Ames 4-0.

The game with Simpson April 26 was full of errors on the part of Simpson's players. Maytag pitched. The features were home runs by Malloy and Hamilton and star fielding by Kerrigan and Van Slyke. The final score was 16-2.

The first Nebraska game April 30 went ten innings and gave a 3 to 2 score. Johnston pitched and up until the sixth inning not a Cornhusker reached first base. Good hitting by Kerrigan and Matter were features. Miller appeared for Ames for the first time but did not get a chance in the field. The second game was played in the mud. Molsberry and Long pitched. By agreement the game was called at four o'clock with the score 4 to 4.

The game at Iowa City, May 6, was won in the twelfth inning for Iowa by Benson's long drive to right field. It was a pitcher's battle from the start with West having a little the advantage of Johnston.

Playing in the rain Cornell won from Ames, the game going seven innings and resulting in a score of 8 to 3. Meade and Maytag pitched. Coe was defeated May 12 in a ragged game by a score of 14 to 1. Maytag pitched a good game. Coe made nine errors and the Ames team batted around in the sixth inning.

On May 13, before the largest crowd of the season, Ames took revenge upon Cornell by a score of 6 to 3. Both teams played brilliant ball. Home runs by Johnston, Kerrigan and Coppess were features.

Ames lost a thirteen inning game to U. I. U. May 17 by a score of 3—2. Inability to hit Garrison was the cause. He struck out nineteen men and allowed only five hits. Maytag pitched good ball, giving only four hits during the twelve innings.

The two games with Nebraska at Lincoln May 20 and 21 were an even break. Ames won the first 12 to 4 by heavy hitting. Johnston got two home runs and a three base hit in three times at bat. The second was lost by not giving Maytag the proper support. The score was 4 to 2.

In the final game Ames defeated Iowa by a score of 4 to 3. It was a battle from start to finish with Johnston pitching good ball all the time. It was his last game for I. S. C. and the victory was well deserved.

Personal Sketch

ELDOM has it fallen to the lot of an I. S. C. student to win the State Oratorical Contest. Only once before had such been the case. The class of 1912 is highly honored by having as one of its number one who has shown himself to possess the requirements of a winner, and who bids fair to place the Cardinal and Gold at the top in the coming Interstate Contest.

James Gordon Emerson, the winner of the State Oratorical Contest, is a Burchinal, Iowa, product. He is a splendid person who is neat, but not stylish. He is thoughtful and studious, but is not a grind. When he is not thinking about how he looks he walks with a long, slightly hesitating, stride. We know him as "Mike." He is I. S. C.'s favorite.

When "Mike" was thirteen he had the distinction of being the youngest telegraph operator in the United States. At his home town "Mike" was always a booster. He was manager of baseball teams, and organizer of literary societies. On evenings when members of the programs were absent, he and C. V. Gregory, his pal, stepped in and filled the vacancies.

"Mike" received his early education in a country school. By a lot of hard study, and extra work under a pretty school ma'am, he was able to enter Ames as an Academic student. So "Mike's" training has come largely from I. S. C.

Here at Ames "Mike" has always been into everything. He has won more Honors than any other man for several years, and is noted for holding positions of trust for the faculty. His numerals were won by jumping hurdles on the cinder track. Among other important things has been his Y. M. C. A. work. In this he was President in his Sophomore year. This year he is the hustling Business Manager of the Bomb.

The one thing that has perhaps brought greatest honor to "Mike" is his literary work. He made the Triangular Debating Team when he was an Academic student. After this he won the Declamatory, then the Peace Oratorical and finally the Home Oratorical Contest. This gave him a chance to compete in the state Contest, where he won by a large margin as the table on the other page shows. Good authorities freely predict that by the time this sketch is read "Mike" will have won honors in the interstate Contest.

We expect great things of "Mike" in the future. He is a man who is a broad thinker, and a man of ability. This ability is coupled with a personality that cannot be kept from landing near the top.

"A pretty, mincing gait he hath." "Senator" Hamilton.

Men's Glee Club

In the school year of 1910-1911, the Men's Glee Club has seen one of its most successful seasons. Although no extended tour was made, the club appeared in several concerts in addition to the two regular appearances at the college. The first local concert, on November 4, was marked by the rendition of Dudley Buck's noted composition, "Paul Revere's Ride." On January 27 the club went to Des Moines, where, in the contest against the S. U. I. and Grinnell clubs, it took second honors. At Melbourne, Iowa, a concert was given on April 8, and at Des Moines on April 19, "Paul Revere's Ride" was rendered before a meeting of the Sons of the Revolution.

Girls' Glee Clubs

During the past season I. S. C. has had two Girls' Glee Clubs. The first one was formed to give "The Egyptian Princess," an operetta for women's voices, which was produced in Agricultural Assembly on March 25th with great success. A second club was organized later to take part in the Girls' Glee Club Contest in Des Moines on April 28th. Some changes were made in the membership of the club, when the second club was formed. Mrs. Clara D. Thompson is the Directress of the club.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY, JUNE, 1910.

THE GIFT OF OUR ALUMNI

The graduates of the Iowa State College are scattered throughout the world, and there are Alumni associations in a number of foreign countries as well as in many of the American cities. Including the class of Nineteen Hundred and Ten there have been two thousand four hundred and thirty graduates. These people are taking a leading part in all movements for the uplifting of mankind. They are found practically in all walks of life, from the patient housewife to the energetic Commercial or Professional man or President of some of the great institutions of learning, each doing his or her part faithfully and well. It has been impossible to have a representative from each class, so representatives have been secured from one class in each decade, beginning with the first class and continuing through the years of the life of the college until the present time.

"Companions that do not converse and waste time together." Dayton and Molly.

Edgar W. Stanton, '72.

Edgar W. Stanton, at present acting President of Iowa State College, was the first person to receive a diploma from this College, having been graduated in the fall of 1872. On the day of his graduation, he was elected instructor of Mathematics and in 1877 he was elected Professor of Mathematics and Political Economy.

In 1874 President Stanton was elected Secretary of the Board of Trustees and acted in this capacity until June 1909 when a new board was elected.

In 1902 he was chosen acting President of the College following the death of President Beardshear. In 1903 he was made Dean of the Junior College and has been acting in the capacity of Secretary of the College for several years.

Dr. O. H. Cessna, '72.

Dr. O. H. Cessna, after his graduation, spent several years in special work at Northwestern University. Following this he was pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church having appointments in Elgin, Dixon and Chicago.

In 1900 he received his appointment as Professor of history and Psychology at Iowa State College, which position he still holds. Along with his work at I. S. C. Dr. Cessna has done summer work in Chicago, Iowa City, and Madison.

Prof. Beyer, "Well now, let's be specific."

Mrs. Mattie L. Macomber

Mrs. Mattie Locke Macomber came to Iowa State College from Vinton, Iowa, and was graduated with the memorable class of '72. Upon graduation she entered Ann Arbor for a short time and also studied music and German abroad.

In 1877 she returned to America and was married to Mr. Macomber, who at that time was Professor of Physics at I. S. C. She made her home here until 1883 when she moved to Des Moines where her present home is. Mrs. Macomber did considerable lecture work and teaching of French and German during the first few years of her residence in Des Moines. During the late years she has been in excursion work.

Mrs. Macomber says, "I cannot write about the dear class of '72. Some abler pen than mine must undertake the living task, for so many have been called away by death, it would almost be a chapter in memoriam."

For stony limits cannot hold Love out." Chas. Wright.

Charles N. Dietz, '72

Charles N. Dietz enjoys the distinction of being the first man to enter Iowa State College. His father being very anxious that he come before it was too late to enter, came with him two or three days previous to the opening of the college.

