

Kingston Sept. 7th

Dear Brother

I do not owe you
a letter but you owe me one, but I write to you again, and trust you will not neglect to answer both in due time.

First, I will give you a catalogue of the contents of the box.

The largest white sweet apples & the largest red ones came from the Pine tree house in Exeter. The Pears came from E. H. & S. W. Harley's.

The small red apples & striped and one & some bread from Aunt they say the Babes is for you in particular, from Uncle David.

The Babes are some father got for you at C. specimens in bottles.

The crackers I send you.

The one apple done up separately

May M. says sends you 5 eggs you must divide among yourselves.

All the rest & residue is from Chas and mother. C. father says there

Jackies are Benjamin, David & William Jackies. He has got home from Exeter just now & says tell John that all the William folks in that State have all come out for Abolition free speech & free ingress.

Be a good little boy & write soon, & don't speak in her hand, get your likings for me, don't forget it will you?

So Good bye.

So Johnny dear

dearly

From your true love,

John,

Have a few lines to you I received your letter in due time & had the assurance that you had not forgotten to write. No no. I will answer soon. I will then write you all the news, & expect to go to Devon this week or next, I will send you word what day in time for you to come to the Depot. We expect to send our Goods to start for Devon the 6th of Oct. but I will write you again if we change the time. They cannot send your heart in this hour, but I will bring it to you when I go to Dover, if that will do, if you would it never sent me word.

I have sent you a ring it is in John's net, in the watch pocket, it is a hugache from your sister who will swear in all probability he has from you. I would like for you to bring or send that large one before I do as I want it for Oswald, you know which one I mean before I start for the West.
While again when you feel like it excuse this for it almost dark.

Ever Dear
Sarah

Prof. Mayhall arrived here safe & seems last night. You must divide your provisions equally