After graduation Mr. Dietz was in the employ of Hoyt & Co., wholesale grocers in Chicago, as book-keeper and later in the employ, as book-keeper, of Walker & Co., wholesale dealers, also in Chicago. He was soon advanced in the employ of Walker & Co. and was given charge of one of their branch houses in Omaha, of which he became sole owner a few years later.

Now Mr. Dietz became extensively engaged in the sale of lumber and coal and established branch houses in many places in Nebraska. It was through his work in the sale of coal that he became interested in the Sheridan coal mines.

Only a few years ago Mr. Dietz sold his interest in the coal mines and retired from active business. He has been very successful in business, has made many fortunate investments, and is an extensive real estate owner.

Cornelia V. "They might just as well call him "Baby" as "Davy."

Geo. W. Catt, '82

Mr. Catt graduated from the Civil Engineering course and immediately took up the work of dredge and bridge engineering. He was elected president of The Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific Co., which was noted for its bridge and dredge work. Mr. Catt was one of the greatest dredge engineers the world has ever had. At his death he left his magnificent eight hundred volume engineering library to the Engineering College. This library contains some rare and costly volumes and is the pride of the engineering faculty and students.

Mr. Catt was a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Prof. Schmidt, "Our memories are those things by means of which we forget."

J. B. Marsh, '82

Mr. Marsh graduated from the Civil Engineering department in 1882. After graduation Mr. Marsh did designing and superintending for large bridge companies in Chicago and Omaha. In 1896 he commenced business for himself in Des Moines as consulting and contracting engineer. He built many large bridges and in 1896 the Marsh Bridge Co. of Des Moines was formed and Mr. Marsh was made president and chief engineer.

The company was re-organized in 1904 under the name of the Marsh Engineering Co. Among the bridges that the company has built in the state are the concrete bridge across the Des Moines river at Des Moines and the 6th Street concrete bridge at Cedar Rapids.

Mr. Marsh is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

L. B. Spinney, '92

Mr. Spinney graduated from the Mechanical Engineering Course in 1892 and a year later received the degree of Bachelor of Electrical Engineering. He was made instructor in Physics and Mechanical Engineering for the year of 1893-94. In 1894-95 he studied at the University of Berlin. In '95 and '96 he spent one-half year at Polytechnikum, Zurich, where he studied Mathematics and Electrotechnicks. In 1896 he was made Assistant Professor of Physics at Iowa State College and in '97 he was made the head of the Department of Physics and Electrical Engineering. At his advice in 1909 the Physics and Electrical Engineering Departments were separated and he was made head of the Department of Physics and Illuminating Engineering.

Mr. Spinney is a member of the American Society for the Advancement of Science, The American Physical Society, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, Illuminating Engineering Society, Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, and the Iowa Engineering Society.

"One hundred and seventy pounds of wind and egotism." W. Martinson.

R. B. Benjamin, '92

Mr. Benjamin graduated from college in 1892, receiving a degree of Bachelor of Science. Being of an inventive turn of mind he soon secured a patent on what is known as The Benjamin Cluster. He was unable to interest manufacturers in the invention so he with two of his college friends set up a factory of their own and commenced to manufacture Wireless Clusters and Lighting Specialties under the name of The Benjamin Electric Mfg. Co.

Their business has grown until their factory has been enlarged from the small one room shop to a gigantic affair and the establishment of branch offices in England and Canada.

"I do know him by his gait." John Ames.

Dr. Charles Morgan, '02

Dr. Charles Morgan was graduated from the Veterinary department of Iowa State College in 1902. Following his graduation he was given charge of inspection interests in Kansas City.

During his work as deputy for the State Veterinarian of South Dakota he received an appointment to the Phillipines where he was given charge of the Government farm at Baguio.

In the Spring of 1910 Dr. Morgan returned to the United States and was given charge of the Animal Industry in the States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia.

Prof. Stevenson, "I know it's so because I've tried it on my Illinois farm."

Julius Herman Frandson

B. S. A. '02 M. S. A. '04.

Mr. Frandson entered I. S. C. in 1898 and graduated from the Agricultural Course in 1902. He was then Assistant Chemist at the Iowa Experiment Station until 1904 when he received his Masters Degree.

He then held the position as Dairy Chemist for the Hazelwood Co. of Portland, Ore. from 1904 to 1907 at which time he was elected Professor of Dairying at the University of Idaho where he is still located.

"Dippy" Dornbach, "I'll have the best looking and swellest girl in school at the Trot, or I won't go."

M. P. Cleghorn, '02

Mr. Cleghorn graduated from the Electrical Engineering College in 1902 and received the degree of Bachelor of Mechanical Engineering in 1907. Mr. Cleghorn has been a member of the Engineering Faculty since graduation and at the present time holds the position of Associate Professor of Mechanical Engineering.

Dalbey's Roost, West end of lobby, Central Hall.

J. G. Hummel, '02

Mr. Hummel finished his college work at I. S. C. as a student in 1902. At that time he received the degree of Bachelor of Mechanical Engineering. Mr. Hummel was away from the college a little over a year after graduation but the remainder of his time has been spent as a member of the Engineering Faculty. He is now Assistant Professor of Mechanical Engineering.

"Some men believe that the mouth is mightier than the sword."

Judging Teams

It is the ambition of every Agricultural student at I. S. C. to represent the college on some one of our judging teams. The popularity of these contests has been growing and the field widening in recent years until they have become an important part of the school's activities. During the past year four teams from I. S. C. have taken part in intercollegiate judging contests. These teams have competed with a total of twenty-three teams from other colleges and have won two firsts, a third, and a fifth place. The first team to enter the field was the Royal Stock Judging team which competed at the Kansas City show with teams from three other colleges. It was composed of E. M. Cassady, F. R. Long, P. S. Shearer, C. F. Gobble and E. L. Quaife, with Rex Beresford as alternate. This team won first place, defeating Missouri, their closest competitor, by a margin of over sixty points, and brought to I. S. C. a magnificent silver trophy. Harry Mayhew, F. W. Shields and R. S. Middleton made up the Dairy team which went into the contest with little preparation and took fifth place. The Apple Judging team which competed in the contest at the National Fruit Show at Council Bluffs took first honors. This team was the second of its kind from this college. Its members were F. F. Silver, F. E. McCall, B. B. Wilson, F. L. Overley and S. K. White. Most interest centered around the International Judging Contest at Chicago. Four members of the Royal team together with J. L. Tompkins represented Ames in this contest. In it Missouri presented a team of experienced men who were able to win the contest, while Ames had to be content with three points less than Nebraska, the second team. Everything considered, this is a good record and one of which I. S. C. may well be proud.

To the Campanile

Oh, Campanile! We love thy peal,
We love thy stately tower,
Thy message brings to us sweet peace,
Each time though strik'st the hour.
Thou knowest all our changing moods,
Our joys, and all our sorrows,
Thou lightenest all our gloomy days,
With thoughts of bright tomorrows.

When vict'ries raise our spirits high,
With jubilation thou art seized;
But if reverses be our lot,
With songs of solace thou art pleased.
Our daily strife, our nightly toil,
Thou watchest o'er with loving care;
To guide our spirits, lead us on,
With songs of joy thou fill'st the air.

And now, at eventide, thy bells'
Clear tones, so sweetly blended,
Bring home the thought that all too soon,
Our college days are ended.
And out mid Life's uncertain way,
We pray that thou will'st grant us yet,
Oh, Campanile! thy bells' sweet peal,
"Lest we forget, lest we forget."

The Agricultural Club is composed of all the agricultural students of the College. Its purposes are to foster unity and good fellowship among the Ags and to give opportunity for meeting together and discussing questions of interest to them.

Meetings are held every Thursday evening during the college year. Joint programs in connection with the Home Economics Club are sometimes given. Medals are granted by the Club to the members of the various judging teams that have represented the College in Intercollegiate contests.

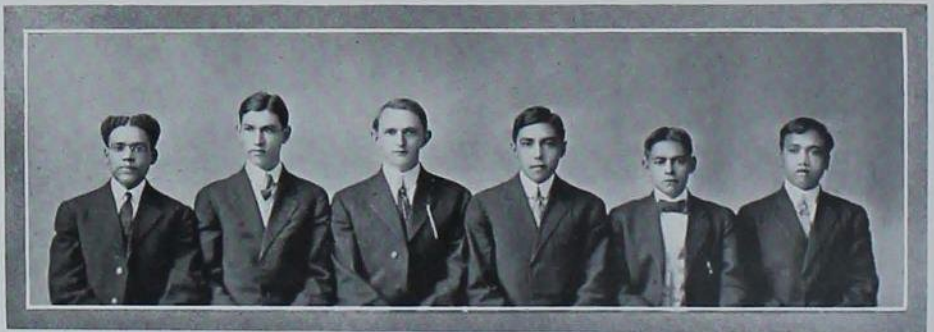

A reception to the Agricultural students and faculty and their friends is given during the Fall Semester, and the annual Ag Picnic, held in the Spring, is considered the event of the year by every loyal Ag and Co-Ag.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

Giving a Gift

THE door opened with a rush and my college brother entered with great gusto. Planting a big package in the middle of the floor, he sat down in a chair and leaned over to break the string.

"See the present I got my girl," he said in that shamed voice he always used when he had bought something for which he feared we would reprove him.

"Rezilly?" I exclaimed.

"You don't mean that surely, Fred," said Zoe.

"After she lost that diamond I wouldn't give her another thing," I said sternly.

"Isn't it a beauty?" asked Fred triumphantly, as he displayed a dark red leather box and opened it.

"Now I call that some manicure set. Isn't the wood part dandy? And see the name plate on each piece. Solid silver."

Why, Fred! what made you squander your money? But isn't it a beauty!"

"I didn't pay a cent more than it is worth. Isn't it swell, Sis?"

"Yes, it's fine, but you shouldn't have bought it, and Helen certainly doesn't deserve it. Better give it to me or Zoe. Your sisters would take care of it, but Helen wouldn't care much for it."

"Now, Louise, don't be a knocker. Can't I have something to eat? I've got to hurry down town."

As he ate his lunch I again urged, "Fred, give that to Zoe. She has nothing of the kind and really needs it."

"Well, I'll think about it," and he hurriedly finished his lunch.

"Say, guess I will give it to Zoe. Where's some paper to write a note? Yes," as he sat down at the writing desk, "put it away before she gets home. In my trunk? All right."

I went up stairs with the box, glad at heart that I had argued him out of his plan.

When I came down he handed me a sheet of note paper, saying, "Read it"; and he went out the door.

And what I read was this:—

"Dear Sis Louise:—

Please accept this little token from your wayward brother. I intended it for you from the first. Verily, verily I say unto you, don't howl till you get stung.

FRED."

Prof. Summers, "This lagging between classes is a rural habit."

A Memory

Resting there upon the stile
Of the dear old College Park,
Heard we clear the Margaret Chimes
Adding song to happy times,
Warning of the coming dark.

Wandered we along the road,
Past the plots of corn and grain,
Breathing deep the joys of Fall,
Drawing nearer to the Hall,
Talking—just we twain.

But in spite of present joys,
Memories bitter pressed me sore.
Earnestly he then began
Quoting gently, as a man
Loving poets' lore:

"See the beauty in the sky,
Hear the music in the air,
See the birds upon the wing,
Find the good in everything;
All the world is fair.

"What's the use in looking down?
Will it help things, being sad?
There's a turn in every lane;
Say that things are on the gain;
All the world is glad.

"Smiles are balm for wounded hearts,
Kindness touches any mood;
Someone needs your help today;
Do your share without delay;
All the world is good.

"Worry never helped things yet;
Do not bend 'neath trouble's rod;
Joyfully your way pursue;
What is yours will come to you.
All the world is God."

Ah, my lad, thou 'rt far away;
College years have long been o'er;
But those simple words of thine,
And that trust and faith sublime,
I treasure evermore.

"Tall, straight, slender, and willowy." Florence Walls.

Mr. Dooley on Hazin' and Class Scrappin'

AND why are ye not rejoicin' the day, Hinessey?" said Mr. Dooley to his friend, who approached the Post Office steps where Dooley was sitting in the sun. "Here ye come bowed wid the weight of centuries or th' age of Uncle Benny, as the poet says, and ye have ivery rason fer dhroppin' half yer years. Have ye not heard, Hinessey, the gr-great news which has been said afore by greater men is fraught wid sich vital significance to the Shtate?"

Dooley sucked for a minute at his stubby clay pipe, the bowl turned rakishly sidewise the while. Then, after arduous search, he found a match in his watch pocket: but the search contnued. "Hinessey," continued Dooley, "Oi have me poipe and Oi have a match, but unless you have tobaccy, Oi will not shmoke."

"Oi wud know th' news, said Hinessey, as he passed over a half wilted sack of "Duke's," "Otherwise ye wud not shmoke."

"Tis th' way of th' wurld, Hinessey, Oi had somethin' ye wanted though ye knew not what it was, and yit ye wud tr-rade good tobaccy fer it. Yes, Hinessey, ye should be rejoicin' th' marnin' fer hazin' and class scrapin', and rivalry and inimity and human nature have forever ceased at Ioway State College. Ye shud rejoice, Hinessey, fer now the whole shtate of Ioway will recognize that this is the only model institutshun, and the Legislature will appropriate an ixtry $10,000 of poll taxes fer advertisin' purposes for Dean Curtiss. They may even consider for a minnit th' gr-great need of the byes fer a James. And do ye ask phat is that, Hinessey? Oi was only spakin' respectfully av th' future. The byes call it their "Jim." Anyhow, the Legislature will make some more appropriations fer th' Extenshun Department because th' byes have all signed th' Pledge.

"Have ye not heard at all av th' Pledge, Hinessey?" inquired Dooley, as a look of inquiry spread over Hinessey's face. "Ye see, 'twas loike this, Hinessey. Things had been going from bad to wurrr at this great institushun of higher larnin' and Engineerin'. Phat wid class scrapin' and smokin' on the campus, and hazin', and persecutin the Profs., and chummin', th' faculty had no peace. Foinally things reached a climax, as me frind Dugan said whin he had tried ivry other brand of chewin' on th' market, when th' students objected to th' faculty ringin' th' vict'ry bell, and stretched Prof. Jones and lost Prof. Murphy's hat in the scrimmage immediately after th' Prep-Junior football game. Fer phat roight had th byes to object to anything the Professor av Mathematics moight do, or to lay vi'lent hands on the hat av th' sacred riprinsintative av th' Vet. Department?"

"So th' actin' President, and th' Dean av th' Junior College and th' Secretary av th' institushun held a secret conference, and decided that hazin' must cease. And a couple av days later siveral av the byes was sus-pendered, causin' great sorrow among th' Engineers; fer the sins av the fathers shall be visited on the children, as th' Gud Book says. It was noticed, howiver, that th' byes in suspense did not shtray beyant th' reach av telephont connections wid th' Prisident's office. Aftther anather conference between th' Prisident, the Dean av th' Junior College, and th' Sreetary it was officially announced that if a pledge confessin' all th' sins av th' past and renouncin' foriver all th' sacred rights and priviliges so dear to th' hearts av us all, sich as hazin', and foightin', and St. Patrick's Day wud be signed by all th' shtudent body, thin th' byes suspenders wud be give back to thim, and they wud be restored to th' right av bein' flunked fer missin' classes durin' their vacashun.

This rumor was viewed at firrst wid suspishun. But th' Petition bein' presinted by th' Association of the Cardinal Guilt, and th' Professors av th' English and Arithmetic Departments, and by calls to the Prisident's office, the list av signers growed. 'Tis true that one lad on th' South Side had to be stretched noine toimes before he wud sign and that th' Cardinal Guilt carried paddles and wint in bunches whin they were huntin' signers. And 'tis also said that some lads were called to th' carput three times afore they signed, and fears av a new petition was all that saved some av thim from th' cannin' fact'ry."

"But now, Hinessey, 'tis a unanimous petition, and ye shud rejoice, fer th' rich men's son's that were suspended can return and take up their regular courses av Campus Lab., and th' rist av th' lads can get back to wurk."

"Fer did they not have a gr-reat convocation whin the byes were reinstated, amid peanners av joy, as th' poet says, from Prisident Shtanton and Mrs. Thompson? And didn't th' shtudents respond as joyously as tho it was th' funeral av th' fir-rst baby?"

"'Tis bearin fruit already, Hinessey, fer Oi hear this marnin wan lad has been warned fer stretchin' his legs in chapel, and another lad called to th' carput fer stretchin' th' truth."

"But they made wan big mishtake, Hinessey. They shud have made th' gur-ruls sign th' petition."

Prof. Major wanted to visit the cooking lab., but as he didn't succeed in getting a chaperon from among the Engineers, he didn't go.

When told that Alice blue and Helen pink were fashionable colors, a red headed girl replied—"Yes, and some folks sure look like Hell-en pink."

Dr. Cessna, expecting the answer, "A retinal image," asked the following question:

"If you look at the sun and then shut your eyes, what will you see?"

Student—"Stars!"

"Who steals my purse steals trash, but he who swipes my notebook takes my life. Bomb Board.

SUMMER CAMP SCENES

Here and There

Prof. MacMurray—"I want a hair cut."

The barber—"Might as well get the whole dozen cut,—same price."

What is the difference between Prof. Brindley and the railroads of the U. S.?

The railroads are 4-5 main track and 1-5 side track, and Brindley is 1-5 main track and 4-5 side track.

Prof. M. (trying to think of name of patent medicine containing acetic acid)—"What is the name of that new cough medicine?"

Bright student (excitedly)—"Peruna."

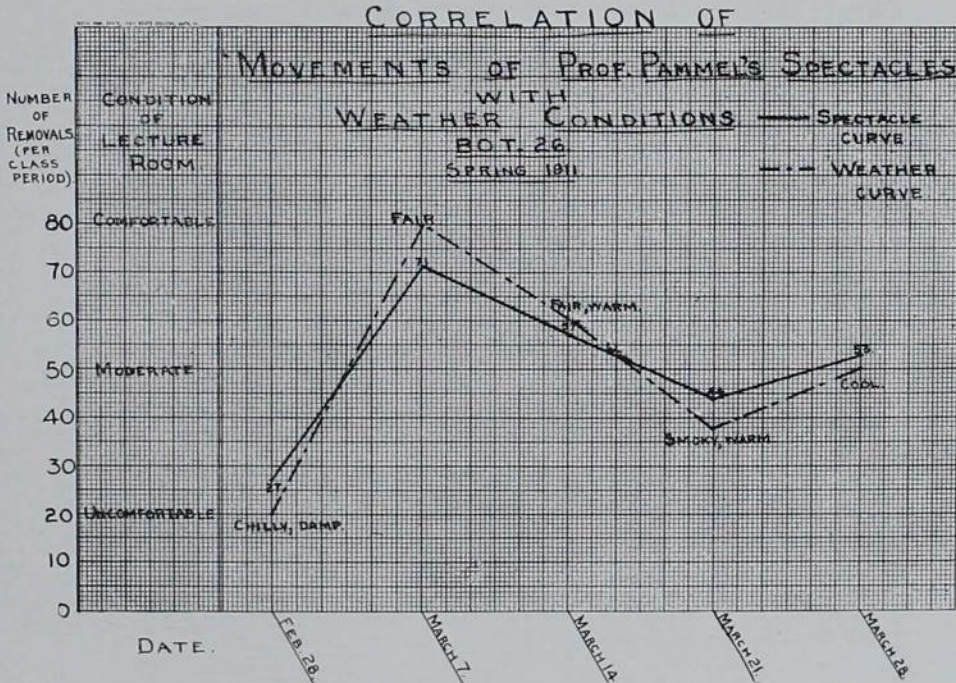

Prof. Hoffman (watching Seniors test small bricks in the large machine) "I see, this machine isn't as satisfactory as the small one, the unit is different."

Aunt Lola—"I just know those are Mining Engineers."

Miss Stevens—"Yes, and they are all Sophomores, too."

Question in Chemistry—"What is hard water and how do you soften it?"

Sern Madsen—"Hard water is ice, and it is softened by melting."

"Some of us fit in; others butt in."

The Faculty Primer

- A is for Anderson, straw boss in Phys.,
Ask him a question; he'll make your head whizz.
- B is for Bennett, and chemical knowledge.
His rep. for stale jokes is the best in the College.
- C is for Cooper, the Dairy man small,
The peppiest Prof. in the whole Dairy Hall.
- D is for Davidson, Ag. Engineer,
Nowhere in the land can you find this man's peer.
- E is for English, our bugbear and sorrow,
The Preps. want to see the whole bunch hang tomorrow.
- F is for Fleming, instructor in Math.,
As bad as Aunt Julia when stirred up in wrath.
- G is for Gordon, from Dixie he hails,
In milk he finds germs, bacilli and snails.
- H is for Hamilton, "Happy" and gay,
"In regard to the other thing" he always "might say."
- I is for Ignorance, that's why come to college
And feed from the Faculty's broad-minded knowledge.
- J is for Julia, she's there with the goods,
You'd best get your Math. or else take to the woods.
- K is for Kunerth, his pet song (we croon it)
"How can you learn Phys. when you don't know der unit?"
- L is for Lambert, he's now the main squeeze,
To him even Prexy gets down on his knees.
- M is for McKay, by co-eds adored,
Bluffs will not phase her; you know or you're floored.
- N is for Noble, a man of refinement.
If we had our way he'd be kept in confinement.
- O is for Okey, instructor departed,
In far distant fields his new work now is started.
- P is for Pew, A. H. Prof. non-committal, Yet "the Ayrshire's a good cow," which says quite a little.

"A pocket edition of a late encyclopedia." Mary Vaughn.

- Q is a question; now who wrote this stuff?
The poetry's poor and it's sure long enough.
- R is for Roberts, who fills many parts,
For her we all have a soft spot in our hearts.
- S is for Summers, "This one point we'll get,
The bells are just ringing; we've three minutes yet."
- T is for Thompson who runs Music Hall,
He teaches the Orchestra, Glee Clubs, and all.
- U is for Unit, the smallest of numbers,
It causes much unrest in the Physics Profs' slumbers.
- V is for Varela, in our ears he keeps ringing,
"You'll have to cut out all this visting and seenging."
- W is for Wentworth, the steers he can place,
Also hogs, sheep, and trotters, and the rest of that race.
- X is for X-am, instructors' delight,
To keep studes a-plugging far into the night.
- Y Notice teachers! means each one of you,
To make us all better, see what each can do.
- Z is for Zimmerman, teacher of Dutch,
The Language Department now misses her much.

QUESTION

(Found in a Sophomore girl's mind at 11 a. m.)

If the pseudo-branch of the afferent hexamethylenetetraamine coefficient of the perpendicular potential of a self-induction motor is a component of the magnitude of the earth's axis and a recapitulation of the ontogemy of the ischiopodite cuvierian sinus belonging to the conus arteriosus and sinus venosus, what will be the proboscus of a hyoidean pituitary body distributed among the infudibulum of an unsaturated hydro-carbon and found between the caudal empirical resistance of an electroscope formula and the katabolism of the hydrostatic electro magnetic motive force of an amphioxus cambarus?

Prof. Buchanan, in speaking about the bronchioles from bronchial tubes leading into the lungs, said—"Miss Tong, what do the bronchial tubes end in?"

Edna—"In the skin, I guess."

Prof. B.—"What is rigor mortis?"

Student—"I don't know."

Prof.—"Haven't you had that in studying about meats?"

Student—"No, we haven't; there hasn't anything died yet!"

A Pipe Dream

If I were the wonderful genie,
That Aladdin could call with his lamp,
I'd take a trip all by my lonesome,
And desert the conceited young scamp.
I'd come to this old college campus,
On the wings of the fleetest of birds,
And I surely would make some big changes
The likes of which never were heard.

I think I'd start in at the Chem. Lab.,
Hit office, Prep. Alley, and all:
I'd take that worn joke book of Benny's,
And have a bonfire in the hall.
Find the key to Aunt Lola's "unknown" book,
And efface that worn chicken-scratch scroll;
And then I'd proceed to the slaughter,
And clean up the faculty roll.

Then, I think, I'd go over to Central,
And stroll around there for a bit,
Two doors, Economics and History,
Would be the first places I'd hit.
For each one I'd make a big label,
Do them up in big frills and nice curls,
So they'd loudly proclaim to the public,
"Nothing taught here, except to the girls."

I'd get Andy, and Hoffman, and Plagge,
I'd make them all put out their tongues,
And this the prescription I'd give them,
"Go out at sunrise and be hung."
And then I'd go thru all the buildings,
And put up big cards in plain sight,
That would make all the boys very happy,
"Smoke here if you choose, it's all right."

Then I'd put all the Ames-College cars in a pile
And all the Directors on top.
I'd pour on some "kero" and touch a big match
And watch the old fossils get hot.
And then I would leave this old campus,
First putting these words on a sign:
"No cuts are allowed from the 'Fuss Lab.'
That begins forty minutes past nine."

"A big noise that should be abolished." Ever changing curriculum of

SUMMER PLEASURES

Ten Commandments

I. Thou shalt not haze.

II. Thou shalt not flag thy classes on the days before Thanksgiving or Christmas, nor on the days thereafter; neither shalt thou flag thy Math. classes at any time, for thereon hangs the penalty of a five point reduction in thy term grade.

III. Thou shalt not slander the Phys. Department; neither shalt thou revile Benny on the age of his jokes.

IV. Thou shalt not hold "pep" meetings during chapel hour.

V. Thou shalt not sing thy ribald songs in the presence of Prexy, thy Autocrat.

VI. Thou shalt not smoke.

VII. Thou shalt not invest in a second hand Prep. suit, but shall dig down in thy jeans for the price of a new one; for the General is hard pressed for money.

VIII. Thou shalt not go mounted to thy examinations, but shalt hitch thy steeds outside the door.

IX. Honor Aunt Julia, and all thy instructors in Math. and English, that thy days in the Junior College may not be lengthened.

X. Remember St. Patrick's Day, to keep it holy. Nine months shalt thou labor and bow thy head in submission to the faculty; but St. Patrick's Day is the day of rest, and in it shalt thou do no work; thou, nor thy roommate, nor thy crib, nor thy pony. For St. Patrick's Day is the day to flag all thy classes and thou shalt observe it in a manner befitting the occasion.

Lila Huebsch, "When I was at a Sanatorium."

De Prestige of De Senior

HIS is to recount an episode that occurred in our classic Central Hall. We have many nooks and corners round about this campus of ours that make their perennial appeal to youths and maidens. None seemingly are more popular, especially in the chill months of the year, than are the nooks and corners found on the fourth floor of Central. Why this is so is not easy to say—perhaps because of the impression of isolation, of solitude, even when the hurrying feet of numberless students clatter over the floors below; perhaps because of the dignity, the restfulness of it all. But to my story.

Leaning on the marble bulwark that serves as a railing for the rotunda was a youth. Even though he is not known to us all, a brief word sketch that appeared in the book of the '11's may serve to identify him, for he "knows every path on the campus; every pebble in the paths; but only one girl on the path." Beside him stood a maiden—shy and reserved she was, but fair withal—the girl of the pathway. What blissful thoughts they were exchanging only they knew.

Entered now the villain, garbed in the attire of a janitor. Ensued the following dialogue.

Janitor: "Most worthy, lovelorn pair, methinks it were well were you to go to yon botany room. There you might sit in blissful peace and solitude. What think you?"

Youth: "Nay, nay, this station doth please us passing well."

Janitor: "But, worthy sir, would it not be more pleasant to rest your weary limbs? Many are the easy chairs in yon room. Besides, methinks this spot too much in the gaze of the public."

Youth: "Begone! What care we for restful chairs. Know you not enough to mind your own business?"

Janitor: "Sir, I beg that you be more courteous. Again I ask that you be not reluctant to leave this spot."

Youth: (Assuming his most dignified aspect of countenance, and pushing out his chest to resemble that of a pouter pigeon) "What! Ho, varlet! Know you who my father is? Know you who I am?"

Janitor: "Know I who you are? Yes. Well I know you. Down town is your place of abode. And well do I know your father, respected deacon in the Methodist church that he is. Your name is—"

"Now, impudent one, know that these halls are not only for fussing. Know that fussing during the chapel hour may be permitted here, but know farther that I and others grow weary watching for hours youths and maidens such as you two. Know also that the golden hours of a senior's life are not all for fussing, that others look with sardonic grins upon your manifestations of puppy love. Avaunt, son of a deacon, these halls are not for such as you."

History has recorded that the twain avaulted. Nor were they ever seen at that selfsame spot again. Such was an episode of classic Central in the days when the '11's could see the beginning of the end, and when the '12's were awaiting with eagerness the coming of their book of fun and frolic, fact and fancy.

Prof. Summers, looking over the girls in the human Physiology class, "Most of you here will probably teach—many of you will teach for some time."

Scene: Quantitative Chem. Lab.

(Mr. Fowler, the hero, a picture of serenity and patience, stands in the center of a bunch of clamoring "co-eds").

"Oh, Mr. Fowler, I'll have to have another beaker!" "Did you say to divide in that second problem?" "I spilled that ash, Mr. Fowler, and—" "Will you please see what's the matter with my scales? they—" "Can I use NaOH instead of KOH?" "Could you O. K. this if I—?" "Oh, Mr. Fowler, will you come and look at my Reichert-Meissl? No., it's—" (Pop! Bang!!!—Fragments and squeals) "Oh, I forgot to put in the beads!"

Jess King (following up the rear) "Mr. Fowler, have you got any matches?"

Most everyone knows that Old Ag. Hall is a favorite habitation for mice which have chosen to live upon the campus, but not everyone knows just how many panics those same mice can cause among some of the women of the college, the faculty not excluded.

Grace number one was busily engaged in making toast for lunch, while Grace number two arranged dishes for a table at her right, when the Student Assistant, near by, suddenly remembered something which she had omitted from an examination which she had just finished taking, and unconsciously let forth a low, squeaky, little would-be whistle. To her astonishment and the amusement of the Associate Professor, Grace number one scrambled upon a table, exclaiming, as she frantically waved a fork, "For cat's sake, girls, hear those mice! Did you ever see such nerve? Why, they are everywhere and will be the death of me yet!"

"Law, I thought I had stepped right on the thing," replied Grace number two, as she gathered her skirts a little closer.

It was some time after this when these two startled girls learned the real source of that particular squeak and they are now waiting to even up with the heretofore unsuspecting imitator.

Great Gran'dad, lay your book aside
And take me on your knee,
And tell me of the good little boys
The Aztecs used to be.

Would do anything but die." Wright.

When walks are long and paths are short,
With hedges in the way,
And M. H. girls are late for class,
"Why, hurdle them," I say.
If Thomas Sloss starts after you
For doing that-a-way,
Don't take a backward glance at all
But make your get-away.

The antiseptic baby and the prophylactic pup
Were playing with Buchanan when a bunny gamboled up.
They looked upon the creature with a loathing undisguised;
He wasn't disinfected, he wasn't sterilized.
They said he was a microbe and a hot-bed of disease,
They steamed him in a vapor of a hundred odd degrees.
They froze him in a freezer that was cold as banished hope,
They washed him in permanganate and with carbolated soap;
In sulphureted hydrogen they bathed his wiggly ears,
They clipped his frisky whiskers with a pair of hard boiled shears.
They donned their rubber mittens and took him by the hand,
And elected him a member of the fumigated band.
There's not a micrococus in the garden where they play,
They bathe in pure iodoform a dozen times a day,
They take their simple rations from a hygienic cup,
The bunny, and the baby, and the prophylactic pup.

His father was an atheist,
His mother was one, too,
But when he entered I. S. C.,
They changed their point of view;
And now the two are Quakers,
Because their loving son
Refused to wear a Prep suit,
Or drill, for any one.

*Prior to the present epoch, it has never been ascertained in what occult manner the inmates of Margaret Hall were classified and tagged by the matron thereof. The discovery of a "Hall Directory" in the secret drawer owned and operated by Mrs. E. C., at last makes clear the system upon which she works.

In her haste to follow the St. Patrick's Parade down town, that good lady thoughtlessly left unclosed the secret drawer wherein lay the Directory. One cunning and inquisitive Junior, who failed to procure a green hobble, performe remained at home. Noting the secret drawer, she quickly grasped her courage in both hands, purloined the precious document, and hied her away to a meeting of that august body, the Bomb Board of 1912.

"Laughed with counterfeit glee at all his jokes." Uncle Benny.

Coney Island

"Hello, Bill."

"Howdy, Bob."

"What d'ye know, Bill?"

"Aw, nuthin' much. Not much stirrin' on the old knowledge grounds these days. But say, Bob, there 's just one stunt that 's stirred the zephyrs lately, and that 's made a clean hit with me, and that 's the Coney Island show pulled off in Central Building on College Day. That sure took the pastry on the run. Wasn't there? Missed seein' some swell time, believe me. Just have a little of Job's virtue and I 'll spiel off a few tips on what was doin'.

"You see, the whole blame shebang was given over to the gala affair, and every knowledge emporium and flunk room was a scene of some jollification or other. When you first got inside the building that night you began to look around for the quick exits, thinking you 'd landed in a bug house, but when you looked around and saw everybody a grinnin' quietly and otherwise, you savvied some joy stunt was on. The last guess bein' right, you had to jump in and follow the gang. There bein' so many behind you, you bet you kept movin'. All the circus feed was there, peanuts and all, so, gettin' your pockets and face full of them, and your heart full of hope, you were fixed to enjoy the graft to follow.

"The first thing I spied when the candy and peanut ladies eased up the tensile stress on my leg was a sign reading 'Hereafter.' Near as I can remember, it was an apt representation, and I learned many things which will tend to guide my earthly steps. But I got away without losing faith in Climax and Pabst Malt Extract, and next wandered in to hear what the Tell Tale Toes had to say. Got stung good and proper. All I could see was some toes stickin' out from under a sheet; but mebbe some guys were blessed with more savvy than I, so I won't peach.

"You say you heard of the 'Welch Minstrels?' Guess everybody has, for they handed out some swell Mendelssohn and Mendels-off dope worth the coin, and everyone falls for music. But say, Bob, if you ever see a sign sayin' 'Dew Drop Inn,' don't, for you might get wet; but you might take a poke at the other guy and let him drop in. That was good. There was a tank of 'aqua pura' over which was a balanced seat, and the guy who played the goat sat on this seat. The crowd threw baseballs at a trigger that unbalanced the seat, and gosh, Katy, what a muss when the afore-mentioned goat plunged into the briny deep. And the way that crowd parted with its nickels for three chances to duck that guy would give you the creeps to think of the heartless generation growin' up.

"A young man void of understanding." "Dippy" Dornbach.

"Well, I made my way from this sad scene to the Pi Phi circus. Bob, believe me, that circus was the real thing in the joy line, just like the real Barnum and Bailey graft. They had the whole Damm Family, snake charmer, tight rope walker, beauteous mermaid, thrilling bare-back riders, and all. Gosh, Bob, I caught myself dodgin' peanuts and tryin' to give the pink lemon aid. 'T was all fine, Bob, fine, but it ended sad. Some light fingered gent copped the Pi Phi cat, and, contrary to feline etiquette, the cat cameth not back.

"I began to feel so hungry that I didn't know whether I had wind colic or backache, so I followed the faint aroma of hot dogs till I saw a sign glaring down at me like John D. at a widder's penny, and informing me that it was the 'Port of Missing Dogs.' Well, I butted in to see what the graft was, and there, at one end of the room was an empty dog kennel, and a weenie stand at the other. Gosh, I was hungry; but did I take a weenie? Yes, I guess not. For where had those missin' dogs gone? You can't take chances in these days of high priced meat, Bob.

"I got out of there and caught sight of a sign bearing the tip that you could visit the 'Laughing Mirrors' and get three slaps at the babies, all for a nickel. I complied with the treasurer's demands, and took one look at those mirrors. No wonder they laughed! If I could make a guy's face look like they did mine, and in so short a time, it would tickle me to death. They made me look so confounded foolish that I got four bits worth of balls and started in to wreak vengeance on the poor little babies.

"I got out of there with a little nigger doll about an inch and a half long, and dressed after the fashion prevalent in the Adam and Eve age. And then I heard a lot of racket about a vaudeville show, and had to rubber, of course. I made my cash deposit, hogged a front seat, and awaited developments. Pretty quick out pops six of the fairest of the fair sex, and did a sextette that had the Broadway stars skun to a frazzle. Two or three Schuman-Heink stunts followed that, and we were all sitting back comfy like when two of the fair ones stretched a sheet across the stage, and after a little preliminary music, a row of feminine pedal extremities appeared and waved frantically over the top of the sheet. Gosh! It fair took my puff away. A feller'd naturally suppose there'd be an accident in getting set, and they'd all got upset, but jest as I'd about made up my mind to run to the rescue, up they'd pop with their heads in a civilized position. After they'd sprung that stunt on us a few times we nacherally tumbled, but they had us guessin' at first.

"Well, after I'd staid in that place as long as they'd let me, I meandered hence again, and spotted a sign that said that here was the Bridal Chamber. The Bride was there, all right, also the Chamber, but—oh, well, the Americans all came out happy, and I came out with 'em.

"Yet wilt thou plunge me in the ditch." The Preps.

"Any more ladies' stunts? Surest thing. They had a Ladies' Home Journal, and I blew in to see the sights. Pretty clever stunt, too. They played pantomines, tableaux, and otherwise the different things in the Ladies' Home Journal. First the ads were put on in tableaux; the Dutch girl with the tray of chocolate, the young wife with the sack of Gold Medal, and the Dutch Cleaner, all appeared before us as if they'd just stepped out of the Journal itself. All the characters in 'Red Pepper Burns' showed themselves for our inspection, after which came Advice to the Lovelorn. In this act a girl sent letters to other girls that they might profit by her experience. Who? Oh, no! Bob, I won't tell names. 'Beauty Hints' were not only given, but demonstrated right before our eyes, and just 'tween me and you, Bob, it would take more than a hint to make me wear what was used in that sketch. Talk about rats! Gosh! they used young elephants, and paint and powder enough to cork a ship! I got a line on a lot of things that night that have always seemed mysterious to me.

"But say, Bob, you know Woman Suffrage has been hoppin' up and down tryin' to get into the lime light so long that now everybody rubbers when they see the sign, 'Votes for Wimmin.' I fell for it, and went in to see how they made out. How? Oh, just as I expected. The glim went out, and as usual the suffragettes were in the dark and couldn't make a showin'.

"Side show? Course there was, and a pippin, too! There was the old fat girl tryin' to look diminutive with her 400 pounds of avoirdupois, and attemptin' shy looks that somehow fizzled and made her face look like a fried egg. The wild man was in evidence, but not likin' the hungry glances he was a poppin' at me, I beat it up to where the snake charmer was gently strokin' the head of one of St. Patrick's fugitives. And there was a fortune teller, but I knew in what condition my fortune was, 'cause every time I went into a show I figgered out how many eats I could miss to afford the price. So I didn't patronize her.

"Next thing I blew into was a minstrel show and I laughed in there till my slats rattled so hard the ushers bounced me for disturbin' the show.

"She sure was a peach, old scout, all through, and from the size of the rolls that were turned over to the Y. W. C. A. you'd think they'd been takin' Anti-Slim for months. I guess from what I've told you, you can see the whole affair was a live one, and say, old pal, next time you hear of a stunt like that comin' along, take my advice, and follow the crowd if you have to hock your hat."

"That far away expression between the knees." "Isaac" Isaacson.

The Prepping Hour

(With apologies to Longfellow).

Sometime between seven and midnight
When the Preps have their lamps all ablaze,
Comes a pause in the evening's study,
As the Sophomores start out to haze.

I hear on the sidewalk below me
The patter of many a hoof,
And a crash on the old attic stairway
As the new men all take to the roof.

A vision arises before me,
As the Sophomores come up the stair,
Of Murphy, Ward Jones and then Prexy;
And Oh! how I wish they were there!

A whisper, and then a deep silence,
Yet I know by the tones of the voice,
That I'm surely in for a Prepping,
Though it isn't a matter of choice.

They ask me if I am a Freshman
In answer I tell them, "You bet;
And my father owns three hundred acres,
And an auto that isn't to let."

They take me out south of the campus,
Where Proctors nor Prexy could hear
And then they lay on with their paddles
Until I am quaking with fear.

I hear the chimes slowly strike 'leven,
Then twelve, then one, and then two,
And I think with a sense of misgiving,
Of Exams. that tomorrow are due.

Such a night! I'll never forget it,
How I barked at the moon and sang,
How I longed to be home at my table,
And out of that harsh Prepping gang.

You Freshmen of all coming ages,
Remember, I've been thru the mill.
You'd better take all of your Prepping,
And laugh, and smile, and keep still.

The Pi Phi Scare.

The Pi Phi house in the Fourth ward, was the scene Friday night of a terrible scare. The young ladies were just sure that burglars were trying to get in the house or that bold, bad, mad men were gaining admission by the use of crow bars, axes or jimmies. Soft voices called to central to connect them at once with the Beta and Hawkeye houses. A hurry-up call for aid was put in. The rescuers came with the speed of firemen and forming into squads of 13 each, encircled the house. At the rear a horse belonging to Al Champlin had backed up to the house and was kicking the daylights out of the siding. Those who witnessed the performance declare it was the best job of kicking in the Fourth ward since Ames beat Iowa.—Ames Intelligencer.

A "D. E." and a "Dairy"

In the early days of Spring Time
When the grass was green and tender
When the birches and the maples
Sprouted forth their lacy leaflets,
Forth they journeyed to the North Woods,
To the land of strolling lovers
To the land for fond hearts suited.

Tall was he, this Junior "Dairy,"
Tall and straight and strong and brave.
In one hand he bore a basket
That was filled with things for feasting;
Apples were there, round and rosy,
Olives plump, and "weinies" many;
Other things that, to relate them,
Would require a ream of paper.

By this "Dairy" tripped a maiden
Fair and slender like the willow,
Bright and sunny like the plum tree
That bursts forth with snow-white blossoms.
And she smiled, this Freshman "D. E."
Smiled into the eyes above her;
And the sun looked down and chuckled
At a scene so old yet novel.

So they wandered all unheeding
Whence their pathway led or whither;
While the breezes in the tree tops
Sang and danced in joy above them.
To the Squaw Creek bridge their feet strayed,
And the breezes, roughish elfins,
Danced in glee and nodded slyly.
By the rail the strollers lingered,
O'er the flood he swung the basket
While his eyes with tenderest interest
Dwelt upon her shining tresses.

Then the breezes, all together,
At a signal from their chieftain,
Swirled and swooped and rushed upon them;

Seized the sun hat of the maiden
Which she dangled by its ribbon—
Seized and swung it far above her.

And the "Dairy," all forgetful
Of his precious basket burden
Loosed his hold upon the handle
And reached madly for the lost hat.
But the breezes bore it onward,
Dropped it gently into Squaw Creek,
On whose bosom now there floated
Rosy apples, "weinies," pickles;
All the luncheon of the picnic
With the sun hat floated onward;
Floated, dipped, and bobbed serenely,
Turned the bend and disappeared.

Homeward sadly turned the "Dairy"
And the maiden, hungry, hatless
Trudged beside him. All the glory
Of the Spring time for them vanished.

Learn this lesson, O ye fussers,
Lads and maids to North Woods straying:
O'er Squaw Creek hold not your basket
Ere your lunch time, if the breezes
Follow you, with malice, nodding.

The Sophomores

One September evening cheery, while I studied and grew weary,
Over many a dry distastful page of English X.,—
While I nodded, nearly napping, suddenly there came a clapping,
And then someone loudly rapping, rapping at my chamber door.
"Tis the Sophomores," I muttered, "rapping at my chamber door,—
All of them, and maybe more.

Oh, distinctly I remember, it was in the bright September,
And each separate yelling Sophomore thumped his fists upon the door,
Eagerly I wished them elsewhere:—vainly prayed them not to come here,
I had asked them ten times over,—still they pounded on the door,
Then I heard them outside saying that they'd make me good and sore,
Both tonight and evermore.

And the villains, never tiring, kept on firing, kept on firing
At me, as I sat there shaking; talk of noble Sophomore!
And I knew my time was coming—I could hear the angels humming—
Then I heard my roommate calling to the leading Sophomore.
"He's a Junior," so he sent them, sent them all from near my door.
I was safe for evermore.

"He'd make a better fashion plate than student." Dean Stange.

Prof. M.—"Mr. L., in what conditions are castings when they leave the foundry?"

Mr. L.—"Cold."

"Prof—'s wife has threatened to sue him for divorce."

"Is that so! What is the cause?"

"He told her he had to buy a new ribbon for his typewriter."

"A pessimist is a man who sits on the tail of Progress and hollers 'Whoa.'"

"Then an optimist must be a man who gets behind Progress and twists its tail."

Dr. Beyer—(orating in Geol. class) "A thousand years, geologically, is but a day!"

Voice (in loud whisper) "Where in H—I will we be day after tomorrow?"

Editor Iowa Agriculturist please take notice:—

In answer to a query as to what farm papers he takes, and which he likes best, an Iowa farmer replied:

"I like Wallace's Farmer because it is edited by the men who know—not students voicing the teachings of sidewalk farmers whose knowledge of farm conditions is summed up in a sun-bonnet, blue eyes, and an affectionate farewell—and the handmade poetry inspired thereby."

OUR YOUNGEST

Count that day lost
Whose low descending sun
Views in thy champing mug
No wad of chewing-gum.
—Lemmon.

Oh, the joy of an auto ride at I. S. C.! Was there ever such pleasure as that felt in whirling past Margaret Hall with Him, and catching the envious glances of the other girls! And when it is time to come in and the two draw near the entrance, they needs make another circle of the campus before they can really stop. Then comes the impressive waiting in the seat with many smiles and witty remarks, and with much enjoyment of the importance of the position. At last She descends to the step, but another idea must be expressed, another that must be given its freedom. Oh, the joy of this lingering! More girls will see—more glory will shine around the Fortunate One. But at last, ah me! She can no longer find an excuse for tarrying. She reluctantly steps down, hesitates, smiles, waves a good-bye, and floats up the steps in an ecstasy of joy and importance. She is ready to tell it all.

It was in the afternoon before the first Fall Lecture Course number. "Dixie" was explaining to a companion his difficulty in finding a fair one to accompany him to the lecture, when the following conversation took place:

"Why don't you go over to the Hall and tell the matron that you want a girl."

Dixie—"That's just what I did do. I went over yesterday afternoon about four o'clock, walked in, and asked the matron if there were any girls around who would like to take a stroll.

"Whom do you want," she asked.

"Oh, I'm not particular," I replied.

"Well, I'm not making dates for the girls," said she, 'so if you don't know whom you want, get out.'

"I then bowed and took my departure."

Miss Laird and the O. D.'s might have enjoyed their ducking more if the villains had chosen a warmer night.

Limericks

A nice Junior lady, Miss Fain,
Was caught out one night in the rain.
She said, "Oh, for a feller
To take my umbreller,"
And then said it over again.

There was a young man from afar
Took a ride on the Ames-College car,
Said he to the "con,"
Just as he got on,
"Good gracious! what bum things these are!"

A man who came here from Brazil,
Saw the General's Army at drill.
He turned to his brother
And said, with a shudder,
"Ugh! who is that crummy old pill?"

"Oh, mother, may I go to College at Ames?"
"Yes, my darling daughter;
Just room at the hall,
Kid the boys one and all,
And be sure that Aunt Julia don't git yer."

There is a young lady named Fuchs,
Who thinks she has beautiful locks;
When she's ready for bed
She puts tins in her head;
Oh, piffle! what folly in Fuchs!

Two microbes sat on the Dough Lab. shelf
And watched with expressions pained
The milkman's antics, and then one said,
"Our relations are being strained."

Sing a song of sail boats,
Okoboji Lake,
Boden thot by water route
Better time he'd make.
Sailboat started, Boden on it,
Then wind ceased to be.
"Bo" now says, "To my next dates
It's hit the grit for me."

"Fair, fat, frivolous and fussy." Beth Pryor.

THE '11'S REPRESENTATIVE AT THE '12-'13 ANNUAL

He did not work his Math., they said,
He did not have an aim.
But he often walked the carpet
For Prexy, just the same.

He did not study English,
He did not look for fame,
But he often walked the carpet
For Prexy, just the same.

He stretched the Preps. up in the air,
And left them sore and lame,
And, then, he'd walk the carpet
For Prexy, just the same.

He was in at every hazing,
He was in at every game,
And, then, he'd walk the carpet
For Prexy, just the same.

His Campus Lab., a dance or two,
And girls of every name,
Would keep him on that carpet
For Prexy, just the same.

ASK THE BETAS ABOUT IT!

"The Beta Theta Pi Fraternity gave its term dance Saturday night, February 25. The house was beautifully decorated and refreshments were served during the evening."—Register and Leader.

Our Budget

The Bomb Board has decided to place in the next bill of appropriations for I. S. C. the following requests:

For Benny—A year's subscription to "Puck," "Judge," and "Life" so he may have some new jokes.

For Mrs. Cunningham—$2,222 to cope with the ravages of Cranium Insecticus at the Hall.

A private spoonholder for Smithy and Miss Lippincott when the weather's too cold on the campus.

$23.13 for a new set of "units" for the Phys. Department.

A sight-seeing automobile for Tru Manning, so he can take all the Pi Phi's at one time.

$3.98 to be remitted to the girls at the Hall for funeral expenses for the "Roomer."

Bachelor's Creed

Lives of henpecked men remind us,
Who have not as yet been caught,
That we might leave sons behind us,
But we rather guess we'll not.

She that's trim may be a fat one,
She that's that sweet, some day be grim,
When, by merely looking at one,
She will squelch the soul in him.

Let us then go billing, cooing,
Let us call them sweet and fair,
It is lovely to be wooing,
But we guess we'll stop right there.

A Small Beginning

Often leads to great success. Some people look down on small beginnings. They have an idea a little will not suffice to start a bank account. One dollar will start a savings account and you can develop a substantial account from this beginning if you have a determination to get ahead.

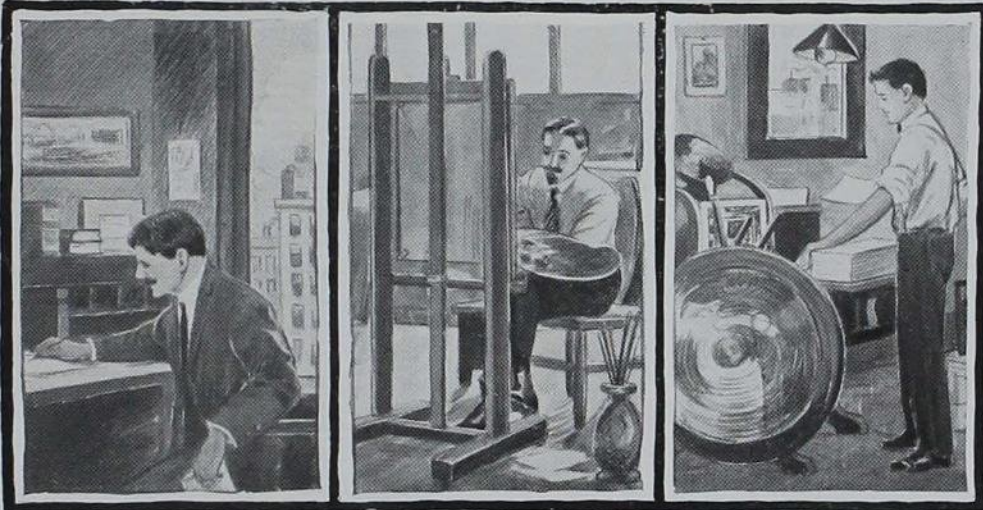

We like these small beginnings—they show the true saving spirit.
